Total allocable meat supplies were put at 23¼ billion pounds. Civilians will receive 63 out of every 100 pounds produced, the services will be given 17 pounds, the Allies will get 14 pounds, and allotments for reserves, the Red Cross and exports will amount to 6 pounds.

Of the total supply of beef expected, civilians will obtain 66 out of every 100 pounds, and the services 23 pounds. Other claimants will get 2 pounds. Of the pork production, the civilians' share will amount to 59 out of every 100 pounds, the services' portion will be 12½ pounds, and lend-lease's allotment will approximate 25 pounds.

Total supplies of lamb and mutton are expected to drop sharply from the 939 million pounds of 1942 to 539 million. This compares with the 1935-'39 average of 663 million pounds.

Cheese, Butter

Decrease of government purchases through August, September and October will make available 527 million pounds of butter and cheese for civilians, the WFA said. Of the total, approximately 400 million pounds will be of butter; 92 million pounds of cheddar cheese, and 35 million pounds of other cheese.

WFA also announced that plans were made for about 7 million additional cases of canned baby foods, condensed milk, other milk products and certain canned vegetables and fruits by an increase in canners' tin quotas. However, it was pointed out that shortage in fruit crops may offset the extra tin allotments.

Increased production will allow civilians 388 eggs apiece during the next 12 months, WFA said, 18 more than in 1942.

The Office of Price Administration also stepped into the food picture and announced prices of cabbage and lettuce will be rolled back 25 to 50 per cent.

SICILY:
First Resistance

History will record that the first real Axis resistance in Sicily was put up at Catania. Here, in the midst of the broad rolling plains which are criss-crossed by several rivers, German armored forces met the full shock of Gen. Bernard Montgomery's British Eighth army, charging forward after easy capture of the ports of Syracuse and Augusta.

Adept at tank warfare, the Germans took no chance on exposing their mechanized ranks to the big Montgomery on Sicilian front.

Berthas of British warships plying along the narrow eastern coast of the island, and to the Allies heavy artillery, which could be concentrated in the tight coastal corridor. Instead, they determined to take their chances in the sprawling Catania plains, where they could maneuver more comfortably.

History will show that as the Germans and British locked horns on these plains, with the enemy holding his flexible lines in the early days of the fighting, Gen. George S. Patton's American Seventh army rolled 30 miles inland to Enna, which is situated on high ground and commands important roads running east and west across the island.

SOUTH PACIFIC:

1. Planes blast Jap shipping trying to supply beleaguered garrison at Munda.
2. Navy sees six more years of war in Pacific.

Air Power Scores Again.

The devastating striking power of land-based aircraft against surface vessels was again amply demonstrated in the Solomons offensive when American Liberator, Mitchell and Avenger bombers attacked a strong Japanese concentration of 11 warships and transports in Vella gulf, sinking a cruiser and two destroyers and scattering the others.

Sailing in the dead of night, the Japs were making another try at reinforcing their entrapped troops at Munda airfield, on New Georgia island, where U. S. dive bombers also were in action supporting the ground units' creeping attack on the stronghold's jungle defenses.

The attack in Vella gulf followed others made upon Jap vessels in

Sgt. Thomas Gaglot kneels at grave of fallen buddy on Rendova island.

Kula gulf and brought to 24 the number of different enemy ships sent to the bottom since the Solomons offensive started.

Seek Long War.

Because the war in the Pacific must be fought over great distances and bases must be built from the ground up, Vice Admiral Frederick J. Horne, assistant chief of naval operations, declared the navy was figuring on at least six years of fighting.

Horne cautioned against optimism that the war would be over in a hurry, asserting that every slight success fills the people with unwarranted hope and invariably results in a drop of war production. To defeat Japan, he said, we will need a fleet and air force twice as big as the enemy's, and he claimed that the present building program will bring a seven-fold expansion in our navy by 1947.

Neither should we look for a collapse in Germany such as occurred during the last war, Horne said. Clever indoctrination of Nazi principles in the German people has given the nation a firm will to fight the war to the finish, he explained.

ROME:
Raid Momentous

One of the greatest stirs of the war was caused by the Allied bombing of Rome. Both here and abroad, no effort was made to minimize the import of the action.

The Allies maintained that Rome constitutes a legitimate military objective, as best illustrated by the railway yards through which all north and south bound traffic in Italy is routed. Demolition of these yards, the Allies say, would severely cripple Axis communication on the mainland.

Besides the important railway yards, Rome also harbors other industrial installations, it is pointed out. In the raid in which 500 American Flying Fortresses participated, the Allies said a steel plant and a large chemical works were damaged.

The Italian government's belief that Rome would not be bombed because of the cultural and religious landmarks which abound throughout the entire area, was indicated by the lack of strong preparation made against attack. Anti-aircraft fire was weak, few planes rose to intercept the Allied squadrons and 166 persons were killed and 1,669 injured.

LABOR:
Wants Cheaper Food

Declaring "profiteers and speculators are sapping the strength of the nation's army of workers," William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said that unless prices of food were brought down "to a reasonable level," organized labor would demand wage increases.

At present, wage increases have been restricted to 15 per cent over the January, 1941, scales. Leveling his attack on food, Green said that AFL surveys in principal cities had shown costs in labor's market basket had risen from 50 to 200 per cent since the war started.

Criticizing the Office of Price Administration and War Food administration for failing to halt the increase in food prices, Green demanded "intelligent and orderly action to assure workers and their families of a decent place to live in and enough nourishing food to eat within their incomes."

Green's statement followed one by CIO chieftain William Murray, who similarly threatened that organized labor would seek wage increases unless food prices were rolled back. The administration is committed to a roll-back program.

HOGS:
Ceiling $14.75

With a "floor" or minimum price of $13.75 per hundred pounds promised for hogs, the government established a "ceiling" or maximum price of $14.75. At the same time the "floor" was extended to all porkers between 200 and 270 pounds.

Despite the government's promise, however, hogs were selling for less than the "floor" in some big markets. In the Chicago yards, heavy runs recently drove the average price down to $13.35, with tops averaging $13.85 and others bringing $13.85.

Overhauling its present system of slaughter control to provide for record receipts, the government announced that packers will be licensed to operate if they pay not less than the "floor" nor more than the "ceiling" price for hogs, and if they make appropriate division of meat supplies among civilian, military and lend-lease groups.

It was also revealed that the government intended to extend federal inspection to plants now without the facilities. Under present regulations, the government cannot purchase meat from any packers without such inspection. The new arrangement promises a more equitable distribution of meat in the country.

RUSSIA:
Front Aflame

On the offensive for the first summer in three years, the Red army hacked at German lines along much of the vast 1,200 mile front.

The main drive remained directed at the Nazi salient of Orel, with Russian forces bearing down upon that hub from north and south. A junction of the two spearheads behind Orel would seal off thousands of German troops now fighting around the city and also sever the railroad from Bryansk carrying supplies to the embattled base.

While fighting raged around Orel, the Reds pressed home three other attacks. Preceded by heavy artillery and air bombardment, they assaulted Nazi lines below Leningrad, near Smolensk and around the German Caucasian base of Novorossisk, where they had been beaten off this spring.

MANPOWER:
Unfreeze Jobs

Workers frozen into their jobs in war or essential industries by an order of the War Manpower commission April 17, now will be allowed to accept the same positions at higher pay in other plants.

Workers formerly could transfer to other jobs only if laid off for seven days or more, if discharged or if able to show that their skill would be employed to better advantage elsewhere.

REDDY FOX PLAYS SPY

REDDY FOX didn't have to get up early to be hiding behind the fence back of Farmer Brown's cornerib when jolly, round, red Mr. Sun chased the little stars from the sky. He didn't have to get up early for the very good reason that he hadn't been to bed. You see, Reddy Fox does a great many things that he wouldn't like to have seen, so he does them in the night when most of the other little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest are asleep. And it happens that often he does not go to bed at all at night, but sleeps in the day when most honest people are abroad. He had been roaming about all this night, and now he had come to watch and see what was going on at Farmer Brown's cornerib, to see whether or not Farmer Brown's Boy had been setting a trap there for Sammy Jay, as Sammy was so sure he had.

Just as the little stars disappeared and the first faint light from Mr. Sun began to chase away the black shadows, Reddy's sharp eyes saw something move over at the corner of the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard. Then a little dark form scampered across the road and there was the scratch of sharp little claws on the tree growing near the cornerib. Reddy grinned and watched the top of the tree. In a minute the same little form ran out along a limb that overhung the cornerib and nimbly jumped to the roof. It ran along one edge and then disappeared. Reddy guessed right away that there was a hole there. He arose and stretched.

"My, but Chatterer is getting fat! I think he will make a very good breakfast."

"I thought as much," said Reddy to himself. "I thought as much." Then he lay down to watch again. After a while out popped the same lively little form. It was quite light now, light enough for him to see the red coat of Chatterer, the Red Squirrel. Chatterer's cheeks were stuffed so full of corn that his head looked twice as large as it really is. He ran along the roof to where the tips of the limb of the tree brushed the roof, climbed into the tree, looked sharply to make sure that no one was about, particularly Black Pussy, and then ran down the tree and scurried across the dooryard to the safety of the old stone wall.

"Ha!" said Reddy Fox, "I thought so! Unless I am much, very, very much mistaken, Chatterer can tell Sammy Jay what caught him by the bill yesterday morning and frightened him nearly to death. I've wondered why he no longer came to that new storehouse of his that he worked so hard to fill down on the edge of the cornfield, and now I know. My, but Chatterer is getting fat! I think he will make me a very good breakfast. I do, indeed!" Reddy licked his lips as if he already could taste fat Red Squirrel, and then slipped away in the other direction, for it was getting so light that he dared stay no longer so near to Farmer Brown's house and Bowser the Hound.

All the day in the Green Forest Reddy grinned, partly at thought of the sharp trick he was sure Chatterer had played on Sammy Jay, and partly at the thought of the good breakfast he was sure he would have one of these fine mornings, for already he had thought of a plan to catch Chatterer, the Red Squirrel. But first he would find Sammy Jay. He wanted to see how foolish Sammy would look when he found out that it wasn't a trap of Farmer Brown's Boy at all that had frightened him so.

Soldiers in Skirts

A vital position in America's army, a chance to put a fighting man at the front, training in technical skills, development of leadership qualities—these are some of the opportunities awaiting the two girls pictured above as they stand on the threshold of a WAAC signal corps training school. They are fulfilling the tradition that all patriotic American women have always taken their share of responsibility for the welfare of their country, in war and peace. Thus, the roots of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps go back to the origin of this nation. These girls will learn radio code operation, radio repair, teletypewriter operation, switchboard installation and the operation and maintenance of many other instruments of communication. Many other WAAC schools teach a wide variety of occupations that prepare the girls for wartime and peacetime work.

Dots and dashes are the backbone of the corps' global radio communications network. Four enrollees are shown learning to receive and type code messages.

After three to six months' training the WAAC is functioning at some job that will release an able-bodied man to a battlefront. These girls (right) operating a field switchboard know how to install and repair it. They have become a vital part of the Signal corps which needs 2,000 more girls. Upon successful completion of the training course they will be called to active military duty. Later there is always the opportunity to rise to higher grades and eventually attend officers' training school.

"Gas!" At this command the WAAC instantly removes her hat, places it between her knees and quickly dons a mask. Close order drill while wearing masks is performed by WAACs in photo at upper right. A change from civilian life is demonstrated by Auxiliary Grace Terry (right), who awakens at 5:40 a. m. and stands at attention in an inspection line at 6 a. m., disproving the popular misconception that it takes women a long time to dress. One of the WAAC training camps is at Daytona Beach, Fla.

A WAAC motor convoy group rolls along the sands of Daytona Beach over which many an auto speed king has raced to fame.

FORMER RESIDENT OF CITY DIED IN FLINT

Succumbed July 9 Following Long Period of Illness

William R. Coates, 70, former resident of Charlevoix and East Jordsn, died Friday, July 9, st his residence, 331 Forest street, Flint. Funeral high mass was held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, July 13, from St. Matthew's church, Rev. Fr. Coletta officiating. Burial was at New Calvary cemetery.

Death resulted from complieations following an illness of four months. Mr. Coates was born February 17, 1873, in Marysvillo, O., and eame to Charlevoix at tha age of nine. The family resided on a farm in Hsyes township.

He married Christina Rebec on September 12, 1898, at East Jordan, and lived there five years. Then the fnmily moved to Churlevoix and lived at 102 Robinson avenue for 13 years. He left Charlevoix In 1916 to work in Flint, moving his family there In 1918. He was employed at the Chevrolet plant for 27 years.

Mr. Coates had been a member of St. Joseph's church In East Jordan, St. Mary's In Charlevoix, and St. Matthew's church and Holy Name Society in Flint.

Surviving are the wldow, four daughters, Mrs. Louis Bergeron of Flint, Mrs. Marcus Sutter of Chesaning, Mrs. Hnrold Hoffman of Woodbridge, N. J., and Ann, at home; two sons, George, of Flint, and Joseph, of East Lansing; 10 grandchildren.

a pretense of searching for the youth. He later returned, saying Howard was not in sight, although his clothes were on shore. The sister resumed the search, but becnuse she looked near the municipal bathing beach pier instead of at the spot where the boys had been swimming, she later reported to her parents she could find neither Howard nor his clothes. Inasmuch as Howard had earlier that day mentioned hitch-hiking to Mnneelona to visit relatives, his pnrents eonciuded he had gone there and were not alarmed.

The incident might have been passed as accidental drowning, had not officers beeome suspicious over inability to loente the dead youth's clothing. McClansghan, when first questioned, said he left Hownrd nt the lake, but when State Trooper M. J. Kukler of the Gnylord post questioned him a second time Friday morning, the youth ndmitted the crime, nnd Saturday nfternoon repented previous admissions In a more detailed confession before Prosecutor Bice.

McClanaghan related to Prosecutor Bice that after Howard had tripped him in a scuffle, he became angered and held the smaller youth under water until he stopped struggling. He said he wns on his knees and the water came up only to his waist. Relensing his hold on Dodd, Lester told the prosecutor that he watched the body float away from shore until it was out of sight. Later that evening he said he nte his supper at the home of n sister in Charlevoix and told officers the fnet that he had but a short time ago eommitted murder did not bother his nppetite.

Pending sanity henring for which application was filed Monday with the State Hospital Commission the youth is being held In the county jail.

ANNUAL MEETING OF MEMORIAL FUND HELD

Directors, Local Committee Met Tuesday At Goldman Home

Second annual meeting of directors and local operating eommittee of the Lenore Goldman Myer Memorial Fund was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Goldman on Tuesday night. This is the third year of operation of the fund.

A report by the local eommittee, showing in detail tho number of cases and activities during the past year, was received with enthusiasm by the directors. Since its inception, the fund has aided approximately 80 families, and bas been a great benefit to this community.

At the annual Charlevoix school meeting on July 12, necessity of a truant officer was mentioned because many children were absent from school for lack of necessary shoes and clothing. The memorial fund has assisted many cases of this kind, and it is hoped that persons knowing of other such cases will bring the matter to the attention of the local committee.

During the past year, some cases have come to the committee's attention after the emergency had passed. As it is impossible for the committee to know of each and every case as it develops, it will bo of great assistance if people will make it a point to call the committee when they know of any persons or families in need of emergency aid. This can be done by calling Mrs. Arthur Ranger, phono 635, or Robert Bridge at the Charlevoix County State Bank, phone 13. All cases will be willingly investigated by the fund.

The local committee fully realizes the great benefits that have acerued to Charlevoix by instigation of this fund, and express appreciation of the entire community to the sponsors and contributors.

PROBLEM OF FARM LABOR IS SOLVED

An East Jordan group, Luelln Thomas, Shirley Strehl, Midge Gibbard and Joyce Hitchcock, have volunteered for farm work. They are now completing a two weeks general fnrm program of beet weeding, hoeing, and picking cherries.

In spite of his ndvanced age of 82 years, William Pitts, of Boyne City, has done a young man's job on a farm since early spring. He took part in plowing and fitting the soil for corn and oats and has worked through haying without missing a day.

While harvesting of crops in the county is proceeding almost on schedule, the bean, eucumber and potato crop will need all of the available help that can be procured. B. C. Mellencamp, county agricultural agent, has in his office at Boyne City calls for 140 benn piekers to start work about August 10. More requests are coming in every day, so a great many more volunteers will be needed to successfully hnrvest these canning factory crops.

SERVICE HONOR ROLL IS BUILT

CITY CONSTRUCTS BOARD IN EAST PARK

List of Names Published In This Issue; Public Asked to Add Any Which Are Omitted

On page 3 of this week's issue of the Courier is published a list of names of service men and women from Charlevoix and rural routes, which will appear on the honor roll now being constructed by the city of Charlevoix in East Park.

Purpose of publishing the list is to submit it for public scrutiny, to determine whether any names have unintentionally been omitted which should be place on the honor roll. Also, there is a possibility that some service men now on the list have been discharged from service, and these names should be removed.

Readers are asked to study the list carefully, and to communicate at once with the Courier office if they discover any omissions, or any names which should not be on the roll. It is desired to have the honor roll as complete and accurate as possible, and the fullest cooperation will be required to do so. As there is no existing master list of service men, the names to go on the roll were compiled from various sources.

Persons submitting additional names should state the following facts: whether the service man or woman was born in Charlevoix, attended city or rural schools here, approximately how many years resided here, what relatives of his now reside here, and whether the person considers Charlevoix or the immediate vicinity to be his home.

Placing of names on the honor roll depends on any of these considerations, or a combination of them. A person who, though born here, left several years ago and has not maintained ties with this city, is not as worthy of a place on the roll as one who came here from some other place and chose this city as his home.

The honor roll, made in two sections which form a V-shaped sign rather than the flat board originally placed in Memorial park, has space for 700 names. The list at present contains about 400, and additions will be made as necessary.

AWARD GIVEN COUNTY ON RED CROSS DRIVE

Distioguished Achievemeet 1943 War Fund Campaign

The Charlevoix County chapter of the American Red Cross has received an award certificate from national Red Cross headquarters for distinguished achievement in the 1043 emergency war fund campaign.

This county was given a quota of $4,400 for the fund, and with the hearty cooperation of all county residents, succeeded in raising a total of $7,800. Of this amount, about $5,000 was remitted to the national Red Cross organization for war relief, services to our men and women fighting here and abroad, and for civilian disaster relief in America.

The record made by Charlevoix county in the war fund campaign is one of which every person may be proud.

FOURTH STAR IN ECCLESTON FLAG

BECOME FOURTH FAMILY TO GAIN RECOGNITION

Robert, Joseph, Charles Schwab, William Eccleston Are All In Nation's Service

Fourth Charlevoix family to show four stars on their service flag is that of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Eccleston, who added another star this week when Dr. Robert Schwab left Petoskey to enter training at Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

Commissioned a first lieutenant in the army medical corps a year ago, Dr. Schwab will be at Carlisle Barracks for six weeks and will then be stationed at Nashville, Tenn., air base. He is a graduate of Petoskey high school and the University of Kansas medical school, has been practicing for some time in Minneapolis, Minn. For the past three weeks he and Mrs. Schwab have been in Petoskey with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myles O'Donnell.

Bob's younger brother, Master Sgt. Joseph M. Schwab, has not been home since his enlistment in the army air corps in June, 1930. He has been in Panama for most of his enlistment. At present he is radio operator on the Flying Fortress "Swoose," made famous as the leading character of the recently published book, "Queens Die Proudly," by William L. White. The "Swoose," is the only Fortress to go through the entire eastern engagement from Clark field in the Philippines, through Java fighting and an Australian campaign, to come to rest finally on a San Francisco airfield.

CHURCH OF GOD CAMP MEETING WILL BEGIN

William S. Southerland Speaker At Daily Services

The annual camp meeting of the Church of God begins Friday, July 30, and meetings will be held daily through Sunday, August 8, at the camp grounds near Loob school south of Charlevoix.

Rev. W. D. Wood has announced that Evangelist William S. Southerland, of Lexington, Ky., will speak at the services at 10:30 a.m., 2:30 p.m., and 7:45 p.m., each day. An invitation is extended to all who wish to attend any of the services.

Training Cooks for the World's Best Fed Army

America prides itself on producing the best fed, best clothed, best equipped army in the world. Helping to maintain this standard are the schools for bakers and cooks. Left: At the Fort Sam Houston school students are learning to prepare coffee with a tripod and a Dixie Boiler. The men kneeling are heating dehydrated foods in their mess kits over the fire. Center: A student baker is adding shortening to other ingredients in the dough mixer. Bakers learn to operate movable and immovable equipment. Right: A typical doughboy samples the result of the school's training. Ninety per cent of the students who become expert cooks and bakers were not able to fry potatoes properly before entering training school.

CHAMPION SWIMMER BEACH HOTEL GUEST

Open Ocean Swim Record Holder Planning Next Attempt

Paul Chotteau, world's champion long-distance swimmer, is at the Beach Hotel as guest of Peter J. Bolger, of the Crude Oil Co. of Grand Rapids.

A native of France, Mr. Chotteau holds his title hewass of an all-time record for an open ocean swim established Aug. 1936, when he was 45 years old, swimming 114½ miles from South Bimini island, in the Bahama group, to a point off the coast of Florida. Fighting sharks and bucking tides all the way, Mr. Chotteau failed to gain the Florida shore, but intends to go back and make another and successful attempt at the swim.

He served more than three years in the French army during the first World War, and came to this country in 1929. He now holds a civilian job at the Miami army air base, and is planning his next try at the Bahama-to-Florida swim after the war. In addition to his record as a swimmer, Mr. Chotteau is also an accomplished violinist.

COUNTY STUDENTS AT MSC SUMMER SCHOOL

Soldier and Civilian Enrollment Totals 4,667

Among the 4,667 civilian and soldier students attending classes at Michigan State College's summer session this year are six from Charlevoix county, R. S. Linton, registrar of the college, announced this week.

The Charlevoix county students are: Betty M. Willis, Mary V. Willis, Mary F. Zeitler, Charlevoix; Eleanor S. Chase, Boyne City, Einer G. Olstrom, John D. Pray, East Jordan.

Included in the enrollment are 1,067 civilian students and 3,000 uniformed men under several army college training programs.

FEWER FISHERMEN ARE LICENSED THIS YEAR

Conservation Department Reports Decline of 20.05 Per Cent

Bearing out pre-season calculations, which predicted a 25% drop in the number of fishermen in Michigan during the 1043 season, figures announced by the state conservation department revealed a decline of just 20.05% in the number of fishing licenses sold through June — only slightly less than the estimate on which the department's budget for the 1943 season was based.

A total of 223,910 fish licenses were sold by the department during 1943 so far, as compared with 280,226 for the same period last year.

YOUTH FACING MURDER COUNT

LESTER McCLANAGHAN HELD PENDING SANITY TEST

Body of Howard Dale Dodd Found Last Wednesday; Drowning Result of Quarrel

Lester McClanaghan, 18, of Marion township, waived examination in justice court Saturday night on a charge of murder. Arrested in connection with the drowning of Howard Dale Dodd, 14, son of Emanuel Dodd, he was bound over to circuit court.

McClanaghan was charged with the murder in a warrant issued earlier Saturday by Prosecutor C. M. Bice.

The slender, red-haired youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McClanaghan, confessed without emotion, officers said, how on Saturday, July 17, he held young Dodd under water until he stopped struggling following a quarrel, while the two youths were swimming on the west shore of Lake Charlevoix near the old beet sugar factory.

Dodd's death was not discovered until July 21. Although absent from home for five days, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmanual Dodd, Ferry avenue, had believed him visiting relatives in Mancelona and were not aware of the tragedy until the youth's body, clad in swimming trunks, was discovered floating off Hemingway point, five miles from the bathing beach.

Recounting events of the previous Saturday, Dodd's parents said a younger sister had been sent to the lake to find him when he failed to return for supper. She met McClanaghan, who was known to have been with Howard, and he offered to go after him. Having already committed the crime, he went back to the shore and made

FOSTER BOATS SEEN AT TWO NAVAL BASES

Local Firm's Product In Pacific And Caribbean Stations

Two letters coming recently from local men in service tell of seeing navy craft made by the Foster Boat Co. in two widely separated sections of the continent.

Richard J. Hull, seaman first class stationed at a Caribbean submarine base, wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Hull; "We have a landing barge that the Foster Bont Co. made and it surs looks nice. We have had it two weeks and my buddy says it sure handles good. I haven't had a chance to try it out yet."

James Annis, member of the amphibious force landing craft unit, wrote the local firm recently, said that at one of the huge piers of the San Diego destroyer base, he saw a plane rearming boat with "Made by Foster Boat Co., Charlevoix, Michigan," on the bow panel, with the date "January" also. The coxswain, he wrote, said it was a fine, seaworthy and sturdy boat.

BUTTER RATION PRICE RAISED TO 10 POINTS

Demand Running Ahead of Supply Allotted Ration Purchasers

The ration price of butter was boosted Tuesday to 10 points a pound, effective Sunday, by the office of price administration. Red stamp cost of meats was left substantially unchanged.

Partially compensating for the two-point rise in stamp value of butter, the OPA lowered the value of shortening, lard, salad and cooking oils by one point. Margarine will remain unchanged at four points. Ration demand for butter has been running about 5 per cent ahead of the amount allocated for civilian use, so the rise was necessary to make the supply last until the end of September.

BASIC GAS RATION BOOKS ARE MAILED

Applications Received by Monday Morning Are Filled

New basic gasoline ration books were mailed in this city Tuesday by the local war price and rationing board, to all applicants whose applications were received by Monday morning.

Applications received later than Monday of this week will be mailed as soon as possible. A new supply of application blanks has been received by the rationing board and is available to those who have not as yet applied for "A" book renewal.

MOTOR VEHICLE LAW EFFECTIVE FRIDAY

Greater Highway Safety Is Aim of Financial Responsibility Act

Friday, July 30, one of Michigan's most far-reaching moves toward greater highway safety and better public protection takes effect when the recently amended Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act becomes a law at midnight.

Thereafter, every motorist in an accident where anyone is injured or killed must make a written report to the Secretary of State within 10 days. He must also pay all damange claims within 30 days, or show proof of financial responsibility either in the form of an accepted liability insurance policy, or by deposit of cash or a bond up to $11,000 in order to continue to drive in Michigan.

All enforcement provisions of the act are mandatory upon Herman H. Dignan, secretary of state, and must be executed without discretion or option and independent of police or court action.

PROBLEM OF FARM LABOR IS SOLVED

RESORTERS, COUNTY YOUTH WORK IN FIELDS

Many More Volunteers Needed To Pick Beans and Cucumbers, Harvest Potato Crop

Farm crops in Charlevoix county will be cultivated and harvested this year in spite of the serious manpower shortage which confronts farmers. Summer people in this area, and year-around residents have "pitched in" to help produce the food so vitally needed.

To a group of Charlevoix summer residents, headed by Miss Lois Shaeffer of Chicago, can be given credit for helping the emergency farm labor program. Miss Shaeffer better known as "Saucy," has taken this matter seriously. Instead of spending the summer days in vacation pastimes, she has successfully completed the weeding of a 2½ acre beet field, and has organized a group of ten other resorters to assist with cherry picking, transporting them to the orchards in her station wagon "Leeky I."

Mrs. Clarence Feltenbarger, of Charlevoix, with her own children and those of a neighboring family, weeded a 5½ acre beet field which had got entirely out of control of a farmer with more work on his farm than he could possibly do.

Camp Charlevoix has inaugurated a farm program as one of their summer projects, organized by "Chief" Reimann and supervised by counsellors. The campers are now harvesting part of the county's cherry crop.

NEW MEMBERS ENTER LOCAL V. F. W. POST

Service In Foreign Sectors Is Membership Qualification

Charlevoix Post No. 1153, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has enrolled two more members who are participating in the present war.

They are: Pvt. Robert E. Goss, U. S. marine corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Goss, who is now in the South Pacific area; and Lt. s. g. John T. Foster, pilot in the U. S. naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Foster, who has been in action in the Aleutian islands for more than a year.

BOMBER CAMPAIGN OPENED SATURDAY

FIRST BOND IS PURCHASED BY O. GATTI

Local, Summer Residents Working To Put "City of Charlevoix" Bomber In Action

Opening gun in the City of Charlevoix Bomber campaign was fired Saturday night, when O. Gatti, of the Colonial Club, purchased a $1,000 war bond from Miss Peggy Ware, Belvedere Club resident.

At their meeting Monday night, the city council voted purchase of a $5,000 U. S. Treasury certificate of indebtedness. By noon Wednesday, pledges of $75,000 in bonds had been received by the committee, headed by Julius Gilbert, deputy state administrator for the war finance committee, and Robert Bridge, city chairman. Progress of the drive is being recorded on a giant thermometer on the north wall of the Central Drug store, erected and donated by Leo W. Powers.

In this issue of the Courier are advertisements sponsored by local banks and merchants, who are backing the drive to the fullest extent. Committee members are thoroughly canvassing the business, residential and resort districts.

The Belvedere Club and Hotel are in charge of Charles S. Pike, Belvedere Club member, who is making an active campaign there. Park avenue, the north side and Colonial Club are the territory of Mrs. Mary Lou Rosenthal and a committee consisting of Mesdames Eleanore Sendenberg, Marie Meyer, Clara Mock, Olie Pfaelzer, Barbara Marcuse, Alice Zemon, Ruth Davis, Addie Loeb, and Miss Peggy Ware.

On J. M. Foster's business district committee are Charles Martini, Pat Moran, Wilma See, Lucille Byers, Isabel M. Sloan, Dallas Henry, Ada Golden, Gladys Gibson, Bert Staley, Fay Davis, Floyd A. Supp, Dan Geneit, Harley Ochs, Clifford McKibbin Jr., O. P. North, Fred Bancroft, Lou Comfort, Dean Davenport, R. L. Lewis, Robert F. Sloan, Fenton R. Bulow, Doris Solomon.

FOSTER BOAT COMPANY OFFERS CANVAS STOCK

Limited Civilian Needs May Be Supplied By Firm

As a courtesy to merchants and residents of this community, the Foster Boat Company has opened its canvas fabrication facilities to civilian needs on a limited basis.

Military requirements of necessity will take precedence. However, where repair work or new fabrication of non critical materials can be facilitated without interference with war work, orders will be accepted.

The canvas division of the Foster Boat Company has a limited amount of material in prints, drill, duck, also tarpaulin stock, which can be converted to civilian use such as awnings, curtain drops, and truck and boat covers.

This stock is limited, and when sold, from all indications, no additional stock purchases will be possible for the duration for civilian use.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

No trouble to tell which sex is the most modest, these warm days.

Perhaps you, like myself, noticed a lot of people hobbling around sort of lame-like Monday morning. Well, if you want to know the truth, what ailed them was huckleberry rheumatism. About every other person I talked to that day had been over somewhere on the eastern plains the day before, all got some berries, mosquito bites and lame joints. This war and high prices has really done wonders for people though.

When the striking miners were given the choice of going back to the mines or into the army, they went back to the mines just as most of us expected they would.

All you have to do in order to find out whether or not people read the paper is make a mistake. That item about the Berdan place stirred up an awful ruckus and you know, had anyone taken the time to ask me about it the first place, I'd have put them right and we'd saved a whale of a lot of telephone calls, paper and postage stamps. Well, we're mighty glad to find out so many people read the paper, anyway.

The New Deal has made the American farmer the world's prize guinea pig.

When a man prefers peanut butter rather than peanuts, vegetable soup rather than salads, and stewed fruit rather than melons or pears — it's a sign of middle age. Furthermore, why isn't a well-cooked meat stew as tasty as steak?

Ike: "A box of quackers."

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

I received the paper last week, was I glad to get it. I read it over two or three times, found something new every time.

I saw James Annis Wednesday night, and was out with Ken Staley Saturday night this week. Ken and I will be together Saturday and Sunday.

While I was working yesterday out on the docks, I thought up a little something about the marines. Here it is: You can have your army khaki and your navy blue, for here is another fighter I'll introduce to you. His uniform is different, the finest you've ever seen; the huns call him a devil-dog, his real name is marine. He was trained in San Diego, the land that God forgot, where the sand is fourteen inches deep and the sun is scorching hot. He has washed many a dish and many a dish has dried, it was there he learned to make a bed and a broom he sure can guide. He has peeled a million onions and twice as many spuds, and his spare time he spends in cleaning all his duds. Now girls, here is a little tip I'm passing on to you — get yourself a marine, for there is nothing he can't do. And when he goes to heaven, to St. Peter he will tell: "Another marine reporting, Sir, I've spent my time in Hell." That's what I call "Marine Training."

Tell Art Fagan, the night watchman, I still think about him. Same about Joe Smith, the flatfoot. So long, Ken.

Yours truly,
Ralph.

Dear Ken,

I have been receiving the Charlevoix Courier for some time through a private source. I have long intended writing to let you know I enjoy each issue fully as much as your local boys. Consequently, tonight I am utilizing part of my relaxation period to make my good intentions a reality.

I spent over eleven months at the local coast guard station, which as I look back was the nicest period of my enlistment. During this

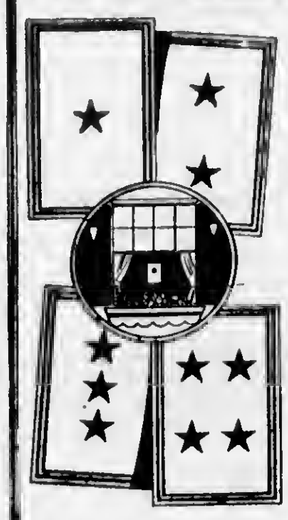
FREE SERVICE STAR CARDS
FOR THE FAMILIES OF SERVICE MEN



This Service Star window card should be seen in every home in America that is represented by a father, husband, son or brother in the Armed Forces of the United States. It emphasizes America's pride in those who are serving our country in time of war.

BLUE, SILVER OR GOLD

The Blue Star indicates service in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps within the boundaries of the United States.

The Silver Star denotes service outside the continental United States, either on the high seas, in the United States possessions, or on foreign soil.

The Gold Star is America's tribute to those who make the supreme sacrifice under the Stars and Stripes in time of war.

You are entitled to display the proper star for each member of your family serving in the Armed Forces of the United States of America. For example, if you are the parent of one boy in camp in the U.S.A., you are entitled to one Blue Star. If you have two sons in service—one in the U.S.A. and one outside the U.S.A.—you are entitled to a Service Star card bearing one Blue Star and one Silver Star.

Produced in Red, White and Blue Actual size 6 inches x 9¼ inches.

This space contributed by the Charlevoix Courier as a patriotic service to these who are giving their loved ones to the cause of victory.

The Ladies Fellowship Group of the Reformed church met with Mrs. Ed Boss, last Wednesday.

MURRAY

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Davidson and family, of Alma, are living in the house owned by Mrs. Henry Hamlin while the saw mill on the Oscar Tillotson property is in operation.

Mrs. William Hair spent several days last week in Ann Arbor and Detroit visiting relatives. She was accompanied home by Mrs. George Hair and son, Roger, of Detroit, who will visit relatives here and at Petoskey for several weeks.

Friday evening Mrs. Clifford Struthers called on Mrs. Henry Hair.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Green, of Detroit, are spending their vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Furgeson.

Mrs. Leola Burnett has been a patient at a Petoskey hospital and her many friends hope for a rapid recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hair visited at the Wm. Kago home in Resort township last Wednesday night.

Several from this neighborhood have been huckleberrying the past few days, with verying degrees of success.

Clifford Struthers was guest of honor at a birthday party at his home last Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Gray have moved to the Wertzbar farm.

William Price was unfortunate enough to get a bad fall, and now is carefully nursing several cracked ribs and an injured knee.

The East Jordan canning company have delivered the bags for string beans and some growers expect to begin picking the last of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Green with Mr. and Mrs. Grant Furgeson are spending several days visiting relatives in the Upper Peninsula near Garden, Michigan.

Marvel Hair and Louise Speigl are planning on attending the 4-H club camp at Gaylord, the first part of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Long have as guests their daughter and three children, of Detroit.

Mrs. Simmons of Chicago is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bob White.

ROCK ELM

Some hay got wet by the recent showers, but no one is complaining for corn and beans and gardens needed the rain.

A few pickers started work in Lawrence Jensen's cherry orchard last week Wednesday and will probably finish this week as the crop is light this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jensen in company with other friends went after huckleberries Sunday.

Quite a number of people from this neighborhood attend the free moving picture shows at Ellsworth Monday evenings.

Looks like there will be a pretty good crop of milkweed pods in this region this season if anybody has time to pick them.

NORWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bellinger, of Cincinnati, Ohio, arrived last week to spend the remainder of the summer at their cottage in Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. George Light Jr. and son George, of Detroit, spent the past week visiting at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Light Sr.

Mrs. John Racignel of Petoskey, is working at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Lord.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Holecheck and family, of Alpena, arrived last week to spend the remainder of the summer in their home in Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Jones received an announcement last week that their grandson, Cpl. John E. Jones and Miss Katherine Alleaver were united in marriage at Columbus, Ohio on July 19th.

Mrs. Irving Lord returned home from the Lockwood Hospital at Petoskey, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holecheck and son, Irwin, were Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. Holecheck's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Welch, of Petoskey.

BEEF MEN PLAN LAPEER SALE OCT. 8

Breeders of registered beef cattle already are listing consignments for the annual Lapeer sale scheduled for Friday, Oct. 8, according to E. L. Benton, Michigan State College livestock extension specialist. Herefords, Angus and the beef and the milking type Shorthorns will be included in the sale which is sponsored by the Michigan Beef Breeders' association, the Lapeer Chamber of Commerce, R. C. Lott, county agricultural agent, and the Michigan State College extension service. Prices for beef breeding animals have been ranging $50 to $75 a head more than a year ago, according to Benton, who is accepting consignments for the annual Lapeer sale.

In 1940, retail food prices increased 400 per cent in Chungking, China's capital, leading to food control measures by the Chinese Government.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

J. C. Wynn, Camp Scribe

In a humorous little ceremony last Sunday night at the supper table, an important lesson was brought home to the campers. Father Time entered the dining hall and demonstrated to the campers the fleetness of his life. Dressed in a white cloak, and carrying his famed scythe, Father Time hobbled up to Chief Reimann and shakily greeted him. In a short conversation each observed that time goes by swiftly. Then as Chief pronounced "Tempus fugit" Father Time turned the wall clock ahead one hour, and the aging fellow slowly moved out. Now "camp time" is identical with Central War Time, having been changed so that the campers could still claim the best part of each day for their activities, even as the nights are growing noticeably longer.

And time has gone by rapidly; for Camp Charlevoix is beginning the second half of its 1943 season this week. The first month has come and gone. The campers have had many new experiences in the out-of-doors.

One of these experiences was the chance to get acquainted with Coach Charlie Bachman who has returned to Michigan State College only recently. When after a stay of two weeks "Charlie" had to leave his young friends who had studied football with him, there was a long queue of well wishers who shook his hand and wished him well. And with a big send-off "Charlie" went back to East Lansing.

Saturday's Aquacade was a splashing success. Co-directors Angell and Daily staged a full afternoon's schedule of exciting events. It was a sunny day; visitors and spectators lined the bank and cheered for their Green or Grey swimmers who competed. The first event, a 40-yard free style race was won by Cary Bachman; he was followed to the winning tape by Paul Dixon, Bill Thompson, Bart Grimes, and the two Junior participants, Dave Ball and Billy Fitzpatrick. The next race required the swimmers to do forty yards by breast-stroke. Bob House came in first, Dick Noel second, Johnny MacDowell third, Gene Chapman fourth, Fred Pryor, fifth, and Fred McGregor sixth.

The forty yard back stroke competition was won by Dick Noel; and he was followed by George Dowley, Brian Kelly, Pete Mann, and the Junior team delegates Dave Ball, and Dave Harding. In the 220 yard free style race Jim Naylor won first place, second went to George Dowley, third Dick Noel, fourth Fred McGregor. The individual medley in which the contestants had to swim a different specified stroke each lap was won by Cary Bachman; and he was followed closely by George Dowley, Dick Noel and Fred McGregor, the same swimmers who had excelled in the other races. The races were followed by a lot of wet foolishness in the way of cabin stunts. Cabin fifteen's stunt was tied with Cabin 17 for first prize; Andre Savard acted the part of a well dressed man who was pushed into the lake by three friends. But he got his revenge by dousing all three of the others. Cabin 17 did a good job of mimicking Izaak Walton Deal on one of his well-known fishing excursions.

As a fitting end to the races and stunts the first Mile Swim of this summer was run off. Sixteen fellows swam the course. Each two swimmers were accompanied by two counsellors in a life boat which went with them all the way to the half mile buoy in the middle of Lake Charlevoix and back. Those who accomplished this feat were George Dowley, Bill Thompson, Barry Ewbank, Tommy Tomlinson, Frank and Paul Smith, Tommy Thompson, John MacDonell, Brian and Harry Kelly, John Lerch, David Harding, Buddy Loranger, Bob King, Bill Scher, Bob Baker. Charles Green swam the half mile. The names of these swimmers will be entered on the wall chart in the Club House where each year's mile swimmers are recorded. The Aquacade's two stars were Dick Noel, who gained the most points for his team, and George Dowley, who won the second most points.

Five more campers have passed their 100-yard swimming tests: Bobby Scher, Billy Jacobs, Tom Keenan, George Palmer, and Bob Stoll. Junior campers are now entering canoe classes to learn how to paddle these craft. Because of choppy waters there was no sailing race last week. But Cabin 14 took a sail boat trip to Horton Bay whence they hiked into Boyne City for a movie. This cabin under the leadership of their counsellor Maurice Dixon ran into rough weather but returned to camp safely and happy from the experience. Next Saturday the Waterfront Committee will present a water carnival with diving competition and other features.

This week saw the welcome of three new campers, Richard Morey of Elmhurst, Illinois, John Knight from Battle Creek, and Dennis Croghan from Birmingham. They will be here for the latter half of the camping season. As the half way mark is reached in the period, each cabin is planning to elect a new camp council representative.

The ceramics teachers now have a large display cabinet in the handicraft shop where the finished glazed articles can be seen. The varied colored objects make a pretty sight, brightly colored pitchers, dishes, and modeled animals.

Sunday afternoon's sports event was a challenge baseball game between the varsity and the assistant counsellors. The varsity which was defeated only a week before by the counsellors, also fell to the assistants in a 10-6 score. In the last inning the varsity had bases loaded, and two outs, thus threatening to tie the score. But they failed in this, and lost.

Visitors to the Camp for the past week were Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Buskirk, Mrs. B. E. Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Nyquist, Mrs. Maurice Dixon, Vonnie Dixon, and Jack Dixon, Dr. and Mrs. Richard L. Waggoner who attended the Aquacade, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Tabor, Mrs. M. C. Dykhouse, Mrs. B. W. Bellinger, and Mrs. Mann. Though fewer parents are visiting the Camp this summer, there are still a number who find their way to Charlevoix. It is the hope of Cowboy Loy Clingman who is training the campers for the Rodeo that many dads and mothers will find it possible to attend. The Rodeo and Dad's Day will be held the same time this year — August 21.

The work projects for the campers are accomplishing much. Many of the older boys' cabins have gone to nearby farms to aid in picking the cherry crops. For this they are paid by the lug. In addition to this, DeVille Hubbard, Bob Daniels and John Barker picked enough cherries for pies to be served to the entire camp dining room. Mrs. Sowers' pies and cakes never fail to evoke a "Chinese toast" from the camp group. The Camp victory garden is producing more and more for the table; this week work projects have included bean picking at the garden from which lettuce, onions, radishes, and peppers have already come. The tall totem pole which was carved by George Bach a few years ago is taking on a new coat of paint from the brush of Sherwood Daily. The assistant counsellors recently built a high watch tower for the waterfront guards to survey the area.

Station WLCR broadcast from the Club House Saturday night. "Paul McNeil" directed and led the radio show. Accordion Chris played a number of familiar tunes and Phil Stoding sang popular songs. Russ Tengue gave a reading. George Dowley and oJhnny MacDowell gave a comedian skit. A group of radio players including Bill Farley, Bud Loranger, Bill Scher, David Baker, Charles Green, and Buck Dillon read a thriller playlet, "Trapped." Sound effects were handled by Hal Caldwell, Bob Angell, Jerry Burke, Bob Mulligan and Lew Stoerker staged the radio show.

In Sunday's Chapel Dick Conners led the service, Jim Naylor read the Scriptura, and Bob Baker the prayer. Sherwood Daily spoke on the presence of God in nature; he described the beauties of nature as we have them here at Camp and told of his own faith in their Creator. Buddy Loranger, Bill Farley, Bill Thompson, Howard Kay, Mike Foster sang with Mrs. Reimann in the anthem, "The Lord is My Shepherd." Chapel offerings are being sent to three benevolences which the campers chose: the support of two war orphans, the support of a boy in the University of Michigan Fresh Air Camp, and the buying of recreational equipment for New Haven's Children's Building.

Sunday evening Vespers were held for the Juniors who sang "Day is Dying In The West," and heard a continuation of the God In Nature theme with special emphasis on Joyce Kilmer's "Trees." The older campers' Vespers had a hymn sing, and a description of the chaplains' work in the Army and Navy.

Cabin 13 still leads the camp in points for cabin clean-up; they are closely contested for first place by cabins 12 and 10. The Intermediate cabins held a story contest around the fireplace a few evenings ago. One representative from each cabin told a story. Fred McGregor told the winning tale, a ghost story with a surprise finish. George Dowley, Fred Shapiro, Bill Scher, Jerry Burke, Bob King, Frank Cornelius, and Gene Chapman also offered stories.

Junior cabins are having special baseball lessons from Coach Bob Livermore who has had batting practice, and throwing catching sessions with them. The Juniors are preparing a play for the entertainment of the rest of the camp next Saturday evening. They spent last Friday evening climbing over atolid Tango, the camp donkey. She took them for rides by twos and threes when she felt like it. The Junior section went for a hike, swim, and cook-out at Strawberry Point last Wednesday afternoon. They are learning to box and wrestle, and are enthusiastic campers, all.

The Green and Grey teams are running neck and neck in all their contests, and now after baseball, track, and swimming competition have a score of 11 to 10 with the Greens in the lead for the time being. Wednesday night will be all-camp Gyp night; and the pranks will be many. Tests for distinction in various activities are being held and passed by the campers. They will get recognition for skills learned on their Camp Certificate. First Aid is being taught to the entire older camper section; and Boy Scouts among the campers are training with Les Pengelly for merit badges and rank advancements. Trips on horseback, hay wagon, boat, canoe, and foot are becoming more frequent. As this is being written, two cabins, 17 and 15, are at Beaver Island. Others will go to Mackinac Island in the near future. Mount McSauby is a favorite spot for overnight trips.

Chief Reimann spoke at the Traverse City Kiwanis meeting last Monday. Mrs. Reimann the Camp Mother is planning a series of birthday parties for the campers who have birthday anniversaries during the camp season. Future plans include another Council Fire, basketball, foul shooting contest, an intercamp rifle match.

One morning last week the camp company witnessed an impressive ceremony at flag raising. A new flag was flown from the flag pole, and the old flag was burned while everyone stood at attention and Fritz Krueger played taps. The new colors fly brightly over the shore of Lake Charlevoix.

4-H STATE FAIR AT MSC SEPT. 6

Topnotch samples of the 1943 projects of more than 50,000 boys and girls in 4-H club work in Michigan will be on the Michigan State College campus at East Lansing on Labor Day, Sept. 6, for the 28th annual State 4-H Club Show.

Announcement of the details comes from A. G. Kettunen, state club leader. Many of the features shown to the public in a similar show in 1942 are retained in this year's program which supplants the fair usually given 10 days at the Detroit fairgrounds.

Premiums made available by the State Department of Agriculture total $11,000. The State Board of Agriculture, the college staff and the board of managers of the Michigan State Fair are cooperating.

Exhibits, exhibitors and 4-H club delegates arrive on the campus Saturday, Sept. 4, to participate in preliminary programs Saturday and Sunday. Judging of dairy cattle, sheep, swine, colts and beef animals begins at 8:30 a.m. Monday. Demonstration contests scheduled during the day include those for dairy, general livestock, poultry, crops, vegetables, handicraft, conservation, citizenship, canning, clothing and school lunches.

Monday's program includes an auction sale at 4:30 p.m. for fat steers, rams and boars. In the evening a livestock parade at 7 p.m. will precede the state 4-H dress revue and a citizenship ceremony.

Exhibits set up for public viewing will include live poultry, eggs, corn, potatoes, beans, vegetables, flowers, handicraft, farm conveniences, farm electrification, wood identification, forest rangers, canning, food preparation, baking, school lunches, clothing, girls' room arrangements, and achievement booths.

Club members conclude their program Tuesday with judging contests in dairy cattle, general livestock, crops, vegetables, and home economics subjects of clothing, canning and foods.

SNIPPING EAR TIPS CURBS CORN EARWORM

Eight to ten days after silk appears and usually after the silk becomes brown and starts drying, sweet corn ear tips can be snipped off with a sharp knife or heavy shears to avoid heavy damage from the corn earworm, advises Ray Hutson, head of the Michigan State College entomology department. Market growers get a premium price for corn free from the corn borer's cousin. Victory gardeners get a better product, more pleasant to handle and to eat. The snipping cuts off the earworm eggs that have been laid on the silk tips. Cutting should not occur, however, before the silk has done its part in fertilizing the corn kernels so they will develop.

"P.D.B." USEFUL IN ANT CONTROL

P.D.B. has gone to war, but there are still some supplies available for use in and around homes in ant control and clothes moth treatments. In full, this is a chemical in crystal form, paradichlorobensene. Two to three teaspoonfuls poured into an ant colonoy several inches deep will smother the ants or make them so miserable they will leave the vicinity. The gas action of the crystals lasts several days.

Normal cell growth follows definit biological laws, while cancer cell growth follows no biological law.

LAKES ARE HIGHEST IN FOURTEEN YEARS

Heavy Rains Bring Great Lakes Almost to Record Levels

Water levels on the Great Lakes are higher than they have been in 14 years or more, state conservation department geologists report from a study of data compiled by the United States Lake Survey office.

Lake Huron and Lake Michigan with a level of 581 feet above sea level are higher than at any period since 1929, when a level of 582.3 feet above sea level was recorded. Lake Superior with a level of 603.19 feet above sea level is challenging the modern high for that lake, which was 603.65, recorded in 1916. Lake Ontario with a level of 248.74 is higher now than it has been at any time since 1870, when it reached an all-time high of 250 feet above sea level. Lake Erie with a level of 574.05 is pushing the modern record for that lake of 574.3, which was set in 1929.

Since 1934 when water levels plunged to an all-time low, levels have steadily climbed, until with the heavy rains of the last several years and especially of this spring, they have reached what geologists consider an abnormally high level, except lakes Huron and Michigan, which are now at about a satisfactory normal.

Despite the nation's need for tin, two of each three empty tin cans still are being thrown away and not salvaged, the federal War Production Board reports.

Manila hemp rope is kept in condition best while in storage if it is coiled on a raised, slatted platform or hung in loose coils on wooden pegs.

AT THE MOVIES

The role of Robert Forrest, Katharine Hepburn's husband in "Keeper of the Flame," which comes Sunday and Monday to the Palace Theatre, is one of the strangest on record. The central character in the picture, which stars Spencer Tracy and Miss Hepburn, has a complete wardrobe, is photographed, his voice recorded, and appears in a newsreel. But as a character in the picture he is never seen. He is supposed to have been killed before the picture started, and his death motivates

We are just going to put the old Berdan house in its place thls week, it has bothered us a lot lately. After Rollie Lewis corrected our error two weeks ago by saying it was not the present C. M. Bice residence, but was on the sito of the John Knight house, we duly published said correction. But the matter was not settled, for last Thursday morning both Mr. Lowis's and the Courier's phones rang madly with old residents calling ta tell both of us that the present Walker Miles residence is the netual old Berdan house, as ever was. Walker says the original house is still there, and has been added to in recent years. Perhaps the reason the place was mixed up with the John Knight property is that the mother of Henry Wood, who built the original house on the Knight lot, purchased a half-lot from the Berdan property. Anyway, we are just going to keep our big mouth shut about where things nre thnt we don't even remember, and not try to bluff our way through next time. And realiy appreciate the interest shown by all those who corrected us on this.

time I made a number of friends with the permanent residents and the summer visitors. I still recognize many of their names and highly enjoy reading of their netivities.

Your "Shot at Random" column is of speciai interest to me. I used to he a hunting nnd fishing enthusiast, though now my gear is carefully laid away awaiting my return home. The only fishing I did while in Charlevoix was from the pier by the station. As a trua diseiplo of Isaac Walton, the catches I made were of the type wo used to use for bait. Some time in the future I want to make a catch that will mnke a paragraph in your coiumn.

It may seem a bit odd for an outsider to contributa to your paper, but I have wanted to write for a long tima to let you know how much I enjoy it.

Dear Ken,

Well Ken, this is California and it sure is hot here — 130 today, water there is nona, sun is sure bright here. By what I hear it is cold there and tha water is warm. And is cold so you can sleep — it is the same hera, too, we sleep good at night.

I like the army very wali. Tha traiaing they giva you is not as hard as the training we got in achool from Ray Kipka and Stewart Coleman, that was harder. We sit on tha hot ground most of tha time listening to aomeono alsa talk on a great many things, first aid, guns, airplanes, hand grenades, how to put up tents and things like that. Tho trip that the army gave me was worth having sure saw a lot of new things — Salt Lake, Rocky Mountains with saow, rocks hundreds of feet high.

Oa the way down wa saw a train wreck, no one was hurt but the train was sura smashed up. We crossad the Mississippi and it sure is big. They say thera is a lot of fruit here, but havan't seea any yet. And no treos, we crawl uader buildings to keep cool. It is so hot here they give us ten minutes braak every now and then to cool off.

Would ba very much plaased if you would send me tha paper.

Yours truly,

Charles M. Schwab entered the army December 7, 1942, first anniversary of Pearl Harbor, and is now stationed at Camp Claiborne, La. He was recently promoted to technician fifth class, and wears a corporal's stripes.

Sgt. William G. Eccleston, half-brother to the Schwabs, enlisted in the army air corps in October, 1941, and was at Hickam field, Hawaii, when Pearl Harbor was attacked. He was later cited among other American soldiers for their courage under fire on that day. Now he is at another South Pacific base, location unknown.

With exception of Bob, all the boys graduated from Charlevoix high school.

LABLANCE-FOCHTMAN WEDDING SATURDAY, CAMP SIBERT, ALA.

The wedding of Miss Mary Clare LaBlance and Cpl. Edward G. Fochtman was solemnized Saturday, July 24, at an evening mass at the post chapel at Camp Sibert, Ala. Fr. George N. Gilligan, M.N., officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George LaBlanco Sr., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Angus L. Fochtman, all of Charlevoix.

For the ceremony, the chapel was decorated with peach colored glads. Miss Muriel Nelson, of Kalamazoo, was maid of honor, and Pvt. William Higgins, of Louisville, Ky., acted as best man.

A princess style gown of white slipper satin was worn by the bride. Her three-quarter length veil fell from a juliet cap trimmed with seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white Killarney roses. Miss Nelson's gown was pale blue figured organdy, with which she wore a white picture hat trimmed with pale blue ribbon. Her bouquet was of pink carnations.

After the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the White Palace, where the table was decorated with white roses and a three-tiered wedding cake.

Both Cpl. and Mrs. Fochtman graduated from Charlevoix high school. Mrs. Fochtman attended Maher's Business College, Kalamazoo, and has been a secretary with the Stanley Home Products firm in that city for three years. Cpl. Fochtman graduated as a chemical engineer from Michigan State College, and entered service April 15 of this year. They will reside in Gadsden, Ala., for the present.

Guests at the wedding included the groom's mother, Mrs. Angus L. Fochtman, this city, and his brother, Pvt. Richard A. Fochtman of Fort Benning, Ga.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

A buffet supper and post-nuptial shower honoring Mrs. Edward C. Heise, the former Marie Kloosster, was given Sunday evening by the Misses Marie Novak and Ruth Heise at the Novak residence on Lewis street. Guests gathered on the lawn, where small tables were set. The honored guest was presented with many beautiful gifts by the 18 guests.

Mrs. O. P. North entertained Saturday afternoon in honor of the 11th birthday of her daughter, Eleanor. Eleven guests were present for games and birthday refreshments.

Honoring Miss Marion Cross, whose marriage to Pvt. Kerwin Mulligan of Fresno, Calif., will take place in the near future, a bridal shower was given Monday evening by Mrs. Ira Smith at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Meyer. Guests played bingo, with special prizes going to Miss Cross, Mrs. Willis Cross, Miss Ann Cunningham and Miss Ernestina Chew. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Miss Joan Nelson's birthday anniversary was celebrated Sunday afternoon with a surprise party given by her aunts, Mrs. Lance Neff and Mrs. H. R. McLeod, at the Neff home. Seventeen guests enjoyed swimming, followed by lunch served at the Neff residence. The refreshment table was decorated with red, white and blue streamers and flags and set with two birthday cakes.

ANNUAL REPORT
Charlevoix School District No. 1, City and Township

Minutes of Annual Meeting of School District No. 1, City and Township of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Meeting held July 12th, 1043.

The meeting was called to order by the president C. S. Webster.

Minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Secretary Oscar P. Stroud. Moved by W. H. Cook, seconded by Mr. Nason, that the minutes be accepted as read. Motion carried.

The Librarian's report was read by Walker Miles. Moved by Mrs. Walter Bergeon, seconded by Mrs. Walker Miles, that the report be accepted as read. Motion carried.

Secretary's annual report was read by Oscar P. Stroud. Moved by W. H. Cook and seconded by Mrs. Walter Bergeon, that this report be accepted as read. Motion carried.

Treasurer's report was given by C. B. Meggison. Moved by George Haggard, seconded by Mr. Fenton Bulow, that this report be accepted as read. Motion carried.

A personal report covering various school matters was presented by Trustee Walker Miles. Motion made by W. H. Cook that this report be accepted. Motion not supported.

The President appointed as tellers George Haggard, Fanton Bulow, Hugh Mayne, Mr. Timmer and Pat Hawley. Tellers were sworn in by Mr. Bulow, who was himself sworn in by Pat Hawley.

Nominations were opened for school trustee for the term of three years to succeed Clarence B. Meggison. Mr. Meggison was renominated by Wm. Myers. Carl Erber was nominated by Joseph Foster. Motion made by Mrs. C. Trimble and seconded by Mr. Palmer that nominations be closed. Motion carried.

Results of the balloting were as follows: Total votes cast 143, C. B. Meggison received 94 votes. Carl Erber received 49 votes.

The problem of the need for an additional 2 mills tax was presented by Mr. C. B. Meggison. The motion was made by Wm. Myers, seconded by George LaHance, that the School District raise an extra two mills for operating purposes. Results of the balloting were as follows: Total votes cast—135. Yes—117. No.—18.

There was some discussion concerning the need for a truant officer. On behalf of the School Board Mr. Webster stated that this matter would be given consideration.

Motion made by George Haggard that meeting be adjourned. Meeting adjourned at 9:30 p.m.

Oscar P. Stroud, Secretary.

Secretary's Annual Report — School District No 1., City and Township of Charlevoix 1942-43

To the Citizens of the School District:

To date the school board has been unable to locate an available auditor and for that reason the annual audit has not yet been completed, but we expect to have this done before the beginning of the new school term.

It will be necessary to request an increase of at least two mills in the school tax rate. This is needed for a number of reasons, Salaries of all teachers and janitors have been increased. While some building repairs have been made during the past year, there are still extensive repairs necessary to maintain the school buildings in a safe and proper condition. Boiler repair alone will require $000.00 or more.

Expenditures for the past fiscal year were $54,194.79, as compared with $48,947.81 last year, and approximately $43,500.00 in 1941. The increase last year of a little more than $5,000.00 includes $1,000.00 increase in the cost of transportation and $1,200.00 for the Boat School. These two amounts will be refunded almost entirely by the State. Teachers salaries accounted for an increase of less than $700.00, and this is comparatively small considering the trend of wages and living costs. Fuel costs were increased $800.00, and repairs amounted to another $800.00. $000.00 was spent for new equipment — bus and lights.

On January 19th, 1943, the school bus to Ironton District was snowbound. The school district reimbursed John Bacco and Peter Mitchell for room and board for the persons stranded at their homes.

As previously authorized by the electors of the school district heating equipment from the old Grade building has been sold to the Foster Heat Company for a total of $310.00.

In order to avoid a deficit for the fiscal year we secured an advance of $2,000.00 from State Aid. Of this amount there is a balance of $1,580.76 remaining.

In the past our insurance has been based on a valuation which was considerably below the real value of the buildings. The appraised valuation is $251,000.00 and we now carry insurance on on 80% co-insurance plan, which means we are insured fully for any fire loss up to 80% of this valuation, or $201,000.00. This is the usual coverage for public buildings, and really amounts to full protection as it would be virtually impossible to have an 80% fire loss. The increase in premium is only $110.00 for five years, or less than $25.00 per year.

During the past year milk was served to an average of 230 children daily, at a cost to the child of 1 cent per half pint, the balance being paid by a special government fund. Hot lunches were served to an average of 80 pupils per day. Approximately 50% of these lunches were served without cost. Those able to pay were charged a nominal amount which helped to defray the actual cost of the food. The Charlevoix Welfare Office paid for the labor necessary in preparing and serving these lunches. If possible these programs will be continued next year.

Last year bus transportation was extended to Phelps and Hopyard school districts, and arrangements have been completed to include Marion school district next year.

Because of the expected loss in high school enrollment it should not be necessary to hire as many high school teachers another year. This decreased enrollment will lower the income on High School membership next year, and this will probably be true for many following years. However, the grades are very crowded and there is no indication of a decrease in grade school attendance. It may therefore be necessary to hire an additional teacher or two for this section. All teachers needed for the coming year, on the basis of the present enrollment, have been hired, with the exception of a commercial teacher.

The Children's Library is continuing with great success, especially the story hour, which has had an average attendance of thirty children.

In October, 1942, the School Board authorized the use of the gym by the Coast Guard boys stationed at Charlevoix two nights a week from 7 until 10, and at the same time the U.S.O. was given permission to use the gym for sponsored parties.

During the past year the school board has made every effort to cooperate fully with all phases of the war effort. Stamps and bonds have been sold with marked success to the students, and also to the teachers on a payroll deduction plan. The students have participated in a physical fitness program, Red Cross sewing, etc. The school board extended leave of absence for the duration to all teachers to join the armed forces of the United States.

Respectfully submitted,
Oscar P. Stroud, Secretary.

LANSING LETTER

Michigan's contribution of manpower to World War II is already more than double the entire record for the first conflict, 25 years ago.

Approximately 350,000 men and women (yes, don't forget the ladies!) have left Michigan homes in cities and on farms to serve in Uncle Sam's forces all over the globe. That is a bit more than a third of a million people — quite a legion.

World War I records list the following: Army, 152,598; navy, 19,413; marines, 3,318. Total; 175,320. Of the latter number 4,205 became gold stars on the state's service flag — 2.4 per cent of all — and not all of those were killed in action, as influenza and other diseases took a heavy toll of lives.

In other ways the contrast is sharp. Our part in today's war has already exceeded the entire time of our participation in the first conflict. Instead of fighting one war — and with France, Italy and Japan among our allies — we have two wars on our hands; our troops are yet to land on the continent of Europe (when this column was written); and only four of our divisions saw action in Tunisia.

We still have a long ways to go before the boys march into Berlin and Tokio.

There appears to be a long, long trail ahead. But victory is certain. Of this we know.

It should be remembered also that the present rate of inductions is high, after a temporary lull last spring, and that fathers are still subject to call. A total contribution of 400,000 to 500,000 is not improbable in view of Washington warnings of preparations to carry on the war for six more years.

And yet, surprisingly and happily enough, the Michigan mortality rate of our modern world-wide engagements is apt to be considerably less than 2.4 per cent. Airplanes and tanks are the front lines of today's fighting. They require a comparative small number of men to operate them. It is a mechanized war, so goes the new parlez vous version; not a war of mass movements and entrenched lines.

Word from Africa is encouraging with respect to the price paid for Allies victory. Tunisia was taken with an unexpected small loss of men and material. The same holds true, so far, for our invasion of Sicily. In fact, cocky, as we always are — and Americans are the world's worst braggerts — Washington is now concerned over our optimism that the war would be over soon. Why look at the way we licked Rommel in Tunisia? And isn't Sicily already an easy push-over?

While the war-makers may worry about our complacency, it is a fact that the casualty lists have been small to date. And as for the boys who have been wounded — say, there's something else worth crowing about. Approximately 98 per cent of all American wounded men have recovered to date, leaving a mortality rate of only 2 per cent!

Our boys in the service are disgustedly healthy, too. They receive the best of food and medical care.

Every doughboy and sailor acquires a fatalistic attitude about his chances of returning home. Since only 2 per cent of the wounded die and since today's mechanized war has reduced the number of fatalities to date as compared with World War I, military service becomes a great adventure to the average young man and young woman.

As you contrast the state's participation in the two wars to date, you recall also how the Michigan State Police was a creation of the first war and that the state troopers were dispatched to the Upper Peninsula to check I. W. W. agitators attempting to stop iron mine operations. Today, the state administrative board plans to enlarge the home guards and maintain a permanent force at Detroit, equipped with jeeps, tommy guns and all else, ready for emergency duty for the next race riot.

In the last war the state war board bought tractors, seed corn and seed wheat and retailed them at cost to farmers. The voters approved a $5,000,000 bond issue and the legislature created a war board of which Col. Roy Vandercook, now with the Michigan Railroads Association, was secretary. Governor Albert E. Sleeper was chairman.

With regards to war costs, the contrast is sharp, indeed. Modern war machines are costly; the government has contracted with many firms on a cost-plus basis wherein high wages are merely added to the future national debt, now past the 100 billion mark. Inflation is already here and prices are crazily high.

The entire country — and this goes for Michigan, too — is enjoying a prosperity jag.

The war is going to cost us many, many times the dollars we paid in 1917-18.

But if the price of human life is less and our Michigan boys and girls come marching home, we will take our medicine and like it.

MICHIGAN WAR WEEK

Collection of Fats Shows Six Pct. Gain in State for Month

Collection of household fats in Michigan during June showed an increase of six per cent over May, amounting to 60 per cent of the quota of 806,500 pounds, it was reported today by Kenneth M. Burns, Chairman of the State Salvage Committee of the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense.

Of the 68 Lower Peninsula counties, 48 registered gains, while Upper Peninsula collections climbed 11.5 per cent.

Six counties exceeded their quotas. Mason, with 101.7 per cent, was over quota for the third successive month. Repeaters for the second time were Washtenaw, 103.8; Isabella, 102.5; and Muskegon, 102.3. Livingston, with 104.7, the highest in the State, and Oakland, 102.0, went over quota for the first time.

Although not all of them are among the leaders, counties making worthwhile gains were Ocenna, 95.5; Montcalm, 88.8; Van Buren, 64.1; St. Joseph, 63.2; Barry, 59.2; Macomb, 49.3; and Gratiot, 48.2.

Collections for the State were a little less than half a million lbs., according to reports submitted by rendering companies. Since last August, when the new report system was adopted, every month, with the exception of one, has shown an increase.

"More of the available supply of household fats is being obtained and more people are saving more fats," Burns said. "This is an encouraging record, but we are still far short of quota, and must strive for greater gains. We must keep repeating over and over, 'Fats make gunpowder, and gunpowder fights our war'."

Appeal for Pickers

The critical shortage of cherry pickers in the Grand Traverse area has prompted Capt. Donald S. Leonard, Director of Civilian Defense, to appeal to defense councils to redouble their efforts to enlist more orchard workers at once.

"I am advised by A. B. Love, State Supervisor of the Emergency Farm Labor Program, that there is danger of losing a substantial portion of the cherry crop unless more pickers can be put to work immediately," Capt. Leonard said. "That must not be allowed to happen.

"I am appealing to defense councils through the press to increase their efforts to find volunteers who will go into the orchards and work at prevailing wage rates in this emergency. Defense councils were largely responsible last year for meeting a similar emergency, and I hope they will do as well this year. I know they can."

Capt. Leonard asked that defense council officials confer with their county agents, and with the United State Employment Service in counties where that agency has offices, before attempting to direct volunteers to the cherry country. Full information on supplemental gasoline rations available to those who offer their services may be obtained from county agents or the USES.

Check Against Ceiling Prices

The Consumer Activities Section of the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense is urging housewives to use a "Market Basket Price Book" to check against ceiling prices in grocery stores and meat markets. The books can be made at home and models have been sent to the Consumer Activities Committee of each defense council. In some communities they may be printed under local sponsorship and distributed to consumers. The books are set up to show the ceiling price of each standard commodity and should be used when shopping to determine if prices charged are legal. Violations of price ceilings should be reported to War Price and Rationing Boards to combat black markets and hold down the cost of living.

Some birds have eyes so large for their bodies that humans eyes would have to weigh five pounds or more to be in the same relative proportion to the human body, says the Better Vision Institute.

VICTORY GARDENS

Michigan Council of Defense

By Paul R. Krone
Chief, Victory Garden Section, Mich. Office of Civilian Defense

Vegetables can be stored over winter in several ways. If you are fortunate enough to have a specially constructed, well insulated storage room in your basement, that, of course, is the most convenient way. Unfortunately, however, most modern basements are not equipped for satisfactory vegetable storage.

If you have a corner in your basement that isn't in use, it can be converted into an excellent storage room at comparatively small cost. Enclose the corner by building a double wall around it. A framework of two by twos or two by fours should be constructed first. Cover the inside of this framework with waterproof building paper and then sheet up both inside and outside with lumber or wall board. Fill the space between the studs with rock wool or redwood bark. Seal the store room overhead with wall board, then put two or three inches of insulating material into the space between the floor joists. The door should also be covered with insulating board.

The room should have a window for ventilation and a ventilating flue should be built into one side of the window and extend almost to the floor to permit the intake of air and the escape of gases. Another section of the window should be converted into a small door. If there is a third pane of glass in the window, it should be pointed over so that the room will be dark at all times. Provision should be made so that the temperature can be maintained evenly. If the floor is of concrete, sand should be placed on part of the floor to store such things as carrots, beets and turnips and also to increase the humidity in the storage room.

If you don't want to go to the expense of building a special storage room, it is easy to store in small pits in the garden. Select a well drained, convenient place. Any one of several methods may be used. One of the most satisfactory provides for the construction of several small pits each large enough to hold a two weeks' supply of assorted vegetables. A pail or butter tub can be used as a form for digging the pits. They should be about 18 inches deep and the soil should be built up around the outside about six inches. If a pail is used as a form, it can be allowed to protrude above the ground about six inches and the soil packed firmly around it. The form is then removed and the hole is lined with straw or leaves to provide ventilation and insulation.

Place a cabbage plant head down in the center of the hole with the roots extending to the top. The stem will serve as a vent. Then put in the rest of the vegetables. Cover them over with straw, then with tarpaper or some other material to keep out the rain, then approximately six inches of soil. Fill enough of these pits to last your family all winter. Open only one pit at a time and store unused vegetables in the basement.

A barrel or large box that has been divided into compartments can be used in place of the individual pits. Dividers in the box or barrel will prevent sweating and spoiling of the vegetables that are to remain in the pit after it is first opened.

REPORT BLUEBERRY CROP CONDITIONS

Mechanical Pickers Permitted On State-Owned Land

Prompted by a flood of inquiries from ration-conscious housewives about this year's bumper crop of Michigan's famed blueberries, the state conservation department made a state-wide survey of the blueberry crop on state-owned lands in an attempt to help berry pickers spot the most productive patches nearest their homes.

In an effort to insure that this year's bumper crop will be completely harvested, the state conservation commission this week issued an emergency ruling, permitting the use of mechanical pickers on state lands, where many of the most concentrated blueberry fields lie.

Capsule summary of the progress of the blueberry crop based on the conservation department's survey is as follows:

Traverse City area—crop reported good.

Boyne City area—crop reported poor.

Roscommon area—crop reported good.

Montmorency county — crop reported fair.

Iosco county — crop reported spotty.

Mio area — crop reported plentiful with peak expected in late July.

The department advised pickers to contact the district headquarters of the conservation department or conservation officers in these areas for more definite information about the location of the berry fields.

MAIL REACHING YANK PRISONERS IN JAPAN

Letters of Next of Kin Getting Through to Captives

The American Red Cross has announced that there is substantial evidence that letters written by the next of kin to American prisoners held in Japanese prison camps have been received by them in considerable number.

The greatest assurance rests in the fact that relatives within the last week have received letters from prisoners held in Japan acknowledging receipt of mail.

Among these was Mrs. Royal C. Johnson of Washington who received a letter from her son, Lt. Harlan T. Johnson, Navy aviator, held in Zentsuji Prison Camp, Japan. Writing to his wife and his mother he said: "I have received six of your letters. It is impossible to say what letters mean to us here. It is such a grand pleasure that it hurts at first. Then you read, re-read and re-read the letters until you are again happily at home."

The American Red Cross urges next of kin to continue writing regularly to imprisoned members of their families, even though they may not yet have had a reply from the Far East. The delegates of the International Red Cross Committee in Japan have notified the American Red Cross that many thousands of letters have been delivered to the Americans, as well as other United Nations prisoners held in the Far East.

The mail route has been long and difficult, but a new and faster route has been opened only during the past month. This new route is capable of handling only a limited cargo of first class mail, so the American Red Cross emphasizes the importance of using the lightest weight paper and envelopes, thus permitting a greater volume of letters to go through. Censorship is expedited if letters are typewritten or block printed.

Relatives are requested to follow closely directions issued regarding the proper addressing of mail to prisoners of war. Publications ARC 310, available at all local Red Cross chapters, gives full directions.

FOOD:
Maintain Meat Ration

Maintenance of the present meat ration at "about the present level" was predicted by the War Food administration following the allocation of estimated supplies among civilians, the services and other users for the next 12 months.

Total allocable meat supplies were put at 23¼ billion pounds. Civilians will receive 63 out of every 100 pounds produced, the services will be given 17 pounds, the Allies will get 14 pounds, and allotments for reserves, the Red Cross and exports will amount to 6 pounds.

Of the total supply of beef expected, civilians will obtain 66 out of every 100 pounds, and the services 23 pounds. Other claimants will get 2 pounds. Of the pork production, the civilians' share will amount to 59 out of every 100 pounds, the services' portion will be 12½ pounds, and lend-lease's allotment will approximate 25 pounds.

Total supplies of lamb and mutton are expected to drop sharply from the 939 million pounds of 1942 to 539 million. This compares with the 1935-'39 average of 863 million pounds.

Cheese, Butter

Decrease of government purchases through August, September and October will make available 527 million pounds of butter and cheese for civilians, the WFA said. Of the total, approximately 400 million pounds will be of butter; 92 million pounds of cheddar cheese, and 35 million pounds of other cheese.

WFA also announced that plans were made for about 7 million additional cases of canned baby foods, condensed milk, other milk products and certain canned vegetables and fruits by an increase in canners' tin quotas. However, it was pointed out that shortage in fruit crops may offset the extra tin allotments.

Increased production will allow civilians 368 eggs apiece during the next 12 months, WFA said, 18 more than in 1942.

The Office of Price Administration also stepped into the food picture and announced prices of cabbage and lettuce will be rolled back 25 to 50 per cent.

SICILY:
First Resistance

History will record that the first real Axis resistance in Sicily was put up at Catania. Here, in the midst of the broad rolling plains which are criss-crossed by several rivers, German armored forces met the full shock of Gen. Bernard Montgomery's British Eighth army, charging forward after easy capture of the ports of Syracuse and Augusta.

Adept at tank warfare, the Germans took no chances on exposing their mechanized ranks in the big Montgomery an Sicilian front.

Berthas of British warships plying along the narrow eastern coast of the island, and to the Allies heavy artillery, which could be concentrated in the tight coastal corridor. Instead, they determined to take their chances in the sprawling Catania plains, where they could maneuver more comfortably.

History will show that as the Germans and British locked horns on these plains, with the enemy holding his flexible lines in the early days of the fighting, Gen. George S. Patton's American Seventh army rolled 30 miles inland to Enna, which is situated on high ground and commands important roads running east and west across the island.

SOUTH PACIFIC:

1. Planes blast Jap shipping trying to supply beleaguered garrison at Munda.
2. Navy sees six more years of war in Pacific.

Air Power Scores Again.

The devastating striking power of land-based aircraft against surface vessels was again amply demonstrated in the Solomons offensive when American Liberator, Mitchell and Avenger bombers attacked a strong Japanese concentration of 11 warships and transports in Vella gulf, sinking a cruiser and two destroyers and scattering the others.

Sailing in the dead of night, the Japs were making another try at reinforcing their entrapped troops at Munda airfield, on New Georgia island, where U. S. dive bombers also were in action supporting the ground units' creeping attack on the stronghold's jungle defenses.

The attack in Vella gulf followed others made upon Jap vessels in

Kula gulf and brought to 24 the number of different enemy ships sent to the bottom since the Solomons offensive started.

Sees Long War.

Because the war in the Pacific must be fought over great distances and bases must be built from the ground up, Vice Admiral Frederick J. Horne, assistant chief of naval operations, declared the navy was figuring on at least six years of fighting.

Horne cautioned against optimism that the war would be over in a hurry, asserting that every slight success fills the people with unwarranted hope and invariably results in a drop of war production. To defeat Japan, he said, we will need a fleet and air force twice as big as the enemy's, and he claimed that the present building program will bring a seven-fold expansion in our navy by 1947.

Neither should we look for a collapse in Germany such as occurred during the last war, Horne said. Clever indoctrination of Nazi principles in the German people has given the nation a firm will to fight the war to the finish, he explained.

ROME:
Raid Momentous

One of the greatest stirs of the war was caused by the Allied bombing of Rome. Both here and abroad, no effort was made to minimize the import of the action.

The Allies maintained that Rome constitutes a legitimate military objective, as best illustrated by the railway yards through which all north and south bound traffic in Italy is routed. Demolition of these yards, the Allies say, would severely cripple Axis communication on the mainland.

Besides the important railway yards, Rome also harbors other industrial installations, it is pointed out. In the raid in which 500 American Flying Fortresses participated, the Allies said a steel plant and a large chemical works were damaged.

The Italian government's belief that Rome would not be bombed because of the cultural and religious landmarks which abound throughout the entire area, was indicated by the lack of strong preparation made against attack. Anti-aircraft fire was weak, few planes rose to intercept the Allied squadrons and 166 persons were killed and 1,669 injured.

Son Decorated

Whenever the Flying Forts roar over the channel of Europe, Mrs. Mary Smith of Detroit, Mich., sticks close to her radio to learn the results.

Her son, Maynard, a Fortress crew member, became the first living servicemen overseas to receive the congressional medal of honor for saving the lives of six mates on a recent flight over the continent.

LABOR:
Wants Cheaper Food

Declaring "profiteers and speculators are sapping the strength of the nation's army of workers," William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said that unless prices of food were brought down "to a reasonable level," organized labor would demand wage increases.

At present, wage increases have been restricted to 15 per cent over the January, 1941, scales. Leveling his attack on food, Green said that AFL surveys in principal cities had shown costs in labor's market basket had risen from 50 to 200 per cent since the war started.

Criticizing the Office of Price Administration and War Food administration for failing to halt the increase in food prices, Green demanded "intelligent and orderly action to assure workers and their families of a decent place to live in and enough nourishing food to eat within their incomes."

Green's statement followed one by CIO chieftain William Murray, who similarly threatened that organized labor would seek wage increases unless food prices were rolled back. The administration is committed to a roll-back program.

HOGS:
Ceiling $14.75

With a "floor" or minimum price of $13.75 per hundred pounds promised for hogs, the government established a "ceiling" or maximum price of $14.75. At the same time the "floor" was extended to all porkers between 200 and 270 pounds.

Despite the government's promise, however, hogs were selling for less than the "floor" in some big markets. In the Chicago yards, heavy runs recently drove the average price down to $13.35, with taps averaging $13.65 and others bringing $12.85.

Overhauling its present system of slaughter control to provide for record receipts, the government announced that packers will be licensed to operate if they pay not less than the "floor" nor more than the "ceiling" price for hogs, and if they make appropriate division of meat supplies among civilian, military and lend-lease groups.

It was also revealed that the government intended to extend federal inspection to plants now without the facilities. Under present regulations, the government cannot purchase meat from any packers without such inspection. The new arrangement promises a more equitable distribution of meat in the country.

RUSSIA:
Front Aflame

On the offensive for the first summer in three years, the Red army hacked at German lines along much of the vast 1,200 mile front.

The main drive remained directed at the Nazi salient of Orel, with Russian forces bearing down upon that hub from north and south. A junction of the two spearheads behind Orel would seal off thousands of German troops now fighting around the city and also sever the railroad from Bryansk carrying supplies to the embattled base.

While fighting raged around Orel, the Reds pressed home three other attacks. Preceded by heavy artillery and air bombardment, they assaulted Nazi lines below Leningrad, near Smolensk and around the German Caucasian base of Novorossisk, where they had been beaten off this spring.

MANPOWER:
Unfreeze Jobs

Workers frozen into their jobs in war or essential industries by an order of the War Manpower commission April 17, now will be allowed to accept the same positions at higher pay in other plants.

Workers formerly could transfer to other jobs only if laid off for seven days or more, if discharged or if able to show that their skill would be employed to better advantage elsewhere.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

A polarus, used by the Navy, is a device which fits over the surface of a compass to enable the operator to take bearings on distant objects. It has split hair sights, has been in use for many years . . . and cost approximately $125.

These instruments are essential equipment to every American ship which comes out of the shipyards. With the scores of ships now being completed each month, we need many of these instruments. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps will help pay for them. Invest at least ten percent of your income every payday in these interest-bearing Government securities.

REDDY FOX PLAYS SPY

REDDY FOX didn't have to get up early to be hiding behind the fence back of Farmer Brown's cornerib when jolly, round, red Mr. Sun chased the little stars from the sky. He didn't have to get up early for the very good reason that he hadn't been to bed. You see, Reddy Fox does a great many things that he wouldn't like to have seen, so he does them in the night when most of the other little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest are asleep. And it happens that often he does not go to bed at all at night, but sleeps in the day when most honest people are abroad. He had been roaming about all this night, and now he had come to watch and see what was going on at Farmer Brown's cornerib, to see whether or not Farmer Brown's Boy had been setting a trap there for Sammy Jay, as Sammy was so sure he had.

Just as the little stars disappeared and the first faint light from Mr. Sun began to chase away the black shadows, Reddy's sharp eyes saw something move over at the corner of the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard. Then a little dark form scampered across the road and there was the scratch of sharp little claws on the tree growing near the cornerib. Reddy grinned and watched the top of the tree. In a minute the same little form ran out along a limb that overhung the cornerib and nimbly jumped to the roof. It ran along one edge and then disappeared. Reddy guessed right away that there was a hole there. He arose and stretched.

"I thought as much," said Reddy to himself. "I thought as much." Then he lay down to watch again. After a while out popped the same lively little form. It was quite light now, light enough for him to see the red coat of Chatterer, the Red Squirrel. Chatterer's cheeks were stuffed so full of corn that his head looked twice as large as it really is. He ran along the roof to where the tips of the limb of the tree brushed the roof, climbed into the tree, looked sharply to make sure that no one was about, particularly Black Pussy, and then ran down the tree and scurried across the dooryard to the safety of the old stone wall.

"Ha!" said Reddy Fox, "I thought sal Unless I am much, very, very much mistaken, Chatterer can tell Sammy Jay what caught him by the bill yesterday morning and frightened him nearly to death. I've wandered why he no longer came to that new storehouse of his that he worked so hard to fill down on the edge of the cornfield, and now I know. My, but Chatterer is getting fat! I think he will make me a very good breakfast. I do, indeed!" Reddy licked his lips as if he already could taste fat Red Squirrel, and then slipped away in the other direction, for it was getting so light that he dared stay no longer so near to Farmer Brown's house and Bowser the Hound.

All the way to the Green Forest Reddy grinned, partly at thought of the sharp trick he was sure Chatterer had played on Sammy Jay, and partly at the thought of the good breakfast he was sure he would have one of these fine mornings, for already he had thought of a plan to catch Chatterer, the Red Squirrel. But first he would find Sammy Jay. He wanted to see how foolish Sammy would look when he found out that it wasn't a trap of Farmer Brown's Boy at all that had frightened him so.

Soldiers in Skirts

A vital position in America's army, a chance to put a fighting man at the front, training in technical skills, development of leadership qualities—these are some of the opportunities awaiting the two girls pictured above as they stand on the threshold of a WAAC signal corps training school. They are fulfilling the tradition that all patriotic American women have always taken their share of responsibility for the welfare of their country, in war and peace. Thus, the roots of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps go back to the origin of this nation. These girls will learn radio code operation, radio repair, teletypewriter operation, switchboard installation and the operation and maintenance of many other instruments of communication. Many other WAAC schools teach a wide variety of occupations that prepare the girls for wartime and peacetime work.

Dots and dashes are the backbone of the corps' global radio communications network. Four enrollees are shown learning to receive and type code messages.

After three to six months' training the WAAC is functioning at some job that will release an able-bodied man to a battlefront. These girls (right) operating a field switchboard know how to install and repair it. They have become a vital part of the Signal corps which needs 2,000 more girls. Upon successful completion of the training course they will be called to active military duty. Later there is always the opportunity to rise to higher grades and eventually attend officers' training school.

"Gas!" At this command the WAAC instantly removes her hat, places it between her knees and quickly dons a mask. Close order drill while wearing masks is performed by WAACs in photo at upper right. A change from civilian life is demonstrated by Auxiliary Grace Terry (right), who awakens at 5:40 a. m. and stands at attention in an inspection line at 6 a. m., disproving the popular misconception that it takes women a long time to dress. One of the WAAC training camps is at Daytona Beach, Fla.

A WAAC motor convoy group rolls along the sands of Daytona Beach over which many an auto speed king has raced to fame.

FORMER RESIDENT OF CITY DIED IN FLINT

Succumbed July 9 Following Long Period of Illness

William R. Coates, 70, former resident of Charlevoix and East Jordan, died Friday, July 9, at his residence, 331 Forest street, Flint. Funeral high mass was held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, July 13, from St. Matthew's church, Rev. Fr. Coletta officiating. Burial was at New Calvary cemetery.

Death resulted from complications following an illness of four months. Mr. Coates was born February 17, 1873, in Marysville, O., and came to Charlevoix at the age of nine. The family resided on a farm in Hayes township.

He married Christina Rebec on September 12, 1898, at East Jordan, and lived there five years. Then the family moved to Charlevoix and lived at 102 Robinson avenue for 13 years. He left Charlevoix in 1916 to work in Flint, moving his family there in 1918. He was employed at the Chevrolet plant for 27 years.

Mr. Coates had been a member of St. Joseph's church in East Jordan, St. Mary's in Charlevoix, and St. Matthew's church and Holy Name Society in Flint.

Surviving are the widow, four daughters, Mrs. Louis Bergeran of Flint, Mrs. Marcus Suttor of Chesaning, Mrs. Harold Hoffman of Woodbridge, N. J., and Ann, at home; two sons, George, of Flint, and Joseph, of East Lansing; 10 grandchildren.

YOUTH FACING MURDER COUNT

a pretense of searching for the youth. He later returned, saying Howard was not in sight, although his clothes were on shore. The sister resumed the search, but because she looked near the municipal bathing beach pier instead of at the spot where the boys had been swimming, she later reported to her parents she could find neither Howard nor his clothes. Inasmuch as Howard had earlier that day mentioned hitch-hiking to Manistique to visit relatives, his parents concluded he had gone there and were not alarmed.

The incident might have been passed as accidental drowning, had not officers become suspicious over inability to locate the dead youth's clothing. McClanaghan, when first questioned, said he left Howard at the lake, but when State Trooper M. J. Kukler of the Gaylord post questioned him a second time Friday morning, the youth admitted the crime, and Saturday afternoon repeated previous admissions in a more detailed confession before Prosecutor Bice.

McClanaghan related to Prosecutor Bice that after Howard had tripped him in a scuffle, he became angered and held the smaller youth under water until he stopped struggling. He said he was on his knees and the water came up only to his waist. Releasing his hold on Dodd, Lester told the prosecutor that he watched the body float away from shore until it was out of sight. Later that evening he said he ate his supper at the home of a sister in Charlevoix and told officers the fact that he had but a short time ago committed murder did not bother his appetite.

Pending sanity hearing for which application was filed Monday with the State Hospital Commission the youth is being held in the county jail.

ANNUAL MEETING OF MEMORIAL FUND HELD

Directors, Local Committee Met Tuesday At Goldmen Home

Second annual meeting of directors and local operating committee of the Lenore Goldman Myer Memorial Fund was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Goldman on Tuesday night. This is the third year of operation of the fund.

A report by the local committee, showing in detail the number of cases and activities during the past year, was received with enthusiasm by the directors. Since its inception, the fund has aided approximately 80 families, and has been a great benefit to this community.

At the annual Charlevoix school meeting on July 12, necessity of a truant officer was mentioned because many children were absent from school for lack of necessary shoes and clothing. The memorial fund has assisted many cases of this kind, and it is hoped that persons knowing of other such cases will bring the matter to the attention of the local committee.

During the past year, some cases have come to the committee's attention after the emergency had passed. As it is impossible for the committee to know of each and every case as it develops, it will be of great assistance if people will make it a point to call the committee when they know of any persons or families in need of emergency aid. This can be done by calling Mrs. Arthur Ranger, phone 635, or Robert Bridge at the Charlevoix County State Bank, phone 18. All cases will be willingly investigated by the fund.

The local committee fully realizes the great benefits that have accrued to Charlevoix by instigation of this fund, and express appreciation of the entire community to the sponsors and contributors.

An East Jordan group, Luella Thomas, Shirley Strehl, Midge Gibbard and Joyce Hitchcock, have volunteered for farm work. They are now completing a two weeks general farm program of beet weeding, hoeing, and pickling cherries.

In spite of his advanced age of 82 years, William Pitts, of Boyne City, has done a young man's job on a farm since early spring. He took part in plowing and fitting the soil for corn and oats and has worked through haying without missing a day.

While harvesting of crops in the county is proceeding almost on schedule, the bean, cucumber and potato crop will need all of the available help that can be procured. B. C. Mellencamp, county agricultural agent, has in his office at Boyne City calls for 140 bean pickers to start work about August 10. More requests are coming in every day, so a great many more volunteers will be needed to successfully harvest these canning factory crops.

PAPER SALVAGE DRIVE PLANNED

MICHIGAN MILLS FACED BY SHORTAGE OF SUPPLY

County Committee Asks Residents To Prepare Scrap Paper for Projected Collection

Paper is playing a tremendously important role in winning the war, yet the majority of Michigan's paper mills are facing a shortage of supply. Through the State Salvage Committe, WPB has issued a call to all salvage committees to begin an intensive drive for waste paper, based on a situation which finds one of Michigan's most important mills with only enough paper for seven days production.

"Our army fights with paper," said Harold S. Lees, chairman of the Charlevoix County Salvage Committee. "In making V containers alone, waterproof containers in which food, medical supplies and ammunition are shipped overseas, a half million tons of paper are needed each year. In the kind of warfare which we have today, not only the officers but the men have maps;—literally thousands of tons of maps to chart the road to victory."

The Charlevoix County Salvage Committee is working out plans for the collection of waste paper, and asks each home, office, store and plant to start now, salvaging and bundling brown paper bags and wrapping paper, corrugated and cardboard containers, newsprint, magazines and wastebasket paper. The collection will be expedited if sorting is done in advance, and the various kinds of paper stacked and bundled individually. Wastebasket paper should be packed down in a box or bag for easy handling. It is the job of Michigan homes and business to keep the state's paper mills adequately supplied for war production. Start salvaging paper today, and have a good supply ready for collection when definite plans are announced by the salvage committee.

SPEBSQSA SETS HIGH BOND SALES RECORD

North Side Residents in Charge Of Booth This Week

The SPEBSQSA sold a total of $3,019.95 in war bonds and stamps at the CSO downtown booth last week, setting the highest record of sales for the summer. The amount was in excess of the $2,582.15 sold by the N.C.C.M. the previous week.

At the Central Drug store, sales were $33.00; at St. Mary's recreation center, $16.50.

Members of the north side summer colony are on duty at the stamp booth this week, under chairmanship of William Okrent.

RATION BOOK THREE VALID SEPTEMBER 12

OPA Announces Date to Begin Use of Replacement Book

The office of price administration announced Monday that war ration book three will be put in use beginning September 12 for purchase of rationed meats, fats, oils and dairy products.

OPA officials said the new book is a replacement book containing ration currency to be used as the stamps in current ration books run out.

DATES ARE SET ON WATERFOWL HUNTING

Duck Shooting Will Begin Half Hour Before Sunrise

The state conservation department today approved the migratory water fowl season as recently established by the U. S. fish and wild life service.

Two major changes were ordered by the service. One permits sportsmen to begin hunting half an hour before sunrise and the other increases the possession limit from 30 to 45 days. Hunting last year was not permitted until sunrise.

The combined coot and aura roll limit was set at 25, whereas last year hunters were allowed 25 of each fowl.

Although the service permits the shooting of wood ducks, department officials said they will be protected in Michigan. The season opens on Sept. 25 and closes Dec. 8.

PICKERS WANTED FOR TWO CROPS

BEANS, CUCUMBERS READY TO HARVEST NOW

County Residents With Free Time Are Urged to Help Critical Food Supply Situation

Recent rains and generally favorable season have caused rapid development of both beans and cucumbers, creating a critical labor situation in harvesting these crops in Charlevoix county. This week beans are approaching their peak production, while many farmers have been unable to finish the first picking on schedule. Cucumbers also are now ready to pick.

All available help must be used, or these vital crops can not be fully utilized in the war effort. Growers are paying an average of 2c a pound for picking this season. They are furnishing transportation in order to make it possible for children to help in the harvest. To people who have any free time, it is a patriotic duty to help pick these crops, as well as a means of earning extra cash.

The H. J. Heinz Co. office in Charlevoix has arranged for transportation to their cucumber field on the Hert Ingalls farm south of town. Pickers should be at the board of commerce information bureau on Bridge street at 8 a.m. each morning.

People in the East Jordan area should meet at the East Jorden canning factory at 8 a.m. each morning and in the Boyne City territory, at the Boyne City post office at 8 each morning.

Essential foods must not be allowed to go unharvested. The armed forces are depending on us to provide food for them.

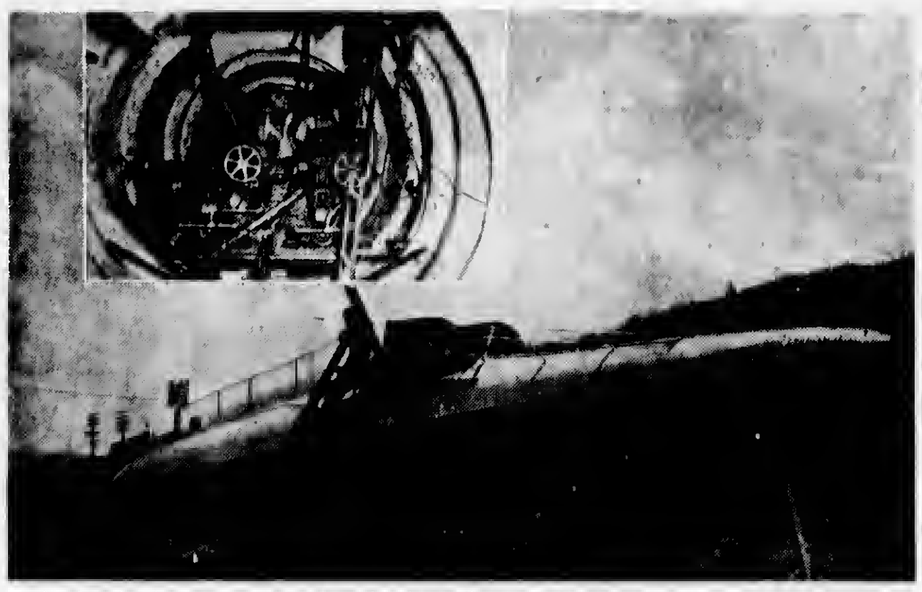
VALIDITY DATES OF BLUE RATION STAMPS EXTENDED

Blue stamps R, S and T, in ration book two, will remain valid for purchase of canned and processed foods through September 20, according to OPA announcement Monday. Stamps U, V and W become valid on September 1 and are good through October 20.

Pomona Grange to Meet

Charlevoix county Pomona Grange will met with South Arm Grange, Friday, August 20, for a co-operative supper at 7 o'clock. Visitors are welcome.

Conerete 'Sub' Type Cargo Carrier Planned



A submarine type cargo and troop carrier shaped like a torpedo and made of concrete is the dream of Hal B. Hayes, Hollywood contractor, and Hal Williams, motion picture producer. They claim that their craft would operate almost completely submerged and thus would present a poor target in submarine warfare. It would be cheap and light, they said, by utilizing concrete instead of steel. A model for the new type vessel is pictured above at Richmond, Calif. Inset: Hayes inspects the motors inside the new craft.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WILL OPEN SEPTEMBER 13TH

Classes Start For 1943-44 First Monday After Labor Day

Charlevoix public schools will open for the 1943-44 term on Monday, September 13, it has been announced by Supt. O. P. North.

In view of the fact that state athletic rulings require three weeks of football practice before the opening game, it is probable Coach Ray Kipke will issue a call for candidates to report about September 8, immediately after Labor Day.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX ROOEO SATUROAY

OUTSTANDING PROGRAM FOR 6TH ANNUAL EVENT

Numerous Stunts, Contests and Exhibitions Are Scheduled; Public Is Invited

Camp Charlevoix, one of Michigan's largest private boys' camps, owned and directed by L. C. Reimann, of Ann Arbor, will stage its 6th annual rodeo Saturday afternoon, August 21, at 2:30 p. m., at the camp corral.

Cowboy Loy Clingman, student from the University of Arizona, riding instructor at the camp this summer, will manage the rodeo. He has been training the boys for the event for several weeks.

Scheduled on the program is steer riding, a pony express race, calf roping, and mounted wrestling. A stake race, boot race, rescue race and relay race will be run. Both mounted and free jumping events are planned. A clown act with the burro "Tango" will provide laughs. Plenty of excitement is in store for spectators.

Campers and counsellors participating in the rodeo are attired in western costume, providing a frontier atmosphere.

As was the case last year, the annual Dad's Day event will be combined with the rodeo. Final council fire of the camp is set for Sunday night, and by Tuesday the campers will be returning home after a happy summer at Camp Charlevoix.

BOMBER DRIVE NEARING CLOSE

ONE WEEK LEFT TO REACH CAMPAIGN GOAL

Service Men Show Appreciation; Camp Charlevoix Boys Aid By Purchasing Bonds

With just one week remaining to reach the $300,000 goal in the City of Charlevoix Bomber campaign, bond sales so far have reached $202,000. To make the final $100,000, a forceful and united effort must be made by all the citizens and summer residents of Charlevoix.

This issue of the Courier carries full-page advertisements, one sponsored by the city of Charlevoix, the other by several local merchants, as well as other advertisements in support of the campaign.

Numerous letters have been received by local people from service men, expressing their appreciation of the campaign and hoping for success. Several servicemen have even contributed materially to the drive. Mrs. R. F. Sloan last week received $300 for war bonds from her nephew, Stanley Swinten, of Ann Arbor, with American troops in North Africa. Another local woman bought a $1,000 bond with money sent by her son in service, and her daughter working in a large city.

Committeemen Julius Gilbert and Joseph Foster were at Camp Charlevoix last Friday, as guests of "Chief" L. C. Reimann. After their luncheon talks on the bomber campaign, the campers enthusiastiently agreed to enclose bond purchase applications in their next letters home.

If the goal is reached, it will mean that every Charlevoix resident must dig deep into their pockets to buy bonds for that bomber which will carry the name "City of Charlevoix" to some far battlefront. No city the size of Charlevoix has ever attempted a bond drive of such proportions, and its success will be an honor to every citizen.

Complete Planting In August

The conservation department's fish division announces that it will complete its planting of legal sized trout by August 15 in order that most of the planted fish will have a chance to get into the creels of fishermen before the end of the season on September 6.

NEW TYPE "B", "C" GAS RATION COUPONS

All Present Supplemental Books Expire September 1

All holders of "B" and "C" gasoline ration books must re-apply immediately for renewals of these books, regardless of their dates of expiration.

Gasoline users must apply at once in order to receive the new type of "B" and "C" ration books by September 1. On that date all present "B" and "C" coupons will expire.

BELVEOERE GOLF TOURNEY STARTS

D. G. PORTER MEDALIST QUALIFYING ROUND

Mrs. John Herron Posted Lowest Score in Women's Field of Annual Summer Event

D. G. Porter, of Kansas City, Mo., posted a 78 to lead qualifiers in the annual Belvedere Club golf tournament which opened Monday. Mrs. John Herron, of Akron, Ohio, with a card of 100, was low for the women's division.

Other qualifiers for the men's championship flight of eight were: H. W. Hardin, St. Louis, Mo., 79; S. J. Pingree, St. Louis, Mo., 80; S. R. Leatherman of Memphis, Tenn., and Owen Mitchell, of St. Louis, Mo., tied at 82; John S. Penney, St. Louis, 84; Lewis Morrew of New Orleans, La., and Richard Moss, Belleville, Ill., turned in cards of 85.

Players posting scores higher than qualifiers for the championship flight qualified for subsequent flights of eight on a handicap basis. Match play started Tuesday and will continue until the tournament is completed.

Dr. C. S. Boucher, president of the University of Nebraska, is not here to defend the title he won last year. Mrs. Richard Leatherman, 1942 winner in the women's division, was in the qualifying round.

Thirty-four players teed off in the annual event, 24 in the men's division and 10 in the women's field. Last year's entry was 87 players.

Oil Tanker In Port

The "Transeil," oil tanker owned by the National Petroleum Corporation of Wilmington, Del., was in port last Friday with a load of oil for the Charlevoix Terminal Co.

COLORS OF HUNTING LICENSES REVEALED

Conservation Department Gives 1943 Back Tag Hues

The state conservation department was giving fashion tips to hunters this week, telling them what colors they would be wearing in back tags for this fall's hunting.

Resident small game hunters will be wearing yellow tags, while the color for non-residents is orange, if licensed to hunt in all parts of the state, and lilac if they buy the limited $5 northern permit.

Resident deer hunters will wear red, unless they hunt with bow and arrow, in which case the color is green. Non-resident deer hunters will don blue tags if they carry rifles, and yellow if they hunt with bow and arrow. Camp permits for archers will require the wearing of white tags, and orange for riflemen.

TRI-COUNTY FARM PICNIC DATE SET

AT EASTPORT THURSDAY, AUGUST 26

Congressman Fred Bradley Speaks On Agricultural Legislation In First Appearance Here

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

Farmers and farm friends from Antrim, Charlevoix and Kalkaska counties are looking forward to the annual Tri-County Farm Bureau picnic to be held at the Eastport picnic grounds, one-half mile west of Eastport, next Thursday, August 26.

The entire public interested in agriculture is invited and urged to enjoy the various activities planned for the day, and to hear two important addresses.

Hon. Fred Bradley, Congressman from the 11th district of Michigan, will be the main speaker. He will discuss freely and frankly his views on agricultural legislation. Since it is the first speaking engagement for Congressman Bradley in this district, farmers are awaiting his address with interest.

Jack Yaeger, state director of field service, will briefly discuss the position of organized agriculture. The State Farm Bureau and its 600,000 members has taken an active stand on leading agricultural topics.

Activities of the day will start at 10:30 a.m. with a softball game between Antrim and Charlevoix farm bureau teams. Names of players will be kept secret until just before game time. Music through the day will be furnished by the Hently Hill Hillbillies, a group of three musicians from near Ellsworth.

The picnic dinner will be supplemented by free coffee and cream. Those attending should bring their own sugar with their lunch. A complete line-up of sports is being arranged.

Last Month Trout Season

Michigan trout fishermen are beginning the last month of what conservation department field men declare has been the best trout season in the past 12 years. The season closes on Labor Day, September 6.

BELVEDERE PARTY PATRIOTIC THEME

ANNUAL COSTUME EVENT IS THURSDAY NIGHT

Bond Sales Drive Will Be Staged; Coast Guards Special Guests; General Invitation Given

Patrimtic red, white and blue is the theme of the annual Belvedere Club costume party, to be held Thursday evening at the casino on the club grounds.

With Miss Calla Travis as dance director, the affair is in charge of a committee composed of Mrs. Frank Simpson, James Bemis, and Charles Stewart. Dick Radford will act as master of ceremonies.

An intensive war bond and stamp sales drive will be staged throughout the evening, and profits of the party will go toward the City of Charlevoix Bomber campaign. Coast guards from the Charlevoix station are to be special guests.

Local children who will take part in the youngster's program, beginning at 8 o'clock, are Brenda Brown, Amanda Lovelace, Sonja Nordrum, Judy and Janna Merlin, Donna Ikens, Barbara Smith, Darlene Houck and Joyce Dutcher. A ballet solo by Mary Stella Moss is a feature of this program.

Charles Tingley, of the coast guard, is taking a leading singing role in the adult program, beginning at 9 o'clock. In addition to solo numbers, he will lead the grand finale, "Yankee Doodle Dandy." Jack Cudlip and Marianne Orr will dance a tango number, and Mr. Cudlip and Mrs. Frank Simpson will appear in an exhibition rumba. A comedy song-and-dance act is to be given by Jimmy Bradbrad. Chorus girls are Kay Ikens, Marianne Orr, Nancy Crum, Carol Upson, Barbara Lee, Mary and Helen Owen, and Kate Leathermun. Wexstaff's orchestra will furnish music for dancing.

An invitation is extended to all who wish to attend the party. Only costume requirement is that every guest wear red, white and blue. Prizes will be awarded for the most original costumes. Tickets are on sale at the door, but table reservations should be secured by calling the Belvedere Hotel.

GUEST MINISTERS AT CHURCHES THIS WEEK

Boy Soprano Sings at Charlevoix Congregational Church

Guest ministers will be present at next Sunday morning's services at both the Charlevoix and Ironton Congregational churches, announces Rev. Donald R. Evans, pastor.

At Charlevoix, Rev. John Gardner, of Midland, will speak at the 11 o'clock service. Andre Erne, boy soprano, of Oak Park, Ill., will sing at this church. Rev. Willard Lampe, of Ann Arbor, is the speaker at the Ironton church at 10 o'clock. The public is invited to attend these services.

Timber and pulpwood to help meet the demands of the country's all-out war effort are coming out of Michigan's state game areas at the rate of over $4,000 a month, a summary of cutting operations for the first five months of 1943, prepared by the conservation department's game division reveals.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

Monday's northwester had some resemblance to winter. I could find all my heavier duds except my mitts. Leaving all kiddin" aside, they felt good. Got the "feel" of the coal shovel handle, too.

Blackberry picking should be at its best by next Sunday. For those who haven't been out scouting around, will say there's a big crop this year. If you get all scratched up like I did last Sunday, take a bath when you get home and put Epsom salts in the water. That'll take care of all ailments except a lame back and stiff joints.

Fishin' news this week? Well, it's the best in quite a while. Bernie Ward reports the big mackinaws are hitting good in Lake Michigan off South Point. He enumerated at least a dozen his parties had taken in the last week, and then there's the 13½-pounder Mayor Bob Bridge snagged in Lake Charlevoix last Wednesday. Bud Gill told with tears in his eyes how his entire supply of tackle, rods, lines, etc., was accidentally swept off the Ironton ferry one day last week the day after he had taken four smallmouth weighing 2, 2½, 3½ and 4¼ pounds. That Sinclair gal was up from Detroit last week-end, and according to what I hear, she netted a couple of nice pike. Kit Carson's got the boys all hot and bothered over the fishing he had on the Two Hearts river up north of Newberry last week end and I understand a group is planning on going up there. In case you need reminding, the trout season closes 18 days hence.

A nice boost for Charlevoix's harbor facilities and hospitality to yachtsmen was provided by the August issue of "The Blinker," published by and for members of the Chicago Yacht Club. Joe Howard received a copy from L. T. Rountree, skipper of the "Sovereign," a participant in the Mackinac race last month. Reporting on the stop-over at Charlevoix of several of the yachts, the magazine

Borrowed By President Roosevelt

The 38-foot Matthews cruiser "Anna II," owned by Lt. Ernest Loeb, U. S. N., of Chicago and Loeb Farms, Charlevoix, was commandeered recently by the United States navy to take President Roosevelt to Canada for a week's fishing trip. The craft returned to port here last Thursday. When the boat was borrowed by navy officials, the Loebs had no idea that it was to carry such a famous passenger. Lt. Loeb is now on duty in the South Pacific, while his family is at their summer residence at Loeb Farms, located four miles south of the city.

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

I just received two issues of the home paper and sure was glad to get them. There were so many fine letters from the boys in the service that I thought I had better write you and thank you and everyone else at home for sending us the best little paper I know of. I know I can't express in words how much I appreciate the paper, and I know all the fellows feel the same.

I also want to let you know my change of address. I am now out of the States on an island, and it sure is beautiful out here, but give me the good old USA. I certainly wish I could tell you what I am doing and a little of the island, but of course this will be censored. It's very hard to write when you have to be very careful of what you say, but I think later on I will be able to write a little more.

How is everything this summer in good old Charlevoix? I sure wish I could have had a furlough before I came across, but I will have mine after the war.

Well Ken, will close for now and hope you and your family are in the best of health,

As Ever,
Elmer
Pvt. Elmer Gibson
% Postmaster
San Francisco, Calif.

Dear Ken,

How is everything up in Charlevoix?

I am up here in the mountains in Tennessee. We are guarding a truck that turned over up here and we have the gravy train. Lay around and write and sleep and eat. These maneuvers are nice and you have a lot of fun, but a lot of hardships to bear too. For instance, going with nothing to eat, no sleep and so forth. These fellows just coming in the army have something to look forward to.

I receive the paper every week and sure looks good. I saw by it that Ralph Mitchell is in the army now. It gives one a lot of news about who is so far from home. I wish to thank you very much for it and hope it keeps coming.

You'll be hearing a lot about post-war planning. And the more you hear of it, the more you will realize that it isn't just a job for a few master minds.

If the future is to be made better than the past, it will be because thousands of men and women apply themselves to particular problems of their country, their communities and their businesses.

Through their work our world will change. Not in an overnight miracle, but by a host of individual accomplishments. That's the way America has been built. That's the way America wants to go on building. Up from the bottom, not down from the top.

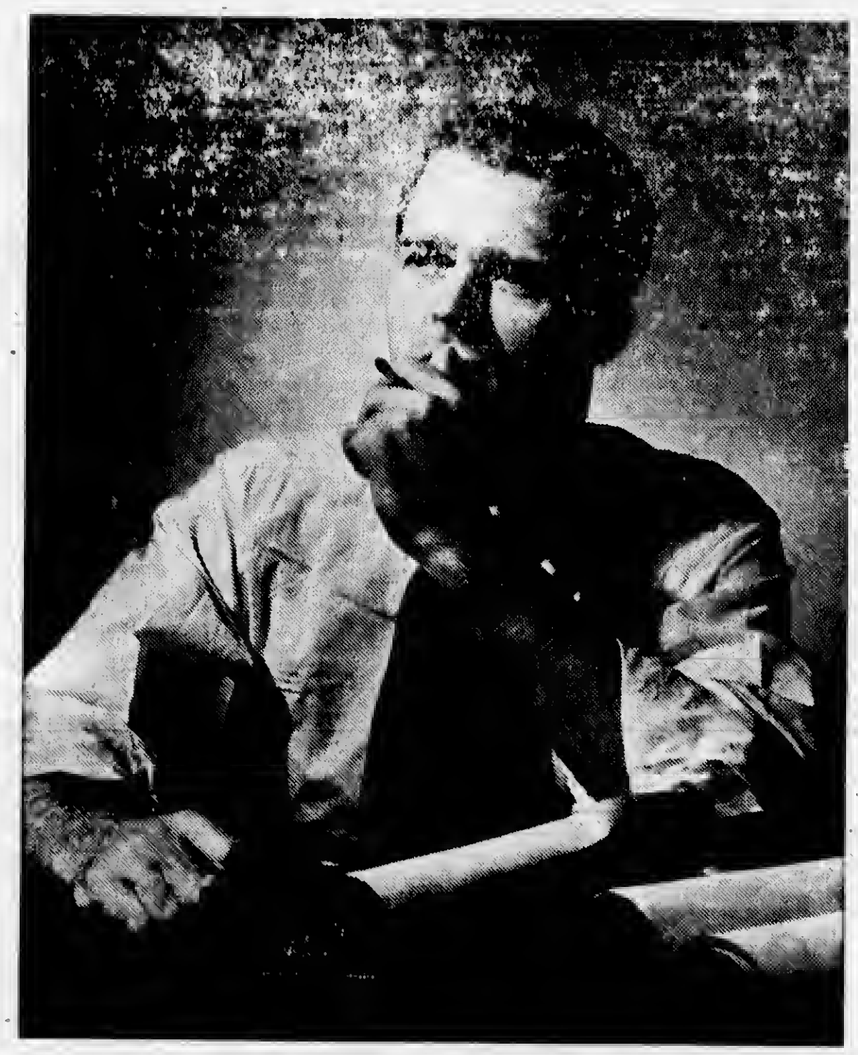
Housing, transportation, education, medicine, communications, individual and national security, entertainment are only a few of the subjects slated for attention, destined for improvement.

And it all can be accomplished in the American way. Let us beware of those who plan otherwise, those who would "improve" our freedom as a means of improving our future. You, we—the vast majority of Americans—want the same America we know. Better, but the same. And we can have it by tugging on our own boot straps—without polishing any boots for bureaucracy.



And in this not-so-distant future that Americans look forward to, you'll find your railroads keeping pace. In peace, as in war, it will be the job of the roads of steel to bind the nation together—make possible the delivery of industrial production and the movement of essential materials and equipment.

Passengers will expect to travel in new luxury—and will. Trains and roadways will be built for great speed. Accommodations will be far superior. Freight will move at an accelerated pace. And railroad safety will be even more assured.

These things are dreams, but not mere dreams. They are dreams of men with their eyes wide open—dreams that can make a still finer America.

Hi Ken:

After being in the navy for over a year I finally am finding out that the navy floats. We are shoving off tomorrow for "way down under." It has been over a year since I wrote the last letter to you and I wish to thank you and the people of Charlevoix for sending the Courier.

Was down at the 'Y' yesterday and ran into Don McKenzie. He had just returned from Charlevoix and was loafing around before going back to his post. Sure felt good to see somebody from home.

Leaving my address so you can resume sending the Courier.

See you after the war,
Lewie

Do You Remember?

Turning back the pages of The Courier to the past is the purpose of this column. We hope you enjoy it!

(Edited by Anne Higman)

Twenty-Five Years Ago
Wednesday, August 14, 1918

The Courier's linotype operator, Bill Houck, left for one of the government training camps last week.

Miss Eva Cram of Flint, formerly of this city, has received her call as an army nurse and is now at the base hospital at Camp Custer.

Word has been received from Ned Durance that he is now in France.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Geiken arrived Sunday from Marquette, where Mr. Geiken has been employed for several months. They will make this city their future home. (But have since returned to Marquette.)

Eveline—Neal Kemp has been advanced to a very responsible position in the government service having charge of the boiler room at a large munitions factory.

The Caddie Column — Martin Halverson made good money as professional's caddie last week. Art Wexstaff has been given the position for this week. The 5th annual caddies' excursion will be Sunday, August 25, on the steamer Mabel to Croshy's dock, 11 miles down south arm of Pine lake. Sixty of the caddies, boys and girls both, were in the group picture taken last week.

Miss Ione Swinton and Harry A. Craig, both of this city, were married last Wednesday evening, August 7.

Twenty Years Ago
Wednesday, August 15, 1923

Frank F. Bird, secretary of the Charlevoix County Agricultural Society, is a very busy man these days making plans for the 39th annual fair, to be the biggest and best ever.

W. Gordon Parker, national interscholastic tennis champion in 1894 and winner of nearly 100 tennis tournaments, has announced his permanent retirement from tournament play.

Will Supernaw has purchased the Roy Bowdish place on West Hurlhut avenue from Millard Olney.

We learn that Jack Supernaw, formerly of this city, and Miss Helen Marting, daughter of Samuel Marting, former manager of the old Charlevoix Sugar company, were married last June, in Detroit.

Traverse City stores were entirely without bananas for one whole day recently. (Ain't that sad! They just couldn't withstand the rigors of life without bananas like we can today.)

Fifteen Years Ago
Wednesday, August 15, 1928

Four entries who were not satisfied with results of the class C outboard event in the recent regatta, re-ran the race Sunday. Winner was "Hub" Meyers of Petoskey, in "Miss Petoskey," who now gets the cup won by Roy Brady. "Miss Petoskey" sank after hitting the swell of the Reomar III in the regatta. Vane Smith's "Speedy-Boy" came in second again, and Marcus Smith was third in "Smith-Craft."

Charlevoix Hospital Tag Day, held last Saturday, netted $1,100 for the hospital. Shirley Partridge and Tommy Loeb were awarded five-dollar gold pieces for high scores. Madeline Gatti and Harold Isaksen took second awards.

Miss Ruth Turpin, of Manistique, is spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Ray Kipke.

Floyd Jeffery returned to New York city Friday, after a month with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Jeffery.

Ten Years Ago
Wednesday, August 16, 1933

The Charlevoix welfare committee has for the last three weeks provided crews for construction of a township highway leading from the McKenzie corner on old US-31 west to Lake Michigan on Bell's Bay. This road is intended as the initial step in a proposed scenic highway from Charlevoix to Norwood. Resort development and building along that section of the lake shore is expected to follow.

Lisle Shanahan, Charlevoix city attorney and one of this region's most brilliant lawyers, died Friday after a long illness with pneumonia. The council is at present deadlocked on appointment of his successor.

Miss Joyce Mayne, of Grand Rapids, and Harold Totten, of Lansing, were married today at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mayne. They will reside in Lansing. (The Tottens returned here a few months ago to make their home on the Mayne farm.)

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

At their meeting last Wednesday afternoon, the Norwood Ladies' Aid gave a surprise birthday party for Mrs. E. R. Jones, whose 70th birthday occurred on that day. Among the 22 guests present, four generations were represented by Mrs. Jones, her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Heise, granddaughter, Mrs. Don Geneit, and great-granddaughter, Dee Ann Geneit. Lunch was served, including a decorated birthday cake.

Fire Tuesday Evening

The Dixon avenue summer residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Atlas, of Detroit, was somewhat damaged by a roof fire Tuesday evening. The blaze was confined to the attic and roof.

DRAFTEES TO LEAVE TUESDAY FOR CUSTER

Sixteen Go By Bus After Three Week's Furlough

Sixteen Charlevoix county men will leave for Fort Custer at 9 a.m. next Tuesday, August 24, at the conclusion of their three weeks' post-induction furlough.

The men will meet at the draft board office at 8:30 a.m., and proceed to the bus station. One draftee, held over at Detroit at the time of induction, will go to Fort Custer the following day.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK SMITH OBSERVE 58TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith observed their 58th wedding anniversary on Monday, August 16, at their home on May street.

The Smiths have eleven children living: Chester, and Mrs. Lewis Brant, of Charlevoix; Alfred, Lester, Carl, Mrs. Shirley Perry, and Mrs. Harris Barnhart, of Jackson; Earl, Otto, and Mrs. Carl Holland, of Detroit; and Mrs. Orville Mahoney, of Seymour, Ind. There are also 23 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED BY MR. AND MRS. GEORGE EVERTS

Mr. and Mrs. George Everts, residents of Charlevoix county for almost half a century, celebrated their 52nd wedding anniversary on Sunday, August 8.

Mr. Everts was born November 17, 1870, in North Jay, Orleans county, Vt., and came to Michigan in 1885. Mrs. Everts was born August 8, 1872, at Hunters Creek, Lapeer county, Mich. They were married August 8, 1891, in Montmorency county, Mich. To this union were born five children, Orson, of Traverse City, Leslie of Detroit, Ernest, of Clarion, Floyd, of Hazel Park, and Mrs. Estelia Lehman, of Munising. They have 12 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The Everts came to Charlevoix county in 1894, and have resided here since, except for eight years spent in Detroit. They recently moved into this city.

Keep the "7th Column" Out of Your House

Carelessness, now known as the "7th Column" because it gives aid and comfort to our Axis enemies, was the cause of 30,000 fatal accidents and more than a million serious injuries last year in American homes. A FULL PAGE of PICTURES in the American Weekly with this Sunday's (Aug. 22) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times. Get The Detroit Sunday Times every week.

Soldiers make an average of 8 moves by railroad between induction and embarkation for service overseas.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Meyer have received word that their son-in-law, Sgt. David Griswold, husband of the former Alice Meyer, has been given an honorable medical discharge from the army. He has returned from Camp Claiborne, La., to his home in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Gerald Fisher and son, Billy, of South Haven, are here for a visit of three weeks with Mr. Fisher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Fisher. Her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Covey, returned to South Haven last Thursday after a few days' visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Polderdyke, children, Norman and Joyce, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cuddington, of Grand Rapids, were guests from Thursday until Sunday of Mrs. Polderdyke's mother, Mrs. Tom Bacot, her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Allard, and other relatives.

Neal J. "Jack" Kemp, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Kemp of Detroit, former local residents, is in officer's training in the marine corps. His address is: Neal J. Kemp Jr., USMCR, Marine Detachment, Navy Training Unit, Quadrangle Bldg., Room 30, Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio.

Sgt. and Mrs. Warren Allison returned Sunday to Massachusetts after a visit of several days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allison and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens. Sgt. Allison, who is stationed at Camp Edwards, received his promotion last week. Mrs. Allison makes her home in Hyannis, Mass.

Howard Bennett has returned to Flint, after a week with his family. Returning with him were Nancy Breece and Mrs. William Rush and daughter, Carol, also guests at the V. C. Breece home, 304 Clinton street. Mrs. Breece left early last week to attend the American Legion and auxiliary state convention in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Carey and Leo W. Powers returned Monday from Detroit, where they attended the state convention of the American Legion and auxiliary. Mr. Powers also visited with his daughter, Dorothy, seaman second class in the WAVES, who is stationed at Cleveland, O., and came to Detroit for the week end.

Leith S. Kerr, son of Alex S. Kerr, of this city, has been promoted to the rank of staff sergeant at the Grand Island army air base in Nebraska. He graduated from the army's aerial gunnery school at Las Vegas, Nev., and armament school at Lowry field, Colo., and was stationed at the Dyersburg army air base, Tenn., before going to Grand Island.

Dr. Richard P. Greene, of New Returning to Grand Rapids on Sunday after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Faulkner, were Mrs. Mary Finucan Walsh, who had been here since Tuesday, and George Finucun and A. Veenstra, who came Friday. Clare Coulter, of Birmingham, was also a guest at the Faulkner home from Friday to Sunday.

Mrs. Irving Hallett, of Detroit, and Mrs. Clarence Whitney and daughter, Anne, of Wyandotte, spent a few days last week with Mrs. Hallett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Plenny Genett. Coming for the Genett's golden wedding anniversary celebration, they were recalled to Detroit on Friday when Mr. Hallett entered St. Mary's Hospital for a major operation.

Returning to Chicago on Friday after attending the funeral of Sgt. George O. Cline, were Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Wilbur and Mrs. Charles Slack. Miss Cora Madden left for Chicago Saturday, while on Sunday Miss Helen Ross Cline returned to that city. Lt. Dave Robinson left Sunday for the Norfolk, Va., naval station. Mrs. Geo. Cline, whose home is in Chicago is remaining here for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cline.

It is always a good plan to consult your banker before making an investment. Not that the banker is infallible or knows more than you do, but because he has better opportunities to know.

It is a part of his business. If he is a successful banker it stands to reason that he knows good investments, bonds and other reliable securities.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

J. C. Wynn, Camp Scribe

As Camp Charlevoix swings into its last week of the summer season, und the full program is brought to a close, s number of big events are plunned to provide a fitting climux to a great eight weeks. Twn banquets, the Green and Grey banquet and the nll-camp final.bunquet take plsce this week. The long awaited Rodeo and Dad's Day is almost here. The last Indian Council Flro with its awards and furewells is soon to take place. A gigantic review snd variety show is planned for Sutrday night. There will ha a treasure hunt for all eampers. The tennis tournament finals are to be plsyed. Campers are working to complete their remaining tests so as to qualify for camp achievement certificates. These last days are probably the most exciting days of the eight week period.

After trailing one point hehind the Green team for the first seven weeks of camp, the Greys pushed out ahead in the final all-camp activity meet snd won the series by a score of 19-13. This final meet included rifle matches, sailing races, tennis games, races, und uthletics. Every camper partiCipated on either the Green or Grey sido. There were events for all ages of boys; Chris Christopher had planned a variety of contests so that every camper would have an opportunity to enter where he could do his best. It waa the bnsketball free-throw that broke the Greens lead, and from there on to the end it was all Grey. Now at Thursday's final banquet the Greens will be the table waiters while the Creys are served. To the victors belong the spuils. Each section had its own captains of these camp teams. In the Junior section Fred Pryor was captain of the Greens, Billy Stone of the Greys. Intermediate captains were George Dowley of the Grey team, and Bob Baker of the Greens. Bart Grimes was captain of the senlor Grays; Cary Bachman of the Greens.

Tho camp final banquet will take place Sunday evening in tho Lodge dining room. Special decorations, favors, menu, and program are planned. S. J. Wulli will speak for tha staff, and a camper from each of the three sections will give a speech. The toastmaster will be Coach Dixon. Ralph Deal and Fred Krueger are in charge of the music. Jack Farr will handle the decorations. Mrs. Sowers and Mrs. Outhoudt nre planning an outstanding menu for the event. The campers' place cards will be in a novel arrangement so that they will be seated with companions not regularly at their tables.

From all indications there will be many visitors to the Rodeo und Dads' Day program in spite of gasoline curtailment and war-time travel restrictions. Many parents have indicated that they would come to the Rodeo nnd spend the week end in Charlevoix und then return by train or automobile with their sons to their homes. The people of Charlevoix have been invited through the Charlevoix Courier und through public announcement at Sunday's camp church service held in Charlevoix. Cowboys Loy Clingman and Bill Hoelzer have scheduled a number of thrilling events using horses, steers, bnriats, and the burro. All campers will be dressed in western costume, and most of them will have some part in the Rodeo. Dads who are present at camp will go through the program with their own sons. They will play in the baseball games, and tennis games. They will swim and sail with their sons, take calesthenics, work in the cabins, und attend the camp fires.

Sunduy night all campers nnd their counsellors will mareh in cabin groups to the great council ring west of camp for their finnl powow. Chief Relmann will call the tribe of Charlevoix to order, aud speak to the bucks, warriors, nnd braves about their netivities of the past two moons. He will hear tales of achievement und records of contests. Tho counsellors will tell of the accomplishments of some of tha tribe. And by the light of the council fire the Chief will read off the names of lads who have shown excellence in their activities and have passed the tests thnt qualify them for camp certificates. The camp emblem, an Arrow-C in chenile will be presented to each camper; a number on the emblem tells the number of years thut the boy has attended camp. Then as the council fire dies down, the tribe will gather around the embers to sing "Once Again We Come Together," be dismissed and leave the counell circle. Camp will have been officially ended for another yeur.

Saturday night's show is to be a gala affair. Along with new numbers to be presented, there will ba a review of the best acts of the season. Soloists and actors will perform in an encore program for campers, parents, and friends. Lew Stoerker and Bob Mulligan will be in charge of the review.

A senvenger hunt held earlier in the season was organized on a cabin basis. This week's treasure hunt will also be planned for cabin groups and points will be added for each item brought in until the final treasure is located. In the meantime no hints are being dropped.

The tennis tournament that Micky Maguire has drnwn up is now coming into the quarter-finals stage. But it is much too early to guess who will end up ns camp champion.

In order that campers would not only learn skills, but that they would also be able to measure their own progress, the test system was inaugurated at Camp Charlevoix a few years ago. Thus a boy not only learns to sail a hoat, but ean work up through several grades, ordinary seaman, seamun, skipper, and he has a sense of accomplishment in a task well done. The chart in the club house which records tests taken and passed is becoming a mass of stars as the senson comes near n close and the results are handed in.

Recent additions to .riflery awards are to Louis Scher, Bob Daniels, Jim Hubbard, Boh Lereh and David Bnll. Those who have qualified as good horsemen in riding are Manson Warner, Mike Foster, Richard Helgeson, Pete Mann, Andy Savard, Bill Thompson, Frank Cornelius, Dick Conners, Bob Daniels, George Palmer, John Davis, Jim Nnylor, Gene Chapman, Buck Dillon, and Tommy Thompson. More advanced work has been done by John Davis, Jim Naylor, Gene Chapman, Richard Conners, and Barl Grimes according to Cowboy Loy Clingman.

Tennis stars are Mike Foster, Bob Angell, Bob Baker, Hal Caldwell, John Dnvis, Bill Fitzpatrick, Bart Crimes, Bob House, Bob Lerch, Bob King, Jim Naylor, John Snyder, Bill Thompson, Fred McGregor, John Knight. Canoeists who have earned stars are Fred Pryor, Davo Ball, Jack Surbis, Denny Croghan, Bill Scher, Jim Hubbard and Tommy Thompson. Recognition is also given tn those who take part in chapel or vesper programs. Dick Morey, Gene Chapman, Johnnie Welssinger, Bob Lerch, Manson Warner, Bob Angell, Hartwell Stoll, Tom Keenan, Bob Lerch and Hal Caldwell have been cited for their part in either chapel or vesper's programs. Sailing stars go to a number of campers who have quallfied for the various tests in that activity: Hal Caldwell, Paul Dickson, George Dowley, Howard Kaye, John MacDonell, Skip Scher, Bob Daniels, Harold Upjohn.

Conch Bob Hodges has announced that the following boys have excelled in baseball: John Davis, Ken Hanger, Ken Helms, Pete Munn, Jim Naylor, Dick Noel, George Palmer, and John Snyder. John Barker, Ken Hanger and Cary Bachman. A number of campers have also qualified for advanced basketball citations. These are Bart Grimes, Ken Hanger, Cary Bachman, Ken Holms, Jim Naylor, Diek Noel, Skip Scher, John Snyder and Hartwell Stoll. Izaak Walton Deal has recently announced two more boys have passed fishing tests; they nre Gene Chapman and Jack Surhis. Fred Krueger, instructor in instrumental music, has given a series of tests. Among those who have passed musical tests are Bill Farley, Boh Lerch, Burt Grimes, Fred McGregor, Bud Kampe, Dick Morey, Paul Smith, Frank Smith, Deville Hubbard, Harold Upjohn, Boh House, Jim Naylor and Jim Hawley.

Sunday'a chapel service was a unique one. The Camp was invited to take its service inte the Charlevoix Congregational church and hold it there. Rev. Donald Evans arranged for a fleet of large cabin cruisers to come to the Camp dock, pick up the entire camp company and take them to Charlevoix. There while the Roman Catholic hoys attended mass, the rest went to the Congregational church. Ralph Deal was in charga of the music; Phil Steding sang a solo, Diek Morey, Buddy Loranger, Bill Farley, Frank and Paul Smith, Bud Kampe, and Fred McGregor also sang, ss well as a senior choir. J. C. Wynn gave tho address. A smaller group went to the Ironton Congregational church where Sherwood Daily spoke on "Seeing God in Nature"; Bob Mulligan sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." After the Charlevoix service the campers visited Wood Brothers Hardware Store which exhibited a handicraft and ceramics display for the camp this week. Then they returned to the piers and rode home on the boats.

At evening vespers, Chief Reimann told an interesting story to the Juniors nnd Chris accompanied the group sing with his accordion. For intermediates and seniors the vespers program was a discussion of "America's Place in The Post-War World." Bob Livermore was chairman of the forum, nnd the older hoys showed keen interst and clear thinking in this all-important question.

Next Sunday's chapel service will be held in the Chapel-in-the-woods. Chief Reimann will speak on "Looking Back at Camp." Don Wagner will lead the service.

The campers have never yet won a contest in which they challenged the counsellors. And when they called last week's basketball game quits, they were trailing the counsellors 60-20. The varsity baseball team again plnyed Camp Playfair last Wednesday and won over them by a score of 4-2. A return game was won by our Camp by a score of 6-1.

Cabin 13 stnnds in the lead for their cabin clean-up as camp draws near a close. This cabin under the counsellorship of Ralph Deal has had the most consistent record for cleanliness since the heginning of camp. In it are George Dowley, Dick Morey, Ken Helms, John MacDonell, Gene Chapmun, Ernie Evans. Cabin 13 will he honored by a special awnrd and recognition nt a dinner.

A buddy list is heing prepured with the numes of all campers and staff members so that contacts can be kept up during the winter by letter. Les Pengelly's photography class is busy enlargiug a number of prints of camp views for souvenirs. Every camper's home town newspaper has heen informed of his stay and progress at Camp Charlevoix; and parents can watch for these articles. The Charlevoix Bomber campnign has been advertised nt camp; and some campers are buying war honds and stamps from the Charlevoix committee. The sauna is rapidly rising and nearing the stnge where the roof will be added. The plan is to complete it yet this week so that every camper will have the privilege of a Finnish Bath before he leaves. And this is the picture of Camp Charlevoix in its last week of the 1943 season.

Once when Governor Harry Kelly visited Camp Charlevoix this year he spoke enthusiastically of outdoor camping and especially of the character building possibilities of orgánized camps. The outdoor life has been his hobby; and he was the first Michigan governor ever to issue a proclamation for a boys' and girls' camping week. He praised the values in learning skills such as sailing and horsemanship. "I have noticed," said Governor Kelly, "That boys who are nt home in the out-of-doors seldom go wrong. The first thing is to get opportunities for all boys to enjoy nature. Camping makes an definite contribution to education and character, just as the home, the school, and the church do." This exactly is the purpose of Camp Charlevoix.

A Personage — With Poison! It wasn't the devil who appenred at the home of the Pennsylvania school teacher, but the gallant visitor soon proved himself n reasonable facsimile. Q. Why should oil be changed every 2 months or at 1000 miles?

A. Your car produces nearly 1 gallon of water per gallon of gas burned. Short-run driving fails to expel all this water. Some gets into the crankcase and causes contamination of any oil.

"Makes me feel extra good hearin' you talk that way, Judge... never realized I was contributin' to the war effort in the way you mention."

"You certainly are, Hank. Part of the grain you farmers grow is used by the beverage distilling industry to make alcohol for war purposes. Hundreds of millions of gallons are required every year for smokeless powder, medical supplies, chemical warfare materials, shatterproof glass, lacquer for camouflaging equipment, fuel to propel torpedoes and in the making of critically needed synthetic rubber. But, Hank, the grain used in distilling this alcohol is not thrown away. It is processed and comes back to the farm again in the form of distillers' dried grains or dried solubles which you use for dairy feeds, hog supplements and poultry mashes. This year alone it is estimated 388,000 tons of these much needed feed stuffs will be produced by the distillers."

"I can see now, Judge, why you say it's a mighty good thing we have a legal distilling industry in times like these."

says: "Charlevoix seems to be the one port on all Lake Michigan where yachtsmen are welcomed with open arms and all sorts of facilities. Although the entrance after dark and with a following sea is a mean one, the Coast Guard telephones ahead to have the bridge open, and once you get into the harbor you are in a yachtsman's paradise. The harbor master, Joe Howard, is right there to give you a hand in getting set at the free municipal docks, and makes every effort to help with supplies, water, gas and oil, laundry, and to make you feel thoroughly at home. There is one day laundry service, gasoline trucks come right down to the docks, hoses are available for filling water tanks . . . and what is most striking after Mackinac, the prices in town are very reasonable, the stores and hotels neat and clean, and every one seems anxious to please." We can all take a bow for that swell build-up, I guess, and at the same time look for more Chicago yachtsmen to call here to find out if it's true what they say about Charlevoix.

"Sherty" Sternberg, Milt Block and quite a few others will be pleased no little to learn that the caretaker of the Pigeon River conservation headquarters reports deer very plentiful in that area this year. That's good news following last year's slump in deer population in the territory east of Vanderbilt.

CAN VITAMINS CHANGE
GRAY HAIR?

Read the amazing experience of gray-haired people in Calcium Pantothenate tests sponsored by Good Housekeeping magazine. According to this report:

Age—did not seem to affect results. The earliest response occurred in a 50 year old; the latest in a 23 year old.

Color began to appear near the roots of the hair. The color may not appear all over the head at the same time. Spots of natural color, perhaps on the temples or the back of the head, may show traces of color first, after which the color will spread to other parts of the head.

Time varied from 1 month to 6 months.

Results—88% of those tested had positive evidence of a return of some hair color.

● Now thousands use GRAYVITA, which contains 10 mgm. of Calcium Pantothenate (the same amount used in tests above) PLUS 450 U. S. P. units of B1, the vitamin necessary to healthy nerves. Try GRAYVITA. See what a difference it may make in the way you look. 30 day supply, $1.50, 100 day supply $4.00. Phone, write

A. & P. TEA COMPANY URGES HOME CANNING

Preserving Garden Harvest Is Patriotic Service

Increased home canning of green beans during the remaining weeks of abundant supplies was urged today by an official of the nation's largest produce buyer.

"Harvest from farm and garden is at a peak," said R. L. Ritter, A & P store executive in this area. "Home canning of beans at this time will prove a patriotic service in freeing more of the commercially canned commodities for the armed forces and at the same time guard against a home shortage of nutritious food."

Pointing out that 30 pounds of beans will yield about 20 quarts when canned, Ritter said all A & P stores are distributing free leaflets containing easy-to-follow, approved methods of home canning as part of the company's new information service to housewives.

LOCAL MAN ONLY YANK IN HIS RCAF OUTFIT

Edwin McCann in Coastal Command in Hebrides Islands

From the American Red Cross in Great Britain comes this story of a Charlevoix man, Sgt. Pilot Edwin E. McCann, son of John H. McCann, serving with the Royal Canadian Air Force.

"Mac" ought to know a bargain when he sees one. He used to be manager of a 5 and 10 cent store back in Onaway, Mich. And the "good thing" of the moment is his job with the R.C.A.F. He's the only Yank in an all-Canadian squadron and he intends to see the war out in the same outfit.

Sgt. Pilot Edwin "Mac" McCann joined up in Windsor, Ont., some months before the United States entered the war. Overseas since 1941, he is attached to Coastal Command, lives on an island in the Hebrides group to the northwest of Scotland, and likes it. He goes on long air patrols over endless stretches of sea searching for sight of a periscope, and enjoys that, too. "It's like fishing," said he, "if you don't get any bites, you're always hopeful."

The other day Mac got two weeks precious leave to London and sauntered into the American Red Cross Rainbow Corner. You don't see many men in Royal Air Force blue these days with the U.S.A. insignia on their shoulder. Most of them have transferred back to the American forces.

"What's the fascination about your island retreat?" he was asked.

"Well," said Mac, "the place has a character all its own. It's bleak and windswept and rather lonely, but I have a good time. I bought a bicycle and get around. There are no movies and no Red Cross club yet, but there are village dances. We do sort of rustic dances such as the highland fling and the Scotch reel. The people are all Scotch and they are warm hearted and friendly, I guess I've just got used to it."

Mac plans to go back to his store managership as soon as the war is over.

MR. AND MRS. PLENNY GENETT OBSERVE 50TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Plenny Genett observed their golden wedding anniversary on Monday evening, August 16, by entertaining a number of relatives and friends at their residence on May street.

Mr. Gennett was born in Norwood township, while Mrs. Genett was born in Ellenburg, N. Y., and came here at the age of seven. They were married August 16, 1893, in Harbor Springs, and have made their home in Norwood township until moving into Charlevoix a few years ago. They have two children, Mrs. Irving Hallett, of Detroit, and Ward Genett, of Flint and two grandchildren, Irving Jr. and Richard Hallett.

Among their many anniversary gifts was a decorated wedding cake, as well as bouquets and baskets of flowers. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Hallett, Mrs. Clarence Whitney and daughter, Anne, of Wyandotte; Mr. and Mrs. Ward Genette, Miss Elaine Williams, Dolphus Supernaw, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Supernaw, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Supernaw, of Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Reed Genett, of Hellmire; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Supernaw, of Ellsworth.

ISLANOS TO BE GUNNERY RANGE

SECRETARY OF WAR MARKS DANGER ZONES

Traverse City Naval Air Station Will Use Area for Bombing, Machine Gun Practice

Orders were issued last week by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson declaring the waters of Lake Michigan, between Hog Island and Waugoshance point, closed to all navigation and designated as a live bombing and gunnery range for the Traverse City naval air station.

This area is directly west of the Straits of Mackinac and enforcement of the orders has been placed in the hands of the commanding officer of the Traverse City station.

Danger zones are designated as follows:

Waugoshance point area—the waters of Lake Michigan east of Grays Reef passage, commencing at Lewey's dock on the north shore of Waugoshance point, about four miles easterly from west end of the point, south along the shore to a beacon on the mainland at the most easterly intrusion of Sturgeon bay, then to a point one mile east of the bell buoy which marks the eastern channel limits of Grays Reef passage, then to a black spar buoy at the northwest corner of Rose Shoal, then to flashing white buoy on the north side of New Shoal No. 1, thence southeasterly again to Lewey's dock.

Hog Island area—the waters of Lake Michigan west of Grays Reef passage within the following boundaries: commencing at the red and black spar buoy marking the west end of White Shoal, thence to the red and black spar buoy marking the east side of Hog Island Reef, then to the southeast point of Garden Island, along the east shore of the Island to the northeast point, then back to the buoy at the west end of White shoal.

No vessel or other craft shall enter or remain in the areas at any time. Prior to conduct of firing practice, the areas will be patrolled by navy aircraft to insure that no water craft are within the danger areas, and any water craft in the vicinity will be warned that firing practice is to take place. Warnings will be given by the signal known as "buzzing," opening and closing of the plane's throttle while flying low. Upon this warning, any water craft will clear the areas designated immediately.

BOB BARNUM MEMBER LATE ARRIVALS CLUB

R. A. F. Pilots Formed Group In North Africa in 1941

Major Robert A. Barnum of Lake City, grandson of Sam Alexander of Ironton, has been elected to the Royal Air Force's "Late Arrivals Club."

Orgonized in 1941 by R.A.F. pilots in North Africa, conditions of membership are few and simple. Pilots of allied nations who have walked back to their group headquarters after being shot down in combat comprise the membership of this most exclusive club, even more restricted than the famous "Caterpillar Club."

Major Barnum crashed his plane in a belly-landing near Tarhuna, behind the English lines, after his engine had been knocked out by ack-ack fire over Tripoli, on January 18. Within two days he had rejoined his squadron, safe and sound. He is now stationed at the army air base in Albuquerque, N. M.

DOUGLAS PORTER NEW GOLF CHAMP

TOPS CHAMPIONSHIP FIELD IN BELVEDERE EVENT

Mrs. Austin Leland, St. Louis, Mo. Wins Women's Crown; Other Flight Winners Named

Douglas G. Porter, of Kansas City, Mo., won the men's crown in the annual Belvedere Club golf tournament Thursday afternoon.

Porter defeated H. W. Hardin of St. Louis, four up and two to play. Both men are top-flight golfers, as Porter has participated in several national tournaments and has a scratch rating at his Kansas City country club, and Hardin is champion player at Bellerive country club of St. Louis. Both were playing in the Belvedere tournament for the first time.

Others in the man's championship flight were S. J. Pingree, John S. Penney, Owen Mitchell and Lewis Morrow, of St. Louis, Mo., S. R. Leutherman of Memphis, Tenn., and Richard Moss, Belleville, Ill.

Mrs. Austin P. Leland, of St. Louis, defeated Mrs. John Herron of Akron, O., two up and one to play, for the women's championship. Mrs. Herron was medalist in the women's qualifying round.

Other flight winners were:

Second flight — Forsyth Tramel, Chicago, defeated Charles Rayhill, Chicago.

Third flight — Austin P. Leland St. Louis, defeated Robert Lund, St. Louis.

AIR MEDAL PRESENTED CAPT. GILES McCANN

Hazardous Antisubmarine Patrol Flights Earn Award

Capt. John Giles McCann, bomber pilot in the United States army air forces, was presented the Air Medal in a recent ceremony at the Portland, Ore., army air base. He is the son of Mrs. M. J. McCann, of this city.

The citation was awarded for meritorious achievement while participating in antisubmarine patrol flights for over 400 hours. Accomplishment of many of these missions was made when unfavorable weather conditions made flying hazardous, and possibility of encountering enemy fighter ships or antiaircraft fire added to hazards of these missions. To quote the citation, "These services reflect highest credit on the military forces of the United States." Three other pilots at the Portland base were decorated at the same ceremony.

Capt. McCann, a native of Beaver Island, had only recently received his promotion to captain's rank.

Loyalty of Summer Residents Is Prime Factor in $300,000 Bond Sales Campaign

A $10,000 bond sale to a prominent Chicago Club member put the City of Charlevoix Bomber campaign over the top Tuesday night, two days before the drive was scheduled to close.

Mrs. Mont Reid, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and the Chicago Club, made the sale which brought the campaign total to over $300,000 and will put the "City of Charlevoix" heavy bomber at some distant fighting front.

THANKS, CHARLEVOIX!

The City of Charlevoix Bomber Campaign committee extends its sincere thanks to every investor and worker among the summer residents and local citizens who aided in making the bond sales drive a success.

W. E. FLYNN A HOTEL VETERAN

BELLHOP TO OWNER OF TWO RESORT HOSTELRIES

Manager Charlevoix Beach Hotel Is In Thirty-Second Summer Season in This City

A career that might have been used by Horatio Alger for one of his famous success story plots is that of William E. Flynn, who is nearing the close of his fourth season as owner-manager of the Charlevoix Beach Hotel. Beginning as a bellhop, 'Bill' has learned every phase of the hotel business in his climb to his present success.

Bill left his home in Marblehead, Mass., in 1911 to work as a bellhop at the Holly Inn in Pinehurst, N. C., operated by A. I. Creamer. The following summer he came to Charlevoix with Mr.

CHANGES IN TRUCK TIRE REGULATIONS

Those Unable to Get Tires May Go To ODT Office

Eligible truck operators who hold tire rationing certificates but who are unable to locate within their county the proper tires may apply to their nearest Motor Transport district office of the Office of Defense Transportation for assistance, the ODT announced today.

This information will in turn be transmitted daily to the office of the rubber director, who will endeavor to arrange for the proper redistribution of tires so that all the certificates can be honored as quickly as possible after issuance.

This procedure was decided upon, the ODT stated, after some truck operators reported they were unable to obtain critically needed tires and as a result had to keep vehicles out of operation.

In some cases, it was reported, important war freight was delayed for this reason.

It is hoped that the new arrangement will help essential operators to obtain prompt relief, the ODT stated.

NORTH SIDE SUMMER PEOPLE SET RECORD

Previous Bond Sales Marks Were Topped Last Week

All previous war stamp and bond sales records were topped last week by north side summer residents, who sold $3,676.05 at the CSO downtown booth.

Sales at the Central Drug Store were $70.30; at St. Mary's recreation center, $14.25.

Belvedere Club members are in charge of the CSO booth this week.

FORMER TUG CAPTAIN STRICKEN AT CHICAGO

Piloted Beaver Island Mail Boat For Many Years

Capt. Peter McCafferty, 74, captain of lake vessels for many years, died last Wednesday in Chicago. Funeral services were held at St. Mary's church in this city Monday morning at 9:00 o'clock, Fr. A. V. Ulanowicz officiating. Burial was at the Catholic cemetery.

A native of Beaver Island, Capt. McCafferty was captain of mail boats to the island for many years. He was captain of the tug Taylor of Charlevoix, and for several years captain of a towing tug sailing out of Chicago.

He is survived by his wife, five sons, Roland, Stanley and Jack, of Chicago, Harold, of California, and Gerald, of South Haven, and a daughter, Edith, of Chicago. Another son, Francis, died several years ago.

SALVAGED CANS HAVE MANY USES

TIN MEDICINE CONTAINERS HELP SAVE LIVES

Clifford McKibbin Jr., Chairman Local Committee, Requests Housewives Save Cans

Why save tin cans? Because tin saves lives. It has, in addition to its more common uses in protecting food, many medical uses, Clifford McKibbin, chairman of the Charlevoix Salvage Committee, said today.

"Tin—100 per cent pure tin—encloses the little individual morphine hypodermic syringe (syrette) which deadens the pain of a soldier lying wounded in the field," he said. "Every soldier on combat duty carries one of the tiny syrettes. The tin from only two tin cans is enough to make one of these angels of mercy, which emphasizes that if a homemaker has only a few tin cans they should be put into the next collection.

"Tin encases the emergency sulfa ointments which protect the soldier from deadly infection in the jungle — which help heal his burns — which relieve injuries to his eyes. Tin safeguards the precious blood plasma which enables the medical corps to save countless lives right at the front by

ANNUAL COUNTY PICNIC SEPT. 6

LABOR DAY EVENT AGAIN AT WHITING COUNTY PARK

Program Includes 4-H Club Exhibit, Amateur Show and Sports Events

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

Plans are rapidly being developed for the 21st annual county picnic to be held at the Whiting Park on Monday, September 6th.

Inasmuch as this will be the only day in the year that folks will have the opportunity of meeting each other and in getting acquainted it is expected that a big crowd will enjoy the various activities and events planned for the day. It is expected that the Victory Garden show will take on added importance this year and will be double in size of the show of last year. The 4-H club members in the county are already making plans for their exhibits which will include victory gardens, canned goods, food preparation and livestock units.

This year a big amateur show will be the feature of the afternoon's program. Dallas Henry, of Charlevoix, will act as master of ceremonies. Five prizes will be awarded the winning contestants. First prize will be $10.00, with second prize at $5.00. In addition three other prizes will be awarded. All amateurs in the county desiring to enter the contest kindly inform the county agent, B. C. Mellencamp at Boyne City. Come on! Let's have the biggest amateur show ever held in the county.

Running races and other sports will start immediately after the noon lunch. A softball game will bring together the Rotary clubs of East Jordan and Boyne City. These business and professional men will provide entertainment that you will want to travel miles to enjoy.

BOYNE CITY WILL BE BLOOD DONOR CENTER

Red Cross and State Department of Health Cooperate

Boyne City has been designated as blood donor center for Charlevoix county in a new program to be set up by the Michigan Department of Health, cooperating with the American Red Cross.

An appropriation from the state legislature provides for the blood plasma program for civilian use in the state. Plans have been drawn up and approved by the Red Cross.

The Charlevoix county Red Cross chapter will register donors, set up a donor station, and furnish canteen service. Further details of the program will be announced later.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

Don't let the big war debt get you down. There's bigger and better ones in the making.

The scattered showers we're getting lately are making big potatoes out of little ones. At the price they are on the market today, I can't think of any faster or easier way to make money.

It seems that even being a soldier in the army can't change a woman's fixed notion that her purse is the ideal carry-all. A WAC utility bag—which you've probably seen slung from the gal's shoulder — found at the Fort Devens, Mass., training center not so long ago, contained the following articles: can opener, green cucumber, salt shaker, Indian head penny, extra pair of stockings, tooth brush, customary assortment of cosmetics and facial tissues, cigarets, matches, a broken garter, driver's license, flashlight, ring of keys, snapshot, letter, safety pin, waterproof hat cover, needle and thread, wash rag and piece of soap, aspirin, laundry check, address book, stamps, fountain pen, pencil, nail file, theatre stubs, railway time table, a candy bar and cookie.

"How old would you say she is?"

"Oh, somewhere in her middle flirties."

A lot of local people went to the blackberry patches Sunday and if they're all as lame and sore as I am, it will take some better than ordinary urging to get them back there again. Anyway, close of the trout fishing season is at hand and if I'm ever going to catch up lost time, will have to devote the next two week ends to the rod and reel.

Some people appear to think that running a newspaper is easy, but from experience we can say that it is no picnic, because read-

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

Just a line to let you know that I have been transferred again to the last and final base of my radio training. The paper is being sent to Huntington, so I do not get it on time and it is generally a little delayed getting here.

This new base is out 7 miles from Boston and is known as Gallups Island. Here I will spend the remaining 5 months of my course, which seems to be going very fast for me. The main worry here is trying to make the grade, as the station order is that any man failing three tests will be demoted and his rank taken away and a lot of other unpleasant things.

This is my third week here and already I am looking forward to my leave, which begins August 28. Elizabeth and I are leaving Boston that Saturday, and the next morning will be in Michigan. Boy, it will be a great day when I will be able to see my home again. Last year at this time I was driving Martin Block's delivery truck and every cop in town was chasing me, if you remember. I wouldn't mind to be back doing it yet.

Well, I hope this will give you a better idea of things around here. Hope everybody is doing fine, including the Bogart Apartments. (How's that for a plug!)

Yours as ever,

Hello Ken,

First of all I want to thank you for the Charlevoix paper.

Since I have got back from furlough, I have been put on a 22-ft Chris Craft speedboat. So now I am enjoying myself with speedboat rides on week days, and a little golfing on Sundays.

Some of our men have been sent to New York. I wouldn't mind a trip to New York myself, I'd like to see those skyscrapers there and also the Statue of Liberty.

I guess I've seen quite a bit already. I never in my life thought I'd ever see the White House at Washington, D. C., and all the rest of the beauty spots of the USA. I

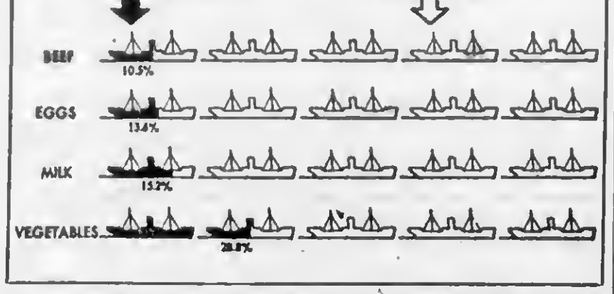
DEHYDRATION SAVES SHIPPING SPACE



With Allied forces fighting on battlefronts scattered around the world, tremendous amounts of food and ammunition are constantly being shipped to supply these numerous bases and provide a reserve. A great space saver has been the dehydration of foods which not only saves shipping area, as is shown in the chart above, but makes it possible for soldiers and sailors to carry enough food in their packets to sustain them for several days.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Anything new, Bert, on that black market trial up at the county seat?"

"The jury came in 'bout an hour ago, Judge. The verdict was 'guilty.' I understand the sentence is going to be a mighty stiff one."

"Can't be too stiff to suit me. Anything those law-flouting racketeers get will be too good for them. How they thrive every time there's an opportunity to sell something illegally instead of legally in this country. Just like the bootleggers did during the 14 years when liquor was sold illegally instead of legally.

"Unless this black market in meat and other commodities is stamped out and stamped out quickly, Bert, we're in for another dose of the crime, corruption and lawlessness we had following the last World War."

Hi Ken,

In cuse you don't know it I said "I do," and here I am at Great Lakes.

Curt Dixon is here in the same barracks with me, Smith from Hurbor, Ecker from Walloon Lake and Hammontrea from Bay Shore. And we would like that little piece of paper that you give to the boys in the service.

This is just like deer hunting but you can't get up at noon. Well, I better turn this off before I let my mind run away with me.

Following is u condensation of two letters received by Mr. ond Mrs. Frank F. Bird from their son, Pfc. Douglas W. Bird, with American troops in North Africa.

Dear Mother and Dad,

I'm ulmost certain thot I have received ull of your letters up to the 20th of July, as yesterduy I received 16 lotters and there were about 8 of yours, Mother. So fur I have had three letters from Ken, the letest one being dated about July 12th.

In our Army newspaper which we get, I ran ucross this clipping headed "Open Letter."

"The following letter was written by a nurse. We publish it with the consent of the recipient, Corporal Roth.

"Deer Bob:

"After writing last night, I read the new regulations regarding censorship so I concedo the fact that no douht my last letter to you from here has also gone astray. Therefore to the hest of my knowledge I um writing to you again what muy he called an o.k. letter, or should I say a censor's droam?

"After leaving where we were before we left for here and not knowing we were coming to here from there we couldn't tell if wo would arrive here now und not there, I guess. The weather here is just ns it is at this season, but of course quite different from the weather where we were before we left far here. After leaving by what we left by, we had a good trip.

"The people here are just like they look, but don't look like thay are where we came from. Erom there to here is just as far as it is from here to there. I feel just as I should for the kind of weather here, but of course I felt all right there for the kind of weather there, so there is nothing to be alarmed about."

I thought that this was pretty good myself and thought you might like to reud it.

Last Tuesday evening ufter work, our officers in charge of our section here at headquarters took us out on a picnic. This wus the same bunch of fellows who went to town end hed thot steak dinner. We went swimming first for about su hour and then had chicken sandwiches, jelly sandwiches, iced cocos which lasted like melted ice cream, cream puffs, fruit cocktail, grupefruit juice and orsugo-grupefruit juice. Everything was swell and sure tasted good after a awim in the Mediterranean.

Sure would enjoy some of your fried chicken. We have chicken here abaut once a week, but it is in a sort of stew form. We have hed fresh meut quite a bit lately, but for the next few weeks wo will he having canned goods, like corned beef, Spam and whet-not.

Last Sunday was my afternoon off and so was able to go with somo fellows in u truck to a swell swimming hole. The beach wus ill sandy und there were no rocks in the water except whero we dove from, which was at any helght up to ebout 15 feet. While we were there, we run ncross a baby octopus which we tried to catch. There were some hoards around thero which we used, but the thing was too fast for us and would change colors as fast as you ean wink your eye. When wo first saw him, he wes a powder blue and then he chunged colors to a dnrk brown or black, and then shortly afterwards, he becamo blue again and that was the lest we snw of him. The wuter was only waist deop where we found him, and he would stay under the edge of the large boulders around thero. The octupus was about u foot in diameter so don't think that he could do any damage.

On our wny to swimming we went through a small village and about half of the kids there were without clothing. They sure would holler and yoll when we went through. Most of them would holler "Cigarette oJhnnio," and from what I've seen, I guess the kids start smoking as soon aa they can walk and holler "Cigarette Johnnie." I've seen kids smaller than Barby asking for elgarettes and smoking them. Also saw an Arab cemetery and nll there was for a marker, was a sort of flat stone and nothing on the stone. By the looks of the graves, they might have been two or three feet deop.

Went to a show last night and saw u fair picture. Don't know what is on tonight. Beforo going to the show last night, I played volley-ball for about an hour and u half and then had n shower. Was lucky to get a shower as usually the showers are closod by 6 p.m.

All for now.

Loads of love,
Doug

Dear Ken,

The summer is nearly over and I had hoped I would be home for a week or so beforo the leavos fall —but I am beginning to wonder. After all this heat, ruin and insects, can you imagine how much I would like to spend nt least ane week in a decent part of this country? Nnmely—Churlevoix!

I know I could lead a tougher life than this, though. Think of the fellows overseas and you will feel much more satisfied with what you have.

Our outfit has been here two months now. We've beeo in a few sham "battles" and seen the type of life that few women (if any) will ever see. (I can hear the women raving when they read this!)

I'd better smooth that off by saying — I hope women never do have to see such a life, in this country.

The Courier comes as regular as the tick of a clock, so I am well satisfied. It will go along with me on this next "problem" and I will read it when there is a lull in the "battle."

Dear Ken,

Just sending you my new address, and also thanking you for sending me the home town paper. It sure made a hit for me this week, more than ever before. I was in a car accident on August 3rd and got a skull and jaw fracture. There were four of us sailors and it had to be me that got hurt, I was the only one. But I'm recovering fast.

Got a card from Jim Annis asking me to come and see him. It looks like I won't be able to. He's only 75 miles from where I am now.

Well Ken, I must thank you again for the paper, it gets tiresome lying here, but I'll receive the paper soon I hope. Keep 'em coming. So long.

As ever,
Pete

Dear Ken,

I presume there is little left of the younger male population in Charlevoix at the moment. I'm very glad to read so many of the families on the resort are contributing so much to the local farmers by letting their children participate in the necessary and vital farm work. Miss Lois (Saucy) Schueffer is a splendid example of their interest and effort. We soldiers are interested in these little things more than most people realize. Hope they keep it up.

Must quit the dribble before column space gives out, so will close with my new address.

Yours,
Pfc. William C. Hannah

One of the most disastrous conflngrntions in recent years occurred Saturday evening when one of Brown & Wallace's gaseline trucks, being filled nt the company's storage station near the old sugar factory on the Pere Marquette tracks, caught fire in some manner. Flames spread rapidly, destroyed the truck nnd caught the two big storage tanks, which exploded with a concussion that shook windawa within a radius of n half-mile and brought hundreds of speeding cars to the scene in the wake of the fire truck. Quick netion by the fire department confined the blaze to the two tanks and n coal shed owned by Harry Widdifield, which was destroyed.

Mrs. Edward C. Heise, the former Marie Kloester, was guest of honor at a party given by Mrs. Peter Tapovic last Wednesday evening. A social evening was enjoyed by the guests, concluded by serving of refreshments. A three-tiered wedding cake, topped by miniature bride and groom, made a lovely table setting. Mrs. Heise was presented with a gift from the group.

Creamer as head porter at The Inn, once-famous summer hostelry which has since been torn down. That winter he went to Highland Pines Inn, Southern Pines, N. C., as a porter, and for 30 years now he has spent winters at Southern Pines and summers at Charlevoix.

In succeeding years, he rose from porter to steward's assistant, to room clerk and then to assistant manager of The Inn about 1920. After a period as manager of that hotel, in 1940 he purchased the Beach Hotel. Besides owning this hotel, he has full control of stock in the Highland Pines Inn, and is manager of that winter resort.

To his wife, the farmer Mary Powers, goes much af the credit for his success. Now executive housekeeper of the Beach Hotel, she has been his "right-hand woman" for many years. Amiable, easy-going Bill is known among his friends far his charitable actions, and has been summed up by one of his oldest associates as "a good scout and a good businessman."

promptly treating loss of blood, shock and burns. Tin is used to protect these materials, because tin is the most perfect protective covering. No other metal or substitute will serve as well.

"Tin containers af many kinds are indispensable to every army and navy medical corps doctor, every ambulance company, and every field and base hospital. Millions of these various tin items are urgently needed. Tin saves lives. The only source we have for tin in quantities is to recover it from the coating on food containers in the homes. That's why we are asking housewives to prepare and save their tin cans."

LANSING LETTER

Every Michigan town has a Charley Bell.

But only Crystal Falls, once a prosperous iron mining center, has Charley Bell, one-armed ex-lumberjack, town photographer, flaent recontear and aristocrat of the outdoors.

We mention Charley because the blueberries are abundant an the plains from Ironwood to Sault Ste. Marie; because millions of quarts of the luscious berries are awaiting in vain for pickers this summer; and because my thrifty helpmate, mindful of war needs for food, decided suddenly to can blueberries on an outdoor oven at Runkle park by a small lake at Crystal Falls where we stayed a few days.

"Charley Bell is your man," said Tom Conlin, editor of the Diamond Drill. And so we engaged him for the job.

"How many quarts of blueberries do you want?" asked Charley.

We surmised, "About 20 quarts," thinking of his one arm.

"Hardly wurth my while," replied Charley with dignity. He is a good six feet tall, with an Englishmen's chin and nose. "I can easily pick 35 quarts. My good wife and I have 250 quarts of berries in our basement now."

I gulped, first in amazement, then in doubt, and finally nodded acceptance to his bid.

"I was just planning to do some fishing," added Charley, as he glanced at the ground beneath the tomato vines in his small victory garden. "Worms are hard to get with a flashlight. Kindly survey these tomato vines. They'll grow at least 12 feet high before summer is over. Already five feet off the ground, and growing a foot a week."

Charley stood in pride before his garden triumph. Even prospective 12-foot tomato vines merit a visitor's admiration.

We inquired about the delicate matter of using a ladder to pick the tomatoes, but Charley was courageous to the degree of solemnity and never simulated a smile. So we changed the subject to fish bait.

"Ah, yes, the piscatorial art," quath Charley. "I have been catching a mess of the finny denizens almost daily. Rely exclusively on the lure of a brown and red buck tail, although the daredevil has its good merits and the jane bug is preferred by others, if you know what I mean."

We fathomed clamsily that Charley had been fishing, and so let it go.

The more we thought about Charley Bell, the more we concluded that the risk was too great. And so the next afternoon we organized our own assault on the blueberry plains near Lake Mary, led to the spot by Jimmy, the printer's devil, over a winding humpback trail that finally brought us to a beaver-dam pool fed by springs from nearby hills. The three of us picked 10 quarts in a few hours, and sampled a few quarts more, trying to decide which was the more delectable, blueberries or huckleberries. I'm still not sure.

Over on an adjoining hill, a good half mile away, we detected the form of a berry-picker. He was picking berries with one arm. Sure enough, it was Charley.

Finally about 4 o'clock we started for home.

That evening we went to Charley's home. "Ran into hard luck", started Charley. "I was getting along fine until my hound dog got thirsty and I took him to a spring for water. There we encountered a cloud of mosquitoes. I waved my hat to chase 'em away, and a fish hook caught on my left ear. Had to leave early — 'twas at least 3 o'clock. The doctor broke two pliers before he extracted the hook."

We knew what the ending was going to be, and looked at the carton filled with blueberries. Charley read our mind.

"I regret exceedingly my inability to get 35 quarts, but you'll find 20 quarts or more there. If you don't find that many berries in the box, come and get your money back," he pronounced officially, like a judge from the bench.

When we made reference to the handicap of one arm, Charley reminiscenced. "That was a bitter cold night, 54 years ago, when I was lumberjacking out at camp twelve near Iron River. The temperature went down so fast my ears were frostbitten by the time I reached the shack. Before going to bed later that evening I happened to remember about a jag I had left at the doorstep outside. I opened the door and stuck my right arm out to get the jug. It's hard to believe how cold it was that night. But my right arm was frozen to the elbow before I could bring it inside. The arm got black, swoll up like a sick pup, and so I took an axe and whacked it off. Yes, sir, never missed that arm even while picking blueberries. It was a shame that fish hook had to snag in my ear."

Back in camp, we told the missus of Charley Bell. We also related the yarns of the 12-foot tomato vine, the red and brown backtail bait, and the wintry night casualty of a half century ago.

The Upper Peninsula is a big region, and bigness is one of its natural virtues. Maybe the climate is responsible. Or perhaps the native hospitality of providing entertainment for innocent travelers is to blame.

Still skeptical, we surveyed Charley's box of blueberries. My wife started to count the quarts—carious to see whether Charley had been absent-minded also in the matter of his sale.

When a resident of the lower peninsula, even one from such a virtuous place as Lansing, comes to the north country with its almost unlimited forests and lakes and streams, he is impressed anew at the greatness of Michigan — its rich natural resources of iron, copper, oil, salt, forests and fish; its teeming industrial centers, unparalleled in the world for mass production skill, now making Norton bombsights and monster tanks and airplane engines and jeeps and many other weapons of war.

He recalls our rich fruit belt, and our bustling lake ports where steamships dock with cargoes of ore, coal and merchandise, and all the other characteristics of this peninsula state amid a great chain of inland seas.

And then you think of Charley Bell with his proclivity of exaggeration, and wonder if Charley is to blame amid this wonderland of God's riches.

Yes, let me say this for the record. When my wife had finished measuring the blueberries which Charley had picked, we found not 20 quarts as he had promised, but 21 quarts — a full, honest measure.

Sure, every Michigan town has a Charley Bell.

He is just a part of American home-town pride. He is a living reincarnation of Paul Bunyan whose yarns of the north still remind us of the greatness of Michigan.

RELAX OVERSEAS MAIL RULES FOR CHRISTMAS

September 15 to October 15 Is Designated Mailing Period

Christmas packages to American soldiers overseas may be mailed without presentation of a request from the soldier, during the period from September 15 to October 15, which has been designated as Christmas mail month for soldiers overseas. Packages to navy personnel may be sent until November 1.

Christmas gift packages will be accepted for mailing only within the following weight and size limitations: five pounds in weight, 15 inches in length, and 36 inches in length and girth combined.

They should bear the endorsement "Christmas Gift Parcel." Only one such package will be accepted for mailing by or on behalf of the same person or concern to or for the same addressee during any one week.

Overseas mail restrictions have been relaxed during this period so that it will not be necessary for the mailer to present either a request or any envelope bearing an APO cancellation at the time of mailing. Perishable articles will not be accepted, and every effort will be made to discourage mailing of fragile articles.

The army postal service of the army service forces reports that only through whole-hearted cooperation of the mailing public in complying with the above mailing rules will it be possible to deliver on time the tremendous volume of Christmas mail to American soldiers overseas which is expected this year.

Be sure that packages are wrapped securely. Experience has been that many packages reach the port of embarkation in such a condition that they are unfit to be sent on to the soldier.

PICK SQUASH WHEN MATURE, SAYS GARDNER

Prof. V. R. Gardner, director of the experiment station at Michigan State College, had some advice for the first-year Victory gardners last week. According to Professor Gardner, the practice of leaving squash fruits on the vine until they are needed may seriously cut the production of the plant, since a mature squash takes large amounts of nourishment from the soil and vine. Fruit should be picked as soon as it is mature, so that the vine may produce other fruit, the horticulturist said.

Soldiers' socks are expected to last 50 per cent longer as a result of a new process of treating wool now used by the Indian Army.

DRYING OF FOODS SECOND TO CANNING

Take the results of research and combine it with the experience of hundreds of Michigan housewives — drying fruits and vegetables as a wartime conservation measure rates second to the method of pressure cooking or canning non-acid vegetables, according to Miss Roberta Hurshey, extension specialist in foods and nutrition at Michigan State College.

Inquiries indicate many Victory Gardeners and those cultivating sizeable farm gardens are wondering about preservation by drying.

"The food value is not as high if foods are dried," asserts Miss Hershey. "Sun drying certainly cannot be recommended in Michigan. Oven drying may increase the cost of preservation beyond the value of the preserved food."

When jars are full or pressure cookers not available for canning the non-acid vegetables, some may be dried for wintertime meals. Corn, peas and lima beans, string beans, greens and apples are foods that may be put through a home drying process.

For corn: Gather in milk stage, husk, remove any worm injuries, steam or dip in hot water 15 to 20 minutes to set the milk. Drain, cool, cut kernels from ear. Spread on trays ½ to ¾ inch deep and dry at 130 to 140 degrees. Stir occasionally to separate kernels. When dry, grains will break like glass.

Peas, lima beans: Gather when mature but before pods are dry, hull, blanch 2 minutes in boiling water, cool in cold water, spread on trays ½ inch deep and dry at 130 to 140 degrees. Stir occasionally to separate kernels. When dry, grains will break like glass.

String beans: Cut ¾ to 1 inch lengths, steam 10 to 15 minutes or precook 5 minutes, dry at 155 degrees until brittle.

Greens: Sort, trim leaves, dip in boiling water 1 to 3 minutes, or steam 2 to 5 minutes, dry at 160 degrees.

Apples: Use mature fruit, but not soft. Pare, trim, slice evenly ¼ inch thick. Keep in salt water, 3 to 5 teaspoons salt to gallon of water until placed in drier. Start drying 130 degrees, increase to 160 degrees. Apples have elastic, stringy feeling when dry.

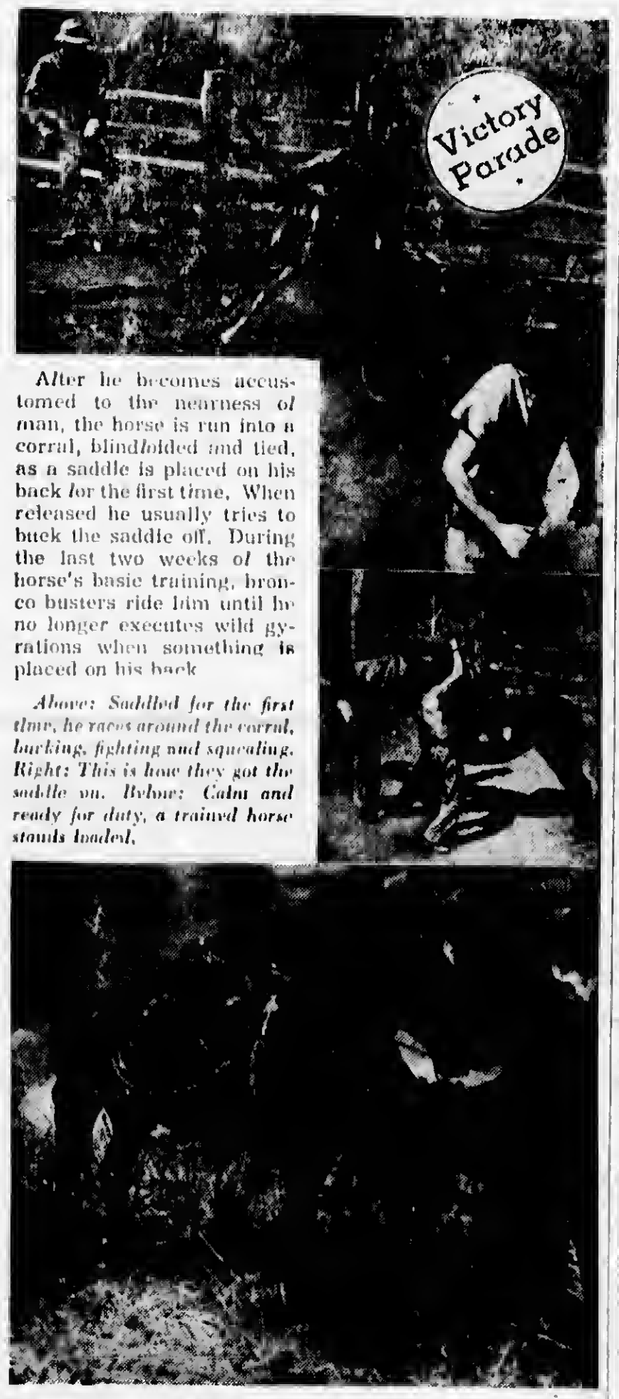
Horses Still Go to War

Herds of wild horses rounded up from the open ranges of frontier Australia are being tamed and trained for military work by American army forces there. Despite the ascendency of mechanization in warfare the horse still has a place at the battle zones because of his mobility over difficult terrain. Most of the wild Australian broncos have never seen a human, and must be transformed from nervous, galloping, man-fearing beasts into steady, dependable, domesticated horses. This is accomplished by a process formerly known as "breaking" which American soldiers prefer to call "gentling," as the army horse is trained as gently and humanely as possible so that he loses all fear of mankind.

Stampeding hordes of wild horses are guided into the swirling water of a stream by Australian horsemen.

This is what usually happens the first time an attempt is made to saddle one of the broncos.



After he becomes accustomed to the nearness of man, the horse is run into a corral, blindfolded and tied, as a saddle is placed on his back for the first time. When released he usually tries to buck the saddle off. During the last two weeks of the horse's basic training, bronco busters ride him until he no longer executes wild gyrations when something is placed on his back.

Above: Saddled for the first time, he races around the corral, bucking, fighting and squealing. Right: This is how they get the saddle on. Below: Calm and ready for duty, a trained horse stands loaded.

Occasionally a filly is born among the wild Australian horses. Here is one which has become a pet of the regiment. She is being treated for a slight cold by Pvt. J. Tuejer of Fort Worth, Texas.

Horses such as are trained in Australia will swim rivers and at night they are an advantage over motorized equipment because they can maneuver without lights. The horse is quiet. No other animal can, in an equal measure, endure extreme temperature changes.

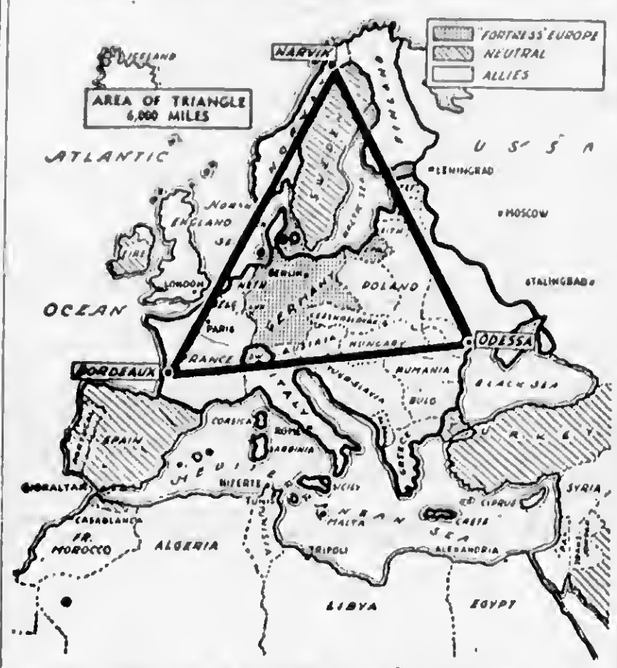
Possible Nazi Triangular Defense Line



Italy's exit from the war, military experts believe, would force Germany to abandon Greece, Jugoslavia, Rumania and Bulgaria, thus losing 600,000 satellite troops and necessitating a 6,000-mile defense line with about 5,500,000 men. The line may run triangularly from Narvik, Norway, to Bordeaux, France, to Odessa in the Ukraine, then back north to Narvik. Neutral Sweden and Switzerland fall inside the triangle but Sweden has announced that such movements must end August 20.

Five Killed in $5,000,000 Harlem Riot

Private Robert Handy, left, interfered with a policeman making an arrest, was shot, and thus ignited a Harlem, N. Y., riot in which five Negroes were killed, 600 persons were injured and property was damaged in the extent of $5,000,000. Right, Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, with Dr. Max Yergen and Ferdinand Smith, Negro leaders, as they conferred on measures to stop the rioting.

CHATTERER HAS A FRIGHT

CHATTERER, THE RED SQUIRREL, curled up in the darkest corner of Farmer Brown's cornerib, was having such a beautiful dream. He was king of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows, and all the other little people who lived there brought him presents of beautiful yellow corn. He had great storehouses all filled with corn, and he never again would have to hunt for anything to eat.

Presently he dreamed that he heard a whistle, a merry whistle. It was the whistle of Farmer Brown's Boy, and he could see him coming down the Lone Little Path through the Green Forest with a great bag of corn on his shoulder as a present for the king. The whistle sounded nearer and nearer and nearer. Suddenly Chatterer's eyes flew open. At first he thought he was still dreaming, for he had forgotten where he was. All around him was the beautiful yellow corn, and he still heard the whistle, only now it sounded very loud, indeed. He shut his eyes and then opened them again to see if the corn would disappear. It didn't. It was real. It was all about him.

He started to scramble to his feet to peek out, but just then the door of the cornerib was thrown open with a bang that made Chatterer jump inside, so that it seemed as if his heart came right up into his mouth. A flood of sunshine poured in and made the corn seem more yellow than ever. Then in stepped Farmer Brown's Boy—still whistling. Chatterer thought that, of course, he had come for him. He was sure of it, and he was just going to make a rush for that knothole through which he had crept in when something inside him warned him to keep perfectly still.

"Yes, sir; it certainly is pretty fine corn," said Farmer Brown's Boy.

So Chatterer kept perfectly still, though it seemed to him that it was one of the hardest things he ever had done in all his life. He felt as if he simply must run. Then he remembered how Unc' Billy Possum had fooled Farmer Brown's Boy by keeping perfectly still, even after he had been found, so still that Farmer Brown's Boy had thought him dead.

"I couldn't keep still like that," thought Chatterer, "but perhaps Farmer Brown's Boy doesn't know I am here, after all. I'll keep still until he does find me." So he tried to hold his breath, and all the time his heart went thump, thump, thump with fright, and it seemed to him that Farmer Brown's Boy certainly must hear it.

But he didn't. Of course not. He kept right on whistling, and as he whistled he filled a basket with ears of corn. When the basket was full he stepped outside and shut the door with another bang that made poor Chatterer jump again.

"Pretty fine corn. Yes, sir, it certainly is pretty fine corn," said Farmer Brown's Boy to Farmer Brown, who came along just then. "And the rats and the mice can't get at it. It's perfectly safe here," he added. "I've seen that thieving Jay stealing a few grains through the crack, but I guess he is welcome to all he can get that way. No one else can get any, that's sure!"

Chatterer grinned. Then he remembered a little verse his mother had taught him when he was a very little fellow and had been boasting what he knew:

Don't be too sure of anything,
For, smart though you may be,
You're sure to find somebody else
Can beat you up the tree.

Which means, of course, that no matter how smart you may think yourself, someone else is just as smart or a little bit smarter. Here was Farmer Brown's Boy boasting that no one could steal that corn, and here was Chatterer helping himself to all he wanted. Was it any wonder that Chatterer grinned?

Zipper Suits Keep Mariners Away From Davy Jones' Locker

Neither clowns nor zoot suiters are the young men pictured above. They are students at the Sheepshead Bay Maritime Training station where 30,000 mariners are trained yearly. Their apparel is the Morner life saving suit which keeps a man afloat indefinitely. They are trained to don these suits in 30 seconds. The backward bend is a result of the speed with which they zip up and lock the watertight fastener.

The maritime service trains crews as fast as American high-speed industrial geniuses turn out ships.

Above: If there is no time for lifeboats, the men go over in life suits. Left: He can float this way indefinitely. The suit contains emergency rations.

The 13 weeks' course includes instruction in deck duties, engine room operations, lifeboat handling, swimming, gunnery, and safety seamanship. Most of the training takes place on a craft that has never sailed and never will sail. It is a concrete replica of a ship, complete with booms, winches, hatches, etc. The bridge is raised on hydraulic jacks so it can be made to roll.

Circle: At the command "abandon ship" the men quickly take previously assigned positions in lifeboats. Training like this saves lives if the men are forced to actually abandon a torpedoed ship. Right: Deck hands demonstrate their agility by swarming high up a mast. Speed in emergencies must be second nature to these men.

Right: A member of the faculty instructs a class on the correct way to get into a Morner life saving suit. The suits are made of rubber and lined for warmth.

cts are hard to please. If we print jokes, people say we are silly. If we don't they say we are too serious. If we clip things from other papers, we are too lazy to write them ourselves. If we don't, we are stuck on our own stuff. If we stick close to the job, we ought to be out hunting news. If we get out and try to hustle, we ought to be on the job in the office. If we don't print contributions, we do not appreciate true genius; and if we print them, the paper is full of junk. If we make a change in the other fellow's copy, we are too critical. If we don't, we are asleep. Now like as not, some guys will say we swiped this from some other paper. And we did!

PIONEER RESIDENT OF HAYES IS TAKEN

Funeral Services Held Tuesday for Delos Ostrum

Delos Ostrum, 64, pioneer resident of Hayes township, died last Wednesday night at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey, where he had been a patient for five weeks. He had been in ill health for some time.

Mr. Ostrum was born in Ogden Center, Mich., October 27, 1878. In 1886 he came to Charlevoix county with his parents, who settled on a farm near Burgess. He married Effie Cochran on April 27, 1900, at Charlevoix, and they made their home in Hayes township.

Surviving besides his widow are three sons, Eldred, of Charlevoix, Philo, of Midland, and Pvt. Merlyn Ostrum, of Camp Gordon, Ga., three daughters, Mrs. Eva Lewis, of Flint, Mrs. Gladys Krulik, of Charlevoix, and Mrs. Neetha Mitchell, of Ann Arbor; a sister, Mrs. Jennie Dickerhoof, of Detroit; a brother, Walter, of Adrian, and several grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the See Funeral Home, Rev. W. D. Wood officiating. Burial was at Brookside cemetery.

EILEEN HELMS IS BRIDE OF ENSIGN WM. JON WITHERS

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Helms, of Detroit and Charlevoix, announce the marriage of their daughter, Eileen, to Ensign William Jon Withers, United States naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mont Withers of this city. The wedding took place early in August at Norfolk, Va.

Both bride and groom are graduates of Charlevoix high school. Ensign Withers entered midshipmen's training at Columbia University, New York city, in December, and is now stationed at Boston, Mass., where they will make their home for the present.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through the Charlevoix Courier.

RABBI FRANKLIN TO SPEAK AT IRONTON

Guest Preacher at Congregational Church This Sunday

Dr. Leo M. Franklin, of Detroit, will be guest preacher at the Ironton Congregational church next Sunday morning, August 29, at 10 o'clock. His topic is "Religion as a Fine Art."

Rabbi for 11 years of Temple Beth El, in Detroit, fourth largest Jewish congregation in the country, Dr. Franklin is now retired. For many years he was a director of the Detroit Citizens Housing and Planning committee, and a member of the board of the Detroit Symphony Society. He was the first person to receive a citation for distinguished living from the Round Table of Catholics, Jews and Protestants, a national committee for cooperation between religions.

Dr. Franklin was the first Jewish person to receive an honorary doctor's degree from a Catholic university, the University of Detroit, in recognition of work done on behalf of good will among religious groups. He holds a doctor's degree from Wayne University as well. Upon his retirement, he was given a civic banquet at which leading Detroit citizens of all faiths were present.

BOMBER DRIVE GOES OVER TOP

pleted before the August 26 deadline — with the Third War Loan drive only three weeks away — is an accomplishment of which every local and summer resident can be proud. The loyalty and untiring zeal and energy of Charlevoix summer residents was a prime factor in helping to put the huge campaign over.

Committees comprised of about 40 local and summer people have worked since July 26 to bring the drive to its successful culmination. Headed by Julius Gilbert of Detroit, summer resident, associate deputy state administrator, and Mayor Robert Bridge, city chairman of the War Finance committee, chairmen were: Beach Hotel, Scott Greenfield and Clarence Coleman; Belvedere Club, Charles Pike; north side, James Reis; Park avenue, Mrs. Edwin Rosenthal; valley and south side, Joseph M. Foster.

For a city the size of Charlevoix to attempt such a large bond sales drive, and succeed so admirably, is a feat which will surely bring Charlevoix national publicity.

As usual the concessions will be in charge of the American Legion posts in the county. Due to the difficulties involved, free coffee and sugar will not be available this year so, kindly bring your own coffee with your picnic lunch. Don't forget to start making plans for this annual county picnic on Labor Day. Next week's paper will present a complete program of the day's activities and everything is being planned for a big day and one that you will enjoy from morning until late in the afternoon.

Phone Call from Son

Mrs. Jessie Gregory was happily surprised Tuesday by a telephone call from her son, Pvt. Edwin Gregory, in Hawaii. Informed that morning from San Francisco that he would call, Mrs. Gregory heard her son's voice at midnight. Edwin said he was well, the American troops received the best of treatment, and to say "hello" to all his friends in Charlevoix for him.

BENEFIT PARTY AT ST. MARY'S CENTER

Summer Girls of Charlevoix Are Sponsors of Event

An advertisement elsewhere in this issue announces a benefit party to be given at St. Mary's recreation center Sunday evening at 8:30.

Sponsored by the Summer Girls of Charlevoix, the party's proceeds will be used for maintenance of the recreation center, which is open to all the youth of Charlevoix.

An invitation is extended to the public to attend the party.

BLUE STAR MOTHERS WILL MEET THURSDAY

Blue Star Mothers of America, Charlevoix chapter, will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. William Fisher, corner State and Clinton streets. Important business will be transacted. All members are requested to be present. Any mothers of men or women in service are eligible for membership, and welcome to attend this meeting.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through the Charlevoix Courier.

Farmers, Attention!

Now is the time to—

Get seed wheat ready to sow. See us for that seed if yours is shrunk and light, also for fertilizers.

Plant fall seeding of Alfalfa and Clover. Use 0-20-20 fertilizer and treat seed with nitrogen to insure a stand and a future hay crop.

Potato growers watch out for Aphis. They will destroy plant growth. One pint of nicotine sulphate added to 100 gallons of regular spray will do the job.

Plan to Attend the Tri-County Farm Bureau Picnic at Eastport, August 26. This store will be closed that day.

COMMITTEES, MERCHANTS IN COOPERATION

Salesmanship Committee Workers Was Aided by Business Men's Advertising Campaign

Whole-hearted cooperation of local merchants and businessmen, as well as the untiring energy of committee workers, was in large measure responsible for success of the City of Charlevoix Bomber campaign, says Julius Gilbert, associate deputy state administrator for the United Stetes treasury war finance committee for Michigan.

Beginning with a full-page advertisement in the Courier sponsored by the Foster Boat Co., the campaign was kept before the public by other full-page advertisements by the city of Charlevoix, R. C. Dun Cigar Co., and a succession of advertisements by the Charlevoix County State Bank, Charlevoix State Savings Bank, Northern Auto Co., Central Drug store, Charlevoix Co-Ops. Co., The Argonne, Schroeder & Hovey Drug, Charlevoix Beach Hotel, Park Side Dining Room, Belvedere Hotel, St. Mury'e Recreation Center, Curtis Market, Art Dry Cleaners, Dahlquist store, A. & P. store, Kroger store, Lakeview Inn, W. H. Wallace, Wood Bros., Charlevoix Coal & Ice Co. Hundrede of handbills, furnished hy the Courier, were distributed about the city by Boy Scouts.

Headed by Mr. Gilbert and Robert Bridge, city chairman for the war finance committee, subchairmen were: Beach Hotel, Scott Greenfield, Clurence Coleman; Belvedere Club, Charlee S. Pike; north side, James Reis; Park avenue, Mrs. Edwin Rosenthel; business district and south side, Joseph M. Foster.

Committee members who carried on the aggressive campaign were Charles Martini, Pat Moran, Wilma See, Mrs. Harold Byers, Mrs. R. F. BOND DRIVE "MAGNIFICENT ACHIEVEMENT"

Head of War Finance Committee for Michigan Congratulates Charlevoix on Success

Congratuletions on the successful conclusion of the $300,000 City of Charlevoix bnmber campaign have been received by locel officials from Frank N. Isbey, chairman of the United Stated treasury wnr finence committee for Michigan.

Said Mr. Isbey, "Please express to the patriotic people of Charlevoix the sincere thenks and hearty congratulations of the United States treasury department war finance committee on the successful completion of the bomber campaign. Raising of more than $300,000 is a megnificent achievement and one that all who took part have every reason to bo proud of. Thanks again to all concerned for their splendid efforts against big odds."

Because of the great number of sponsor equipment campaigns being received in Washington from all 48 states, there is considerable delay in their completion. Photographe of Charlevoix's plane will be forwarded hore as soon as it is released by the war department urmy air foreo office. Due to lack of a suitable landing field, it is at present doubtful that the bomber will ever land here for its formal dedication, although attempts are being mado to assure that the citizens of Charlevoix will have a look at the mighty fighting plane they purchased with war bonds.

WATCH TOWER IS POORLY STAFFED

NINETEEN WATCHES OPEN ON SCHEDULE

Unreported Plane Over City Last Week; Soo Officials Inspect Local Observation Post

On an inspection tour of Aircraft Warning Service posts in this vicinity last Friday, Capt. I. L. Dunham und his staff, Sgt. Henry Dessen, Trooper John Jerocko, and Sgt. Schary, of the Soo information center, announced that the Charlevoix observation post was inadequately manned.

Approximately one-third of the watches for the past week were not filled, and as a result, a plane headed north was not reported. Capt. Dunham informed local warning service officials that nuisance or token raids are still expected at the Soo and Detroit, and consequently the 700 posts in Michigan are being asked to maintain a careful watch of air activity. This can be done only when observers are on duty 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Charlevoix people have oversubscribed all war bond drives held to date, and with this evidence of patriotism, it should be expected that there would be more than enough volunteers for observers. With three-hour watches, a total of 56 observers are required for complete operation of the post; of this number 19 watches were vacant last week.

The army asks citizens to give up only three hours each week for this vital service to our country. If Detroit were bombed and war production was slowed up enough to prolong the war only one day, about 100 American men would be needlessly lost. Registration for watches may be made by calling 75.

IRONTON RESIDENT ACCIDENT VICTIM

Funeral Held Tuesday in Fliot For Edward Goff

Edward Goff, 37, resident of Ironton for the past two years, was killed last Wednesday night in an automobile accident at St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. Goff had gone to St. Louis to visit his brother, who was in that city on furlough from his army camp. Both the brother and his wife were seriously injured in the crash.

Mr. Goff and his family came to Ironton in the fall of 1941, purchasing the former J. C. Dissette residence near the ferry. Surviving are the wife, two sons, Edward and Michael, and two sons and a daughter by a former marriage. Funeral services were held Monday in Flint.

TRAVERSE CITY BANQUET HONORED ALVIN BENNETT

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bennett were entertained Friday at the country club in Traverse City by the northern district staff of the Metropolitan Insurance Co. In recognition of Mr. Bennett's 20 years of service with the company, he was presented a gold medal and some lovely pieces of silverware. Guests at the banquet included 30 representatives of the company, and their wives.

EAST JORDAN MAN IS WAR CASUALTY

Charles Kotalik Killed in North African Area July 10

Second East Jordan man to be killed in action in the present war was Pfc. Charles E. Kotalik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Kotalik, of Jordan township.

He was reported killed in action in the north African area on July 10. Requiem high mass was celebrated Monday morning, August 23, at St. John's church in the Bohemian settlement near East Jordan.

GARDEN EXHIBIT PICNIC FEATURE

VICTORY GARDENERS WILL PARTICIPATE

Award Premiums for Outstanding Displays of Vegetables and Flowers in Many Classes

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

Hundreds of proud home gardeners will have an opportunity of showing their vegetables and flowers in the "Victory Garden" show, arranged as a feature of the annual county picnic at Whiting park on Labor Day.

Cash awards are offered as premiums in all classes. Competent judges have been selected to place the exhibits, which must be in place at 11:00 a. m. the day of the picnic, next Monday. All exhibits are open to the public. With an estimated 1500 victory gardeners in the county, we should have a real exhibit.

The following classes and premiums are offered in the flower show:

Class I—Best bouquet of dahlias; 1st, $1.50; 2nd, $1.25; 3rd, $1.00; 4th, 75c; 5th, 50c. These premiums are offered in all classes.

Class II — Best bouquet of gladiolas.

Class III—Best collection of flowers arranged in baskets.

Class IV—Best bouquet of annuals.

Class V—Best bouquet of wild flowers.

Class VI—Best bouquet of flowering shrubs.

Class VII—Best bouquet of mixed flowers.

FORMER RESIDENT DIED AT DETROIT

Mrs. Laura Lewis Operated Store Here Several Years

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Laura Lewis, 77, widow of the late Dr. Thaddeus Lewis, who died July 30 at Detroit.

Laura Pearl was born at Norwood and lived in Central Lake and Charlevoix for some time. She operated a hat store in this city next to the present Western Union building until about 20 years ago, when she moved to Detroit.

Funeral services were held at the Hamilton funeral home in Detroit on August 2, followed by cremation.

Grange Convention

The Charlevoix county Grange convention will meet with Maple Grove Grange on Thursday, September 2.

MILWAUKEE CLIPPER RETURNS WEDNESDAY

Big Carferry Will Take Summer Vacationists to Chicago

The steamer Milwaukee Clipper, which brought resorters from Chicago to Charlevoix and Harbor Springs on June 24, will return next Wednesday, September 8, on another special trip to carry passengers and cars back to Chicago.

Taken off its regular Muskegon to Milwaukee run for this trip, the big carferry, owned by the Wisconsin - Michigan Steamship Co., will leave Harbor Springs at 2 p. m. and sail from Charlevoix at 5 p. m. Many vacationists faced with the problem of getting back home on reduced gasoline allowances will avail themselves of this opportunity to return to Chicago.

Distribute Hunting Licenses

As distribution of hunting license blanks to the conservation department's 2,000 accredited dealers throughout the state got under way this week, department officials revealed that they are anticipating about a 20% drop in the numbers of hunters this fall.

TIN PROTECTS ARMY'S HEALTH

BEST COVERING FOR STEEL FOOD CONTAINERS

Can Salvage Drive in Charlevoix Is Scheduled to Begin Soon, Says Chairman McKibbin

Why save tin cans? Because tin protects health, Clifford McKibbin, Jr., chairman of the Charlevoix salvage committee said today.

"United States military regulations authorize approximately six pounds of food every day for every soldier, sailor, marine and coast guardsman. Soon we will have an army of more than eight million men, a navy, marine corps and coast guard of two million more. They will eat 30,000 tons of food every day. That food must be kept pure. Tin is the best protective covering for food. Tin travels to war as a coating on millions of food containers," said he.

"Tin-coated steel containers of food withstand shock, heat, cold, contamination, climatic changes, storage hazards, and other war hazards. Most food for our armed forces, therefore, is packed and shipped in tin-coated steel containers. Abroad, almost all food for the army arrives in tin and steel. At sea, every sailor, marine and coast guardsman eats food protected by tin. Our army, navy, marine corps and coast guards are the best fed in the world. Tin makes that possible. Tin protects their health."

Approximately 40 per cent of all tin goes into coating of food containers, he revealed. If the armed forces are to receive protected food, if grocers are to have tinned food for civilians, housewives must save and prepare tin cans for the next tin can collection date, which will be held soon, he said.

YOUNG PICKERS HARVEST CROPS

VICTORY FARM VOLUNTEERS AIDING WAR EFFORT

Canneries Busy With Record Bean Crop; Big Potato Yield Is Anticipated for County

Over 200 Victory Ferm Volunteers in Charlevoix county have already received an armband insignia which officially recognizes their contribution to the war effort by their aid in harvesting farm crops.

These volunteers will later be awarded a certificate signed by the war food administrator, chairman of the war manpower commission and the state extension director.

Dozens of farm helpers are less than 10 years of age, and the majority not over 13. These youngsters are now making it possible for Charlevoix county farmers to harvest the largest crop of beans and cucumbers ever produced locally.

The East Jordan canning factory is receiving for processing approximately 50 tons of beans per day. In terms of money, including both the factory pay roll and money received by farmers for the beans, over $5,000 per day is being paid out in the bean program alone at the East Jordan plant. Reid, Murdoch & Co.'s cannery at Ellsworth is operating on a similar scale.

Approximately 250 women and 100 men are working at the East Jordan factory, where eleven snipping machines are running night and day. Factory officials report that as of August 31, more beans were canned there than for all of last year, with two or three weeks of the canning season remaining.

It is estimated that every day at least 700 adults and children are picking beans and cucumbers in the county. The height of the cucumber picking season is now attained. Daily 3,000 bushels of cucumbers are being picked, and this rate of production will continue for many days.

Another big job of harvesting a fine crop of potatoes is in prospect. Farmers have been spraying potatoes more efficiently than last year. If late blight can be controlled and the present crop outlook is realized, it will take hundreds of Victory Farm Volunteers to harvest this crop.

Charlevoix county citizens can be more than pleased with the contribution made to the war effort by Victory Farm Volunteers.

BELVEDERE CLUB IS NEW RECORD HOLDER

War Bond Sales Rise for Fourth Consecutive Week

For the fourth successive week, previous war bond sales records were broken at the CSO downtown booth when the Belvedere Club sold $5,232.50 for the week ending last Friday.

Blue Star Mothers of America, Charlevoix chapter, are in charge of the booth this week.

Last week's war bond and stamp sales at the Central Drug store were $154.70; at St. Mary's recreation center, $25.00.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

There's six more days in which to get that trout fishin' fever out of your system for thie year. It'e been one of the lengest seasons on record and, according to reporte of conservation department field men, one of the most successful. On that point I'll have to withhold comment, 'cause I didn't get to go very much myself.

Speaking of fishin' reminds mo that I got a letter this week from Pearl Johnson, probably one of our most enthusiastic anglers when he resided here. Pearl and his Missus are still out in Oregon and while they like it there, the tone of their letter would lead one to believe they haven't forgotten what a swell place Charlevoix is, too.

Note where a newspaper which sponsored a spelling contest gave dictionaries to the winners. It seems to me the dictionaries would have done mere good if they had been given to the losers.

A Courier subscriber sends us a clipping from the Flagler Beach, Fla., News-Journal telling about an eight month old New Hampshire Red pullet which laid a four-yolk egg measuring six inches by eight inches in circumference. This particular pullet, whose effort no doubt was prompted by war-mindedness and a desire to do her share, is owned by Postmaster C. E. Ranger, who happens, by the way, to be a brother of our own Rey Ranger. Well, that'e pretty nice going, says I.

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

fli Ken,

Haven't written in u long time so I thought I'd let you know I'm still getting the old town paper every Saturday, for which you have my many thanks.

A word about what we have been doing lately. We are in what the army laughingly calls "third training phase." It is primarily intended to build us into supersupermen but from all noticeable results, it's been almost my undoing. While in basic and later in school, we did nothing more strenuous than stretch out our arm for our pay once a month, and now they have us stretching out arms, legs, necks and care 2 or 3 hours every day in cadence or by the numbers. If you have a bulging waistline from consuming too many ration points, blue or red, come on down Ken, and take a week's schedule with us.

It is something like this: Monday, mild calisthenics from 7 to 9. Such stuff as exercises, double time around a 300-acre field (or maybe it's 30 acres), 300 yard dash in 45 seconds, piggyback race of 75 yards in 20 seconds (if you can, I can't), 33 pushups (my record to date is 17), and all kid stuff like "thut there." Monday afternoons we do the 600 yard obstacle course at double time. Now there is something Ken. It tenches you to go over the back fences when you are after watermelons and stuff and is good training for reaching the counter on bargain days.

Tuesdays we have the same mild warm-up in the morning, followed by a forced march. Only 4½ miles but don't let that fool you. It's on a road paved with pebbles the size of your fist and with full pack (65 lbs.) and a nice Missouri sun at around 98-105 degrees of temperature. No chills. This is to be made in 50 minutes.

Wednesdays we have our regular 30-minute cross country run, and in G. I. shoes you might as well be carrying the kitchen stove. Me and my big feet have a time. Thursdays we take a stroll of about 12 or 13 miles admiring the scenery (which consists of different colored sands and rocks — all red). Fridays they let us off easy with just calisthenics in the morn-

CAN VITAMINS CHANGE
GRAY HAIR?

Read the amazing experience of gray-haired people in Calcium Pantothenate tests sponsored by Good Housekeeping magazine.

According to this report:

Age—did not seem to affect results. The earliest response occurred in a 50 year old; the latest in a 23 year old.

Color—began to appear near the roots of the hair. The color may not appear all over the head at the same time. Symmetrical areas, perhaps on the temples or the back of the head, may show traces of color first, after which the color will spread to other parts of the head.

Time—varied from 1 month to 6 months.

Results—88% of those tested had positive evidence of a return of some hair color.

● Now thousands use GRAYVITA, which contains 10 mgm. of Calcium Pantothenate (the same amount used in tests above) PLUS 450 U. S. P. units of B1, the vitamin necessary to healthy nerves. Try GRAYVITA. See what a difference it may make in the way you look. 30 day supply, $1.50, 100 day supply $4.00. Phone, write

FREE SERVICE STAR CARDS
FOR THE FAMILIES OF SERVICE MEN

Produced in Red, White and Blue
Actual size 6 inches x 9¼ inches.

This space contributed by the Charlevoix Courier as a patriotic service to those who are giving their loved ones to the cause of victory.

This Service Star window card should be seen in every home in America that is represented by a father, husband, son or brother in the Armed Forces of the United States. It emphasizes America's pride in those who are serving our country in time of war.

BLUE, SILVER OR GOLD

The Blue Star indicates service in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps within the boundaries of the United States.

The Silver Star denotes service outside the continental United States, either on the high seas, in the United States possessions, or on foreign soil.

The Gold Star is America's tribute to those who make the supreme sacrifice under the Stars and Stripes in time of war.

You are entitled to display the proper star for each member of your family serving in the Armed Forces of the United States of America. For example, if you are the parent of one boy in camp in the U.S.A., you are entitled to one Blue Star. If you have two sons in service—one in the U.S.A. and one outside the U.S.A.—you are entitled to a Service Star card bearing one Blue Star and one Silver Star.

FUEL OIL RATIONS ARE BEING RENEWED

Consumers Should Return Forms To Ration Board At Once

Fuel oil rations for the coming heating season are computed according to the basic rations issued to users last year, it was stated by L. L. Anderson, district fuel rationing officer for OPA. The current ration does not include auxiliary amounts allowed last year, nor is there a deduction for the amount of oil in the user's storage tank.

The local war price and rationing board is now distributing the new fuel oil ration books containing coupons in two forms, namely: (1) "definite value" and (2) "indefinite value."

The gallonage is shown on the "definite value" coupon by a circled figure, which value is not subject to change. Having no established validity period, this coupon is good for use at any time during the year between October 1 and September 30. It is also used in making "change," in a fuel oil purchase.

The figure on the face of the "indefinite value" coupon indicates a given number of units, and according to Anderson, during "period 1," which started July, 1943, the single unit value is ten gallons. The unit value is subject to change with each heating period.

"Period 5" coupons from last season's rations have a unit value of 11 gallons, and are valid until September 30, 1943.

Consumers who have not returned their renewal form to their local rationing board should do so immediately, in order to assure delivery of fuel oil before cold weather. If the renewal blank has been misplaced, a duplicate may be obtained from the local rationing board.

Michigan Lake Boundary Large

Michigan owns more square miles of surface area on the Great Lakes than any other state. With a total of 38,575 square miles of the Great Lakes under its jurisdiction, Michigan leads all other states in this respect. Wisconsin is second with 16,062 square miles. New York controls 36,627 square miles on the Great Lakes; Ohio, 3,457; Minnesota, 2,212; Illinois, 1,526; Pennsylvania, 735; and Indiana, 228.

Dear Sir,

I thought that I would write a few lines tonight to give you my new address. We moved from Tennessee last Sunday, got here the 19th and it sure has been hot here. We are on the desert right now.

Sure am glad that you send me the Courier, it helps out a lot. Will sign off for this time. Thanks for the paper, sure am glad to get it.

Following is a condensation of letters received by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Livingston, from their son, Pvt. Robert Livingston, who is with American troops in Sicily. Bob was in North Africa for some time before the invasion of Sicily.

June 7

Dear Mother and Dad,

I hope you will excuse me for not writing sooner, I really am sorry that I haven't taken more time for letters, for now the African campaign has been over for some time, I have only been allowed one letter at a time, so I can't write to everyone at one time.

I am o.k. and healthy from my past experiences, which if you had followed the movements of the allied forces in Africa you probably know just whereabouts I had been such as Gafsa, El Guettar, Motour, Beja, and other places along the allied front. For my part, I have seen enough of this war but we are not through by a long ways yet.

You asked me if I have been in some of the cities here. I have been in a number of the big ones, but not in Casablanca. I cannot mention the names but you can make a good guess as to which ones I have been in. They are pretty nice cities at that, the girls are really pretty over here. Maybe you have heard that North Africa has the most beautiful women in the world, well, I am commencing to believe it.

How is everything at home? Is the garden all planted yet? Would like to have some of the tomatoes and carrots, and some corn on the cob. We really miss those things over here, but we do get pretty good food in town.

Dear Folks,

If you don't already know of my whereabouts, you probably haven't been keeping up on the 1st Division. I am in Sicily now and am o.k. so far. How is everything at home? I sure am getting tired of all this fighting and would like to be home.

I did not take advantage of writing sooner, so am letting you know now that everything is going pretty smoothly, hope you don't worry too much. We landed here on the tenth of July, as you probably know. The news is looking very much better and favorable for us all along now, and may not be so very long until I may come marching home, I hope.

Love,
Bob.

In writing his thank for the $10 first prize in a recent St. Mary's recreation center service men's contest, Pvt. Jay Oliver says:

"I have been overseas since November, 1942. I am in the registrar's office of this station hospital, and I am getting along fine. Persia, as you already know, is a ancient country and every day I realize more and more what a wonderful country our United States is. There just isn't any comparison, and I'm longing for "Charlevoix the Beautiful" most of all.

"I have met a number of American missionaries here, among them a Catholic priest from Boston, Mass. (I am sorry, I cannot reveal his name), who has been here 20 years, converting the Persians into Christianity. I attended a lecture he gave on the customs of these people, which was interesting as well as startling. The most outstanding revelation of his lecture was the fact that this country has a history, recorded and preserved, 6,000 years old. I was ill in March and he came to see me, which was a tonic.

"Some day I hope to tell you about my life over here. After the war our position in Persia will be world famous, but right now I can't discuss our activities due to censorship, so I'll say au revoir until we meet again.

Sincerely,
Jay J. Oliver."

Dear Ken,

Just a note to let you know that I'm still alive, and that I'm still in Texas. It's just as hot as it was when I left it. I got back in camp on time and found it still struggling along. My motorcycle was in good shape, even better than I left it.

Before I came home on my furlough my folks all wrote about how quiet and peaceful it was. They also told me about the rains they were getting. While I was home, I found things quite different. First the army plane crashed and then to top that off, my Dad's car takes a notion to take its bath. I had just about decided by that time I had seen enough and almost started back before my time was up. Then the last day before I left, we got up at 5 a.m. to go swimming and I thought I would freeze. After all the excitement and the nice visits I had with the citizens of Charlevoix, I was ready to settle down to the quiet ways of the army and also the heat of Texas.

I have been getting the Couriers regularly and sure enjoy every bit of them. It's sure nice of the people who are responsible for making it possible for us to get them, and I sure want to thank them. I close now and am in hopes of getting another furlough.

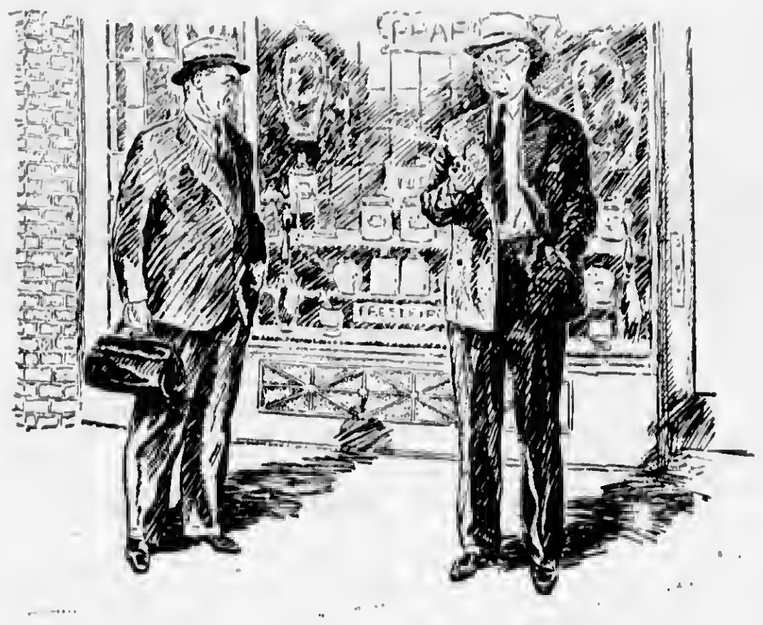
THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...



"Good morning, Doc. Your good wife tells me you're working night and day now that so many of the younger doctors are in the army."

"That's right, Judge, and I'm glad I'm still able to do it. Had a long letter from Harry... that bright young fellow I was breakin' in to take over my practice. He said the boys in the service are getting the best medical care of any armed force in our history. They really should with all those brilliant doctors and plenty of supplies to work with."

"Speaking of supplies, Doc, not many people realize that a large part of the war-alcohol required to make the medical supplies that are being used right this minute to alleviate pain, combat infection and save human lives, is produced by the beverage distilling industry. This entire industry stopped making whiskey months ago and has been working night and day producing nothing but war-alcohol."

"Nobody knows better than I, Judge, what an important contribution to our war effort that really is."

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

We were sittin' on Bill Webster's back porch Saturday complaining of the heat.

"Reckon this is the hottest day on record," Homer Bentley observes. "And the thirstiest," says Bill, taklag a long draaght of buttermilk.

That got us on the subject of thirst-quenchers—and Bill allowed as how nothing was as cooling as a tall, cold glass of buttermilk. Thad Phibbs and I both voted for a glass o' cool refreshing beer. Dan Miles said he'd take iced tea, "with a sprig o' mint in it."

"Anyway," says Bill, "we all got a right to our own tastes . . . and that ought to leave everybody happy."

And from where I sit, Bill's right. It's a small point of course—but tolerance of what the other fellow likes—and his right to enjoy it—whether it's buttermilk or beer—is the important thing in any argument.

ing because we always have a G. I. party Friday nights. This is real fun. So simple a child could do it. All you do is throw a little water on the floor and with a good stiff brush and some G. Saturday is the big day. That is the time for the brass-hats to come to the barracks and walk up and down admiring the strong, athletic men they have produced. They also look out of the corner of their eye, sort of, for a slight speck of dust on something so they can "gig" the company for extra calisthenics.

Sundays we sleep real late and get up leisurely at 6:30 for chow and roll call, and then we are free until Monday morning again. Of course in between times we go to school to keep up our code speed. You can sleep in a chair, I've found, and still keep on typing.

Most of the fellows have lost a little weight since we came here to take this course. They are all a resemblance of "Snuffy Smith." The worst thing, though, is the heat. It sure has been hot the last month. At a Second Army review the other day, sixteen fellows passed out with heat fatigue, of course they were just kids and hadn't had the physical training we've had. We'd probably pass out too, but we are so numb we can't fall down.

I guess I've made it sound pretty bad, Ken, and it really isn't quite true. We've had some tough days, I'll admit, and more than once I thought I'd have to drop out of some hike or something, but I stuck it out and I really feel swell. They have some real exercises in this course, but they are all for a purpose and given half a chance, they will work wonders. I eat like a horse, sleep good and have actually gained a little weight, but the old belly is gone. They don't play around or do much kidding with this stuff and they really get results. Who knows maybe they'll make a man of me yet?

Well Ken, I've got to go to bed and get rested for tomorrow. It's the 100-yard crawl under machine gun fire. Such fun, eh?

Yours,
Keith

Dear Ken,

I've sure been a long time writing this letter. Before I've always managed to find an excuse, but today is Sunday and no work, and I've already had my little sleep this afternoon.

I guess you might call this hunter's paradise over here. They have lots of deer and you can hunt them any time you like. You don't have any number on your back, either. All's free.

I never had any luck yet. I've seen some nice catches of tuna, they weigh around 25 pounds. Sure is great sport catching them. But when this war is over, I will gladly give it up for one look at home.

I don't have much space left, so I want to thank everyone who makes it possible for me to receive the home town "scandal sheet." I sure enjoy it very much, and so do the other four fellows who sleep here with me. Hoping this finds everything and everyone in Charlevoix o. k., till next time keep that paper rolling, it means a lot.

Jake G. White,

Dear Ken,

While having a little time off—mind you, I said a little time off—I'll do what I have been trying to do for quite some time, and that is to thank you for my paper.

It sure is nice to see where some of the boys are from, but by the looks of things we have the world covered very well just with boys from the old home town. My only regret is that I am not with them and I guess there is not much use of me worrying about getting into combat duty, as I have tried just about everything to get overseas duty, but I am still in Texas. The army puts a man where they want them and you stay there.

Just a line to the boys overseas—you are doing a swell job, boys, and we are proud of you. I hope to hear from some of you. Will close now, thanking you again for the paper.

Just a home town boy,
Tubby.

Dear Ken,

I am taking this opportunity to write and thank you for sending the Courier to me and to show my appreciation.

I have received several copies of the paper which I enjoyd very much, as there is always some local news of interest to me. I sure miss the cool waters of our beautiful lakes up there, the fishing, and of course my family and many friends.

We have not seen any active combat duty yet but have been through a lot of intensive training and covered many miles at sea. We have put in at many great naval yards and bases, and have seen some interesting sights.

I will sign off now, and hope to be seeing the folks up there again before too long and to enjoy the hospitality and beauties of Charlevoix once more.

Your friend,
Frank A. Noonan

Dear Sir:

Please address the Courier to my new address. I've been getting the paper lately, and thanks a million.

Yours truly,

Dear Sir,

Since I started receiving the Courier, I have been quite ashamed of myself for not writing and letting you know how swell it seemed to hear from Charlevoix. At the time nothing could have been better. I was stationed in Stillwater, Okla., in the midst of its dry season. I used to have visions of Lake Michigan and Charlevoix in general. Hearing from there via the Courier was almost as fine a substitute for one of those fresh lake breezes as could be found. My roommates even enjoyed acquainting themselves with Charlevoix. They were from Pittsburg and Connecticut. We used to exchange home town papers.

After not hearing from all of those we went to school with way back when, the Courier also served to set my mind at rest when wondering where everyone was.

After training in Stillwater, I was sent to Chicago from where I was assigned to Milwaukee. I am stationed here in the Spar recruiting office. It is proving very interesting.

This will let you know my change of address and also how good it has seemed getting the Courier. My thanks to the CSO.

Dear Ken,

I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to you, for having taken the time and effort to send me your fine paper these past months. Though I no longer reside in Charlevoix, I am well acquainted with a good share of the boys in and around Charlevoix. Your Courier affords me with that chance to find where your boys are and what they're doing. The many other interesting news items enclosed within also provide for many welcomed hours of relaxation.

You may wonder what I am doing in Kentucky. Frankly, I haven't the authority to be very detailed as to my activities here, but of course there are a few things I can say.

Last December I enlisted in the signal corps and promptly received orders to report in Chicago. From there I was, with a hundred Sixth Corps boys, sent to Paducah, Ky., where we were to attend radio school. Though we disliked the town at first, it eventually emerged as a rather pleasant place. My brief stay proved to be quite enjoyable. After three months of schooling in Paducah we were transferred to Lexington, where we were to spend five and a half months more of intensive schooling. The schooling we've been given consisted of a detailed study of radio. The work is very confidential. We were not allowed to take our books out of school nor to carry on discussions, out of school, which pertained to our work. Our equipment is of the very latest type, as yet unknown to the general public. Having completed my schooling, I am now at home awaiting further orders from the signal corps. When they arrive I shall know where I am to be sent, which for the present it a mystery even to me.

Again I offer by hearty thanks for sending so regularly the Charlevoix Courier.

Sincerely yours,
Allen Sterritt
Twin Lake, Mich.

Dear Ken,

I'm sorry I did not give you a change of address sooner, but we left camp sometime sooner than we were scheduled for, so I would appreciate it very much if you would continue to send my paper to this new address.

The weather here is extremely hot but I guess that is to be expected. I can't tell you much about this camp, or tent city, as we know it, as we have only recently arrived. Will write you more about it later.

Pfc. Guy J. John

Dear Ken,

Seeing as it has been some time since I have written, I shall write and thank you and the CSO for the Courier and give you my new address. I have received the Courier regularly every week and I sure enjoy reading about what everyone is doing in the old home town. Thanks again to the CSO for making it possible for us to receive "the best little paper in the world."

I left Norfolk last week and I am now stationed at the Glynco naval air station here in Georgia. Our 22 piece band, which included our bandmaster, was transferred here in a unit. In Norfolk there were two bands at our station, seeing as two bands weren't needed, the new band was transferred.

We are waiting for new instruments now. We shall be very busy after they arrive. The captain has arranged a schedule which includes "colors" in the morning, also a half-hour concert. In the afternoon we play "quarters" and another half-hour concert besides an hour concert at noon. At night we shall have to play concerts and dances both on and off the station. In our spare time we shall rehearse both concert and dance music.

I was fortunate enough to get a ten-day leave last month. On my way home (to Detroit) I met Ned Wagner on the train, he was also going home. It was quite a coincidence. I was very disappointed that I couldn't get up home, but due to the short time I had, it was impossible.

I shall have to close now as it is nearing time for afternoon muster. To all my friends at home and in the service, good luck.

Will Allies Strike on Third Front?

If the second front in Europe is to be further developed or a third front opened, the blow or blows may descend from several possible directions. Dover, England, is only 20 miles from Calais, France. Southampton is 60 miles from Cherbourg, and Wick, Scotland, is 365 miles from mid-Norway.

"Sis asked me to tell you!"

"My kid sister's a long distance telephone operator. She says there are so many calls these days that lots of the lines are 'overloaded.'

"At the base I just left down in the South Pacific, we knew about 'overloads.' We had a lot of doctors and nurses and beds, but sometimes after a big scrap, there'd be so many to take care of at one time that some of those boys would just have to wait their turn.

"Sis says the telephone's like that, too; that your long distance call today may delay another call that is even more urgent than your own."

COAST GUARDS GET QUIZ PROGRAM GIFT

Cigarettes Sent Local Station by R. J. Reynolds Co.

Thirty cartons of Camel cigarettes were received last week by the Charlevoix coast guard station from the radio quiz program, "Thanks to the Yanks."

Sponsored by the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., the program offers cartons of cigarettes as prizes to the contestants. Each winning contestant sends his carton to an individual service man, while the combined prizes of the losers are placed in the "duffel bag" to be sent to different armed service posts. The Charlevoix station was selected to receive the "duffel bag" on Friday, August 13th.

Michigan Births Increase

Births in Michigan this year are expected to exceed 123,000 on the basis of the 61,628 total for the six-month period ending with June but muy not reach the all-time high of 124,069 reported for 1942 by the Michigan Department of Health.

There are only 25,500 street cars in the U. S. and less than 10,000 elevated and subway cars.

Helena Survivors After Kula Gulf Battle

The USS Helena, a cruiser, helped sink two Japanese cruisers and three destroyers during a naval battle in the Kula gulf, but was sent to the bottom while "watching on another" destroyer, according to her captain, Charles Purcell Cecil. Total enemy losses were five destroyers and four light cruisers. Survivors of the Helena are shown answering roll call after the battle.

LANSING LETTER

Cents and sentiment do mix.

Take Henry Ford of Dearborn, for instance.

He is the central figure of this tale about two lumber villages in Michigan, now being revived for war work.

Here is Michigan's most astute manufacturer, a genius of mass production and the inventor of the famed Model T "tin lizzy" whose name has been a household word in American homes for nearly two generations. Here is the doctrinaire of "more and cheaper goods" the industrialist who established a $5 minimum daily wage in 1912, and who, until the recent advent of the U.A.W.-C.I.O., fixed wages and working conditions on a basis of "take it or leave it" with ever increasing prosperity for himself and ever mounting wages for his employees.

Henry Ford at 80 is again the millionaire commander-in-chief of a war industry whose self-sustained operations extend far and whose size is breathlessly gargantuan.

Here also is probably Michigan's outstanding sentimentalist, a man whose devotion to the ideal of old-fashioned, simple living was the inspiration for his Edison Museum and Greenfield collection of Americana, a devotion which is only exceeded by his fondness of children.

We became convinced of the latter distinction recently when we visited a little lumber village of Pequaming, five miles north of L'Anse on the Keweenaw Bay route to the Huron mountains where Ford has been spending his 1943 vacation.

Thanks to Henry Ford, a few remaining families at Pequaming and Alberta are smiling. Homes are being re-opened. Children will go to school again. And smoke will pour from the mill stacks.

The historic town of L'Anse, whose site was a campground 200 years ago for French explorers and missionaries, has two satellite villages—Pequaming and Alberta.

Alberta is better known to travelers, for it was created by Ford in 1936 amid a heavy hardwood forest 10 miles east of L'Anse as an industrial experiment. Those of you who motored in pre-war days over U.S.41 between Marquette and L'Anse will remember your surprise and pleasure when you turned a curve in the scenic road and beheld a picturesque, modern community—white-painted sawmill, neat and trim cottages, a schoolhouse and firehouse, and all this with boulevard lights and fine drinking water and even sewage disposal.

We say "pre-war" days because one dark winter morning, after Pearl Harbor, an order arrived from Dearborn to cease operations. Overnight the town became deserted. Windows of the cottages were boarded up.

When we visited Pequaming the other day, men were cutting hay along the streets and on the lawns of unoccupied homes and the closed school. Pequaming is an Indian word for wooded peninsula, and such it actually is, a mushroom-like jetting of land, swept by breezes from Keweenaw Bay.

Henry Ford had been there the week before. Unaccompanied by company executives except for his personal chauffeur, the head of the industrial empire talked with the caretaker and a few of the remaining townspeople. Only 12 out of 74 dwellings were occupied.

He was told that the Pequaming school, which had been a source of considerable pride and satisfaction to him because of its unique rustic furniture, was only a shell of walls and floors. The rustic furniture had been sold to company executives from Iron Mountain and elsewhere.

Ford declined to enter the building, saying that he preferred to remember it as it was with the sound of children's voices.

Oscar Olson, his prize fiddler who plays for old-time square dances, was in L'Anse when the industrialist arrived unheralded from his Huron Mountain summer lodge where he spends August each year.

We met Olson at the steps of the village postoffice. He was smoking a pipe, stolidly. He spoke affectionately first of the founder of Pequaming, Charles Hebard.

"Yus, I worked for Yarley Hebard," he said, referring to the Englishman lumberman who laid out the community with wide streets and oak trees, like an English suburban town. "The guv'nor was mighty good to us. Ve allus had a yob."

Olson related how the "guv'nor," who ruled the town benevolently like a feudal lord, provided rent-free homes and free water and light and would even "stake" a hard-pressed family with food from his general store until the mill resumed operations or logging work started again. Hubard erected the Union Church building, along Gothic lines, and he attended worship services with the mill hands, an informal friendliness which everyone liked and remembered.

Hubard's son carried on the work for a while, but in 1922 the Ford Motor Company located at L'Anse and the next year it acquired Pequaming along with approximately 500,000 acres of timber land in Baraga county. Big business had arrived.

For many years the Pequaming folk looked to "Governor" Hebard for security of employment. Then a big corporation, backed by multi-millions, became their employer. The workmen thought they had steady jobs for the remainder of their useful days. In old age a retired worker could always fish and trap and grow a few vegetables while enterprising, God-fearing sons and daughters kept the home fires burning.

The shingle-sided cottages resounded with laughter of children, and the modern school had its square dance music led by Oscar Olson, a "supervisor of music," thank you, who now composed his own fiddling numbers. The children delighted Henry Ford on many an occasion by their skill of intricate dance steps.

All this was changed when efficiency experts at Dearborn, influenced perhaps by a few heartless and ruthless executives, decided last year to close down Pequaming and Alberta. The workers could hardly believe the news, but they knew new things might be expected because of the war.

Veteran employees, who enjoyed high seniority rights, were transferred to L'Anse. Confusion was inevitable, but strangely enough, the Pequaming and Alberta families blamed "company politics" for their troubles and they clung to a strange and abiding faith in their former boss, Mr. Ford. Fiddling Oscar Olson, typical of these, said proudly that Ford had "asked" about him on his recent August visit. And the mill superintendent at Pequaming beamed with happiness as he told us how Ford had extended his hand for a friendly greeting. "I never thought I would shake hands with Henry Ford," he said.

The town newspaper editor, M. G. Menge of the L'Anse Sentinel, is merely "lllll" when Henry Ford of Dearborn comes to town. Henry is just that way to people whom he likes.

To the Swedes and Norwegians and Finns of Pequaming and Alberta, the flivver king is still their friend. After he visited Alberta, a town which was entirely his own creation, Ford instructed his new Upper Peninsula superintendent, Leo Gannon from Bay City, to reopen the mill at once. Telegrams were sent that same day to families, some of them living in Detroit, urging them to return north. Pequaming is next for re-opening.

And when the families do return, as they will of course, it will be solely because Henry Ford is a person of old-fashioned sentiment. He is a man of his word, and the Pequaming and Alberta workers know it.

NEW GAS COUPONS AID TO RATIONING

Approximately 400 New Books To Be Issued By Local Board

Approximately 400 new "B" and "C" gasoline ration books will have to be issued by the local war price and rationing board prior to September 1st, when many present books will expire.

Three important objectives will be gained by use of the new type of supplemental coupon which will replace present books. The rationing program will be tightened by rendering useless the stolen, illegally-held and counterfeit coupons of the old type now circulating in the black market. Dealers throughout the country will have to handle only one type of each class of coupon. The new coupons provide space on the front for license numbers and state of registration of the vehicle for which rations were issued, eliminating necessity for writing on backs of the coupons and making coupon-checking easier for dealers.

When new supplemental ration books are issued, non-preferred mileage will be cut from 720 to 480 miles per month. Only those drivers whose work is deemed essential will be granted more than this amount.

COMMUNICATION

Dear Sir;

Was just reading this week's Courier and in your news of 25 years ago was an item: "Miss Eva Crann has gone to Camp Custer." That issue of the Courier of 25 years ago must have been the one Dr. Bill Mitchell and several Charlevoix boys must have had the day I met Billy in Reamicourt, France, on the street in the town where my base hospital was located. Billy told me he'd just been to a town where several Charlevoix boys had been reading the paper about my going to Camp Custer, and made the remark "Wouldn't it be odd if we met Eva in France?" He came directly back to his outfit and met me on the street, as he was stationed only about a quarter of a mile from our base hospital 64.

I didn't see him again for about 12 years, as I was living in New Mexico. We came up to Charlevoix and as I had a bad tooth, made an appointment with Billy. He had only been telling his office girl the day before how he met me in France, and then I walked in his office after 12 years.

I hope your paper gets around as well in this war as it did in World War I.

Yours very truly,
Eva Crann Donnell

MICHIGAN IS THIRD IN NUMBER DUCK HUNTERS

Michigan ranks third among the 48 states in the sale of federal duck hunting stamps, Michigan selling 103,798 stamps in 1941, was topped only by California and Minnesota. Records of stamp sales show a steady increase in the numbers of Michigan duck hunters from 1935, when sales hit a low point of 74,796, to 1941, when almost 104,000 stamps were sold.

Engineers Hit the Enemy First

"American forces have landed at ——." Behind this commonplace phrase lies months of training and preparation on the part of the amphibious engineers—the first troops to land in an assault on enemy shores. The engineers are a streamlined unit thoroughly trained in the operation of small boats and in the demolition of enemy defenses. Most of the men picked for this service were small boat operators, boat-builders and fishermen in civilian life. They are now the vanguards of attacking U. S. forces.

Landing techniques are demonstrated by soldiers at Camp Johnston, Florida, where amphibious engineer units are trained by a staff commanded by Brigadier General David A. Ogden. Above, a craft has been beached. The engineers run to their objectives, usually barbed wire entanglements, pillboxes, or other obstacles to successful landing of attack troops and heavier equipment which follow the engineers. A new technique in climbing over barbed wire entanglements is shown at right. Some of the men form a ladder of rifles on which those following quickly climb and hurry on to their objectives.

As bullets whine and charges explode amphibious engineers make a landing to establish a beachhead during maneuvers. Note the explosion at right center nearly concealing the landing boat.

Success of American landing operations were brilliantly shown when the Japs were swept from the Aleutian island of Attu. Above, two members of the navy shore patrol aid in pulling an ammunition cart over a ridge on Attu. Lower left, an American soldier studies Japanese graves on Attu—the end of most of the Japs who resisted Americans in this sector. Very few Japs were captured.

A loud speaker is used to carry instructions to a landing boat at Attu. The Attu campaign was a combined army and navy operation.

CHATTERER FRIGHTENS SAMMY JAY

CHATTERER, THE RED SQUIRREL was tickled mightily with himself—yea, sir, he was tickled mightily with himself. You see, he had found a way of getting into Farmer Brown's cornerib where was stored so much beautiful yellow corn that it seemed to him that there was enough for all the squirrels in the world. All he had to do was to go up to Farmer Brown's dooryard very early in the morning, before Farmer Brown's Boy was up, climb the tree with the branch hanging low over the cornerib, drop down on the roof and slip through the hole he had found close under one edge of the roof.

Now the more some people have the more they want. It is the very worst kind of selfishness and is called greediness. Chatterer had found a way to get all the corn he wanted without working for it, and there was enough to feed him as long as he lived, though he should live to be a hundred years old. To be sure, it wasn't his. It was Farmer Brown's. But Chatterer looked on Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's Boy as his enemies, and he could see nothing wrong in taking things from his enemies. Perhaps he didn't want to see anything wrong.

After Chatterer had made a few successful trips to the cornerib, he began to look upon it as his own. He would sometimes hide in the old stone wall, where he could watch Farmer Brown's Boy open the door of the cornerib and fill a basket with yellow ears to feed to the hens and the pigs and the horses. At such times Chatterer would work himself into a great rage, as if Farmer Brown's Boy was stealing from him. But there was nothing he could do about it, so he would go back to the Old Orchard and scold for an hour. But what made him still angrier was to see Sammy Jay help himself to a few grains of corn from between the cracks in the walls of the cornerib. He forgot how Sammy had first told him about the cornerib, and how Sammy had warned him about Shadow the Weasel. That is the trouble with greed—it forgets everything but the desire to have and to keep others from having. Chatterer didn't say anything to Sammy Jay, because he knew it would be of no use. Besides, if he did, Sammy might find him over in the cornerib some day and make such a fuss that Farmer Brown's Boy would find him.

Finally, Chatterer thought of a plan and chuckled wickedly. The next morning he was over in the cornerib bright and early. This time he stayed there until it was time for Sammy Jay to arrive. Peeping out of the hole by which he came and went, he saw Sammy come flying from the Old Orchard. Sammy made no noise, for, you see, Sammy meant to steal, too. Presently Sammy found a crack against which an ear of corn lay very close. He began to peck at it and pick out the grains. Chatterer stole over to it, taking the greatest care not to make a sound. Presently Sammy's black bill came poking through the crack. Chatterer seized it and held on.

Poor Sammy Jay! He was terribly frightened. He thought that it was some kind of a trap. He beat his wings and tried to scream, but couldn't because he couldn't open his mouth. Then Chatterer let go so suddenly that Sammy almost fell to the ground before he could catch his balance. He didn't wait to see what had caught him. He started for the Green Forest as fast as his wings could take him, and as he went he screamed with fright and anger. Chatterer chuckled and his chuckle was a very wicked-sounding chuckle.

"I guess," said Chatterer, "that Sammy Jay will leave my corn alone after this."

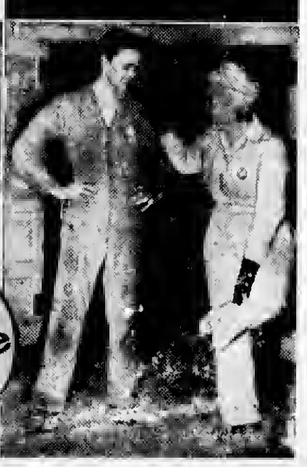
Making Gunpowder Dangerous; Yet Safer Than Taking a Bath

Making gunpowder has been called the most dangerous job in the world. Yet there is a higher percentage of accidents in home bathrooms than in plants where death to the Axis is cooked like macaroni. A glance at one plant in the southern Appalachian mountains will explain this paradox.

Every worker is carefully searched on entering the plant, which itself is separated into many units so that one unit can blow up without taking the others with it. A worker caught carrying a safety match inside the plant is suspended for two weeks. Anyone found with an ordinary kitchen match is dismissed. Hundreds of signs remind workers of how close they can be to eternity.

Here is made much of our smokeless powder which is the propellant that drives the shell containing the explosive.

This slide is not for recreational purposes. It is an emergency exit chute. There are several of these chutes throughout the plant spaced only a few yards apart. All can be reached by workers in a few seconds. A plant worker demonstrates a quick departure.



As no matches are allowed, the management provides an electric lighter in the one place smoking is allowed—the "bull pen."

Workers' shoes are made so that there is no danger of striking a spark. Soles and heels are glued on. Coveralls are fire-proofed.

The basic ingredient of smokeless powder is usually short-fibered cotton, or woodpulp.

When cotton is used it is mixed with acids in the nitrator house. Then it flows like a stream of froth to the boiling tub house. In this form it is known as "nitro-cellulose slurry." After several more changes the cotton looks like macaroni. In the last process the strands of smokeless powder are snipped into various lengths for different caliber shells.

Above: Raw cotton at the start of its death dealing transformation. Left: Nearing the macaroni stage, the strands are forced through this press to get them even and smooth.

A ballistics technician is shown at right ready to fire a shell to test the projectile's velocity, hence the efficacy of the new powder. A wire, finer than a human hair, is stretched across the framework and another target, set a distance away, is also wired. The time shell takes to travel between the two targets is electrically recorded by the wires.

REGISTRANTS MUST REPORT TO BOARD

Changes of Address, Occupation Are Necessery Information

The Charlevoix county selective service board urgently requests all registrants with the board to report at once their change of address and occupation.

While registronts havo been raquired to report changes of address since beginning of the draft system, reporting change of occupation has not been imperative. However, as the number of ramaining registronts is small, a man's indaction will depend largely on whether he is in an essential occupation.

Newspopers have recently published new lists of non-deferable occupations, many of which were not previously listed. The draft board has this list available to all registrants who desira information on the subject.

COUNTY PICNIC A FINE AFFAIR

ATTENDANCE IS EXCELLENT DESPITE WEATHER

Entertainment Program Enjoyed; First Place Winners in Exhibits Announced

An estimated 1,500 people attended the 21st annual Charlevoix county Labor Day picnic at Whiting Park, a record attendance despite rain which threatened to spoil the day's activities.

All exhibits of stock, garden produce and canning appeared even finer in quality than in previous years, although the livestock exhibit was reduced because of the inclement weather.

Dallas Henry, of Charlevoix, served as master of ceremonies for the afternoon's program including foot races for both boys and girls, and baseball game between Boyne City and East Jordan Rotary clubs, in which Boyne City was victor by a score of 16-14. First prize in the amateur show went to the Charlevoices Trio, Mrs. Charles Bellinger, Mrs. Clair Webster and Mrs. E. D. Hawley; second prize to Jack Corman, of Boyne City, for impersonations and imitations; third place to the Bentley Hill Hillbillies, of Ellsworth.

Wilson MacDonald, of Petoskey, spoke of progress of the milkweed processing plant located in that city, and explained the milkweed pod collection program to start soon throughout this area.

Judges of exhibits were Kenneth Leekrone, Boyne City, 4-H club stock and gardens; Jayne Peterson, Boyne City, 4-H club canning and food preparation; L. B. Karr, East Jordan, assisted by Mrs. Maude Kightlinger, Boyne City, adult gardens and flower exhibits. Ten victory garden certificates were awarded.

Adult Garden Exhibit

Mrs. Ed. Berlin, Boyne City, won blue awards for her exhibits of string beans, summer squash, carrots, parsnips, onions, and carried off the prize for the best collection of vegetables. Other winners were: Mrs. Everett Crein, Charlevoix, tomatoes, cabbage, spaghetti squash, cushan pumpkins, broccoli; George Ferris, hubbard squash, muskmelons, watermelons, pumpkins; William

YOUTHS OF 17 URGED ENLIST IN NAVY NOW

Recruiter at Petoskey City Hall Fridays During September

Popularity of the navy among 17-year-olds is evidenced by the fact that between 150 and 200 Michigan youths of that age are joining the service each week.

Quotas are unlimited for the enlistment of 17-year-olds. These young men are urged to join the navy before they become 18 and lose the right to choose their branch of service. The navy's earn-while-you-learn program enables men to receive valuable training in 49 different trades and professions, fitting them for good paying jobs after the war.

Information on enlistment for 17-year-olds, Waves and Seabees may be obtained from a naval recruiting officer who will be at the city hall in Petoskey every Friday during the month of September, or from the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Room 6, Post Office Building, Traverse City, Mich., phone 535.

FOURTEEN MEN ENTER SERVICE

PASSED EXAMINATION AT DETROIT STATION

Eleven in Army; Three to Navy; One Qualifies for Flying Cadet in Air Corps

Examined at the Detroit induction station last Wednesday, 14 Charlevoix county men passed examinations and were accepted for service in the army and navy.

Passing army examinations were: Ervin George Rncignol, Ralph Hofmon, Robert J. Plumm, of Charlevoix; Phillip Karl Fisher, John Brandt Smith, Russell Gale Conway, of East Jordon; Paul Joseph Sheponski, Milton Harold Brown, Casimir Valentine Mackowiak, of Boyne City; Gale Douglas Denise, of Boyne Falls.

Robert Doane Miller, of Charlevoix, qualified as a flying cadet in the army air corps.

Entering the navy were: Peter Joseph McCafferty, of Charlevoix; Harold Evert Moore, of East Jordan; Lyman Leo Short, of Boyne City.

Those who were accepted in the navy left Tuesday for Detroit for transfer to Great Lakes naval training station. Men inducted into the army will have the customary 21-day furlough, leaving here Wednesday, September 22, at 9:05 a. m. by bus for Fort Custer.

A Substitute for Hell

Somewhere in New Guinea these wounded soldiers await evacuation. Flat on their backs, in the steaming heat of the jungle, where mosquitoes plague the air and ants and mosquitoes torment weary bodies, they dream of home . . . of clean white sheets and the touch of cool, comforting hands. You can help provide modern hospitals and the medicines they need for their remperation by putting every dollar you can into War Bonds during the Third War Loan.

CHRISTMAS MAILING SEASON APPROACHES

Parcels to Army, Navy Personnel Sent After September 15

Mailing of Christmas gifts for army and navy personnel overseas must begin by September 15, less than two weeks hence. Gifts may be sent parcel post to army men and women in foreign lands only between September 15 and October 15 under special rules made by the post office department.

A gift parcel for a soldier must not exceed five pounds, and must not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined. It should be marked "Christmas parcel" so that it may be given special attention to assure its arrival before December 25.

Not more than one parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed forces by, or in behalf of, the same mailer.

The parcel must be well and strongly packed, in a container of metal, wood, strong fiber board, or similar material, then wrapped in strong paper and tied with twine. The cover should be such that it can be readily opened for censorship. Contents should be packed tightly. Perishable goods are prohibited, as are intoxicants, inflammable materials such as matches or lighter fluids.

CLASSES STARTED IN RURAL SCHOOLS

Two Teachers Are Yet Needed for 1943-44 Term

All but two of Charlevoix county's rural schools have secured teachers for the 1943-44 term, according to William C. Palmer, county school commissioner.

Horton Bay and Hetrick schools are as yet without instructors, but it is hoped soon to fill these positions. Most of the schools in the county have started classes.

Teachers in rural and village schools are: North Bay, Erdina Skurnie; Chandler, Zella Stewart; Ironton, Elizabeth Trimble; Murray, Nathan Burgett; Maple Grove, Ruth Hair; Bay Shore, Ruby Stueck; Burgoss, Hazel Evers; Barnard, Elizabeth Dhnsoleer; Marion Contor, Glenn Snider; Melrose, Edna Bacon and Irma Gibbs; Walloon Lake, Audrey Miller and Msyme Scraggie; Narwood, Mrs. W. Cornett; Clarke, Anna Warner; McGaagh, Bessia Coleman; Ranney, Ina Gilkerson.

Teachers on Beaver Island are: Sunnyside, Sr. Mary Rona; McKinley, Srs. Mary Thea, Mary Gilbert, Agnes Clare, and Mary Lois.

THIRD WAR LOAN STARTS THURSDAY

FIRST BONDS PURCHASED BY HARRY BLOCH

Summer Resident Gives Campaign Splendid Start With His $120,000 Investment

Impetus to the third War Loan drive was furnished this week when Harry Bloch, of New York City and Charlevoix, made a purchase of $120,000 in war bonds.

Mr. Bloch, having two sons in service, made the investment as a tribute to the many Charlevoix boys who have joined the armed forces and particularly to George Cline, Albert McMillan and Charles Richardson, who have so heroically paid the supreme sacrifice as their investment in America's freedom and future security.

Charlevoix county's quota in the third War Loan is $420,000. Ordinarily the county is divided into three parts — Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan—each assuming a proportionate share but, as Mr. Bloch has purchased approximately one-third of the entire quota, it is thought best to figure each city's goal at about $100,000.

Julius Gilbert, associate deputy state administrator, and Robert Bridge, city chairman of the war finance committee, have warned that there must be no relaxation in the terrific job ahead merely because we have such a magnificent start. Mr. Gilbert said: "If we succeed, as we know we will, it will be a splendid achievement following so closely the culmination of the bomber campaign."

The entire country must raise $15,000,000,000 — that's fifteen billion dollars. The tide of battle has turned. Investors are not asked to buy Defense Bonds—these are Invasion Bonds— and invasion costs money. Every American is asked to buy until it hurts, and then buy another bond in this month of September. It is his great opportunity to help support the invasion—not with blood, not even with a gift, but just by making the safest investment in the world today.

At noon today, reports show additional purchases totaling $18,400.

MRS. MARY MCCABE IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Funeral September 1 for Former Beaver Island Resident

Funeral services were held last Wednesday in Park Ridge, Ill., for Mrs. Mary McCabe, widow of John McCabe, former Beaver Island resident.

Mrs. McCabe was the former Mary Greene, of Beaver Island. She is survived by two sons, Leland and Owen, three daughters, Mrs. James C. Moreland, Mrs. Roy L. Stanger, Mrs. Andrew H. Gallagher, a sister, Mrs. Ava Smith, and 12 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, September 1, at 9:30 a. m. from the residence of Mrs. Andrew R. Gallagher, 1519 Vine avenue, Park Ridge, Ill., to St. Paul's of the Cross church. Burial was at St. Mary's cemetery, Techny, Ill.

AVIATION CADETS ARE WANTED IN AIR CORPS

Men of 17 to 26 May Select This Branch of Service

Training in the army air corps as aviation cadets (air crews) is open to all men between the ages of 17 and 26, inclusive, married or single, who have been citizens of the United States for ten years and are mentally, morally and physically qualified.

Applicants in the 17-year-old age classification must have parent's consent blanks, signed by at least one parent and notarized. They will be called into active service as they become eighteen, or upon completion of their current scholastic terms, but in no event later than the sixth month following their 18th birthday.

Applicants 18 to 26 years old must have a letter from their local selective service board, stating that the applicant has not been ordered for induction and that he is not employed in any occupation pertaining to the war effort.

Upon induction, the applicant will be assigned to a technical training command basic training center for processing, after which he will be sent to a selected college for five months of pre-flight training. The academic portion of this course comprises mathematics, history, geography, modern history and English.

A traveling examining board will be in Traverse City on Monday, September 13, and twice each month thereafter.

For further information or application blanks, write or see Lt. C. B. Anderson, 602 South Union St., Traverse City, or any member of the Civil Air Patrol.

NEW HEALTH UNIT DIRECTOR CHOSEN

Boyne City Doctor Succeeds Dr. Neal N. Wood, Resigned

Dr. A. F. Litzenburger, of Boyne City, has been named director of District Health Unit No. 3, following the recent resignation of Dr. Neal N. Wood.

Coming here in May from Mackinac Island, Dr. Wood has accepted a position as director of the Bay City and Bay county health departments, and took over his new duties September 1.

Dr. Litzenburger graduated from Wayne University medical school in 1931, and interned at Receiving Hospital in Detroit, where he later served as supervisor of the admitting room. In 1938 he came to Boyne City to establish a private practice. Dr. Litzenburger and his family will maintain their residence in Boyne City.

HOUSEWIVES ADVISED TO CAN PEACHES NOW

A. & P. Tea Co. Reports Michigan Crop Is at Its Peak

This is the week to can peaches.

This suggestion, coming from one of the nation's largest food distributors, was coupled with a warning that the supply of commercially canned peaches for civilian use in 1944 will be far below that of last year.

"Recent reports indicate certain canned items, including this fruit, will be very hard to get next year," said C. Wall, A. & P. Tea Company vice - president. "Any housewife can alleviate this shortage by canning peaches in her own kitchen. Now is the time, as the Michigan harvest is at its peak this week, although the supply should continue good through next week."

Agricultural experts estimate the Michigan crop to be considerably above last year, with total United States production showing a serious decline.

HIGH HONOR WON BY CPL. WINNICK

IS AWARDED DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS

Holder of Air Medal Cited for Extraordinary Achievement In Southwest Pacific

According to news dispatches in recent metropolitan newspapers, Cpl. Frank A. Winnick, of Charlevoix, was among three western Michigan men to be awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross by Lieut. General George C. Kenney, commander of the allied air forces in the southwest Pacific.

The Distinguished Flying Cross, awarded for heroism in the air by any member of America's armed services, was won by Cpl. Winnick for extraordinary achievement while participating in 200 hours of operational flight missions in the southwest Pacific, during which hostile contact was probable and expected. These operations included long-range bombing missions against enemy airdromes and installations, and attacks on hostile naval vessels and shipping. Throughout these operations, outstanding ability, courage and devotion to duty were demonstrated.

In July, Cpl. Winnick was awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement while participating in combat over the Bismarck sea, in which he was a member of the crew of a B-17 type bomber engaged in an attack on an enemy convoy. Successful bombing runs were made in the face of intense anti-aircraft fire and interception by enemy fighters, resulting in sinking of a large cargo vessel and destruction of two Japanese Zero fighters.

LIBRARY SCHEDULE TO CHANGE NEXT MONDAY

Hours of the Charlevoix public library will change to fall and winter schedule beginning Monday, September 13, according to Miss Minnie E. Payton, librarian. The new schedule is as follows: open from 2 to 6 p. m., and 7 to 8:30 p. m. each week day. Children's reading room open 3 to 5 p. m. each week day, story hour 2 to 3 p. m. Saturday, in charge of Mrs. Walter Bergeon.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO OPEN MONDAY

1943-44 TERM BRINGS CLOSE OF SUMMER VACATION

Three New Faculty Members Are Announced; Burgess Pupils Transfer to Charlevoix

Charlevoix public schools will open Monday, September 13, for the 1943-44 school term, it has been announced by Superintendent O. P. North.

Students will be called the opening day at 8:45 as customary and classes will be conducted on a full schedule following registration and assignment.

Three new teachers are on the faculty this year, and one position, that of third grade instructor, remains vacant. Miss Nellie Smith has been persuaded to return to her position as commercial teacher for the first semester only. Miss Ruth Parish, graduate of Western Michigan College, Kalamazoo, has been engaged as sewing and general science teacher. She has taught in Williamsburg, Mich., for the past three years. Mrs. Dorothy Ihens Malbae, a former Charlevoix resident who has been in Chicago for some years, returned to teaching a year ago as primary teacher at Pellston, and will be first grade instructor here. Position of band director and music instructor left vacant by resignation of Max H. Smith, has been filled by Earl E. Beach, of Alliance, Ohio. He has been director of the Alliance school band, as well as instructor in the woodwind instrument department at Mt. Union College. Mr. Smith is now band director in Petoskey schools.

Faculty members returning are: O. P. North, superintendent and chemistry instructor; Harry E. Bingham, high school principal and social science instructor; Stewart E. Coleman, English, economics and track coach; Ray Kipke, mathematics and coach; Wyatt Wilson, manual arts; Miss Nellie Smith, commercial; Mrs. Eleanor Thomas Amberson, English; Miss Florance Milner, junior high English, history, arithmetic; Miss Gladys Anderson, kindergarten; Miss Frances Milner, second grade and principal of lower grades up to and including the fourth; Miss Evelyn Wiltse, fourth grade; Miss Ardith Little, fifth grade; Miss Virginia Buettner, sixth grade. Miss Arloa Swanson, graduate of Lansing Business University, has been engaged as office clerk.

FORMER RESIDENT DIED IN DETROIT

Funeral Wednesday Afternoon for Frank A. Hull, Barber

Frank A. Hull, former Charlevoix barber, died Sunday in Highland Park, Detroit, where he had made his home for several years.

During his residence here, Mr. Hull was employed in the barber shop owned by the late Frank Wood, and also was employed at the Standard Cement Co. plant when it was in operation. He is survived by one son, Clayton, of Highland Park.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from his home.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

What this country needs today is cleaner minds and dirtier hands.

Fred Willis' girls, Betty and Freda, went for a boat ride last Sunday up near Horton Bay and took along a fishing rod just on the chance that they might spot a fish or two. What they got was a 15-pound muskellunge that measured 40 inches from here to there. Guess that's the secret of success in fishing—let the fish think you're ignoring them and they snap right onto the hook. Grim determination scares 'em away—speaking as one who knows, although between you and me, I did end the trout season in a glorious manner by taking the limit of brooks from Intermediate creek. It was with a distinctly satisfied feelin' that I put the old fly rod away for another year, believe me.

One theme seems to run thru all the letters we get from Charlevoix men in service—they all want to get home as soon as possible after they've finished the job they have to do. It's a feeling all soldiers have in common, as was touchingly illustrated by an anecdote in the Reader's Digest recently. A bunch of the boys were "shooting the breeze" about their home states, each trying to credit his native state with some feature none other had. Up spoke a lad from Oklahoma, who hadn't entered into the conversation before, and said, "There's one thing in Oklahoma that you won't find in any of the other states." When all his listeners demanded to know what that might be, he answered, "My home." And that ended the argument, sure enough.

Young Perry Smith, who came home the other day from army maneuvers in Louisiana and left Wednesday for Camp Pickett, Va., extends an open invitation to all civilians who are discontented with their present mode of living to spend a couple of weeks with

Dear Ken,

Here is another long over-due letter. I've been going to write you ever since last November, but being no different from several other fellows whose letters of apology have appeared in the Courier, I'm sounding off late. My intentions were good, but my ambition a little lax.

I joined this branch of Uncle Sam's service 11 months ago last Friday, and up to now have had no luck in getting sent anywhere where there is action. First I was in Oxford, Ohio, going to fleet radio school. I graduated from there and they sent me to aviation radio school here in Memphis, Tenn., which has proved to be my camping ground.

Upon my graduation from this school, they seemed to think I ought to stick around and teach the forthcoming students a little bit about it. I've been teaching now since last May with no hopes of a let-up. It's not a bad job and I get all the liberty I can use, but it sure is the most unexciting thing a man can do. I would like Stewart Coleman to see me now, though he'd probably scratch his head and wonder what miracle took place. (Or is his hair all gone?)

One thing I can say for this place is that you don't need a furnace fire to keep warm. All I do is perspire and dream of Charlevoix. A seven-year record was equaled Friday when the temperature reached 105 in the shade and approximately 130 in the sun. People sprinkle ice-water on their beds to keep cool at night.

We have around 1,000 Waves on this base taking the aviation mechanics course. Their presence boosts the morale of the some 10,000 sailors, but as to their ability as mechanics—well, it's a matter of opinion. They spend 21 weeks learning at it anyhow.

If any of the boys up there are preparing to enlist, they should, after finishing "boot," give this aviation branch some consideration. From a financial standpoint it can't be beat. Well, I'm not stationed at a recruiting office, so why should I be making that kind of a speech.

"How can I know when long distance lines are busy?"

- The operator will tell you.
- When the long distance circuit you want is crowded, she will say — "Please limit your call to 5 minutes. Others are waiting."
- We know you'll be glad to co-operate and keep your call below 5 minutes — or perhaps even cancel it if it is not important.

The women went up the hill to see what they could find, while the men looked around below. Suddenly they heard a peculiar grinding sound which was followed by growls, warning them they were too close to a bear, so they started down to find the men. Meanwhile the bear circled down and made its presence known to the men. The two parties met alright and made their way to their car. On their way out they passed a stump where someone evidently had stopped for lunch, but left in haste, leaving all their provisions behind. The conclusion of the Danforth party is that they came too near where a mother bear had her cubs hidden.

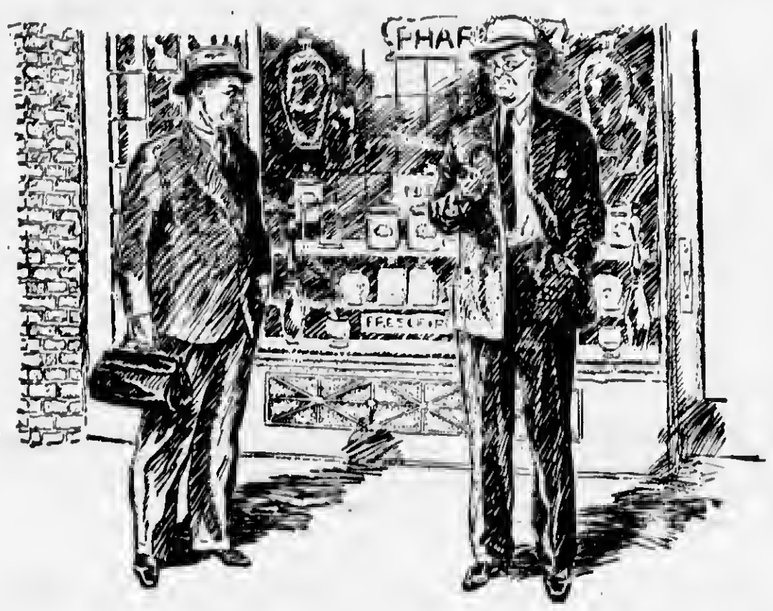
THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...



"Good morning, Doc. Your good wife tells me you're working night and day now that so many of the younger doctors are in the army."

"That's right, Judge, and I'm glad I'm still able to do it. Had a long letter from Harry... that bright young fellow I was breakin' in to take over my practice. He said the boys in the service are getting the best medical care of any armed force in our history. They really should with all those brilliant doctors and plenty of supplies to work with."

"Speaking of supplies, Doc, not many people realize that a large part of the war-alcohol required to make the medical supplies that are being used right this minute to alleviate pain, combat infection and save human lives, is produced by the beverage distilling industry. This entire industry stopped making whiskey months ago and has been working night and day producing nothing but war-alcohol."

"Nobody knows better than I, Judge, what an important contribution to our war effort that really is."

In their regular session Monday night, the Charlevoix city council took definite steps through federal relief channels to bring about two sorely needed civic projects. The first and prehably most important is building of a municipal sewage treatment plant to be built on the O. E. Wilbur property on Round lake harbor. Ownership of this site would give the city opportunity to improve the dock, provide warehouse facilities for boat traffic end maintain suitable dockage for boat lines. A second resolution petitions the stete highwny department for construction of a new bridge across the channel between Round lake and Lake Michigan on US-31. (If we ever do get a new bridge, we'll be hard put to find something else to gripe to Washington about.)

THE 3rd WAR LOAN DRIVE STARTS —TO BACK THE INVASION!

3RD WAR LOAN

15 BILLION DOLLARS
(NON-BANKING QUOTA)

What you will be asked to do—

MARK well the date—Thursday, September 9th. For on that day, you must answer to your country's call.

On that day, the 3rd War Loan Drive opens. You will be asked to back our fighting forces to the very limit of your resources. You will be asked to go ALL-OUT FOR INVASION by investing in EXTRA War Bonds—more War Bonds than you perhaps think you can possibly afford.

To meet the national quota, every individual in the country who earns a wage or draws an income or has accumulated funds must invest, if he possibly can, in at least one EXTRA $100 War Bond. Those who can, must invest in more bonds—hundreds and thousands of dollars' worth more.

Scrape up the money from every source you can . . . turn in all the loose cash you carry with you . . . dig out what you had tucked away "just in case." Go without pleasures, luxuries, even necessities this September. And give our fighting men the things they need to fight with—and win.

These men are throwing everything they have into this fierce invasion push. They are giving their blood, their lives. No one can put a price on such courage, self-sacrifice, devotion. But you can show you're with them to the limit! You can say it with Bonds . . . EXTRA Bonds this month.

World's Safest Investments

For this 3rd War Loan, you will be offered a choice of various government securities. Choose the one that fits your requirements.

United States War Savings Bonds Series "E": gives you back $4 for every $3 when the bond matures. Interest: 2.9% a year, compounded semiannually, if held to maturity. Denominations: $25, $50, $100, $500, $1,000. Redemption: Anytime 60 days after issue date. Price: 75% of maturity value.

2½% Treasury Bonds of 1964-1969; readily marketable, acceptable as bank collateral. Redeemable at par and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying Federal estate taxes. Dated September 15, 1943: due December 15, 1969. Denominations: $500, 1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $100,000 and $1,000,000. Price: par and accrued interest.

Other securities: Series "C" Savings Notes; 7/8% Certificates of Indebtedness; 2% Treasury Bonds of 1951-1953; United States Savings Bonds series "F"; United States Savings Bonds series "G."

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

Sam Abernethy's the Chief Rumor-Spiker in our town.

If a stranger gets off something like—"I hear they've sunk the S. S. Bumblebee," Sam starts pinning him down. Did he really see it? Where's the evidence?

Because Sam knows, like the rest of us, that nine-tenths of the "inside news" passed around by careless folk isn't rumor—it's lies planted by the Axis to destroy American morale.

Take those rumors about drinking in our Army Camps.

Actual, official facts from the government's own Office of War Information showed there wasn't a shred of truth in 'em.

The boys enjoy a glass of beer occasionally—same as a lot of us do!

And from where I sit, they're proving themselves the healthiest, best-disciplined bunch of fighting men in history, like the OWI report stated. That's good enough for me.

YOU MUST...

MAIL YOUR CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR SERVICEMEN OVERSEAS

Between September 15 and October 15

if you want them to get there on time!

Here is a digest of Post Office and War Department regulations for Christmas Mailing to Army men overseas. Read them carefully—and follow all instructions—so that your soldier boy will not be disappointed Christmas Day.

Mail parcel post Christmas Gifts to Army personnel overseas between September 15 and October 15. The arrangement governing gifts for Army personnel differs from that which prevailed last year. The new War Department regulations point out that unsolicited gifts sent by parcel post overseas MUST be mailed during the period fixed. Gifts may be mailed before September 15 or after October 15 only on presentation at the post office of a letter from the man overseas requesting the article which is being sent to him.

Only through full compliance with these mailing dates by the public can the Army Postal Service transport and deliver on time the huge volume of Christmas mail for personnel overseas which will result from the temporary (September 15 to October 15) relaxation of the rule that a parcel post gift may be sent only when requested by the addressee.

These who are sending parcel post gifts which may go to such distant stations as those in India and China should make their mailings as early as possible—on September 15 or immediately thereafter. The later the mailing, the less chance there will be that gifts will arrive by Christmas to bring cheer to the men at the fighting fronts and at other distant stations. Special efforts will be made to deliver on time all parcels mailed during the month specified, and postal patrons are asked to indorse each gift parcel with the words "Christmas Parcel" so that it may receive this special attention.

Here are the rules for mailing Christmas Gifts to Naval, Marine and Coast Guard personnel overseas

Christmee parcels for Naval personnel overseas should be mailed between September 15 and November 1. The Navy Department does not have the requirement that parcels for personnel overseas be accepted only on presentation of a letter from the addressee requesting the article. However, no assurance can be given that any package mailed later than November 1 will reach the addressee by Christmas, and mailings for distant points should be made as early as possible within the period specified.

The following suggestions and regulations apply to mailings for both Army and Navy personnel overseas

- Christmas parcels for men overseas must not exceed the present limitations of 5 pounds in weight or 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined.
- The War and Navy Departments have pointed out that members of the armed forces are amply provided with food and clothing.
- Intoxicants, inflammable materials including matches of all kinds and lighter fluids are barred.
- Perishable goods are barred.
- Not more then one Christmas parcel may be accepted for mailing by parcel post in any one week when sent by or on behalf of the same person or concern to end for the same addressee.
- All gifts should be packed in metal, wooden or solid fiberboard—or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard—or strong, fully telescoping cardboard boxes. The boxes must be securely wrapped in strong paper and tied with twine. Since each parcel is subject to censorship, delay in handling may be minimized by wrapping the parcel so as to permit ready inspection of the contents.
- Parcels must be legibly and fully addressed.

THE INVASION IS ON! SUPPORT IT!

You are in this invasion—it is as simple as that.

Invasion comes high—in blood and money. Part of the cost must be paid with human life and that means deep and lasting hurt for many an American family. Part of the cost must be paid in cash and that is going to hurt, too. If it doesn't, then you are not doing your share—you're not sacrificing.

Your Uncle Sammy has never been licked yet. What should interest you and me, not to mention future generations, is that this would be a poor time for him to start losing. It will take just $15,000,000,000 this month to keep our fighting machine going. Charlevoix county's share of this staggering amount is $120,000. And Charlevoix county hasn't been licked yet, either, on any drive.

Take that Bomber Campaign of the city of Charlevoix, for instance. We went over by a small margin, 'tis true, but the goal was attained. And that was an extra that was recognized by nearly every newspaper in Michigan. Many leading radio stations broadcast our success, and letters of congratulation and appreciation were received. The chairman of the Belvedere Club committee received this one:

Washington, D. C.
September 1, 1943

Mr. Charles Sumner Pike,
206 Belvedere Resort,
Charlevoix, Mich.

My Dear Charley:

Your report concerning Charlevoix was so unusual that I cannot refrain from expressing my keen admiration for its contribution to the war. When a town of some two thousand people furnishes so many hundred of its citizens to the Armed Forces, and raises so many hundreds of thousands of dollars for bonds, then I say that there is something definitely right with the country that produces such towns as Charlevoix.

Sincerely yours,
Harold L. Ickes,
Secretary of the Interior.

While it has been our policy to refrain from publishing amateur poetry, (remember the Johnstown flood?) when "Charley" got poetic and came up with the following, we thought it too timely and good to keep to ourselves:

Let church bells ring and whistles blow!
Then raise Old Glory high!
With voices strong, lift up a song
To freedom's starry sky!
Our Bomber has been nobly won,
And now o'er land and sea,
"The Charlevoix" will blast the Hun,
And fight for Victory!

Battle of the Atlantic

A sinking smokestack, a great air bubble, an empty lifeboat, all that is visible of a torpedoed tanker, all that is evident of the hard work, the savings we put into War Bonds to build this tanker, to load it with 50,000 gallons of high octane gas.

Our money is still safe but the tanker is lost forever. Another and another and another must be built to take its place.

The men who sail the seas are giving their lives to win the Battle of the Atlantic. We are asked only to lend our money.

VICTORY GARDENS

Michigan Council of Defense

By Paul R. Krono,
Chief Victory Garden Section,
Michigan Office of Civilian Defense

An inspection of hundreds of gardens throughout Michigan emphasizes that most folks have grown just the most common vegetables—the things they've learned to like, usually because they could be bought in the neighborhood grocery.

But there are a lot of delicious vegetables that are quite common, yet we found them in very few gardens. It is true that some of these crops, like cauliflower, brussels sprouts and perhaps lima beans, require too much space for the amount of food they produce to be recommended for the small garden. However, I believe that next year most Victory Gardeners will have considerably larger gardens so they can try some of these crops.

Gardeners should make a list now of the varieties to plant next year. Eggplant should definitely be included. Five or six plants, which will take about 18 feet of row, will be plenty for the average family. The plants need to be started indoors six to eight weeks before setting out. They are tender and should not be set out until danger of frost is over. The fruits should be used while the outside is still highly glossy. When the skin turns dull the plant is over-mature.

Kale, sometimes called the "Georgia Collard" and closely related to the wild cabbage of Europe, is a non-heading type of green which does best either in early spring or in the fall. It's easy to grow and requires about 50 days to mature. It is grown in much the same way as cabbage and is prepared in the same manner. Some of our friends can it and others freeze it in lockers, preferring it to any other green. In harvesting, either the entire plant is cut off or the lower leaves stripped off to allow the center to mature.

Collards, a standard crop seen in every southern garden, are slowly gaining popularity in Michigan. They belong to the cabbage family and look something like a tall growing Kale but do not form a head. They are very high in food value. The seed can be sown inside three to four weeks before planting out in the spring for an early crop. For later crops the seeds are sown in rows in the garden, then sown to stand four to five inches apart in the row. They are thinned further as they grow to stand 16 to 20 inches apart for the final crop.

Collards can be eaten at any stage of growth, therefore the ones that are eliminated in the thinning out can be cooked. In harvesting, either the entire stalk can be cut off below the crown when the plant is 8 to 14 inches high, or you can cut off only the mature head, or strip off lower leaves for use, leaving the center to develop further.

As to methods of cooking, one man from the south told us they "Put collards in a large kettle with enough water to partially cover, add a good big chunk of ham, then put on a lid and run quickly and lock the doors so they won't get company for at least two hours while enjoying this delicacy."

Kohlrabi is another of the cabbage group that should be better known. We like it raw or prepared like cabbage. It produces an enlarged root something like a round turnip just above the ground. Be sure to peel it before eating. It matures in about 65 days from seed and thrives especially in cool weather. Seed can be sown indoors three to four weeks before planting out, then another lot of seed sown directly in the garden as soon as the garden can be planted. A fall crop can be sown directly in the garden about August 1. The plants that are thinned out can be replanted in another part of the garden. Kohlrabi is another plant that takes a lot of space for what you get out of it.

I guess that is about all I have to say for this time, except that you all up there should be very lucky that you're up there where intense heat is a legend of some far off land.

So long for now,
Richard L. Edwards, ARM 3c
Brks. 55, USNATTC
Memphis, Tenn.

P. S.—This is a good one, I sit down to write a letter to you with the main purpose in mind of thanking you all for the Courier each week, and what do I do but forget it entirely. Frankly, I enjoy the paper a lot more than you could believe, especially the "Do You Remember?" column. In the 25 years ago division, I'm anxiously awaiting the end of the first World War. Thank you all again.—Dick.

Hi, Ken,

Having been a long time since I have written to you, maybe I had better get "on the beam" and let you know what has been going on in this neck of the woods lately.

Having returned to our old stamping grounds to spend the two-week break between manauvers, we are enjoying the supreme comfort of sleeping in bunks once more. It might not sound like much to you, perhaps, but when one has spent three tedious weeks in the field, it is a swell feeling to sleep without clothes. In the field we get so tired at times that we sleep right on the ground without the partial comfort of a bedroll.

Chiggers? Oh, yes, we have lots of them. In fact I think that our division carried most of them out of the woods when we returned here. Also the woods are rid of a few snakes as a result of our recent maneuvers.

Mail in the field was delivered at infrequent intervals, but thanks to the Courier and letters from my mother, I kept well informed on what was going on around home and that's all that really matters.

Speaking of mail, and the Courier, if I don't stop this chatter it will take up too much of your time reading it. So—'till this affair is over, I remain

Just "One of the boys,"

Dear Ken,

I will take this time to thank you and the CSO for the Courier. I have been receiving it for the last six weeks and I sure have enjoyed it.

I have always thought that there must be some reason why people came to Charlevoix in the summer, now I know. It really gets warm here. This heat really makes studying enjoyable. Seriously, I like the navy and my course of study, but I am naturally anxious to see the home town again. We have a swell group of fellows here, of course I haven't met them all (850), but the ones I come in contact with every day are o. k.

I'll close now, and thanks again for the Courier.

Sincerely
Bob

Dear Ken,

I have been checking up and it has been over 3 months since the last time I wrote. It doesn't seem that long, we have been so busy. I can't say anything about what I have been doing, but I can say something about what I have done in the past.

I was on the Rock (Guadalcanal, to you) for quite some time and it seemed like years to me. I was just about a mile from Bob Ashdon all of the time and didn't even know that he was there. I was pretty busy most of the day with our own planes and we most generally had visitors at night, so I didn't get much of a chance to roam around or I might have run into him. Ray Nowland was also there at the same time, but I didn't get to see him either. That is two close misses with fellows from the home town and I am hoping to make connections some of these days.

While on the Rock I got more than just a taste of war and believe it or not, I have had enough for a long time. At the beginning it was rather primitive, but before we left we had our own well and pumps, showers with hot and cold running water (hot in the daytime and cold at night) and really had the camp area all fixed up. On our big water tank we had the name of our little city, Spamville, in nice big letters all shaded in by the squadron painter. The telephone switchboard dugout had a nice sign, just like the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., except we substituted Guadalcanal for Michigan. The camp was divided into several areas, just like the suburbs, two of the nicest were Bomb Alley and Strafers Heights. We see pictures in the magazines of soldiers washing in their helmets. That's nothing, I can take a whole bath in one helmet full of water and do a good job of it, too. Just another trick we learned when we had to. There is just one more thing I want to see, and that is to see an enemy plane brought down at night by the AA fire, and it has to be a flamer—then I have seen enough for a lifetime.

Now for a little about this place. We are not in the combat area, but the work we are doing is important just the same. The camp is the best I have been in for over a year, with buildings instead of tents to sleep in, a mattress on our cots and clean sheets. After sleeping on plain canvas cots in woolen blankets for so long those little things are sure appreciated. Another thing, we have a few radios and get news and music from Frisco every night. They have shows near here about three times a week and once in a while a USO unit comes through. The last one and the best so far was Unit No. 1. And another thing that is nice is that our mail comes through in just a few days most of the time. We sure get good service on air and V mail letters.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank both you and the CSO for sending me the paper. It comes in bunches, being second class mail, but I read all of every one of them every time I get a batch. It is getting so that the boys who sleep next to me are reading the paper now, although they have never seen the town and in one case never heard of it until recently. Have to go to the dispensary now for my pills. Am marked Sick in Quarters with malaria again, for the sixth time, so will close for this time.

Sincerely,
T/Sgt. Robert C. Fochtman.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazi Production Suffers New Blows As Allies Step Up Bombing Attacks; Russian Army's Westward Offensive Threat to All of German Strongholds

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

EUROPE:
Soften Fortress

Looking up into the gathering dusk or the early dawn, residents of England's southeast coast no longer crane their necks in wonder as Allied bombers fill the sky on their way to blast Hitler's European fortress.

With deadly monotony, Allied bombers are making the run over the continent. With Germany's Ruhr smoking in ruins, RAF light and heavy bombers shifted the weight of their attacks to Berlin, and daring U. S. Flying Fortresses stabbed ever deeper into Europe to strike at the famous Messerschmitt aircraft plants near Vienna and Regensberg. Meanwhile the Germans claimed that North African ports are filled with Allied vessels concentrating for a full scale invasion of Italy or France.

With all Europe in a pother over the expected invasion, Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain told the world that when the Allies open a second front, it will be only after military circumstances dictate, and not for political purposes.

KINGS:
One Prisoner

Striking with characteristic swiftness, German troops moved in force into Denmark and made that model Nazi protectorate a military province.

King Christian

Reportedly interned in Copenhagen was King Christian X. Under arrest was former Premier Eric Scavenius and members of his cabinet. Throughout the entire tiny state martial law was in force, with public assemblages forbidden, a curfew imposed, and all judicial and civil functions in the hands of Nazis.

Apparent cause for Hitler's sudden decision to take over Denmark was the recent wave of sabotage imperiling production and communication.

Possible cause for the move was Hitler's desire to seal off the most direct route to Berlin from the North sea.

One Dead

Tough, wily King Boris of Bulgaria died with his boots off. At 40, the Balkan monarch reportedly succumbed of heart trouble in his royal suite, after three brazen attempts on his life during his 25-year reign. Once, a bomb missed him; another time, a bullet grazed his mustache but killed his chauffeur, and then two days after that, an explosion rocked the cathedral in which the king was worshipping, killing 125 and injuring 200.

King Boris

As an ally of Germany in the present war, Boris had played his cards shrewdly. Through Hitler's graces, Bulgaria had taken over parts of western and northern Greece, and chunks of Jugoslavia and Rumania.

Upon Boris' death, his six-year-old son, Simeon, was proclaimed king and a group organized to govern for him.

RUSSIA:
Still Rolling

One hundred and eighty miles to their rear the lazy Dnieper river wound, and to its banks German troops were prepared to fall back for a last ditch defense against the rolling attack of the Russians.

Having pushed forward north of the Azov seaport of Taganrog, the Russians threatened Nazi troops entrenched in the area. Facing encirclement from the rear, the Germans picked up their stakes and pulled out of the district, even as horse-mounted Cossack cavalry and mechanized units were knifing from the northwestward.

On the Kharkov front, Russian troops bore down on the Germans' last main railroad line running through the northern Donetz basin. Near Smolensk, the Reds plowed through for short gains.

GENERALS:
Marshall Stays

GENERALS: Gen. George C. Marshall will continue as chief of staff of the U. S. army, although his four-year term has expired, President Roosevelt announced. General Marshall is first chief of staff to be granted an extension during war time, and the second in history, the first being General MacArthur, whose term was prolonged, now commanding in the South Pacific, in 1933.

PRODUCTION:
Up in U. S.

Backing up its fighting men on the world's fronts, America's production army gave the wheel an extra nudge with its shoulder to show an increase in output for July.

As the "arsenal of democracy," America's production of war materials for July was almost five times as great as November, 1941. But while production in ships, artillery, motor vehicles and food and clothing, etc., has apparently reached its peak, output of airplanes, army ammunition and signal equipment must be speeded up to meet 1943 goals.

U. S. artillery production steady

According to War Production Board Chairman Donald Nelson, airplane manufacture has failed to reach its highest level because of changes in design and labor shortages. In aluminum and magnesium, production problems have been overcome, Nelson said, and efforts are being made to discover additional uses for magnesium.

Britain Keeps Pace

Keeping step with its Big Brother Sam, Great Britain increased munitions output in the second quarter of 1943 by 25 per cent over that for the same period last year.

Although change in designs of British aircraft resulted in temporary slowdowns, production of planes by weight rose 44 per cent in 1943 over last year. Further expansion of the industry in the next 12 months is planned.

British Spitfire output up

At the start of the year, Great Britain overhauled its entire war production program, concentrating on munitions figured most destructive to the enemy. Because of the readjustment, 75,000 workers were shifted to other industries. But the availability of additional material and help because of the cuts in other lines, enabled the more important industries to increase total output.

HOME FRONT:
Butter Assured

To assure civilians of a steady flow of butter, the War Food administration announced it would cut its government purchases by 10 per cent in September and cancel them altogether in October.

Under the WFA program, civilians have been allotted 80 per cent of the estimated butter supply for the fiscal year ending next June 30. In order to obtain its 20 per cent of the total without seriously disrupting civilian stocks, the WFA buys heavily during periods of high production, then lowers its sights with seasonal drops.

Hits Rent Fixing

Stating that the OPA's action in designating the entire United States as a defense area in order to establish rent ceilings was never intended by congress or empowered by the Constitution, Federal Judge Bascom S. Deaver of Georgia declared the rental provisions of the price control act of 1942 unconstitutional.

In announcing his decision, Judge Deaver remarked that various government bureaus were seeking to impose rule of regulation in place of one of law, in contradiction of the principles of the Constitution. Although the judge said rent control was desirable in time of war, he argued the right of fixing prices was a duty of congress.

POPULATION:
States Show Loss

Seven midwestern states have lost 8 per cent of their population up to May of this year, through migration to war factory centers and enlistment in the armed services, the National Industrial Conference board reports. For the nation as a whole, the net loss to the civilian population, resulting from growth of the army and navy, has been 2.4 per cent from April, 1940, to May, 1943, it was said.

Super-Gas

For years, triptane has stood on the shelves of laboratories. Known as the most powerful hydrocarbon for use in internal combustion engines, it could only be produced through a classical method costing from $40 to $3,000 per gallon.

Dr. Gustav Egloff

But working in conjunction with a staff headed by Dr. Gustav Egloff, an old officer of the Russian imperial army, Vladimir Ipatieff, and his 28-year-old pupil, Vladimir Haensel, have discovered a method for producing triptane at less than $1 a gallon.

According to Dr. Egloff, the new gasoline will increase the speed and range of American war planes 25 per cent, and boost their climbing power 20 per cent. Such performance would give the U. S. planes equal maneuverability with Jap Zeros, without sacrificing their heavier armor and gun placement.

PACIFIC:
Closer and Closer

The great factor of air power loomed larger in the Pacific battle zone, with Japanese strongholds in the southwest reeling under concentrated U. S. bombing, and heavy raids predicted on the enemy's homeland from bases acquired in the Aleutian islands.

With Allied and Japanese soldiers locked in close jungle fighting before Salamaua, New Guinea, American bombers roared 350 miles northward to hammer the enemy's air base at Weewak. Since August 17, more than 300 Japanese planes have been destroyed there, thus giving the Allies' front line soldiers relief from air attack and assuring the maximum operation of their supply lines.

Returning from a visit to the Aleutians, Lieut. Gen. John L. DeWitt of the western defense command, said that U. S. planes were closer to Japan now than Maj. Gen. James Doolittle and his fliers were when they took off from the Flat-top Hornet. General DeWitt envisioned heavy bombing flights from Aleutian bases over the enemy's homeland, with the planes flying onward to come down on Chinese airdromes.

PRICE CONTROL:
Over the Border

During the 3½ years in which Canada has been in the war, the country's cost of living has increased 17 per cent, in comparison with 26 per cent in the U. S. and 28 per cent in Great Britain.

Up to March 31, 63 per cent of Canada's war expenditure was paid off with taxes. Borrowings from banks amounted to 18 per cent. The rest of the money to pay for the war was raised through the sale of securities to the public.

By December, 1941, the wholesale price of farm products rose 28 per cent, while retail food costs jumped 25 per cent. To check a further rise, subsidies were paid producers, resulting in the maintenance of milk, butter and cheese output.

MINERS:
No Extra Pay

Because the miners are not entitled to pay for underground travel time under the fair labor standards act until the work week exceeds 40 hours, the War Labor board rejected their plea for such pay at $1.25 daily. The miners now work 35 hours.

William H. Davis

In the majority opinion written by Chairman William H. Davis, the WLB said that the United Mine Workers had failed to show why such underground travel pay should be granted in the face of the law, and so it concluded that the miners' request was an outright wage increase in violation of the stabilization policy.

Following the WLB's action, the UMW filed suit in the federal court at Birmingham for 2 hours daily underground travel time pay. They also asked five years such back pay.

Given Probation

In the first verdict under the Smith-Connally anti-strike law, 27 miners, charged with striking at government operated pits, were given suspended sentences of six months and put on three years probation.

WACS:
Recruiting Lags

Enlistments in the WAC (Women's Army corps) have been declining, statistics reveal. Only 3,005 women joined in June, 2,415 in July, and 1,720 in the first three weeks of August. Also, a large percentage of the 85,000 members of the WAAC, (Women's Auxiliary Army corps) are choosing to withdraw from service rather than to be sworn into the Women's Army corps.

New Guinea Student

A native boy ponders an arithmetic problem in a New Guinea school conducted by Rev. Harold E. Short, a missionary. Seventy-five native children attend. This is the problem: "If an airplane travels 125 miles an hour, how far will it travel in three-quarters of an hour?"

SAMMY JAY TELLS HIS TROUBLES TO HEDDY FOX

SAMMY JAY could think of nothing but the terrible fright he had had at Farmer Brown's corncrib. He had thrust his bill through a crack for a few grains of corn when something had seized his bill and hung on. Sammy didn't have the least bit of doubt that it was a trap of some kind set by Farmer Brown's Boy. He flew down to the Green Forest to think it over and plan some way to get even with Farmer Brown's Boy. As he sat there muttering to himself along came Reddy Fox. For a wonder Reddy saw Sammy before Sammy saw him.

Reddy grinned. "Sammy certainly has got something on his mind," thought Reddy. Then he said aloud: "Hello, Sammy! What's the matter? You look as if you had the stomachache and the headache and a few other aches."

"Matter enough, Reddy Fox! Matter enough!" snapped Sammy. Then, because he felt that he just had to tell someone, he told Reddy all about his terrible fright that morning.

"It was a trap," said Sammy. "It was some kind of a trap set by Farmer Brown's Boy. Just as if he couldn't spare a few grains of

"It was a trap," said Sammy. "It was sama kind of a trap act by Farmer Browu's Boy!"

corn when he has got so much! I—I—I'd like to—to peck his eyes out! That's what I'd like to do!"

Sammy said that because it was the most dreadful thing he could think of, but he didn't really mean it. Reddy knew it and grinned, for he also knew that Sammy didn't dare go near enough to Farmer Brown's Boy to more than scream at him. All the time he had been listening, Reddy had sat with his head cocked on one side, which is a way he has when he's thinking. Inside he was laughing, for Reddy knows a lot about traps and about Farmer Brown's Boy and he didn't believe that Farmer Brown's Boy ever would set a trap in such a queer place as a crack in the wall of a cornerib.

"That was a terrible experience, Sammy Jay, and I don't wonder that you were frightened. Are you going up there tomorrow morning?"

"What?" screamed Sammy. "Going up there again? What do you take me for? I guess I don't need but one lesson of that kind. There's plenty to eat in the Green Forest and on the Green Meadows without running any such risk as that. No, sir, you won't catch me around Farmer Brown's cornerib again very soon; not if my name is Sammy Jay!"

"You are wise, very wise," replied Reddy gravely. "It is always wise to keep out of danger." And with this Reddy trotted on up the Lone Little Path, and inside his red head were busy thoughts. Reddy had made up his mind that there was something very queer about Sammy Jay's fright and he meant to find out about it. He would be on hand at the first peep of day the next morning to see what was going on around Farmer Brown's cornerib.

And all day long Sammy Jay flew about through the Green Forest telling everyone who would listen how Farmer Brown's Boy had tried to trap him. Late that afternoon he visited the Old Orchard and told his story all over again to Chatterer, the Red Squirrel, and Chatterer didn't so much as smile until after Sammy had left. Then he threw himself on the ground and rolled over and over and laughed until his sides ached.

"Hi-mm," said Reddy Fox thoughtfully, as unseen by Chatterer he watched from behind the old stone wall, "that red-coated busybody knows something about that trap in the cornerib. I certainly will be on hand early tomorrow morning."

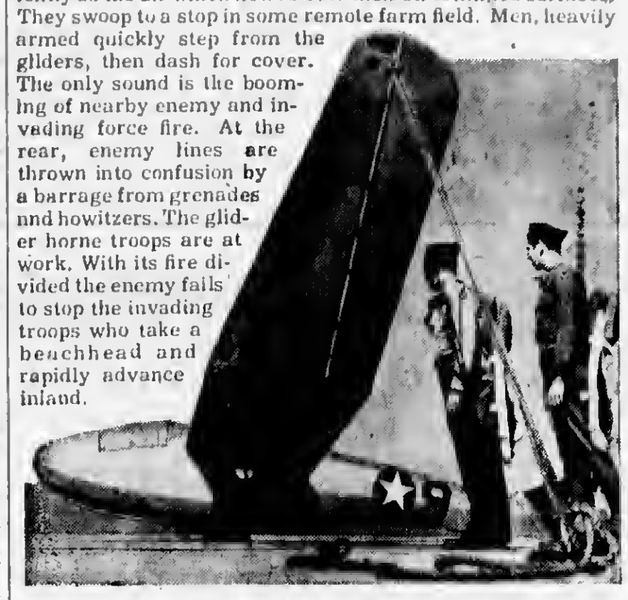
'They Advanced Our Operations by a Week'

High above Sicily groups of gliders dip earthward as silently as the air which flowed over their streamlined surfaces. They swoop to a stop in some remote farm field. Men, heavily armed quickly step from the gliders, then dash for cover. The only sound is the booming of nearby enemy and invading force fire. At the rear, enemy lines are thrown into confusion by a barrage from grenades and howitzers. The glider borne troops are at work. With its fire divided the enemy fails to stop the invading troops who take a beachhead and rapidly advance inland.



The training of glider pilots begins in light planes like this. After eight weeks they progress to larger sailplanes, the transport gliders.

The sudden morale shattering attacks of glider borne troops which dropped out of the night sky so disrupted enemy defenses in Sicily that General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery said: "They advanced our operations by a week."

Above: Although heavily loaded, the glider leaves the ground before the bomber which tows it. Note tow-line, which can be released far from enemy ears. Left: Troops waiting to touch ground.

Troops leap from the glider and charge through a protective smoke screen to take nearby enemy installation by surprise. Just such attacks marked the largest air borne troop operations in history which began at about 10 p. m. the night of the Sicilian invasion.

Due to small anticipated enrollment, the high school teaching staff has been reduced. Senior enrollment will drop from 57, a number graduating a few years ago, to about 30. Ninth grade enrollment, which was 87 one year, will this year be around 40. The ninth grade will be housed in the senior high building, eliminating much traffic between buildings.

Major repairs to the school include a full roof on the gymnasium, grade building and high school. The gymnasium floor has been sanded and refinished, and heating system overhauled.

Bus transportation will serve all schools included last year, with Burgess school added. Bus service to Charlevoix township and south side of town will be discontinued, and students living on the outskirts of the school district will ride on the Ironton, Phelps or Norwood bus, whichever is most convenient.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

By B. C. Mellencamp

Culling Poultry to Be Demonstrated at Farm Meetings

Of great interest to all poultry producers is the announcement that a series of nine meetings will be conducted on Friday and Saturday, September 10-11, O. E. Shear, specialist, Michigan State College, will supervise the culling of undesirable layers, assisted by two squads of four 4-H club and F. F. A. boys who are being trained to help poultry folks in their respective communities.

This is the year, of all years, when it would pay big dividends to eliminate all undesirable layers. The price of feed is high and not alone that, but it is hard to get. Our war effort demands that we conserve feed and use it where returns are high. The following farm flocks will be culled by Mr. Shear and the squad helpers:

Friday, September 10—

9 a. m., A. B. Todd on M-75, edge of Walloon Lake.

10:45 a.m., Edwin Bradley, ½ mile north of Horton Bay on Carpenter road.

1:30 p. m., Frank Wangeman farm, 1-4 mile east of Porter's cherry orchard.

3 p. m., Art Geer farm on M-66, 4 miles east of Charlevoix.

Saturday, September 11—

9 a. m., Walter Goebel and Arnold Smith, located just south of Ranney school.

10:30 a. m., Claude Gilkerson and J. Addis, on Ellsworth road, 3 miles west of East Jordan.

1:30 p. m., Carlton Bowan Hatchery, 1 mile east of East Jordan.

We urge all farmers interested in poultry to attend one of these demonstrations. If birds are found that are affected by lice, they will be de-loused with sodium fluoride free of charge by Mr. Shear.

In 1942, despite the stress of war, younger Russian readers were provided with 173 new books and their total distribution was 86,581,000 copies.

PARENT EDUCATION CLASS IS PLANNED

Director Provided by U. of M. Extensloo Service

A cless in parent edueetion will be conducted et Cherlevnix high school by Mrs. Belle Farley Murrey, of the University of Michigun extenslon servicee, beginning October 6.

Classes will he held on Wednesdey evenings for a period of ten weeks. A minimum of ten persons must be enrollod in order for the elass to be organized. This course was given last winter in Trnverse City, and thls year le offered to five northern Michigan towns, of which Charlevoix may be one.

Mrs. Murray will be in Charlevoix at 10:30 a. m. Wednesdny, September 29, to meet with interested people to plan details of the course. Anyone wishing to take the course is invited to attend this preliminery meeting.

BACK THE ATTACK WITH MORE BONDS

THIRD WAR LOAN LAGGING IN COUNTY, STATE

Sales of $168,000 Reported for Charlevoix County; Campaign Goal Set at $420,000

Bond snles arc lagging throughout the county and state as the Third War Lonn drlve goes into its second week.

Sales reported up to noon Wednesday were: Cherlevoix, $29,000; Bnyne City, $10,600; Enst Jordan, $8,400. These are in addition to the $120,000 bond purchase nredo before beginning of the drlve by Harry Blocb, of Now York and Charlevoix, bringing the county's total to $168,000 of the $420,000 quota.

Anyone who complacently thinks the war is about over and "the boys will be home for Christmas," hasn't read the papers this week. With the American Fifth Army reeling back under heavy German counter-blows at Salerno, in Italy, with Nazl tanks reported breaking through U. S. artillery positions, it is plain that although the Italian army may have surrendered, Germany will not give up Italy without a grim and bloody struggle.

The only way many Amoricans can get into the fight is by buying war bonds, as many as they can possibly afford. Not as many as they can comfortably purchase, but more than that. "Back the Attnck" is the slogan under which the Third War Loan drive is being pushed.

RED CROSS ROOM IN CITY HALL RE-OPENS

Delayed Consignment of Surgical Dressiogs Is Received

Work started Monday at the Red Cross room in the city hall, as the long delayed shipment of 10,000 2 by 2 dressings was received last week.

The room will be open Monday and Tuesduy afternoons from 2 to 5, and Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 10.

With this consignment of 10,000 dressings to complete by the end of September, and the quota for October and November alrendy on the wey, workers are needed. As the summer season has ended, many women should have more free time during tha afternoon. Those who work during the day are urged to make tbe effort to come at least one evening a week.

Tho need for dressings increases with each milo our armies advance into enemy territory. As has been frequently pointed out, commercial manufacturers cannot begin to supply the demand. About 90 per cent of dressings used by the armed forces aro made by Red Cross volunteor workers. Charlevoix women can give substantial nid to the war effort by assisting in this important work.

OBSERVERS AT WATCH TOWER GET ARMBAND

Post Does Not Have Full Crew; Planes Unreported

Arm bands nnd auto windshield stickers have been supplied to regular observers of the Charlevoix post of the Aircraft Warning Service.

Issued by the U. S. Army air defense command, the armbands aro blue with golden wings end the word "observer" upon them. Stickers follow a similar design, providing easy identification of these civilian defense volunteers.

The Charlevoix post does not have a full crew, and a number of planes have gone unreported recently. There is no arrangement whereby a plane can be reported from any place but the watch tower, so even if a number of people see the plane, it is not reported unless there is an observer in the tower.

An alert observer at the Crystal Falls post recently spotted an nrmy plane in distress at night. He reported the incident as a "red flash" message to the Soo information center, which notified the Iron Mountain state police post. The pilot and passenger were forced to bail out of the plane, but were soon rescued. Such an incident could occur in the vicinity of any observation post, and indicates the importance of having the tower manned at all times.

OFFICERS CHOSEN BY ACADEMIA STUDY CLUB

Organization Meeting at Home of Mrs. Sylvester Vaughan

Officers were elected and a study program planned for the ensuing year at the organization meeting of the Academia club, held Friday night at the home of Mrs. Sylvester Vaughan on Burns street.

Taking office were: president, Mrs. Vaughan; vice president, Mrs. Bill Supernaw; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Rolit. Ashdon. The ten members voted to have one business meeting and one social meeting each month.

NEED MILKWEED POD HARVESTERS

COLLECTION DUE TO START ABOUT SEPTEMBER 20

Information on Picking, Storing Released by Petoskay Offico of Milkwoed Project

School children, civic organizations, Boy and Cirl Scout troops and other groups in northern Michigan are being urged to take part in the collection of 1,500,000 bags of milkweed pods duo to start around September 20. They may raise funds for their organizations as well as assist in a vital war work.

The Milkweed Pod Collection Project of the U. S. department of agriculture, with offices in Petoskey, has released the following information relative to collection methods.

Picking of pods should not bogin until seeds are dark brown, indicating ripeness, and may continue as long as the floss content remains in the pod shell. Buying stations will be established in Emmet, Cheboygan, Charlevoix, Otsego, Antrim, Kalkaska, Crand Traverse, Leclanau, Benzie, Wexford, Mackinaw, Mason, Presque Isle and Missaukee counties. Special harvesting bags may be obtained on a loan agreement from theso etations.

Buying stations havo been established at the following locations in Charlevoix county: Miko Bernett, East Jordan; Denise Sorvice Station, Boyne Falls; Boyne City Hatchery, Boyno City; Chnrlevoix Co-Ops. Co., Charlevoix; Hinckley's Store, Bay Shoro. The program in Charlevoix county ie directed by William C. Howe, supervisor, East Jordan, who will act in bchalf of the War Hemp Industries, Inc., in chargo of the collection of milkweed pods.

Bags should be filled to maximum capacity, not forced, and should contain no empty pod shells, leaves, or other foreign matter. Pods will apoil quickly if not handled properly, so should be delivered to buying stations witbin 24 hours after picking, or hung up to dry. Bags of pods may be hung outside of buildings, on fences or similar structures. Rain will not damage pods bung in this manner. Pods will be purchased etither fresh, immediately after harvesting, or dry, thoee hung to dry for three weeks or longer.

Further information relative to thu program may be obtained from the county agricultural agent or county war board.

STRAITS FERRIES ARE ON CENTRAL WAR TIME

State auto ferries operating ncross the Straits of Mackinac between Muckinaw City and St. Ignace hnve changed their echedules from Eastern War Time to Central Wnr Time, placing them on the same time basis as Charlevoix.

BOY HELD IN FATAL SHOOTING OF SISTER

Girl's Death Friday Result of Quarrel with Brother

Gunshot wounds sufferod during a qunrrel with her younger brother proved fatal shortly after noon Friday to Gladys Collins, 16, Boyne City Rt. 1, at Charlevoix Hospital.

Her brother, Allen, 14, is being held for hearing before Probate Judge R. L. Lewis. The shooting wes committed Thursday afternoon in the yard of the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Collins, 3½ miles from East Jordan on tho Deer Lake road.

The led told Sheriff Floyd Ikens and Prosecuting Attorney C. M. Bice thst he and his sister quarrelled after she tried to prevent him from playing the phonograph. He relatcd that he threatened to shoot her unless she left the bouse, nnd when she went into the yard, he picked up a 20-gauge shotgun, loaded it, and followed her. When Gladys hid behind a tree, then moved toward him and told him "he didn't darc," he pulled the trigger. The shot entered the girl's hand and abdomen.

Parents of the children were employed at the Reid, Murdoch & Co. canning factory at Ellsworth, and were not at home when the tragedy occurred.

BLOOD DONORS ARE ASKED TO REGISTER

Mobile Collection Unit at Boyoe City, October 25

A mobile blood-collecting unit will be at Boyne City for a few days beginning October 25, to collect blood for processing into plnsma for civilian blood banks set up by the Michigan department of health, in cooperation with the American Red Cross.

The joint program is designed to provide a sufficient supply of plasma to meet any emergency coming under jurisdiction of the office of civilian defense during the war, and to supply the normal needs of practicing physicians for plasma to use in treatment of civilinns. It is contemplated to continue the program after the war to take care of civilian needs.

All those in Charlevoix who wish to donate blood to the program aro asked to register with Mrs. R. F. Sloan, phone 413. Registrations must be completed by next Tuesday, September 21.

Transportation to Boync City will be furnished, and cantoen service provided by the Charlevoix county Red Cross chapter. Many local people signified willingness to donate blood at the civilian defense registration shortly after this country entered the war, and it is hoped these and many others will again register.

WIND STORM CAUSES LOSS TO FISHERMEN

Many Nets Ruined During Blow of Saturday and Sunday

Losses estimnted at $10,000 were suffered by Charlevoix'e fishing fleet during strong winds of Saturday and Sunday.

Numerous nets were ruined during the blow, necessitating expensive twine replacements. Average loss of the thirteen commercial fishing boats operating out of Charlevoix was more than $500, and one fisherman is reported to have lost 19 boxes of nets set in shoal water.

For Hospital, Health and Accident or Life Insurance, call Geo. O. Haggard, phone 390, or write Box 72, Charlevoix.—Adv. 35tf.

RATIONING SHELLS TO HUNTERS LIKELY

War Department Releases Limited Quantity for Michigan

Rationing of shotgun shells and rifle ammunition to Michigan hunters this fall is predicted by H. D. Ruhl, chief of the geme division.

Ruhl's predictiun followed ennouncement from Washington that the War Production Board has approved release of 6,250,000 shotgun sbells, 850,000 rounds of center fire rifle ammunition and an undetermined quantity of .22 caliber cartridges to Michigan this fall.

Although Ruhl admitted that some type of ammunition rationing is likely, he said the method of rationing has not yet been determined.

It is probable, however, thet the amount nf ammunition to be allowed each hunter will not exceed one box of 25 shotgun shells and one box of 20 center-fire rifle emmunition, he said.

KISKA LANDING IS DESCRIBED

JAPS HASTILY DESERTED ALEUTIAN BASE

Ensign Warren Shapton Describes Conditions Found by American Forces Upon Occupation

An interesting account of conditions found by American forces when they landed on Kiska Island, hastily abandoned by the Japs, is contained in the following letter written by Ensign Warren Shapton, U. S. N. R., to Mrs. Shapton (Ernestine Nickerson).

Ensign Shapton's eyewitness description makes an interesting sequel to the picture article on Kiska in last week's Life Magazine. An excerpt from another letter, relating his experience in Alaskan salmon fishing, is also quoted below:

"I have been snlmon fishing a couple times and it was really fun. The last time I got 15, but it finally got so wet and cold I couldn't stand it. Had to wade right up the river and didn't have my waders on. Some of the places were right up to my neck. I took off my jacket and rolled up my sleeves and went right to it.

"After spearing one lots of times I would have to go completely under water to get ahold of its gills. They were too heavy to pull up on a spear, because the spear would pull right through. The stream was awfully steep and rocky. We just had little spears and about every other throw

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPENED MONDAY

REGULAR CLASS SCHEDULE NOW UNDER WAY

Enrollment Figures Below Those of Last Year Are Reported by Supt. O. P. North

Enrollment figures for the 1943-44 term of Charlevoix public schools, reported by Supt. O. P. North, show a decrease of 42 students below last year.

Largest drop is in the senior high school, where enrollment on Tuesday was 154 as compared to 190 a year ago. Seventh and eighth grade enrollment is 88, a slight increase over last year's 83. The elementary department has dropped from 298 to 287. This year the ninth grade is in the senior high school, instead of in the junior high as for several years past.

Following is the enrollment by grades:

	1942	1943
High School
12th Grade	49	37
11th Grade	46	33
10th Grade	47	36
9th Grade	48	48
	190	154
Junior High
8th Grade	43	42
7th Grade	40	40
	83	88
Elementary Department
6th Grade	40	36
5th Grade	35	44
4th Grade	47	36
3rd Grade	42	43
2nd Grade	41	37
1st Grade	46	47
Kindergarten	47	44
	298	287

Figures are not yet available on the number of rural students who are being transported by bus. Service is now being provided for higher grade students in Phelps, Norwood, Hilton, McGeagh, Barnard, Ironton, Grand View, Loeb and Burgess districts.

WEATHER PREVENTED CLIPPER STOP HERE

Passengers Board Chicago-Bound Ship at Harbor Springs

Rough seas prevented the S. S. Milwaukee Clipper from making her scheduled stop in Charlevoix last Wednesday afternoon to pick up vacationists returning to their homes in the Chicago aren.

Unable to make the difficult entry into the local harbor because of weather conditions, the big ship laid at Harbor Springs over night. Passengers from Charlevoix drove to Harbor Springs to board the boat, which left nt noon Thursday for Chicago.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

If you grunt when you are putting your shoes on, age is heginning to get you.

And speaking of grunting reminds me that I got up Monday morning with "blackberry hips," which are some relation to that "huckleberry rheumetism" I had once before and the "bean back" one of our correspondents wrote about. The reward for those ailments, though, stands on the fruit cellar shelf in sufficient quantity, thank goodness, to make up for the lack of sweet cherries and peaches which this year were out nf sight of the average man's means.

I understand Bernie Ward has been having pretty good luck netting for perch outside North and South points. That's an indication, no doubt, that the big yellow bellies are probably in the bay waiting for the hook and line fishermen to get out after them. And while on the topic of fishin', this cool spell we've had ought to start the steelhead hitting.

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

This is the first opportunity I have had to drop you a line since my arrival in San Antonio. Your paper still arrives on echedule, and I can say that I sincerely appreciate it.

I saw in the paper where my brother is spending some time in Charlevoix and that was news to me.

Being that I hnven't written for quite some time, I'll try to relate some of my experiences for the past few months.

There were about 50 of us that hnd completed our six months course at Hiram College, Ohio, nnd we were slated to be shipped to either Santa Ana, Calif., or San Antonio, Texas, for classification. It was supposed to be a deep, dark secret as to which one it would be, however, we suspected it would be San Antonio, and it was.

We left Ohio on the 7th of August and arrived here on August 9th. The trip was rather tiresome, but I believe that all of us enjoyed it, for at least we were having a few days that were not crowded with history, math, physics, etc. We traveled through 8 states and stopped for a few hours at such cities as Chicago, Kansas City, and Fort Worth, Texas didn't appeal to any of us too well for the heat was and is terrific. One week it averaged 100. The first glimpse of the classification center, located about seven miles from the city of San Antonio and right in the middle of a field of sand and cactus, did not do much to raise our spirits, but now that we have been here for a month we're getting used to the surroundings and climate.

The two weeks that followed our arrival were weeks of examinations which consisted of a 7-hour mental test, a four-hour physchomoter test, and a very thorough physical; all this was followed by a half-hour interview with a psychiatrist. The mental test covered everything from music to machinery, while the physchomoter was one given to test your aptitude by the use of special mechanical devices. The biggest percent of the boys are washed out by the psychomoter test and the psychi-

Victorious Crews, Planes Back Home

One of the three B-26 bombers that were flown back to the factories in which they were built is shown just after it was landed at Baltimore, Md., by Lieut. Richard Meldon. These planes and their victorious crews took part in 159 missions against the Axis, shot down 16 enemy fighters, and sank eight Axis ships and three submarines.

EARLY RELEASE OF AMMUNITION SOUGHT

Conservation Officials Acting to Aid Michigan Hunters

Efforts to obtain release of sporting ammunition allocated to Michigan by the OPA in time for use during the regular Michigan small game hunting seasons will be made by P. J. Hoffmaster, director of conservation.

Hoffmaster said that Michigan had been allocated a quantity of rifle and shotgun ammunition, but that it was his understanding that the shells would not be released for sale for 45 days. The shells have been manufactured and packed and are now being held in warehouses, he said.

Michigan's duck season opens Sept. 25 and its small game season in the northern peninsula October 1. If the shells are not released for another six weeks, they will be useless to most Michigan hunters, Hoffmaster stated. The conservation commission authorized Hoffmaster to appear personally before OPA officials if such action should be necessary in order to expedite their release.

INVASION! . . . This is it! . . . Mighty America is poised! . . . Will you be able to say: "I personally put my full strength into the knock-out blow"?

THE Third War Loan is on. To carry the war home to our enemies, with killing fury, calls for an added 15 billion dollars, quickly.

Your government merely asks you to lend your money. With every dollar of wealth in this richest of all nations as security!

Mother, Father—you can't lose! But your boy—or your neighbor's boy—can! Your country can! Unless you put every ounce of your inspired strength into this final punch!

Your boy, or your neighbor's boy, knows what the fruits of this devastating Allied invasion will be—the months, the dollars, the American lives it will save. And, across the miles, he is pleading—buy more and still more War Bonds—today!

Results of five months of operation of Charlevoix's municipally owned hydro electric light and power plant at Bellaire show that the city is succeeding in its experiment with the electric light business.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Shapton, of Marion township, received word Monday from Washington, D. C., that their son, Leslie T. Shapton, 21, had been missing in action since Sunday, July 21. He was with the marine corps in France, and had taken part in many important battles.

Mrs. R. B. Armstrong will give a tea party Friday afternoon for the benefit of the cause of woman's suffrage. Miss Ames, state organizer, will be present.

Clarence Bridge will spend a few weeks in the city before entering the merchant marine as a junior engineer.

Men of 18 to 20, and 32 to 36 years of age, will register for the draft on September 12. It is intended to raise men for 98 divisions to be in the field by July 1, 1919. During the winter, there will be weekly registration days for those who become 18 years of age. (Two months from this date, plans were suddenly changed.)

LANSING LETTER

If you crave a bear-skin rug for your living room floor, take a tip from this peripatetic columnist.

Oil up the family musket and start hitch-hiking, or mushing by dog-team, for the most northernly part of Michigan's vast Upper Peninsula — the slender, scenic Keweenaw peninsula with its wilderness of mountains and forests —all closer to the Arctic circle than Quebec, Canada. Yes—ther's b'ar, up thar!

When you finally reach Keweenaw, the nosey and playful bears may greet you on the lonely streets of Copper Harbor. Make sure that the sports calendar is right, as proclaimed by the state conservation commission, and that the 1943 deer season has been officially opened. Then instead of watching capricious bears push over garbage cans in a quest for food, or feed from the hospitable hands of Joseph Matthews, elderly proprietor of the Beauty View general store which is Copper Harbor's sole retail establishment, just fire your gun and bag your bear. That is, of course, if you're not too excited or too ashamed to shoot.

It's going to be "as easy as pie" to get your bear this Fall. For unless the county board of supervisors relents under a steady fire of criticism from the county road commission and the commercial resort owners, the season will be lifted soon in Keweenaw.

Don't leave any food outside at night," Donald Dow warned us, the first night we pitched a tent at the Fort Wilkins state park, right next to Fanny Hooe lake. "The bears may be attracted to to your tent by the food, and you will have trouble." Dow is caretaker at the park; resides summer and winter at the Fort with his wife and two children.

My wife, who was nicknamed "Toots" years ago because of her petite size, looked at me in dismay. I had bid a gallant farewell to John W. Rice, publisher of the Houghton Mining Gazette, announcing jauntily our expedition to the Fort. Darkness was falling, and it was too late to retreat, ignominously or otherwise. We were stuck.

Dow continued with more cheer: "A few days ago a mother and her two children were followed by a bear while they were picking thimble-berries in the park, near Lake Superior. They ran into the lake to escape. Of course, the animal was hungry and wanted their berries. This story was broadcast over the radio.

"Last summer a family arrived late in the day, just as you did. I told them also not to put food outside. 'We've camped all thru Yellowstone Park', replied the husband, so I assumed they were experienced campers. The next morning when I visited the park, I noticed the campers had left. Later I heard their story. They had put a portable cupboard upon an outdoor table. It contained all their food, including some bacon, and their dishes. A bear had been attracted by the smell of bacon. He knocked the cupboard to the ground, banged it around until it broke open, and then devoured the meat. The family, panic-stricken, had fled at daylight.

"Late in the summer, after the rush of the tourist season here, a hungry bear invaded the picnic grounds while a family was about to enjoy a picnic spread on an outdoor table. The picnickers fled, crying for help. As I arrived the bear was seated upright on the table, feeding himself with both paws.

"When the bear started to move towards me, I fired my shotgun low at him. The bear ran, and later I saw a bear with two toes missing from a foot. It was the same animal."

At Eagle Harbor, another Keweenaw village, we heard the story of how a bear had tried to invade the log cabin of the Robert Van Pelts, just west of the lighthouse.

Mr. Van Pelt, an official of the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago, was in Washington. His wife and two children were alone. One evening she heard a scratching sound on a screen. Walking over to the window, she beheld the face of a bear. Frightened, she turned off the electric lights. The children were asleep, upstairs, on a ledge. The bear then went to the other side of the cabin and scratched a window screen. Finally he went to the back door and pawed it.

Mother instinct told Mrs. Van Pelt the bear was after her two children. Next day, relating the incident to neighbors, she mentioned she had put the garbage pail inside the kitchen.

Animal tales of this kind can be found readily in the Keweenaw country, and in fact in many other parts of Michigan's northland. They prove nothing except that semi-tame bear get lazy when spoiled by human kindness and prefer old, smelly garbage to nice fresh berries.

Joseph Matthews, the Copper Harbor store proprietor, is fond of the critters. "Pal is my favorite bear," he explained. "He comes to my home nearly every evening, and I feed him from my hand, like a pet dog. Pal is about three years old and weighs about 300 pounds. Teddy, another bear, weighs 175 to 200 pounds."

In the front window of Mr. Matthews' emporium is a display of men's bathing suits with legs to the knees and buttoned shoulder straps. All kinds of chocolate bars were on display. Also, fresh bananas.

Harold Westcott, who runs the Pontiac Lodge, Copper Harbor resort and postoffice, is inclined to favor the bears as a tourist attraction, but he gets hopping mad when they eat up his apples and damage the orchard.

Mrs. Mortimer North, of Chicago, who has been spending the summer in a cottage east of the park, reported that bears growled at her when she ventured outside at night.

This evidence all points to one conclusion. Until the Keweenaw bears discovered five years ago that food could be obtained easily from a garbage dump or that strange tidbits were awaiting in or near the civilized domiciles of people, the animals were content to subsist on succulent roots and choice nuts and berries and fruits, all provided generously by a bountiful Creator.

J. H. Stephenson, assistant chief of the state conservation department's game division, said that rangers at Yellowstone Park fed the semi-tame bears and erected

They Scared Japanese Troops From Kiska

Moving speedily and cautiously, American and Canadian troops are pictured as they neared the island of Kiska on the first day of operations there. They are transferring to a landing craft. The Japanese, in their first such action of the war, made no attempt to defend the island. They fled, allowing the Allies to take it without a battle. According to Vice Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid, commander of the North Pacific forces, the fall of Kiska puts America in an offensive rather than a defensive position in the Aleutians. This new victory makes the use of land based bombers against Jap bases in the Kurile Islands more feasible.

"Jeep Nerves"—that's what Dan O'Neill calls the jumpy way some folks react to the strain of wartime living.

Not that Dan blames 'em. When you work 12 hours a day and travel in crowded busses—live in trailers and put up with inconveniences—it's only natural to get tense and irritable.

"Folks must learn to relax," says Dan, "and take it easy."

And Dan thinks he has the formula. Soon as he's through at the shop he comes straight home, picks out the comfortablest chair and pours himself a tall, cool glass of beer.

Then he sips it—slowly and appreciatively—like good beer should be enjoyed.

And by the time that glass of beer is gone, Dan says his disposition is as good as new . . . and the day's work seems well worth tackling again tomorrow.

It's a real effective formula. I know; I've tried it!

FARMERS SLAUGHTER FOR OWN MEAT NEEDS

Ration Points Must Be Given for Animals Raised on Contract

Many people who thought to stretch their meat ration points by having pigs or other livestock raised for them by farmers, will find themselves unintentionally involved in "black market" trading unless they make arrangements to give up ration points for the meat after animals are slaughtered.

A farmer who resides on his own land is entitled to slaughter as many cattle, calves, sheep, lambs or hogs as he requires to provide a fair share of the civilian meat supply for himself, his immediate family, and his permanent or temporary resident employees.

Farmers living in town, whose farms are worked by a tenant or regularly paid employee, have these slaughter privileges if they own the livestock and premises on which animals were fed. A businessman who contracts with a farmer to raise livestock for him, must give up ration points for the livestock when slaughtered unless he also holds title to the land on which they were raised.

Further information relative to slaughtering of animals raised on contract for city residents may be secured at the local war price and rationing board.

Corn Borer Damages Many Fields

Recently one corn field was observed in the Charlevoix area that has been greatly damaged by the corn borer which has been increasing in numbers for several years in this area. The owner of this field had noticed for several days that many leaves were turning brown and yet the crop was not mature. Each day this condition was getting increasingly worse. Observation showed that the corn borers had entered the stalks and had drilled many openings up and down the stalk, thus preventing food supply from entering the ears and leaves.

Many other fields in the county have been damaged in varying degrees from this pest and clean-up measures must be followed in order to control or prevent the damage.

First of all, if you have a silo, you can kill the corn borers and yet save all of the corn crop by placing it in the silo. This should be done right away, as corn for silage is now in the right stage. Secondly, if corn is harvested for grain, it should be cut as close to the ground as possible and when the corn is removed the stubble should be turned under. The corn borers that are left in the stubble will then be killed during the winter months. In other words, from here on in the only control is to cover all stubble and remnants of the corn crop. If you are suspicious of corn borer, visit your corn field and carefully look over a number of hills. Small openings will be noticed in the corn stalk where the corn borer has entered and where it has tunneled up and down the stalk, thus shutting off the food supply.

Culling Poultry Demonstrated

Last week Friday and Saturday under the direction of O. E. Shear, poultry specialist, Michigan State College, a splendid group of eight students interested in agriculture were trained to cull farm flocks. On Friday three boys and one girl from the Boyne City area visited four flocks. At each demonstration considerable attention was devoted to pointing out the difference between good layers and poor layers.

On Saturday another group of four farm flocks were visited with a group of four young students from East Jordan. It was found that in each case, with the exception of one that from 20 to 25 per cent of the birds were poor layers and should be culled out. The one exception was a flock where the owner had eliminated the poor layers each day as they were noticed. In this case there were only two culls in fifty hens. These young folks are now trained to do this job and under the direction of their agricultural instructors, Kenneth Leckrone, of Boyne City, and L. B. Karr, East Jordan, will be glad to visit flocks in the community and help in taking out the poor layers. If interested, leave your request with your county agricultural agent, or either teacher, and in the near future they will be pleased to help you in this important project.

Helms Residence Damaged

Fire believed caused by defective wiring partially destroyed two stairways in the Flo Helms residence on Wood street, about 2 a. m. Friday. Starting in the basement stairway, the blaze burned that stair and the flight between the first and second floors, and much smoke damage also resulted. It was speedily extinguished by the local fire department.

KISKA LANDING IS DESCRIBED

would have to float right through the pool before I could get a footing again. I tried to get some pictures of the fish, but it was too dark after we came in, and the next day it rained."

"After landing (on Kiska) we all went ashore to look things over. I'll try and describe it to you, but hardly think I can do it justice. First I want to say that it was the dirtiest rat hole—far beyond the imagination. While 'rat hole' seems to describe it, it's too good a word to convey the filth and slime in which the Japs lived.

"The main village is just like a big mole hill—there are only three or four wooden shacks and the rest is underground. Some of the tunnels are 3-4 of a mile long and some of the rooms 40 feet square. There were approximately 8,000 in this one section and I doubt whether it covers as much ground as Round lake. They have cut these tunnels and caves back into the mountains and I suppose it resembles somewhat the ancient cave dwellings of the Indians. The passages are low and narrow and a white man had to stoop to get through them. There was no light or ventilation and the walls were all dripping water. They slept as many as 12 in a cave eight feet square and five feet high. They must have slept in their clothes all the time, because only the officers had blankets.

"As far as food is concerned, there was lots of it stored underground. There was something which may have been fish fat, that came in wooden buckets like lard—this they evidently mixed with rice. That seemed to be about all they ate, although there was some dried fish, apparently minnows, and I saw two empty quart bottles of Worcester sauce and a box of dried mustard.

"They evidently expected to spend the winter because winter clothes were in evidence everywhere. There were lots of fur coats, long underwear, boots and mittens. It was all buried tho, they hadn't issued it as yet. A lot of it was new and some very good. I got a fur coat, scarf, fur hat and mittens but had to throw everything overboard except the mittens, because of the smell and we were also afraid of disease. The mittens were new and very nice. They are lined with rabbit fur.

"We found their place of worship and I have three pieces of the shrine. The shrine looks like an oversized doll house and is built in the resemblance of a temple. It was encased in a cobblestone cupola inside a small pagoda. They had a place to kneel out in front between two things that looked like bird houses on pedestals. The whole area covered about 30 feet square and with the cobblestone walk leading up to it, was the only pretty place in their camp. The men were afraid to touch the shrine for quite a while for fear of a booby trap, but it turned out to be about the only place that wasn't wired.

"We have a Japanese dog that was left behind and have him on board ship now. I think it's a Siberian wolf hound, but am not sure. It resembles a police dog somewhat, although it is about all black with the exception of its feet and nose. We had an awful time finding something it would eat. Finally we had the cook make up a bowl of rice and flavored it with cod liver oil. After about four or five days it tried a piece of meat and since then will eat most anything. You would have to laugh to see him try to bury a bone in the steel deck. He has really taken to the boys and is quite a pet now.

"Some of the Jap equipment is very good and some just a pitiful imitation. There were several Ford and Chevrolet trucks here, model 1939, made in Japan. Also motorcycles and any number of bicycles and little heavy duty rickshaws. They used the rickshaws just like we do a wheelbarrow.

"It certainly was interesting to see how they lived, but makes you want to fight harder to keep them from coming over here.

Love,
Shap."

"Next time— he'll count a hundred!"

"He called me in at 10:30 this morning. 'Call the Philadelphia office!' he barked. 'Ask 'em where those contracts are. They were supposed to mail 'em last night.'

"I hurried. But just as I was going to place the call I remembered about so many long distance lines being jammed with war calls. So I ran down to the mail desk and hunted—there were the contracts, tucked away in the wrong pile.

"I explained why I hadn't made the call and the Boss told me I was absolutely right. 'Next time, Miss Brown,' he said, 'make me count a hundred before I use long distance!'"

Long-distance lines to war-busy centers are particularly congested. Only you can decide whether your call is so important that it should be placed on those overburdened circuits. Therefore, please . . .

1. Make only the most necessary calls to war-activity areas.
2. If the operator asks you to limit your call to 5 minutes, please co-operate . . . her request means others are waiting.

AT THE MOVIES

"Stormy Weather"

Something new in filmusicals is scheduled to open Sunday-Monday at the Palace Theatre, when "Stormy Weather" arrives. Headlining such famous names in the show world as Lena Horne, Bill Robinson and Cab Calloway, the film is a cavalcade of rhythm. In the cast of the film are Katherine Dunham and her troupe, Fats Waller, whose magic fingers make the keyboard jump with jive, and those amazing Nicholas Brothers, whose sensational dancing has stopped many a show.

"Edge of Darkness"

"Edge of Darkness," the Warner Bros. film based upon William Woods' popular novel of the same name, will be the new screen offering at the Palace Theatre, starting next Tuesday and running three days. Errol Flynn and Ann Sheridan head one of the most distinguished casts ever assembled in one motion picture. Featured in the supporting cast Nancy Coleman, Walter Huston, Judith Anderson. Brought to life on the screen is this story of a Norwegian fishing village, its simple, peace-loving people, and of the brutal Nazi boot that stamps out freedom wherever it goes.

"The Mysterious Doctor"

The enemy works in mysterious ways to sabotage the United Nations' war effort and one of them is shown in Warner Bros.' "The Mysterious Doctor," which opens Friday and Saturday at the Palace Theatra.

"The Mysterious Doctor" is concerned with the peculiar events that take place in Morgan Head, a lonely mining village on the Cornwall moors, and the supposedly haunted Wickham tin mine.

Featured in the cast are John Loder, handsome English actor, Eleanor Parker, Bruce Lester and Lester Matthews.

A True Test

Fair dealing with the people throughout a number of years is usually a true test. That is especially true in banking.

It has been truly said: "Clean business demands clean men. Good business demands men who have shown some signs that they can handle their own affairs to advantage. Successful business demands success on the part of those who are to conduct it." We invite you to make our bank your bank.

atrist. After all the tests are finished, you spend about three days of waiting for your classification to come out on the bulletin board. Your classification can be one of four: pilot, bombardier, navigator or G.D.O. (ground duty only).

I was lucky enough to be classified as a pilot, though I had my choice between pilot and bombardier. I don't know exactly when I will start actual flying, but I have been informed that it will be quite some time yet, as pre-flight and primary are pretty full at the present; in the meantime all I have to do is drill, and take calisthenics, K. P., guard duty and a few other special duties.

On the way down our train stopped at Temple, Texas, for 3 hours and if I had had more time I could have looked up my old friend, Don Meggison, as Camp Hood was only a short distance from there.

Time is lacking to write any more, so I will close saying thanks again for sending the Courier.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Ken,

Well, here I am back in sunny California (I don't think that's a military secret) after six days of heaven at home.

I just received two copies of the paper, so I'm writing to give you my new address. Week end liberty started at 1200 today, port has liberty this week end, and I've got starboard leave, so I'll have time to drop you a few lines. I've got all my gear polished shipshape, and I haven't found an iron for pressing yet, so I'll try to write a few letters home. I got a letter from Les Gallagher, he's getting along swell, I hear from him real often.

I hope Moe Plumm hasn't wrecked the Charlevoix golf course yet, he was doing alright when I was there.

Found that iron. So long,
Bill.

Dear Ken,

The expression, "the man behind the man behind the gun,"—I guess I am the one behind, in fact, way behind them all. At the present time I'm in the M. P.'s and that doesn't mean More Pay in army terms.

They are training us in invasion tactics. That looks like a boat ride, and I don't mean to Beaver Island.

I want to take this opportunity to tell you how much I really appreciate the paper. In fact, to men in the armed forces there is nothing more welcome than their home town news. Hoping it reaches me for the duration,

Sincerely,
Pvt. Charles Greeley

Dear Ken,

I suppose you are wondering what has happened to me. Everything, or rather almost everything, has happened. I'm in my 11th week of basic and will be glad when number 13 is finished. We have just finished a two-week bivouac. Before that we were on the range for a week. All I can say about the range is that with an M1 rifle I'm lousy, but with a carbine I can do better.

This bivouac was really swell. I'm in the station hospital recuperating from an attack of ring worm. Out in the woods for two weeks and it was all very exciting. We went on night hikes on which we were subjected to gas attack, air attack, mechanized attack, and then ambushed. One afternoon we had to crawl through live machine gun fire. One fellow got up too high and had a .30 caliber bullet go through his pack, ruining his mess gear. We had to go under two barbed wire fences.

Two days ago we were given a demonstration on the "bazooka," or rocket launcher. They had a very new model out there. It was so new they wouldn't let anyone within 50 feet of it during the firing and after that they took it apart and put it in a metal box and locked it. They fired it for us for experimental purposes. It is really a remarkable weapon. It really wrecked a piece of two-inch armor steel.

The things that are most interesting now are the thoughts of home. Many of these are furnished by a little 8-page newspaper. Many thanks for it, Ken, and all those that help make it a success and also the ones that make it possible for me to receive it. It really keeps me in contact with the home town. Maybe I'll be able to personally thank you in two or three weeks.

I must close now and see if I can write to a few of the other folks that are wishing for a letter.

Yours,
Dick Fuchtman

Dear Ken,

First of all, I would like to thank you for the Courier. It sure is a change from the same old grind of reading textbooks, to read a good home town newspaper every Friday night.

I am in the V-12 unit at Western Michigan college. It's something like ordinary college, except that we are required to study several subjects by the navy. However, the main difference between this and regular college is that we have a hard time finding time to study on top of everything else.

If everything turns out alright, I expect to be here for two more semesters, and then go on to midshipmen's school.

I have five roommates, and they are beginning to hit the bunks, so I guess I had better, too.

Tomorrow we have regimental review, therefore we need a fairly good night's rest before. We have competition with the marines that are stationed here, but that is not considered very high competition by us, for we win out in marching every week.

Dear Ken,

It has been some time since I wrote you thanking you for the paper, and all the people that make it possible for the boys in the service to have it.

I can't say anything about the weather as the censor wouldn't let it go through. Would you send me the address of the Charlevoix boys in —(censored)—?

As ever,
Harold Holm
Cr. Fleet Post Office
San Francisco, Calif.

The censor did such a good job of blotting out that one word in Harold's letter that we don't know whose address he wants. Sorry!

Dear Ken,

I guess it's time for me to drop you a few lines once again and to thank both you and the people of Charlevoix for the paper, which I enjoy reading very much.

I am now out of the hospital and it sure is good to be out after being laid up for nearly six months. While I was there I had a visit from Frances Marshall, who used to live in Charlevoix, but now lives in Blaine, Wash. It sure was good to see someone from Charlevoix, especially someone you know.

I am now stationed here for duty, as I was injured so that I'm unfit for sea duty again. My duties here are connected with the security of the station. I have to examine all people who enter the station and see that they have the right identification or pass to get into the station. I go on duty from 12 midnight to 8 a. m. and it sure is a busy place, just like a city business section.

I have had one week end liberty since I've been in Seattle, and it sure is a beautiful place with all the mountains around it. But no matter how beautiful it is, it never could compare with our home town, Charlevoix the Beautiful.

Give my regards to all the old-timers in Charlevoix, especially the people who helped put the Bomber drive over the top.

Yours as ever,

Dear Ken,

Thanks a million for sending me the Courier! You can't realize just how much it means to be so far away from home and yet have some idea what is going on there.

After next week I will have been in the U. S. army one year, and, like all the rest in service, I wonder for how much longer. Bet I have just decided that army life isn't as bad as I thought it was at first. Of course I miss all my home town friends and my family, but I have made new friends here at camp and life could be a whole lot worse.

I must thank you again for the paper—it really is appreciated.

Must close now. With best of luck possible to the rest of the Charlevoix boys in the service.

Sincerely yours,
Ernie.

bear-proof fencing for protection of tourists. The Keweenaw bears were first noticed in 1938 at a garbage dump maintained by the Keweenaw road commission for its lodge and cabins at Copper Harbor. Tourists were delighted, and they sent many postal cards to friends.

At the request of county supervisors, the state commission closed the Keweenaw bear season. Since then, a policy of home rule has been followed.

The Keweenaw controversy is evenly divided. The pro-bear faction maintains that bears are a valuable tourist attraction; no one has been hurt. The anti-bear group insist that bears are dangerous, a threat to nerves, and a nuisance. You can't argue with an excited mother that a bear wanted left-over food, not her innocent babes.

And now for an anti-climax. Did a bear invade our tent, or chase the missus into the lake? We heard bear tales at every side, yet we saw our first bear, not in Keweenaw, but at Sokehorn's place near Harrison. Spike, barefooted and bewhiskered as usual, was leading a black bear by a long steel chain. After the trip to Keweenaw, it was an awful letdown.

Q. Why should cars now be greased every two months or at 1000 miles—whichever comes first?
A. Because better rust protection is needed for lightly-driven or idle cars. Water which splashes or condenses on grease fittings may not be worked off—may now stand on these metal parts much of the time.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Italy's Unconditional Surrender Marks Real 'Beginning of the End' for Axis; GOP Outlines Foreign Relations Plank; Reds Recapture Ukraine Farm Lands

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

ITALY SURRENDERS:
One Down, Two to Go

Five days after British and Canadian troops stormed across the Messina straits to land on the Italian mainland, Italy surrendered unconditionally to Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

When Marshal Pietro Badoglio's government gave up, it marked the first split in the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis. First indications of the Italian collapse came with the ouster of Benito Mussolini.

Left to hold Hitler's vaunted European fortress were German troops, themselves engaged in a major retreat in Russia, and the Nazis' smaller Balkan allies. While capitulation of Italy exposed central Europe to heavy bomber attack, the Alpine district presented a formidable obstacle to an Allied ground advance into southern Germany.

Hundreds of thousands of her troops killed or captured in North Africa; her elaborate railroad system torn to shreds; her fair cities smouldering in ruin, and lacking the natural resources to carry on war, Italy sought the easiest way out of the conflict.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC:
Isolate Japs

Australian troops were hacking their way through jungle brush in the northwest of Lae, New Guinea, when a cloud of American planes appeared overhead. The next moment the sky was filled with tiny white puffs, marking out Allied paratroopers, floating to earth to assist in the encirclement of 20,000 Jap soldiers.

Gen. George Blamey

Previously, Australian units under Gen. George Blamey surprised the Japs by landing in force to the east of Lae. Moving quickly, they advanced on the big enemy base even while the Aussies and U. S. paratroopers were sealing off Lae to the northwest.

General MacArthur's trigger action not only cut off the Lae garrison from reinforcement from the north, but it also was designed to choke off stubborn Jap troops resisting an Allied advance before Salamaua, farther to the southeast.

HEALTH:
Holding Up Well

Civilians are maintaining a better level of health than federal authorities expected, despite food rationing, longer work hours, and fewer doctors and nurses available, the Office of War Information reports. While mortality and sickness rates are slightly higher, the statement comments that the rise is not more than could be anticipated, considering wartime strain.

The only serious epidemic condition is the increase in infantile paralysis (poliomyelitis) and spinal meningitis. More than 4,500 cases of infantile paralysis have been reported throughout the nation this year, the largest number since 1931. Spinal meningitis cases total 13,368, the greatest number since 1914, when records began.

2,000,000 OVERSEAS:
Marshall Reports

Of 7,000,000 men in the army July 1, 2,000,000 were overseas, Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. chief of staff, revealed in his biennial report to the nation.

Gen. George Marshall

Of the 7,000,000 men, General Marshall said, 521,000 are officers, with 1,065 generals. More than 2,000,000 men are serving in the air force.

Experience shows that six tons of shipping are necessary to transport a soldier and his accessories overseas, and his supply requires one ton a month, General Marshall said.

At the time the Japs attacked the Philippines, General Marshall stated, six troop ships and nine cargo vessels were en route to the Islands.

WACS

Most of the officers of the Women's Army Auxiliary corps (WAACS) have taken the oath in the new Women's Army corps (WACS) the war department announces. Of 5,977 WAAC officers, 5,458 have transferred to the new organization without change of rank. Of the 319 women who have not been given the oath, 41 may yet join, but their cases are pending. The others have dropped out for failure to meet physical requirements or other reasons it was said.

MANPOWER:
Control Coast Labor

With 160,000 more persons required for shipyards and 100,000 for aircraft factories on the West coast, War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes announced that the WMC received control of the supervision of labor in that area.

James F. Byrnes

A copy of a program already developed in the Buffalo, N. Y., area, the WMC's West coast plan involves: 1. Determination of necessary production schedules in various factories; 2. Shift of labor to essential employment from less essential work or services; 3. Allotment of manpower to the more important industries in the area; 4. Distribution of farm help wherever most needed throughout the West coast.

Time to Switch

Along with adoption of the West coast plan, the WMC's selective service bureau sought to co-ordinate its draft program with industrial needs.

First, the bureau ordered that all non-deferrable workers seeking to switch to essential production be given 30 days, or till October 15, in which to find such employment through registration with the U. S. Employment service. The WMC previously ruled that essential occupation, and not dependency, be the basis for draft deferment.

Second, the bureau instructed local boards that before they induct any workers skilled in 149 critical occupations, they must submit the names of such men to the U. S. Employment service. The service will then determine whether these men are more urgently needed by another employer.

GOP:
Keep Sovereignty

Co-operation in the preservation of peace without the loss of U. S. sovereignty constitutes the basis of the Republican party's post-war advisory committee's recommendation for future American foreign policy.

Harrison Spangler

Meeting on historic Mackinac Island, Mich., under National Chairman Harrison Spangler, the GOP committee struck the theme for its 1944 plank on foreign affairs.

While declaring that "we must do our full share in a program for permanent peace among nations," the GOP committee members said, "we must preserve and protect all our own national interests." If any proposed international co-operation should conflict with our best interests, the committee said, "then the United States should adhere to the policy which will preserve its constitutionalism as expressed in the Declaration of Independence . . ."

For conquered countries, the committee recommended disarmament and destruction of war industries.

RUSSIA:
Regaining Wealth

Under the weight of massed Red attacks, German troops slowly fell back to the broad banks of the Dnieper river in southern Russia.

With many of the rich coal and iron deposits of the Donetz basin in Russian hands again, advancing Red armies also reclaimed much of the fertile farm land of the Ukraine, famed for its black earth and wheat and cotton fields. Sliding into the heart of this province, the Reds severed the Nazis' main rail connections to the north.

With the natural resources, Russian troops also recovered many former industrial cities, like Kharkov. But having been wrecked by warfare and their manufacturing facilities demolished by the Germans, reconstruction will be necessary to restore them to production. In the north-central sector, Red troops pounded at the gateway into White Russia, adjacent to the former state of Poland.

MISCELLANY:

OCTANE GAS: High octane gasoline that will give motorists 50 to 70 miles to the gallon is predicted as a post-war development of the oil industries by William Carney, a research chemist for a large refining company. The new automobiles using this 90 to 95 octane gasoline will have smaller motors and lighter bodies, made of alloys or plastics, it is believed.

U. S. TREASURY:
Seeks Billions

High finance has come to the forefront with the treasury's efforts to raise 100 billion dollars for war expenditures during the present fiscal year ending June 30.

Approximately 50 million bonds valued at 15 billion dollars are expected to be sold during the treasury's present bond selling campaign. All of the money will be sought from individuals and businesses, with banks offered a limited number of securities after the close of the public drive. However, the treasury has been obtaining 100 million dollars weekly through short term bill sales to banks.

Rep. Hubert Doughton

With congress reconvened, Representative Robert Doughton's house ways and means committee was looking forward to consideration of new tax legislation to raise an additional 12 billion dollars requested by President Roosevelt. Present levies will yield 38 billion dollars.

RAIL WRECKS:
High Toll

Crowded with passengers returning to New York, the Pennsylvania railroad's mighty Congressional Limited streaked through the North Philadelphia station. On it whizzed to Frankfort Junction, Pa. Then, a burned journal on the seventh car of the 16-car train gave, throwing the coach high into the air.

Hurtling against a steel girder of a signal tower, the upper section of the coach was sheared right off. Careening wildly, the car behind smashed into the wrecked coach, and the rest of the train left the rails and plowed along the right of way. Fire broke out in some of the cars. More than 50 dead and 125 injured were removed from the wreckage.

Several hours later, the New York Central's Century Limited was roaring along near Canastota, N. Y., when its locomotive exploded, derailing nine of the 15 passenger cars. The first four cars lunged down an embankment; the others were strewn all over the tracks. Heavy, steel rails were plowed up and twisted into fantastic shapes. Three crewmen were killed; approximately seven passengers injured.

U. S.-BRITAIN:
Tongue Common Bond

Speaking at Harvard university, Prime Minister Winston Churchill declared the United States and Great Britain must march together "in those realms of thought which are consecrated to the rights and dignity of man."

"It would be a most foolish and improvident act on the part of our two governments . . . to break up this smooth-running and immensely powerful machinery the moment the war is over," Churchill added.

Commenting on studies being made by a special commission to construct a basic English language for use by all people, Churchill said such a common tongue offers far better opportunity for understanding between people than "taking away provinces and land or grinding them down in exploitation."

Stating that a common speech had drawn the United States and Great Britain close together in war, Churchill said that it may well prove the foundation for a common citizenship.

ECONOMIC DIRECTOR:
Appointed for Italy

Former assistant to Vice President Henry Wallace when he was secretary of agriculture, and more recently head of the Farm Security administration, 41-year-old Calvin B. Baldwin was named area director of economic operations in occupied Italy.

As area director, Baldwin will have the task of co-ordinating the various programs of supply and production instituted by the Allies' civil commissions in governing the captured territories. With Italy essentially an agricultural country, particularly in wheat and fruits, Baldwin's experience in farm administration undoubtedly determined his appointment.

Calvin Baldwin

Joining attacks on Baldwin's political philosophy, Senator Harry F. Byrd charged him with admitting to a joint committee on nonessential expenditure that FSA representatives had formulated a long-range plan of using the government's power of eminent domain for breaking up large land properties into smaller holdings.

JEFFERS

William M. Jeffers, director of the wartime rubber program, has resigned his office, stating that he believes that his main task is accomplished, and that he wishes to return to the railroad of which he is president.

About 30,000 tons of synthetic rubber will be turned out this month, in contrast to the 67,000 tons which is the goal of the program, Jeffers stated, explaining that difficulties have been encountered in expanding factory capacity.

SAMMY JAY SPOILS THE PLAN OF REDDY FOX

REDDY FOX found Sammy Jay in a bad temper. Sammy had missed his usual breakfast of corn stolen from Farmer Brown's corncrib and it had made him cross.

"Good morning," said Reddy in his politest manner—and no one can be more polite than Reddy Fox when he acts out to be.

"Morning," mumbled Sammy Jay.

"I found out something this morning which may interest you," said Reddy; taking no notice of Sammy's cross looks.

"It won't," replied Sammy positively. "It won't. Nothing interests me."

"Not even traps?" asked Reddy slyly.

"What's that?" demanded Sammy, looking at Reddy sharply.

"Oh, nothing much," replied Reddy, quite as if the matter didn't interest him especially, "only I found out something this morning that I thought you might like to see if you were not such a coward."

"Who says I'm a coward?" shrieked Sammy Jay, dancing about with anger.

"I do," replied Reddy. "You don't dare go with me tomorrow morning and see what is going on at Farmer Brown's corncrib."

"It isn't true!" Sammy shrieked. "I dare go wherever you dare go, so there, Reddy Fox!"

"Then I dare you to meet me tomorrow morning on the edge of the Green Forest at sunup and go with me to watch Farmer Brown's corncrib," Reddy replied.

"I'll be there! I'll have you to understand that you don't dare do anything that I don't dare do!" snapped Sammy.

"Who says I'm a coward?" shrieked Sammy Jay.

"All right, see that you are on hand at sunup sharp," replied Reddy, and trotted away grinning.

Early the next morning Reddy Fox and Sammy Jay met at the edge of the Green Forest. "Now," Reddy explained, "we will go over by the fence back of the corncrib. I will hide there just where I hid yesterday morning, and you will hide in the evergreen tree close by. Watch the roof of the corncrib and I think you will see something that may explain how you happened to be caught by the bill the other morning. But, whatever you see, don't make a sound, not the least bit of a sound."

Sammy promised, and they hurried over to their hiding places. Hardly had Sammy settled himself in the evergreen tree when he saw Chatterer the Red Squirrel jump to the roof of the corncrib from the limb of a tree, which overhung it. Almost in a flash Chatterer had disappeared through a hole just under the edge of the roof. No sooner was he out of sight than Reddy Fox run swiftly across to the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard and hid behind it. Right away Sammy Jay guessed that Chatterer had had something to do with the terrible fright he had had at the corncrib.

"It wasn't a trap at all, but Chatterer!" thought Sammy, and right away he grew so angry that he could hardly sit still. Pretty soon out came Chatterer with his cheeks stuffed full of corn. That was too much for Sammy Jay. He forgot all about his promise not to make a sound. He darted out of his hiding place and flew at Chatterer in a terrible rage, screaming at the top of his voice and calling Chatterer every bad thing he could think of. Of course, Chatterer couldn't reply, because his cheeks were stuffed with corn, but he could run. Like a little red flash he was in the tree that overhung the corncrib and dodging around the trunk.

Over behind the stone wall Reddy Fox snarled, for with such a noise he knew it wasn't safe for him to stay a minute longer.

Chicks for Victory

A variation of the Victory gardens blooming all over America is the Victory chicken raising program being carried out in thirty-five Los Angeles, California, elementary schools. Here youngsters are growing chicks in brooders as part of their regular school curriculum. The result is interesting, practical educational material. The children raise their chickens in a very business-like manner. They keep account books in which they record what is paid for feed, housing and other expenses. Income from disposal of the feathered produce is also recorded.

Within a few weeks most of the students were able to differentiate between the various breeds—Plymouth Rock, Rhode Island Red, Austrian White, etc. Mechanically talented youngsters construct necessary paraphernalia. Artistic talent among the young poultry raisers is utilized in drawing the livestock from life.

This is Judy, one of the young chicken raisers who has her own flock of 15 hens at home. She gets enough eggs to feed her own family and occasionally sells a dozen to the neighbors and spends her profits on war stamps. She is pictured weighing some of her eggs.

Left: Judy mixes her feed composed of greens, mixed grains, and growing mash. Below: Her flock hurriedly responds to Judy's call of "come and get it."

Any chicks yet? Judy believes the best way to hatch young chicks is under an old hen. She is checking the hen's progress.

As a chick struts (in circle) across the table, these young scientific raisers record data on their flocks—how much for feed, how many cockerels to raise for meat, how many pullets they will save for eggs, and so on. Thus they learn the relation of arithmetic to poultry farming. Their goal is chickens like the champion in lower inset, Maybe the little chick has the same idea.

Raising of chickens is under the jurisdiction of the science departments of the schools. One brooder was made from scrap lumber and wire. It is heated by an electric bulb. As the chicks are older temperature is reduced by using smaller bulbs.

Dirty Certie from Bizerta,
"Miss Latrine" since 1930,
Blossomed out liko rumors do—
And how that lady's legend grew!

Her shape was touted as divine,
From Tunis to the Mareth Line
Her contours difficult to gain
As any drive on rough terrain.

Her name was heurd from Sfax to Bone,
And soldier lying taught and prone
Before the onslaught at Mateur,
Said: "Soon we'll meet thle gal for sure."

At last they marched Into Bizerte,
And met up with the famous Gertie;
But alas, their many hopes died young—
For Gertie's monsetrap had been sprung!

CAN VITAMINS CHANGE
GRAY HAIR?

Read the amozing experiance of gray-haired paople in Calcium Pantothenate tests sponsared by Good Housekesping magazine. According to this report:

Age—did not seem to affect results. The earliest response occurred in a 50 year old; the latest in a 23 year old.
Color—began to appear near the roots of the hair. The color may not appear all over the head at the same time. Symmetrical areas, perhaps on the temples or the back of the head, may show traces of color first, after which the color will spread to other parts of the head.
Time—varied from 1 month to 6 months.
Results—88% of those tested had positive evidence of a return of some hair color.
● Now thousands use GRAYVITA, which contains 10 mgm. of Calcium Pantothenate (the same amount used in tests above) PLUS 450 U. S. P. units of B_1, the vitamin necessary to healthy nerves. DOCTORS OPPOSED TO FEDERAL SUBSIDIZING

Michigan Has Facilities for Care of Soldiers' Families

Considerable publicity hes beon accorded the new federal act allocating funds for maternity care for wives of non-commissioned service men who are now receiving class "A" allowances.

Unfortunetely, ull detalls of the program were formulated by government officials without consulting any medical associutions for their reection to the plan, end was widely publicized throughout milltary camps befora being brought to the attention of the medical men involved.

No doctor would refuse medical care to the wives or children of service men, regardless of their ability to pay. Medical objections to the subsidy program are: It places free choice of doctors, hospitals and nurses beyond the patient; destroys the close relationship between patient and physician; places information confidential to doctor and patient open to all allied government agencies; and necessitates extra book work and red tape for physicians already overburdened with work.

Michigan hes unusually broad and adequate facilities for care of indigent patients under the Afflicted Child Act. Medical care for wives of service men is fully available under existing resources. An unnecessary tax burden of $6,000,000 annually would be imposed for thie project, at a time when every dollar should be used to provide medicine and armaments for men at the hattle fronts.

The medical professlon will cooperute with the government program if amended to make available state and federal nid only after all local resources, including gratuitous services of doctors, are exhausted; nnd if it is nlso amended to preserve the right of the patient to make her own arrangements with her doctor, rather than through the state as a middle man.

The program as it stands at present cannot and will not be acceptable to medical men who must refuse to sacrifice their rights of frea practice for state regimentation.

LOW SCRAP QUOTAS SET FOR MICHIGAN

Tin Can Quota Is Established for First Time In State

General salvege quotas for scrap metals end tin for the six months perlod ending December 31, 1943, are tha loweet evar assigned In Michigan and take into account thet most of the easy-to-get heavy melting scrap is gone, it is reported by Kenneth M. Burns, chairmen of the state salvege committee of the Michigan office of civilian defensa.

Coincident with his report, Burns announced he hud been notified that the collection of silk and nylon stockings, which has been on the salvege program since Nov. 16, 1942, will terminate nationally Sept. 30, because of growing scarelty of hoso made of these materiels.

The scrap metal quota is 18,707 tons, of which Charlevoix county is asked to supply 112 tons. The quota covere only such salvage as household and similar classifications of metals and le exclusive of industrial nnd speciel project salvage. In all, Michigan is asked to turn in 1,180,000 tons of scrap steel and iron during the last half of the year.

The tin can quota, established for the first time, is 9,558 tons, and Charlevoix county'e share is 19 tons. Under present food rationing regulations, the top potentiul of such salvage is six pounds of tin cans per capitn, and the hoped for recovery is four pounds in counties of more than 70,000 population, with the exception of Berrien und Macomb because they are largely rural, and three pounds in all others.

GIANT FISH SEEN BY PATROL BOAT CREW

Lake Michigan Monster Sighted In Manistique Harbor

Captain C. J. Allere, skipper of the conservation department's patrol hoat on the Great Lakes, whose job is usually to explode wild-eyed tales of visions of weird "sea monstere" on the Great Lakes, was the victim of such a vision himself as he was piloting his ship out of Manistique habor.

As his ship was moving out of the harbor, Captain Allers saw jutting out of the water what appeared to him to be the hull of an overturned boat. But when he put his field glasses on it, he saw that the hulk was moving and then suddenly disappeared. Even tho practical-minded captain admits feeling an eerie chill as he headed his boat toward this strange monster that kept shooting unexpectedly out of the water, and then just as unexpectedly dropping below the surface.

When his boat cume near the monster, Captain Allers and his crew saw about 8 or 9 feet of the arched back of what he declared must have been a giant sturgeon poking out of the water. The captain has been patrolling the Great Lakes for mora than 20 years, but ha contends that that monster-sturgeon or whatever it was—is the largest fish that ha has ever seen in those waters.

THIRD WAR LOAN DRIVE IS SLOW

COUNTY, STATE, FAR FROM CAMPAIGN GOAL

Eight Days Remain Meet Quota; State Official Makes Appeal for Increased Purchases

Less than a third of this city's $100,000 quotn in the Third War Loan bond sales drive has been raised, with only eight days remaining of the campaign.

Boyne City und East Jordun, with similar quotas, are also lagging in sales. Totals to date are: Charlevoix, $37,325; Boyne City, $28,325; East Jordan, $33,200. Totnl for the county, including $120,000 individual sale, $218,850. Quotn: $420,000. In other words, instend of backing up the boys at the front, we're letting them down.

An appeal for accelerated bond sales in the Third War Loan drive, which will end September 30, was received today by Robert Bridge, chairman of the Charlevoix county banking division for the United Stntes treasury war finance committee for Michigan, from Walter S. McLucas, state chairman of the committee's banking division.

The telegram follows:

"When this messago reaches you, there will remain only approximntely eight full working days before the Third War Loan drive closes.

"These days demand our 'all out' effort in the fullest meaning of that critical term, or else the people of the state of Michignn nre confronted with n terrible default. Never has this state failed to meet its obligations with respect to a wnr lonn or a liberty loan quota.

"At this writing it nppears to he headed for such a calamity. This simply cnnot happen. Every member of the bankiag division shares the responsibility of bringing home immediately the danger of onr position to every individunl, institution, and corporate prospect in our state thnt hns not yet purchased treasury securities dnring the current all important drive. We shall not let our troops at Salerno down nt a time when they are sacrificing their lives so that the very hest of our American traditions may live."

This appeal for increnscd purchases in the bond drive should be generously answered by every citizen of Charlevoix, most of whom have a son, husbnnd, brother or friend in the service of the nation.

Casimir V. Mackowiak, of Boyne City, held over a day at the Detroit induction station at the time of examinntion, will leave Thursday for Fort Caster. Robt. D. Miller, accepted as u flying cadet in the army air corps, leaves later this week for training.

The draftees were presented with magezines by the Charlevoix Service Organizution, and cigurettes were given them by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars. The school band was nt the bus station for a musical send-off.

AMMUNITION SALE UNDER RATIONING

HUNTERS DECLARE STOCK IN POSSESSION

Sale to Civilians Begins October 1, Ends Nov. 15—WPB Gives Rules for Purchase

Rationing of civilinn ammunition to hunters will be on the basis of the stocks the hunters now have on hand, the war production board informed P. J. Hoffmaster, state conservation director.

WPB officials explained to Hoffmaster that when buying ammunition, the hunter will be required to sign nn affidavit stating that he does not now have in his possession more than 100 rounds of 22-caliber ammunition, 20 rounds of center fire rifle shells and 50 shot gun shells. If his present supply is not more than these amounts, he will be permitted to buy 50 rounds of 22-caliber ammunition, 20 rounds of center fire ammunition, and 25 shot gun shells.

Farmers will be allowed to purchase 100 rounds of 22's, 40 rounds of rifle ammunition, and 25 shot gun shells.

Sale of ammunition to hunters will begin October 1, and no ammunition will be sold ufter November 15, according to a ruling of the war production board.

Michigan was allotted 6,250,000 shot gun shells, and 850,000 center fire rifle cartridges for this fall's hunting seasons by the WPB, and rationing is necessary to insure equnl distribution of this ammunition among the state's 850,000 hunters, WPB officials explained.

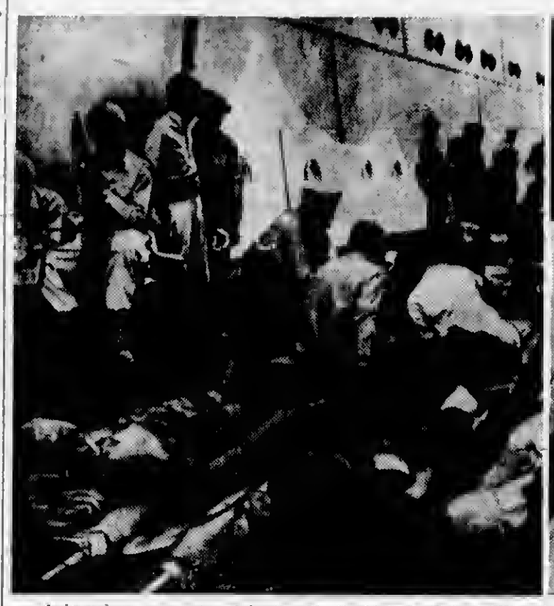
Axis Prisoners Get Medical Care, Good Food



Axis prisoners captured in the North African and Sicilian victories will probably total approximately 340,000. Transporting these men to prison camps, feeding them, plus providing medical care for them, are major war problems. Left: Wounded Axis prisoners on stretchers cover a landing dock in North Africa. Brought from a field hospital by Red Cross ambulances, they await shipment to more permanent hospitals and prison camps. Top right: The dish for which their country is famous—spaghetti—eatlees these Italian prisoners. Bottom right: A wounded German soldier is given a blood transfusion by another German soldier.

BEAVER ISLAND 4-H ACHIEVEMENT DAY

Canning, Poultry, Livestock and Garden Exhibit Planned

Plans have been completed for n 4-H Club Achievement Dey to be held at St. James on Tuesday, September 28, nt 8 p. m. in the town hall.

Approximately 25 4-H club members will complete their project requirements by making an exhibit on this occasion. Premiums, certificates of achievement, and other awards will be presented during the program.

Many of the boys and girls havo raised cucumbers ns their club project. About 20 acres have been contracted by the H. J. Heinz Co. of Charlevoix. This is the first time that cucumbers have been contracted on Beaver Island and the returns from nll reports have been satisfactory to the farmers.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Achievement Day program.

MANY HUNTERS APPLY ALLEGAN DEER PERMIT

Applications to hunt during the special antlerless deer seaeon in Allegan county are coming in nt a record rate, coaservation department authorities report. Department officials are predicting that the combination of travel restrictions and the enhanced value of wild meat this year may result in a landslide of applications from hunters who will not be able to arrange a trip to the northern deer hunting counties this season.

Holiday Car Traffic Drops

Trnffic studies conducted on Michigan trunklines over the 3-day Labor Day week end reveal that highway travel dropped approximately one-half as compared to the Labor Day week end last year, State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler reported this week.

HAROSHIP OF A SOLOIER'S LIFE

ILLUMINATING DESCRIPTION BY LOCAL PASTOR

No Sacrifice Too Great to Make for Swift Return of Men Says Fr. John W. Collins

Few people have any realizntion of the rigors of a soldier's daily life even when he is not in combat, for this nppreciation can only come from those in daily connect with the men in our armed camps.

A better understanding of the conditions under which a soldier lives, of the sacrifices he must make and the hardships he undergoes as a matter of course, will be gained from the following illuminating revelation by Chaplain 1st Lieut. John W. Collins, pnstor of St. Mnry's church, taken from a letter written to a local friend.

Lt. Collins is now in Camp White, Medford, Ore., with the 362nd Infantry Regiment Headquarters, 91st Division. Tho letter follows:

"If I were to drop into Grand Rapids or Charlevoix and was asked to give a talk, this is what I would say: 'You people should have spent these ten days with me—not yet on the difficult maneuver problems, not even in combat. But 10 days here would certainly convince you that no sacrifice which you have to make can compare with what these boys have to undergo.

" 'These young men, the pride of our families, the cream of the country. And their life is not an officers' life. For instance, I looked up an hour ago to see a company of men march past this sector, with rifles, full field pack (60 pounds and more), tin helmets. That doesn't sound like much. But observe: they march two by two in file along a road on which the dust is fully two inches deep. What happened? You could just distinguish the men in that heavy cloud of dust. And your sons and neighbors have been doing that every day and some nights these past ten days.

FAMOUS ORCHESTRA WILL APPEAR HERE

Kiwanis Sponsor Bohumir Kryl's Women's Symphony

Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, Conductor Bohamir Kryl and his famous women's symphony orchestre will appear at the Charlevoix high school auditorium Saturday, October 9, both afternoon nnd evening. Their appearance should provide a rare treat for music lovers.

Known as "the greatest cornetist in the world," Kyrl run away from home in Prague, Bohemia, when he was eleven years old to join a circus travelling Europe. Two years later he met with an accident which forced him to quit the circus, and six months later, at the ripe age of 14, he paid for his passage to America by playing in a ship's orchestra.

Kryl's talent as a cornetist was discovered by John Philip Sousa, famed bandmaster. Since organizing his own orchestra, he has toured the country and played long engagements in many cities, including Chicago, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

FOOTBALL SEASON STARTS SATUROAY

EAST JORDAN COMES HERE FOR OPENING TILT

Line-Up Is Announced for Initial Contest of Seven-Game Sched; Light Team to Take Field

The opening contest of Charlevoix high school's seven-game football schedule will pit Coach Ray Kipke's Red Rayders against East Jordan on the local athletic field Saturday afternoon.

With nearly three weeks of practice behind them, there is little to indicate the strength of the 1943 squad. While the line is made up of experienced players and there are two letter men in the backfield, the team is one of the lightest to represent the school in recent years.

Gerald Chambers, who played halfback last year, is a gunrier. Bob Belfy, who started out at end, is at fullback. Ed Novotny, who was a reserve halfback last season, is at one wing and Bernard Zeitler at the other. Ken Hardy is substitute halfback.

In the line are Bill Graves at center, Don Brown and Versal Shenrer at guards, Don North and Bernie Ward playing tackles, Hnbert Olach and George Plum at ends. Reserve positions are assigned at present to Dick Hardy and Russell Lewis, center; Alfred Bergmann and Gordon Clement, guards; Marvin Cross and Jerry Ypma, tackles; Vincent Olach and Don Bellinger, ends.

Charlevoix's schedule is confined to Class C schools, with four home games and three away. Tho six contests following the East Jordan tilt are: Oct. 2, Boyne City, there; Oct. 9, Mancelona, here; Oct. 16, East Jordan, there; Oct. 23, Harbor Springs, there; Oct. 30, Boyne City, here; Nov. 6, Harbor Springs, here.

'43 DUCK SEASON OPENS SATURDAY

SHOOTING TIME ANNOUNCED FOR WESTERN MICHIGAN

Guns May Start Half Hour Before Sunrise—Time aVries During Seventy-Day Season

First event on the sportman's fall calendar—opening of the duck season—is scheduled for Saturday, September 25. Exact time at which guns may go off from start of the duck hunting season to its close December 4, is shown in the table of western Michigan shooting hours given below.

The sunrise and sunset table issued by the conservation department gave only netual sunrise and sunset hours in Eastern War Time, while shooting this yenr is allowed to begin a half hour before sunrise, and most western Michigan counties operate on Central War Time. To avoid confusion among hanters as to the hour they may start shooting, this nble is worked out according to Central War Time.

This table npplies to all west Michigun counties lying between meridians 85 and 87. For purposes of simplified enforcement, small portions of counties which extend over line 85, as Ionia, Montcalm, Kalkaska, Missaukee, Antrim and Charlevoix, are considered as in meridian 86. Emmet county lies entirely within the boandaries.

Hunters may rely upon these rules and the table, as they correspond to enforcement orders issued to conservation officers from the Lansing office of the field administration division. The schedule of shooting hours changes each week, so hunters are advised to clip the table and carry it with them while hunting.

For western Michigun from meridians 85 to 87, Central War Time:

Week Starting:	Shooting Starts	Shooting Stops:
Sept. 25	6:03 a.m.	7:38 p.m.
Oct. 2	6:12 a.m.	7:25 p.m.
Oct. 9	6:20 a.m.	7:12 p.m.
Oct. 16	6:30 a.m.	6:50 p.m.
Oct. 23	6:39 a.m.	6:18 p.m.
Oct. 30	6:48 a.m.	6:37 p.m.
Nov. 6	6:58 a.m.	6:27 p.m.
Nov. 13	7:07 a.m.	6:18 p.m.
Nov. 20	7:17 a.m.	6:12 p.m.
Nov. 27	7:25 a.m.	6:06 p.m.
Dec. 3	7:33 a.m.	6:04 p.m.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

Nowudays when a store has as much as three kinds of candy and two varieties of chewing gum in stock, it is entitled to the classification of super-market.

With the shotgun shell ration set at one box of 25 per hunter, I'll have to do better than four birds out of 25 shells this year or else quit. And that rationing business must have discouraged the duck hunters, 'cause I haven't heard nary a one mention the September 25th opening yet.

A local girl is worried since hearing that her boy friend is at an oasis in Egypt. She has heard of the dates that can be picked up under the palms.

And that reminds me that Keith Nickerson, writing from Oran, said the pretty girls were plentiful, but complained because the boys couldn't make them understand a single word. Well, knowing these Yunkee boys as we do, that trouble won't bother them long.

The Bob Carpenters evened things up in their family last week with a pair of twin boys. Two boys and two girls is the count now, and two ration books thrown in, too. Congrats!

The St. Ignace editor says: "Some folks are complaining about the high price of peaches, but one of our friends says he had a peach on his hands once that cost him a lot more than twenty-five cents a pound."

Kit (Turkey) Carson reports seeing seven deer, two bucks, two does and three fawns, across the highway from the Loeb Farms big barns Monday morning. John Hyek says he can see a dozen or more almost any morning down in the meadow below his barn. Well, it's a good thing there are some deer close to town this year,

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

I am writing a short letter to let you know I really appreciate the home town paper, and my address has been changed, so will give it.

I am still on the desert and have already seen one maneuver and expect to be in one more some time this month, although this will be just a short one. I sure will be glad when it's over, as I haven't had a furlough for nine months now. I have been up for one three times, but there is always something comes up and therefore they were cancelled.

I would like to come home on my next furlough, but again that all depends on where I get a furlough from. My folks are in Detroit and they come first, so will spend my time there unless I move nearer home, but 15 days from here doesn't leave many days at home.

I am behind in my mail due to the fact that I was on detached service for a while, so have a number of letters to write. Thanks for the paper. My address is as follows:

Pfc. Charles Mitchell
36185678
120th Collecting Co.
167th Med. Bn.
APO 185, Cr. Postmaster,
Los Angeles, Calif.

P. S.—I had the opportunity to see Boulder Dam, and it was well worth the trip.

Hi Ken,

Here I am again with not much to tell you. There sure has been a lot of fire out here. On the last one we fought fire for four days, night and day, and was it pretty at night. They say 9 out of 10 are started by saboteige, that's what a ranger told me.

Killed eight rattlesnakes in four days, pretty good, don't you think? It's better than deer hunting. Even if we did get four deer last year, I sure would like to go again this year and see some of those big bucks out by the boy's camp, and get some rabbits this year with the dogs we have left. I know they still are good, even if we did lose two last year, and

The two or three dozen industrial plants working for one procurement division of the army will tie up more than 100,000 freight cars a day when working a full production. These cars, needed to haul raw materials to the plants and carry munitions and waste products away, represent about four times as many cars as are usually on the tracks of so large a freight center as New York.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Your tires are in good shape, Judge... ought to last you at least another 5,000 miles."

"I've been very careful of them, Jim, since I learned how much the government needs rubber. Only drive when I have to... keep her under 35 an hour and have the tires switched around every 1,000 miles."

"Me, too, Judge. Pretty tough spot we were put in gettin' our supply of rubber cut off just when we needed it most. But, we'll be gettin' plenty of synthetic rubber real soon. Say, is it true, Judge, that the beverage distilling industry has a part in producing it?"

"Yes, a very important part, Jim. That industry's facilities for producing grain alcohol make it possible to include 200,000 tons of rubber from grain in the government's 870,000-ton synthetic rubber program. Pretty important contribution to our war effort, isn't it Jim?"

"It certainly is, Judge. Wonder how many people really realize it?"

Announcement was made Tuesday that Mrs. Daniel Williams, keeper of the Harbor Point lighthouse on Little Traverse bay for 21 years, and for 15 years previous keeper of Beavar Island light, has resigned. After November 1 she and Mr. Williams will reside in this city. She is known as the only lady lightkeeper on Lake Michigan, and is author of "Child of the Sea," a book written about her own life among the Mormons under King Strang, on Beaver Island.

Twenty-four local merchants are now closing their business places every evening except Saturday, after the summer season. Among them are L. S. See, F. S. Blanchard, F. E. Frazier, H. E. McHugh, L. Lemieur, A. E. Mason, William Graham, Frank Chamberlain, Palace Clothing Co., B. W. Miller, H. Bedford, J. L. Crane, Sarah Emrey, F. G. Bellinger, Thomas Shawley.

Earl Young is the owner of a new Ford runabaut.

The board of education of the Charlevoix schools was one of the first to take action in this state, abolishing the study of German. French has been substituted in its place, but because last year's class was supposed to complete the second year of the German course in order to qualify for the University of Michigan, the patriotism of the board has been severely attacked. The board has now petitioned the University to accept students having one year of German and one year of French. We don't want the "Kultured Language" of the Huns to be propagated in free America through our public schools.

George A. Crouter, 26, died last Friday at the marine corps training base at Parris Island, S. C., after a week's illness with pneumonia.

Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Shockley left Wednesday for Boyne Falls, where the doctor will practice. Boyne Falls has been without a physician for some time.

Don Campbell returned Wednesday after a season's work as captain of a U. S. government tug on the New York state barge canal.

The protest against Sunday driving of cars, in disregard of the fuel administrator's request, reached a climax in Ellsworth, Sunday evening, when several cars were liberally peppered with rotten eggs.

Due to financial stress, only three football games are scheduled by C. H. S. gridders. Letter men out for practice are: Warren Shapton, Jack Foster, Marquis Roen, Bill Chambers, George Smith. Two who also played last year are Keith Nickerson and Bill Bergmann. New candidates are: Lewis Greenman, Bob Emrey, Warren Phillips, Bab Pearl, Kenneth Ager, Maurice Foster, Bob Neff, Homer Brady, Harold Mayhew, Edward Radle, Rex McGhan, Ralph Shapton, Leslie Shapton, Gordon Neff, John Block, Charles Carey, John Krchak, Joe Schwab, Charles Scott, Emerald LaBlance, Franklin Ochs and Kenneth Bird.

Joseph R. Cooper, 83, widely known retired lumberman, died Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James Simmons. He came to Michigan from Toronto, Ontario, at the age of 16, and about 1870 took up a homestead in Marion township. He was one of the operators of the Smithson mill in Norwood township, operated a mill at Phelps 12 years, built mills at Ellsworth, Pellston, and may other northern Michigan locations.

Going to school: Stanley Cutler, Grand Rapids Junior College; Jean and June Stelter, Olivet; Lola Fessenden, Marygrave seminary, Detroit; Mary Margaret Orlowski, Nazareth academy, Kalamazoo.

Warren Kibbe, of Grand Rapids, and Miss Jean Archer, of Detroit, were married Saturday at Perry, Mich.

LANSING LETTER

To break bread at Zheschebe Minis with Chase Salmon Osborn, Michigan's world famous Iron Hunter and its oldest living ex-Governor, is a memorable experience, never to be forgotten.

In company with his son, George, and his daughter, Ethel, we journeyed recently from Sault Ste. Marie to Duck Island in St. Mary's river (Zheshebe Minis to the Ojibways) where Governor Osborn, 84 years old next Jan. 22 and now totally blind, lives humbly and happily. His domicile is of the same mode in which he was born—a log cabin, symbol of the American frontier.

Here is a patriarch, departing in a few days for his Georgia Possum Poke in Possom Lane, who has repeatedly astounded and perplexed a world by a Nazarene's sacrificial generosity and a naturalist's philosophy of contentment — a pauper-to-millionaire who once commanded thirty million dollars in cold cash and then, except for an annuity investment, gave it all away!

Our brief visit was not the occasion, however, for quiet meditation and studied reflection by the "Governor", as he still is called, but rather the explosive outpouring of a brilliant and versatile mind—dominant and vibrating in a human, gusty force. To meet Chase S. Osborn, today as in the past, is to open a door and be overcome unexpectedly by the enthusiastic embrace of an old friend you have not seen for many years. He exudes an extraordinary warmth of personality, kindled by vitality and seasoned by an abiding love of his fellow men.

Taking a luncheon basket of sandwiches, celery and tomatoes, we proceeded by automobile from Sault Ste. Marie to the Sugar Island ferry and thence over winding island roads about 15 miles finally to the end of a narrow lane.

George and Ethel led the way, down a wooded trail to a bayou in which nestled a small isle, crested by tall pine trees.

Schooled well in the lore of outdoors by their naturalist father, they noted and identified five golden-winged woodpeckers feeding on the ground and such northern plants as the partridge berry, sweet gale bush, moose maple, water hyacinth, June plums, ground dogwood, and evening primrose.

A hand-made foot bridge connects Sugar Island with Duck Island. Thence you go by rocky trail past a guest tent to the Little Duck, a cozy cabin workshop where Chase was dictating to his adopted daughter, Stellanova, who is his constant companion and eyes as well as a talented research-minded secretary. Altho the eighth Osborn book, "Schoolcraft-Longfellow-Hiawatha", was published only last February, the Osborns are already busy gathering and compiling data for another one.

Delighted by the sound of familiar voices, Governor Osborn greeted his son and daughter affectionately. His laughter was hearty.

He was bronzed as an Indian, wearing short rubber boots, khaki pants rolled up above the knees which were bare and tanned from sunshine, and a blue denim shirt opened at the throat.

He naps in the daytime and sleeps at night on an Indian-style bed consisting of balsam boughs and blankets, placed on the ground in the center of a thatched, rustic building which was constructed by his Indian camp assistant, Gibb, and thence known as the "Gibbwnn".

A second log cabin, called the Big Duck, is used for serving of meals which are prepared by a housekeeper. Duck Island time is two hours ahead of Eastern Standard Time.

Gibb, the Ojibway, had built a roaring blaze in Salmon Glade, a secluded opening in the woods, about 25 feet from the river's edge and a short distance from Little Duck.

We were seated on a log facing the fire, with a long limestone slab for a table, when the "Governor" arrived. He had been walking gingerly down the trail, alone, finding his way by the aid of a tall staff.

"Please remain seated", he said. Then he sat down with us and with the humility of a worthless beggar, asked a Divine blessing and voiced fervent prayer for victory and peace and justice in a war-torn, weary world. It was the emotional cry of a man's soul.

Luncheon with Governor Osborn is not merely an hour of fellowship and a physical refreshing in partaking food. It is primarily a religious experience, the communing of man with his God.

A minute later, Osborn became the boisterous, bouyant host, exploding retorts at George and Ethel and conveying tender affection to Stella and Gibb. He munched on six pieces of holland toast, topped with arrowroot cookies, and drank a quart of lemonade.

To waste food, even a tiny crumb, is a sin against conservation of nature. So the governor catches crumbs as he eats, holding a cup beneath his chin. Someone tossed the center piece of a tomato into the fire, and Osborn heard the sound and snorted loudly, "Feed it to the animals!" The week before, Gibb had declared a dividend, bringing five nice red squirrels into camp for dinner.

His mind, still alert, supplies the "Chase S. Osborn Corner" daily in the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News, published by his son, George. Recently in a letter to Arba N. Moulton, newspaper editor at Decatur, he expressed the belief that Michigan's Tom Dewey "would accept the nomination for President, if given to him, without any solicitation whatever, by the Republican convention. When he was a baby, I dandled him on my knee. His mother and father were and are among my most intimate friends. His uncle was my partner".

Always a crusader for what he believed was right, Osborn is currently interested in correcting the U. S. Bureau of Census which persists in declining to count the Great Lakes area in the state's square miles. The Osborns maintain that Michigan is eighth among the states, not the twenty-second, in actual size.

When Governor Osborn leaves Duck Island next Sunday (Sept. 20) he will again proceed down life's pathway, a happy and contented man. Each curve of the road will bring new challenging vistas to behold and to explore. Chase S. Osborn, at 83, finds the world is good.

The Osborn philosophy is this: The world is a smorgasbord, provided by bountiful nature; take what you need; leave the remainder for others. One day, years ago, he discovered he was a millionaire. Promptly he set about giving away his fortune, and today is penniless, except for income of a life-time annuity.

There are only a total of 208,000 public transportation vehicles in the U. S. buses, and street, elevated, subway and railway cars. There are 145,000 buses; street, elevated and subway cars number 35,000, and railway coaches, sleepers and lounge cars account for the remaining 78,000.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

At Jeb Crowell's the other day, we were havin' a glass of beer or two and talkin' about the kind of world there'd be when Peace came.

"Hear they'll have trans-Atlantic airplanes flyin' regular as taxi service," says Ed Carey.

"Yep," says Will Frost, "and television and plastic cars and air-conditioned homes and super-duper highways."

Finally, Doc Mitchell chimes in. "You know," he says, "we're talkin' about the future in terms of luxuries—like air-conditioned houses and television.

"But what really will shape tomorrow's world is what goes on in men's own hearts . . . like tolerance and understanding."

And from where I sit, Doc's right. Whether it's tolerance of another's politics or respect for a neighbor's right to enjoy a glass of beer occasionally, tolerance is a mighty good foundation for a peacetime world.

HARDSHIP OF A SOLDIER'S LIFE

" 'And what about their evenings? One night a four-piece band came over here and played for an hour. The other ten nights? Nothing. They sleep in a couple of blankets, two men to a small pup tent, and let me tell you it gets cold way up here at night (5,000 feet above sea level).

" 'They get good meals—mixed with a lot of dust. For each time a man takes a step, he raises dust. What goes on in the outside world? He doesn't know. No radio, no paper—just your letters. Put yourself in the place of these young men, with all the ambition of youth, with all the entertainment desire of youth.

" 'Besides all this, the iron-clad army discipline: when his officer speaks, he jumps, or else. He must work on details: peel potatoes by the hour, dig latrines, dig garbage pits, pick up all small papers and refuse in the area. Who does all this? The college graduate, the lawyer, the farmer—the man in the ranks.

" 'And mind you, the really difficult part of this existence hasn't even started. It starts tonight. We are going into a desert where the dust is even worse than here. They must march and they must simulate battle in that desert. And mark you, there is a shortage of water here, so each man will be allowed one canteen of water each day.

" 'You folks get out and plod through that dust hour after hour after hour and how thirsty will you get? When will the soldier boy have a chance to shave and bathe and clean up? We don't know, water is scarce.

" 'Folks, I lived back home in war time, and I know what we had to do without, and I heard often of what sacrifices were in prospect. None of them begin to compare with the great big sacrifices men are making here every hour of every day.

" 'I feel very strongly on this matter. And I recommend most strongly that folks back home do two things: 1. Sacrifice generously. 2. Pray, pray, pray that this war may soon end, so that these men may return to a normal, democratic American life.' "

ROCK ELM

Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Barber and Mr. Barber's mother, of East Jordan, called on Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jensen, Sunday.

Rock Elm grange held their annual election of officers at their regular meeting last Thursday night. Nearly all officers were re-elected.

This week Saturday evening the Rock Elm Grange will give a bingo party at their hall. Twenty-five percent of the proceeds will go to the Red Cross and seventy-five percent to the USO.

Everett Spidle, with his bean pulling outfit, harvested Lawrence Jensen's bean crop Monday.

Understand the Antrim Iron & Chemical Co. is closing up the last of this month.

Another frost last Friday night to remind us that winter is on its way. Here is hoping it won't be any worse or last any longer than last winter did.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON AT CAMP CHARLEVOIX

Summer Camping Program a Part of National Physical Fitness

"Chief" Lewis C. Reimann, director of Camp Charlevoix, in a report on the 1943 summer season, states that with a capacity enrollment of 94 boys the camp continues to be the largest private summer camp in Michigan, and one of the largest in the mid-west.

Physical fitness was stressed this summer, along with regular work assignments and military drill. Forty-eight boys and several counsellors volunteered to pick cherries and beans on neighboring farms during the summer. Teaching in the handling and shooting of rifles was given by a riflery instructor, with the assistance of a military academy instructor.

Chapel service donations and the camp circus receipts went to the support of two British orphans through the Foster Parents Plan, the University of Michigan Fresh Air Camp, which was founded by "Chief" Reimann in 1921, a home for delinquent boys in New Haven, Conn., and to the International Y. M. C. A. for work among allied prisoners in axis concentration camps.

Despite rationing, lack of transportation, and difficulties in securing mature leadership for the campers, governmental youth agencies felt that camps were a war necessity and made it possible for them to operate. Governor Harry F. Kelly, whose two sons were campers at Charlevoix, expressed his enthusiasm for the value of summer camps to youth.

BLOOD DONORS MUST REGISTER AT ONCE

Mobile Collection Unit at Boyne City, October 25

Charlevoix people who would like to donate a pint of blood for civilian blood banks to be set up by the Michigan department of health, in cooperation with the American Red Cross, are asked to register with Mrs. R. F. Sloan by next Tuesday, September 28.

While it was originally planned to have all donors register by Sept. 21, it has been necessary to extend the deadline because of the small number of people expressing willingness to give their blood.

The mobile blood collection unit which will visit Boyne City on October 25 can handle about 65 people a day, and it is hoped to have at least that many from this county. Transportation to Boyne City is furnished to donors.

Civilian blood banks will make plasma available for treatment of many persons who cannot now afford the cost of $28 to $35 for a transfusion. With blood banks set up by the state health department, only cost will be the doctor's fee for administering the transfusion. Plasmo is valuable in treatment of shock, which may occur in accidents or in operations. A new use in treatment of premature babies has recently been discovered.

MANY RATINGS ARE OPEN IN SEABEES

Men With Mechanical Experience Should Join Now

More than 3,900 Michigan men have joined the navy's Seabees—construction battalions—thus far in 1943, it was recently announced by Lieut.-Comdr. Byron E. Flechtner, officer in charge of navy recruiting in this area.

Information on the Seabees may be obtained at the navy recruiting station, Room 6, Post Office Bldg., State and Union streets, Traverse City.

Hello, Ken,

Just a few lines to you this lovely Sunday morning. Just came from eating breakfast and boy, it sure was a good meal. Wish I had liberty today, I'd look up my cousin, Peter Walker, who's in Oakland naval hospital.

We certainly enjoyed our trip from Camp Endicott, Davisville, R. I., to this camp. Left Endicott last Saturday, Sept. 4, at 1900 and we arrived here at 1130 day before yesterday, Sept. 10. From the scuttlebott going around, guess we will not be here very long. Hope we aren't, as this place reminds me of a certain boot camp called Camp Peary, in Virginia. Only difference is that this place is surrounded on all sides by mountains and always a stiff breeze blowing.

I have a bit of work cut out for me today, so I'll thank you and all the people who are making it possible for us fellows in service to receive the Courier, and am also enclosing my new address to which you can send the paper.

Sincerely yours,
John J. High S 2e
Cr. Fleet P. O.
San Francisco, Calif.

Dear Ken,

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the CSO and the Courier for having the paper sent to me.

This is the best means of having the home town news brought to me, and I know every soldier appreciates it as much as I do.

The town I'm stationed in now is very nice, as is the college. It is situated about 70 miles from New Mexico on a very flat plain which gives the wind a good opportunity to "do its stuff."

When I finish school I'll go to Santa Ana, Calif., for classification and my pre-flight training.

To give you an idea of a few of the subjects we take here at O. S. C., I'll list my math courses; plane and spherical trigonometry, intermediate algebra, practical math I and III, which includes geometry, and of course, college physics, English prose and composition, history and geography.

We cover this in a few short months and then can transfer these credits to any college we wish.

It's almost "lights out" so I'll give you my new address and cut out the chatter.

Sincerely,
Dick.

Dear Ken,

It's about time to drop you a few lines, even if I haven't received the Courier since May, and will probably be another long while before I see it, but it can't be helped. I've been jumping from one camp to another, never in one place long enough for the mail to catch up to me, but at last I'm with a real outfit, which gives me a permanent address, and I sure am happy to have this address. I only hope I can live up to what this company, battalion, regiment and division is known for. They have a swell bunch of officers and men in this company and I know I'm going to like it. The food is good, a good place to sleep. What more can a fella ask for in Africa, outside of peace and victory.

The fellows here have a couple pets, or should I say mascots. Blackie is a fair-sized black dog that the boys picked up as a pup then they —(censored)—and here lately they bought a monkey, a real live one, too live to suit me. I found out he likes Barbasol shaving cream, at least he took a tube of it from me, squeezed some out and ate a little before I could get it away from him. But he doesn't like to get wet, and if you give him a piece of hard candy he'll take it and if it's the wrong flavor, he'll throw it away. Pretty dern smart!

In closing I want to thank you all for sending the home town paper, even if I haven't received it since I left the states, but I know it is coming. Uncle Sam works hard to get the mail through.

So long,

MARIAN CROSS AND KIRWAN MULLIGAN MARRIED SATURDAY

Miss Marian Cross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Cross, became the bride of Cpl. Kirwan Mulligan, of Fresno, Calif., son of Mrs. Ella Mulligan, of Detroit, in a double ring ceremony performed at St. Mary's rectory at 7:30 Saturday evening, September 18.

Rev. Fr. A. V. Ulanowicz read the service in the presence of immediate relatives of the couple. Attendants were Miss Geraldine Spare, of Detroit, and Bruce Zeitler, Aviation machinists mate second class, of the Pensacola, Fla., naval air station.

For her wedding the bride chose a simply tailored dress of powder blue flannel, with which she wore black necessories and a corsage of red roses. Her bridesmaid wore a suit of air force blue, with red rose corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception for 75 guests was given at the home of the bride's parents on West Hurlbut avenue. Refreshments were served buffet style from a table which bore the three-tiered wedding cake topped with bride and groom figurines. Dinner was served at The Argonne at 10 o'clock, with places set for 20 guests.

Cpl. Mulligan left Tuesday to return to his post at Fresno, while Mrs. Mulligan accompanied him to Chicago. She will return here to remain with her parents for the present. The bride is a graduate of Charlevoix high school and Del-Mar beauty school, in Detroit. The groom graduated from Petoskey high school, and was employed in Detroit for some time before entering the army in December, 1942. He is in the chemical corps.

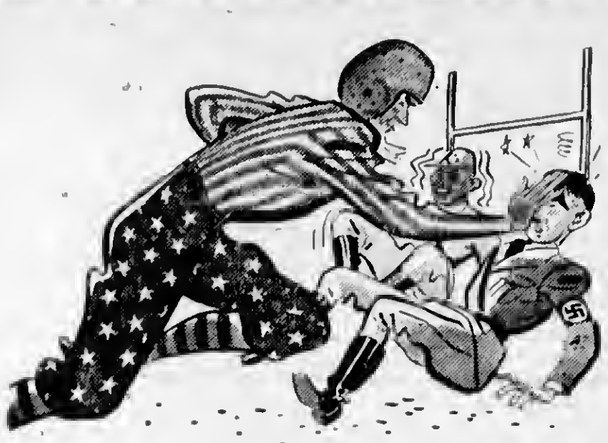
Control Measures to Prevent Late Blight to Potatoes Suggested

Late blight has appeared in some counties and to a slight degree in this county. Thorough spraying with Bordeaux mixture every six or seven days through the balance of the growing season is essential for its control. In fields where frost has not killed the vines and where the potatoes were planted late, two more weeks of development is necessary for satisfactory yields.

The following precautions should be taken to reduce losses from late blight: 1. Delay digging until the stems and leaves of the plants are dead. If frost does not kill the vines before digging time, it is desirable to kill them with a chemical spray such as "Dowcide 66". 2. Dig on clear days. Allow the potatoes to dry off on top of the ground before they are picked up. Use extra care in digging and picking to avoid bruising injuries. 3. Put only clean, dry, sound potatoes in permanent storage. Store in well ventilated bins and keep the doors and windows of the storage cellar open until cold weather sets in. Thorough ventilation for the first few weeks of storage will allow the potatoes to dry down and help check blight and other types of rot. 4. If potatoes are stored in pits, use clean, dry straw to cover the potatoes. Do not use potato tops, as they may spread the blight. Give the pits plenty of air for the first few weeks by means of flues. Heavy layers of straw and soil should not be added until freezing weather occurs.

3RD WAR LOAN DRIVE



GOAL TO GO!

BACK THE ATTACK WITH WAR BONDS

★ Now for the power play to put over the winning touchdown for Uncle Sam. And it's your War Bond money that's going to furnish that power. Don't be a grandstand quarterback—don't be merely a cheer leader. You're on the team, and it's teamwork that wins. Victory is our goal—but you know how the enemy fights inside the five-yard line. It takes power, power, power to put over the Unconditional Surrender touchdown. Your money is that power! Boost your bond-buying quota for this 3rd War Loan Drive. And remember, it's a ends-on-the-line drive—ending September 30th—to raise fifteen billion dollars, exclusive of subscriptions by commercial banks, and over and above your regular bond investments. Sure you'll do it.

Then watch your Uncle Sam score—and score again!

Farmers Answer Challenge for Greater Food Production

Last week saw the end of the string bean and cucumber harvest season. The season was decidedly favorable, and as a result the canning factories report the greatest quantity canned in history.

The East Jordan canning factory this year has canned slightly more than 800 tons of string beans as compared with 491 tons for 1942, which means approximately 65 percent greater tonnage. The Reid, Murdoch Co. at Ellsworth, report approximately 2,000 tons of string beans canned, which is 80 percent above the tonnage of last year. Likewise the other companies contracting cucumbers and sweet corn report about the same situation.

This is indeed a meritorious record when one considers that less labor has been available than in normal times. To meet this situation hundreds of Victory Farm Volunteers have contributed their effort to harvest this immense tonnage. The demands for food in the successful prosecution of this war has been great. The farmers have certainly cooperated in meeting the goals set for food crops. The youth of the county have done their share in this work. The next big job facing the county will be harvesting the largest potato acreage planted for years. We have no fear but what the job will be done just as well as that of the string bean and cucumber harvest season.

Charlevoix County Boys Enjoyed Michigan 4-H Conservation Camp

Elgy Brintnall and Harold Conner, of East Jordan, and Bob Gillespie and Floyd Hausler, of Boyne Falls, represented their forestry clubs, enjoying one of the most eventful weeks of their lives when they attended the 4-H Conservation camp at Higgins Lake from Sept. 13 to 18. Nearly 70 boys, together with the district club agents and county agent from all parts of Michigan assembled to study the problem of conservation of Michigan's natural resources. This camp was made possible through the Federal Cartridge Co., the Conservation Department and the extension department of Michigan State College. Professors from the college and specialists in the conservation department conducted classes and lead the boys in field trips where they received first hand information on such phases of conservation as fire fighting, game cover, reforestation and land use.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON
From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley

Reconvening of Congress

Congress reconvened last Tuesday, the 14th, and since no program of action was ready it adjourned until Friday when it met for but two hours with no legislative action being taken. However, the congress will find itself confronted with several pieces of major legislation in the immediate future, the first undoubtedly will be:

The Drafting of Pre-Pearl Harbor Fathers

The Kilday Resolution, passed by the House, but tabled by the Senate military affairs committee prior to the summer recess, sought to defer fathers until all able-bodied, non-defernable single men had been inducted. The Senate committee is now holding hearings on the Wheeler Bill seeking deferment of fathers for some months to come.

In important decisions such as this, the Congress must be guided by the testimony of the military authorities, charged with the responsibility of winning this war. Politics should not be permitted to enter a picture as important as this but it was the entrance of politics which last week aroused many members of Congress. This most unfortunate action was caused by an announcement that our President had approved the adoption of a program in Canada, whereby some 20,000 or more Canadian combat troops would be disbanded because "the danger of that country's being invaded had passed with the evacuation of the Japanese from the Aleution Islands." The article appearing in a Washington paper stated the reasons for this move as being the effort to dispel some of the political opposition which has developed in Canada against Prime Minister King and to date this charge has not been denied by the White House. It is to be regretted that this program should have been adopted in Canada—with the support of our President—at the very time that we are being asked to approve the drafting of fathers in this country, which likewise meets with our President's approval.

If Congress should approve the drafting of fathers, then I hope it will also so amend the Selective Service Act as to bring about a more uniform application of its rules and regulations all over the country and especially as between one neighboring draft board and another; that it will grant further deferment for necessary farm labor; that it will plug the loopholes in the Act by which false occupational deferment is granted; and that it will provide for physical examination of all prospective inductees, sufficiently far ahead of their call so that they can be either accepted or rejected at that time and notified definitely in advance so as to bring about the least possible disturbance in their daily lives.

Hunters' Ammunition

Upon inquiry at the War Production Board last week, I learned that sometime ago at the request of the Wildlife Service they secured the release of sufficient copper, lead, powder and other materials necessary to provide a limited amount of hunters' ammunition for this Fall. This has been equally divided between the five leading manufacturers, who in turn are supposed to release it to their distributors in the several states in strict accordance with the opening date of their hunting seasons. With our own hunting season about to open, if your local dealer has not yet received his allotment of ammunition, I suggest you sportsmen ask him to appeal immediately to his distributor who, if sufficient pressure is brought to bear upon him, should be able to secure his ammunition promptly from the manufacturer.

AT THE MOVIES

"Hi Diddle Diddle"

Martha Scott takes her first bow as a glamorous belle in "Hi Diddle Diddle," coming to the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday through United Artists release. Adolphe Menjou stars with her. Pola Negri, star of silent films, has a feature role.

"Silver Queen"

Priscilla Lane and George Brent are seen in "Silver Queen," a United Artists picture coming Tuesday and Wednesday of next week to the Palace Theatre. Bruce Cabot and Lynne Overman, famed character actor, are featured in the cast.

"American Empire"

Saga of the bold men who built America is the film "American Empire," playing at the Palace Theatre, Thursday and Friday of next week. Richard Dix and Leo Carillo have stellar roles, with Guinn Williams and Preston Foster also in the cast.

The Web of Death. Only by reading its secret could the detective use the spider's gossumer rope to hang Charlottesville's most brutal hypocrite. Theodore Roscoe recalls one of America's most famous crimes in an exciting feature in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Sunday Chicago Herald-American.

CHATTERER AND SAMMY JAY QUARREL

When people lose their tempers,
Oh, what a sorry sight!
They call each other dreadful names
And sometimes scratch and bite.
The Merry Little Breezes ran
And hid themselves away
When Chatterer his temper lost,
And so did Sammy Jay.

It really was too dreadful! It quite spoiled the day for all the little people who were within sound of their voices. You see, Sammy Jay had discovered that it was Chatterer and not a trap set by Farmer Brown's Boy that had given him such a fright at Farmer Brown's corn-crib, and right away Sammy's temper just boiled over. Chatterer had his mouth so full of corn that he couldn't say a word, but he could run and run he did — scampering across Farmer Brown's dooryard to the shelter of the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard with Sammy after him screaming, "Thief! thief! thief!" at the top of his lungs.

"My gracious, what a racket!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy as he opened the door. "That Jay is making such a fuss that I should think there was a fox about." He put his milk pails down and stepped back into the house. In a minute he was out again with his terrible gun in his hands. He went straight to the old stone wall, where only a few minutes before Reddy Fox had been hiding, and it was well for Reddy that he had slipped away the minute Sammy Jay began to scream at Chatterer. Farmer Brown's Boy looked disappointed when he saw no signs of Reddy. Then he went over to the little house of Bowser the Hound and unchained Bowser. Bowser wagged his tail and yelped with delight when he saw the gun, for he dearly loved to hunt. He ran ahead back to the Old Orchard, and almost at once his great deep voice told all within hearing that his wonderful nose had found the tracks of Reddy Fox.

"I thought so," said Farmer Brown's Boy. "I thought there had been a fox here." Then he sighed, for he would have liked nothing better than to go hunt for Reddy. But there were the empty milk pails, and Farmer Brown's Boy is not the kind who runs away for pleasure when there is work to be done. He called Bowser and chained him up again, and then went to the barn.

Sammy Jay had flown away as soon as he saw Farmer Brown's Boy and his terrible gun. Chatterer had hidden in the old stone wall, where he safely stored away the corn with which his cheeks had been stuffed. As soon as Farmer Brown's Boy had gone to the barn to milk the cows, Sammy Jay slipped back to the Old Orchard to look for Chatterer and his temper hadn't improved a bit. He soon saw Chatterer running along the old wall and once more began to scream, "Thief! thief!" And now that his mouth was empty Chatterer could reply, and you know Chatterer has one of the worst tongues of all the little people of the Green Forest.

"Thief, yourself!" he screamed back. "Thief, yourself! You stole my corn!"

"It isn't your corn any more than it's mine!" screamed Sammy. "I told you about it in the first place. Thief! thief! thief!"

And from that they fell to calling each other worse things. The Old Orchard never had heard such a quarrel—never! It was dreadful! All day long they kept it up. Twice Farmer Brown's Boy came down to see if that Fox had come back, and he scratched his head and wondered what all the fuss was about. At last, Sammy Jay had a thought.

"I'm going straight over to the Green Forest to tell Shadow the Weasel where you are living!" he cried suddenly. "When he finds you you won't steal any more corn or be so greedy that you won't let other people have a share."

Convicts Work in Behalf Of Others' Freedom

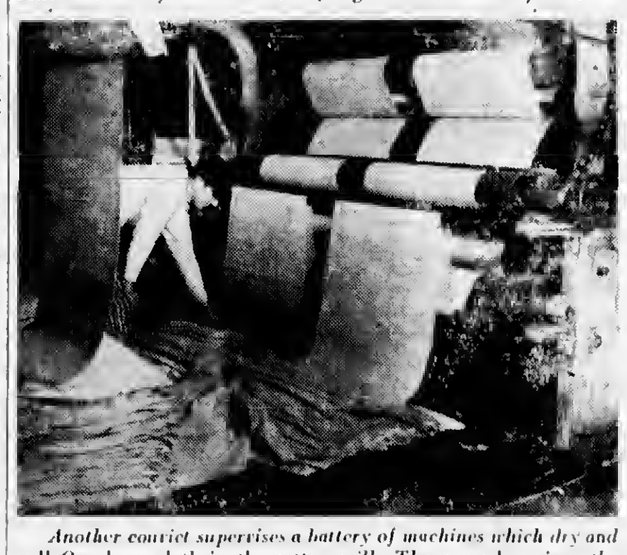
Men who will never again know the freedom of the poorest American citizen are laboring night and day on behalf of freedom for others. They are the thousands of convicts in American prisons who are helping to bring victory as effectively as those in the outside world who are unhindered by striped suits or iron bars.

Behind the walls of the Ohio state penitentiary 3,550 inmates constantly produce war products at 1½ cents an hour. At these wages they purchased over $20,000 worth of war bonds. Seventy-five per cent of these convicts gave blood to the Red Cross.

Top: His release is a long way off but he helps America by buying war stamps regularly.

This man learned radio in the navy. He now instructs fellow-convicts in all of its branches.

Two of his pupils are these ambitious short-termers who hope to get into the armed forces.



Another convict supervises a battery of machines which dry and roll Osnaburg cloth in the cotton mill. The army has given the prison a contract for 150,000 yards of this material which is used for target ranges, sandbags and camouflage.

Imprisoned women also are pitching into war work. At the New Jersey reformatory they make navy work shirts, roll bandages, work in nearby war plants on parole and produce foodstuffs.

William Feather, editor of a trade magazine, writes: "One hot day, some months before Pearl Harbor, I was in a roadside bar, drinking a glass of beer and relaxing, when a man wheeled a truck into the driveway. He came into the shack with a basket of potato chips and pretzels in packages sized to sell for a nickel each. A display gadget stood on a counter near the bar. Four hooks on the gadget were empty, so he hung fresh packages on the hooks, handed the barmaid a slip to sign, and departed. I figured he had made a 12-cent sale, at wholesale. This shack sold one brand of draft beer, three brands of bottled beer, maybe ten brands of cigars and cigarettes, and the usual line of candy bars, and other nickel and dime items, perhaps fifty in all. From what I observed that day, I judged that each item was sold, dispensed, delivered and serviced by a specialist, driving a truck and deriving a living from his specialty. I wondered that day, and have wondered since, how our economy ever managed to support such a lopsided distribution cost. In the depression, we had to overlook and forgive waste of manpower, because it seemed that men had better have wasteful jobs than no jobs. The war put an end to such waste. After the war, it would seem that a better system could be devised."

During the other war it was "How you gonna keep 'em down on the farm after they've seen Paree?" After this one the version may be: "How you gonna get the women back in the kitchen after they've seen pay checks for defense work?"

The deer leaped the McKibbin fence and fled through the apple orchard on the former Town Club grounds cross the road. Earl Young said that Cliff was shaving and the buck came right up and licked the lather off his face, but I don't believe that. Anyway, Cliff is now planning to step out of his front door at dawn on the morning of November 15 and get his buck without any trouble at all.

MRS. JULIA O. CRAM IS TAKEN BY DEATH

One of Last Survivors of Mormon Colony on Beaver Island

Funeral services were held here Tuesday afternoon for Mrs. Julia O. Cram, 87, one of the last survivors of the Mormon colonists on Beaver Island. She died Saturday in Traverse City at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Winifred Schultz.

In failing health for some time, Mrs. Cram was seriously ill for six weeks. She had made her home in Traverse City with Mrs. Schultz for the past three years.

Daughter of Thomas and Ruth Ann Bedford, Julia Bedford was born at St. James on December 15, 1855, near the close of the tyrannical reign of "King" James J. Strang. She spent her girlhood on the island, where she was married to Alanson Campbell in 1877. About 1885 they moved to a farm in Evelino township, and four years later moved into Charlevoix. Mr. Campbell died in 1890. She married Ransom Cram in Charlevoix in 1902, and he preceded her in death in 1915. Mrs. Cram lived in Charlevoix county all her life except for a period of a few years in Flint.

She was a member of the local Congregational church, and held a life membership in the Order of Eastern Star.

Surviving are a son, Will Campbell, of Flint; a granddaughter, Mrs. Winifred Schaltz, of Traverse City; and a grandson, Alhin Campbell, of Flint; also three great-grandchildren and two stepdaughters, Mrs. Alta Hale, of Bellingham, Wash., and Mrs. Eva Donnell, of Traverse City.

Rev. G. R. Parker, pastor of the Northport Congregational church, conducted funeral services at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, at the See Funeral Home. Buriel was at Brookside cemetery.

NEXT RATION BOOK READY IN OCTOBER

Schoolhouse Distribution Is Again Planned by OPA

War Ration Book Four, which will last about two years, will be ready for distribution in the nation's schoolhouses late in October, the office of price administration has announced.

It will contain 384 small-sized stamps, red, blue, green and black, and will cover all foods now rationed as well as possible additional needs for ration currency.

The first stamps to come into use will be the green ones, which will be valid "sometime in November" on an interim basis in connection with blue processed food stamps in much the same way that the brown stamps in ration book three are being used in the meats-fat program.

The red and blue stamps will be used as before to buy rationed canned goods, meats, fats and dairy products. Red and blue ration tokens, or coins, will be issued "early in 1944" to be used as change for the red and blue stamps.

The black stamps in book four are divided into 12 sugar stamps, 12 "coffee" stamps and 72 "spare" stamps.

Although coffee is no longer rationed, the OPA explained the coffee stamps will be considered the same as spares. It said spares may be used "in case any additional ration currency is needed for any of the programs."

POTATO GROWERS TO GET FEDERAL LOAN

Aid Distribution of 443 Million Bushel Record Crop

The War Food Administration has announced a loan program for growers of Irish potatoes, to insure them of returns in accordence with the support prices announced prior to planting time and assure orderly distribution of this year's record crop.

Under the program, non-recourse loans will be made to growers and cooperative associations, and to dealers who pay the support prices for potatoes they purchase.

Potato production is now forecast at 443 million bushels, 72 million bushels above last year and 80 million bushels above the previous 10-year average. The loan program should encourage producers to harvest and store as large a quantity as possible for distribution during the winter and spring months.

Wild Ducks Declared Plentiful

An abundance of locally raised ducks is being forecast for duck hunters this year by state conservation department game men. Game men point out that the increased number of marshes and ponds which dot the entire state as the result of heavy spring and early summer rains provides suitable habitat for ducks in areas where water has been scarce heretofore.

OVERSEAS CHRISTMAS MAIL MONTH STARTS

September 15-October 15 Period for Sending Packages

Heading the list of what the overseas serviceman wants for Christmas according to a recent canvass of overseas correspondents and men returned from foreign theatres of war, are new snapshots and photographs of family and friends, and newsy letters from home.

Postal restrictions have been considerably relaxed during the period of September 15-October 15, designated "Christmas Mail Month." It is not necessary for the sender of a parcel to present a request from a soldier, as has been the rule. Packages must be of regulation size, not more than 15 inches in length nor more than 36 inches in combined length and girth. No package can weigh more than five pounds, and must be plainly marked "Christmas Parcel."

In selecting gifts, it is well to remember that the shortages encountered in civilian life do not necessarily apply to service men. Post exchanges carry necessities such as soap, razor blades, tobacco and candy. Where there is no post exchange, these items are issued to the men. Some articles that are useful in them are cigarette lighters, hunting or boy scout knives, fountain pens or pencil sets, small sized books or magazines, billfolds, pipes, playing cards, poker chips and gemes in portable form.

Postal officials warn that packages should be substantially wrapped and tied. The hold of a ship may reach 130 degrees in temperature, a ton of weight may rest on a parcel, and it may take five or six months to reach its destination.

The school personnel in Peoria, Illinois, are now required to take annual examinations for tubarculosis.

Ex-tuberculosis patients dismissed from sanatoriums do not endanger public health, according to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. Such persons can not pass the germs on to others and are perfectly safe to live and work with.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 48 NUMBER 39 EIGHT PAGES THE CHARLEVOIX COURIER, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1943 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

THREE-DAY DRIVE FOR SCRAP PAPER

CARLOAD WILL BE SHIPPED OUT NEXT WEEK

Charlevoix Service Organization to Conduct Pick-Up Friday, Saturday and Monday

A city-wide pick-up of scrap paper will be conducted Friday, Saturday and Monday, October 1, 2 and 4, by the Charlevoix Service Organization, to make up a train carload of paper which will be shipped at once.

Paper should be placed at the curb or roadside on those days, to be picked up by city trucks. It may be tied up in bundles, placed in a box or basket, or arranged in any manner in which it can be hauled away by the trucks.

Newspapers, magazines, paper sacks and wrapping paper, old cardboard boxes and corrugated board—all paper except waxed or glassine papers are wanted in the drive. It will be shipped immediately to a paper mill. Proceeds of the sale will go to the Charlevoix Service Organization for maintenance of its war activities.

Walter Henley, AAA chairman for Charlevoix county, has announced that the AAA will cooperate with the local organization by picking up scrap paper from farms. Arrangements have been made for a truck to tour all rural roads, and farmers are asked to place their paper in a convenient place to be picked up. Farmers who wish to bring their own scrap paper into Charlevoix may leave it at the Charlevoix Co-Ops, Co.

Practically all waste paper collected in the drive, in Charlevoix and other cities throughout the nation, will go into the making of a type of container known as V-boxes which carry supplies to the men in American armed forces in foreign battle zones. Manufacture of V-boxes, intended to convey medical supplies, blood plasma, food, replacement parts, and many other essential war materials overseas, is imperiled by a critical shortage which paper mills throughout the country are facing today.

In World War 1, food and other supplies were landed at docks. In the present war, docks are far less available and frequently such supplies must be thrown from barges and dented ashore. The especially made V-boxes are well adapted to this type of landing and are needed at once in great quantities by every branch of the armed forces.

OCTOBER SUPERVISOR SESSION OPENS 11TH

BUTTER PLACED AT 16 POINTS SUNDAY

OPA Announces Value Changes for Several Food Items

The office of price administration announced Tuesday that effective Sunday, October 3, butter will cost 16 ration points per pound—the total allotment of red ration stamps for one person for one week.

The increase is due to a drop of 10 per cent in September production below production for the same month in 1942, it was stated. Margarine remains unchanged at four points, while cheese will be raised one point, to nine points per pound.

Other changes effective Sunday are:

Point values of canned green or waxed beans and canned corn (except on the cob) will be lowered two to four points, while so-called luxury canned goods—apricots, cherries, figs, grapefruit and plums—will go up from eight to 11 points for the popular sizes. Eight standard pork cuts will be increased one to two points per pound. Removed from the ration list are dried peas and lentils, and several meat items such as brains and kidneys.

CHARLEVOIX WINS OPENING CONTEST

DEFEATED EAST JORDAN BY 8 TO 6 COUNT SATURDAY

Safety, Breaking 6 to 6 Deadlock, Provided Winning Margin in Last Play of Game

Coach Ray Kipke's Charlevoix Red Rayders defeated East Jordan by an 8 to 6 count in the opening contest of their 1943 football schedule at south side athletic field Saturday afternoon.

A safety, scored in the last play of the contest, gave the Rayders their 2-point margin and broke a 6 to 6 deadlock.

Charlevoix opened the scoring in the first quarter after an advance from East Jordan's 35-yard line. A lateral, Carey to Belfy, was good for 12 yards, Plumm went around end for seven yards, Chambers plunged off tackle for 11, Belfy made two yards through the line to Jordan's 5-yard strip and Chambers went over on a criss-cross. A line play for extra point failed.

Jordan threatened in the second period but failed to score. Murphy put the hearts of Charlevoix fans in their throats late in the period with a 90-yard dash from punt formation, but Belfy downed him from behind. Several plays later Jordan dropped a pass over their own goal in another close threat, but Charlevoix intercepted the next pass to end the rally.

Jordan took advantage of a Charlevoix error to even the count in the third period when Sexton, quarterback, recovered a Rayder fumble behind the Charlevoix

They are Davida Blake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Blake, graduate of Charlevoix high school, and Phyllis L. Roberts, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Roberts, graduate of Reed City high school.

HIGH HONOR TO SGT. WILLETTE

IS AWARDED DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS

Heroism in Air Earns Decoration for Local Member of Bomber Crew Based in India

Associated Press news dispatches from India last week announced that Staff Sgt. Vernon Willette, 28, son of Mrs. W. J. McKay, of Norwood, had been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

While this high honor is awarded for heroism in the air, it is not known for what action it was presented to Sgt. Willette. Member of a bomber's flying crew, he has been in India since November, 1942.

Sgt. Willette is a graduate of the Alabaster, Mich., high school. After four years in the CCC camp at Rapid River, he worked as a carpenter before enlisting in the army air corps in April, 1942.

In July, 1943, he was awarded the Air Medal for outstanding performance of duty in action between January 14 and March 1.

WOMEN ARE NEEDED AT RED CROSS ROOM

High School Girls Asked to Aid in Making Surgical Dressings

In order to complete more than 6,000 Red Cross surgical dressings in time to begin work on the October-November quota, more workers are needed at the Red Cross room in the city hall.

The room is open Monday and Tuesday afternoons from 2 to 5 o'clock, Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 10 o'clock. Almost any woman can spare two or three hours in a week to aid in this important work.

A particular appeal is being made to high school girls to come in the evenings, also to business women and others who may have only evenings free. The need for dressings is so great that any woman who can possibly do so is urged to come and help in making them.

WOMEN'S SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA COMING

Conductor Kryl at High School Auditorium October 9

An exceptional treat is in store for Charlevoix music lovers on Saturday, October 9, when Bohumir Kryl, famous conductor, will present a concert by his 45-piece woman's symphony orchestra at the high school auditorium.

Sponsored by the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club, the orchestra will give concerts at 3 p. m. and 8 p. m. The chance to hear a symphony concert in this city, led by one of America's best known conductors, is rare, and their appearance here will provide a chance to hear a group that ordinarily would mean a trip to one of the metropolitan centers.

EXTEND VALIDITY OF CURRENT SHOE STAMP

Drop in Production of Civilian Footwear Causes Extension

The office of price administration, alarmed by a sharp drop in the production of civilian shoes, has extended indefinitely the expiration date of shoe stamp No. 18 and warned that the next stamp must last six months instead of four.

Stamp No. 18 in ration book one was due to expire October 31. Its extension was a move to prevent last minute rush buying and to discourage people from buying shoes before they needed them.

MILKWEED POD HARVEST IS ON

SCHOOL CHILDREN TAKING ACTIVE INTEREST

Northern Michigan Produces Tons of Floss for Life Preservers; Petoskey Stores Close

Harvesting of milkweed pods is in full swing in Charlevoix county, as William C. Howe, of East Jordan, county representative for War Hemp Industries, reports that the countryside is being combed for pods which are now at the ideal stage for picking.

School children especially seem to be taking part in the program with keen interest, as their share in the war effort. Some are picking for their individual account and turning their money into war bonds and stamps, while others are picking for the benefit of their respective schools. Students of the Ellsworth school are pooling their earnings to purchase a radio. One school in Mackinaw county has bought two basketballs and others have placed their funds in the hot lunch program. Several teachers have reported their students as purchasing special equipment for their school rooms.

BOY SCOUTS GUESTS KIWANIANS TUESDAY

Club Presents American Flag to Charlevoix Troop

Boy Scouts of Charlevoix Troop 11, were guests Tuesday night of their sponsors, the Kiwanis Club, at that organization's regular meeting.

A new American flag, presented to the troop by the club, was accepted by First Class Scout Douglas Byers. Rev. Leigh H. Hagle, scoutmaster, expressed his appreciation for the troop.

Floyd Dawson, of Petoskey, field representative in this district, spoke of the fine work Boy Scouts are doing in the present emergency. In addition to their help in paper and scrap drives, they have aided in crop harvesting, milkweed pod picking and literature distribution for various campaigns. He also pointed out the benefits derived from scouting activities as applied to former scouts now in service of their country.

Mrs. Barbour will speak Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The service will be followed by a social hour. Services and activities for Sunday are as follows: prayer service at 9 a. m., led by Mrs. Homer Beckett, of Boyne City; discussion hour at 10, subject, "Courtship", led by Rev. W. D. Wood; Mrs. Barbour will speak at the 11 o'clock service.

A fellowship dinner will be given at the camp ground dining hall, with Rev. Nathan Hargett, of Petoskey, as after-dinner speaker. Rev. Homer Beckett, of Boyne City, will speak at the afternoon service at the church at 4 o'clock. The discussion hour at 6:30 will be led by Rev. Wood, subject, "Successful Christian Living". Mrs. Barbour will speak at the evening service at 7:30.

The public is invited to attend these services.

THIRD WAR LOAN CLOSES THURSDAY

MORE "E" BOND PURCHASES ARE NEEDED

Charlevoix Behind Boyne City in Sale of Small Bonds; Drive Ends Thursday Night

As the Third War Loan drive nears its close, a final appeal is being made for last-minute purchases of "E" bonds to put the goal over the top.

Sales figures up to noon Wednesday are: Charlevoix, $100,000; Boyne City, $77,750; East Jordan, $59,550. Adding the $100,000 purchase of Harry Hoch brings the total to $337,300. This amount is $82,700 short of the quota of $420,000 for the county.

Purchases yet to be added to this total include sums pledged by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan. The state's bond purchases are to be divided proportionately among all counties.

Boyne City leads in purchases of "E" bonds—the familiar war savings series—with approximately $50,000. Charlevoix has sold $40,000, and East Jordan about $30,000.

The county is making a fine showing in this Third War Loan, despite the slow progress the drive has made. Some additional purchases of "E" bonds before Thursday night will help to maintain our record of exceeding every quota that has been set for Charlevoix county.

PLACE LIMITS ON TRUCK DELIVERY

NEW RULES ARE EFFECTIVE MONDAY, OCTOBER 11

Wholesale and Retail Delivery of All Goods to Go Under New Federal Restrictions

Restrictions on all wholesale and retail motor truck deliveries have been ordered by Joseph B. Eastman, director of the office of defense transportation.

Effective in this area at 12:01 a. m. Monday, October 11, the restrictions are the same as those now in effect in 12 eastern states and the District of Columbia.

The restrictions include:

1. A prohibition against retail delivery of packages which weigh five pounds or less or which measure 60 inches or less in length and girth combined.

2. Limitations upon frequency of retail and wholesale deliveries of certain commodities.

3. A prohibition against Sunday retail deliveries except of ice, milk or cream, and all Sunday wholesale deliveries except of ice.

All delivery truck operators are required to eliminate all duplicating or overlapping on their own routes, although they may duplicate the routes of another operator.

The prohibition against retail deliveries of small packages does not apply to certain products such as milk, cream and other dairy products, bakery products, fresh or frozen fruits or vegetables, meat, poultry, fish, medical supplies, dry cleaned, dyed or altered garments, parts and supplies for repairs, or property sold on mail or phone order. Limitation on frequency of delivery, however, applies to these items as well as all others.

Following are examples of limitations on frequency of deliveries:

A maximum of four retail deliveries of milk may be made in any one week, provided that no two retail deliveries may be made on the same or consecutive days. Six wholesale deliveries may be made in one week, but no wholesale deliveries are permitted on Sunday.

Wholesale deliveries of beer and other malt beverages are limited to one per week if bottled, and two if delivered in kegs. No retail deliveries of these products may be made.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

Offering a pipe smoker a cigarette is like offering a horse an oat.

Guess the shell rationing scared the duck hunters off entirely, because I haven't heard a single fellow mention the opening week end.

Between you and I, one matter the board of supervisors should take under serious consideration at their annual October session is that of placing a good, generous bounty on fox. Whether it is a generally known fact or not, partridge and rabbits, particularly cottontails, are practically extinct in the west portion of Charlevoix county. One fellow, who, with a good hunting dog, has made nearly a dozen trips into customary good bird cover this fall, has flushed one single, solitary "pat". Cottontail rabbits are nearly as scarce and the snowshoe variety not very plentiful, either. The answer is fox, which are now the most plentiful in this writer's memory. Farmers' poultry has suffered heavily, too. The remedy is a bounty on fox, one large enough to encourage trapping and more intensified hunting of these marauders down to a point where other game can exist.

Helen of Troy's face may have launched a thousand ships, but it was no match for Hitler's ugly mug, judging by American shipyard production records.

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

I just received the Courier yesterday afternoon and am wasting no time in returning a thank you letter for the same. It sure seemed good to look at some of the news.

This is a strange place here in Virginia. The weather and the water are both bad. Especially the water, after having water like we have in Charlevoix. There is no satisfaction in drinking water here. We have no mosquitoes though, thank heaven.

There's some of the best construction men in the world in this outfit and they give lectures continually. It's been pretty tough the last few days, we had our vaccinations and shots and they make one feel a little dopey.

We are in a good sized camp here, it is around 50 square miles, all made up of areas. Every fourth day we have a duty day or received more since, my reason for remembering was the 9-mile hike with a duffel and sea bag on each shoulder.

The Seabees may be construction battalions, but they sure get their share of military training. Along with some close and extended order drills, we are very endlessly taught some rough ways of slicing up the enemy and also protecting ourselves. We have hour of hitting the deck, of drill practice and the manual of arms.

My rating has been changed already, it is seaman second class now, so if you will, put that on my address.

Our sleep is something of a get-what-you-can method. We have demolition squads going in practice here all the time, some of the charges are likely to throw you clear of your bunk.

WINTER LOGGING IS CALLED WAR AID

Available labor on Michigan farms this winter can continue to put rural production into war effort and profit by the harvest of five types of wood.

Prices on pulpwood, for instance, range up to ceilings of $8.75 a standard cord of 128 cubic feet for rough or unpeeled pine and to $17 a cord for peeled spruce, according to information gathered by W. Ira Bull, extension forester at Michigan State College.

The pulpwood is but one of five types of wood needed for the war effort. Another demand is for saw logs, including trees 18 inches or larger on the stump. In addition to general construction and crating lumber, such timbers are especially needed in Michigan for use in truck bodies.

Another need is for wood that can go into veneer production. Such wood is used for glider and other aviation production.

Owners of hardwood timber, according to Forester Bull, should look for outlets other than pulpwood mills.

Propelled by the high wind last Saturday, two Ford cars found their way driverless into the waters of Round lake. A sedan owned by the Charlevoix Coal & Ice Co., blew from its parking place near the Sinclair oil station on Belvedere avenue, down the embankment, through the city park, over two more terraces and into Round lake at the foot of Antrim street. The other, a touring car owned by Fred Christensen, blew into the channel from in front of the Charlevoix Lumber Co. office.

LANSING LETTER

Michigan's silver stars are turning, in an increasing number, to gold.

The village of Holly, in Oakland county, is typical of hometowns everywhere in Michigan. Within the past few weeks, telegrams from Washington have been delivered at three homes of Holly mothers, fathers and relatives. Here were the fateful words: "The Secretary of War (or Navy) desires that I tender his deepest sympathy . . ."

Donald C. Hulet, age 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford Hulet. He was killed in the Pacific South Seas.

Robert Bravender, son of Raymond B. Bravender. He was a copilot of a Flying Fortress. And Allan N. McDaniel, who worked with his brother, Harry, is in welding and blacksmith business at Holly. He also was killed in action, over Italy, while on a bombing mission.

Why were these young Michigan boys killed—one at the Pacific front, half way round the globe, and two at our European front?

A lot of Michigan people—especially the fathers and mothers of young men now in World War II—are asking this question. They would like to know the answer.

And many Michigan boys in camps and at our fighting fronts are asking a sequel to it: After we win the war, will we win the peace? Victory without peace seems a cost price for death on a battlefield, tomorrow as yesterday.

The boys remember the discussions at dinner tables, prior to Pearl Harbor, when Dad and Mom said we should keep out of war—mind our own business—let Europe run its own affairs. And, anyway, weren't we 3,000 miles away, safe and secure?

Sure, we minded our own business, didn't we?

Then the dirty Japs pulled a fast one at Pearl Harbor, and the Nazis just laughed and declared war on us—we, the United States of America!

Of course, we got mad. We're still angry. So are thousands of Michigan boys in camps and with MacArthur in the Pacific and Eisenhower in Europe. Some of these boys are sons of men who served in World War I. They know, and so do we, that we didn't save the world for democracy after Nov. 11, 1918. Something happened.

When a paper hanger in Germany wrote a book called "Mein Kampf", the world smiled. But that wasn't new. A carpenter by the name of Jesus Christ received the same reception from much of the world, centuries before. But each man had an idea—although as different as night is from day.

While we Americans were minding our own business, the German paperhanger was telling the frustrated Germans: "Germany was not defeated in the war. Germany was betrayed by the Jews and the Marxists. The allies imposed an unjust peace. Germany, under my leadership, will be invincible!"

Well, we remember what happened—Hitler accomplished exactly what a member of the German general staff said would happen in a talk with Dr. William Seaman Bainbridge, a distinguished American, way back in 1915—two years before World War I began! And here, in part, is what the general staff officer said with remarkable prophecy should Germany lose World War I: "An armistice will come before any hostile army crosses Germany's frontiers. There will be no scars on the fatherland from this war . . . Following the war there will be economic hell, industrial revolution. We will set class against class, individual against individual, until the nations will have pretty much all they can attend to at home and not bother us.

"The greatest struggle will come after the war. The weapon will be propaganda, the value of which we know. The allies will be torn asunder, each will be put at the other's throat like a lot of howling, gnashing hounds. And when they are all separated from France, Germany will deal with her alone."

Then recall how Hitler seized control as dictator in January, 1033. (FDR was elected president in November, 1932).. Germany withdrew from the League in 1933; annexed the Saar and adopted conscription in 1935; repudiated the Locarno (security) treaties in 1936; repudiated the Versailles treaty "war guilt" clause, shelved its "Polish Corridor" agreement with Poland and created the Rome-Berlin,Tokio axis in 1937, and finally annexed Sudetenland by the Munich four-power pact in 1938.

You know the rest—the Nazis' march into other peace-loving nations, always one by one, until September, 1939, four years ago, when World War I became World War II.

Ten years after Hitler started his march to "Der Tag", our nation is again at war. In north Michigan and the Upper Peninsula thousands of men and women, airplane watchers, scan the skies 24 hours a day for the silhouette and hum of German airplanes. Sault Ste Marie is the headquarters for the air defense of most of Ontario in Canada and 17 American states in the sprawling Middle-West. Why? Because modern air power has annihilated space, changing isolated security of Michigan into a vulnerable target of German planes once they establish a northern bombing base from which to fly over the circle route. Such is the solemn truth, as our highest military authorities vouch for it.

Less than 50 miles from Sault Ste. Marie an important political assemblage was held in September. Governors and congressmen adopted a "Mackinaw Charter", pledging post-war cooperation by this country in keeping the peace.

A military alliance with the British was endorsed by Michigan's Thomas E. Dewey and Clarence Budington Kelland. Wendell L. Willkie is for it, and so is Rep. Clare Booth Luce. Winston Churchill assures the absence of partisan opposition in England, and Secretary of State Cordell Hull gues on the radio to confirm official consideration here of such an agreement.

In the House of Representatives at Washington last week, 29 men voted against the Fulbright resolution favoring international machinery to preserve the peace. Five of these men were from Michigan. They came from both parties.

As the casualty list grows longer, splashing our silver stars with gold, what will we think and do? Will we return to nationalism and its renunciation of world responsibility for winning the peace?

As one Michigan newspaper editor forecast gloomily in an editorial a few days ago, death sentence is being pronounced today on the grandsons of Michigan grandfathers—those kids who are just entering kindergarten or first grades—and who will surely die in World War III if history repeats itself and the judgment of that German general staff officer, back in 1915, again becomes the pattern of tomorrow's interlude which we may call peace.

We wonder what those Holly boys—Donald Hulet and Robert Bravender and Allan McDaniel—would want us to do.

We, the people, must give them an answer. There is no escape.

MICHIGAN COUNCIL OF DEFENSE
Michigan War Week

Victory Scrap Drive Planned to Build Up Reserves for Mills

Michigan salvage committees, faced with waning scrap inventories, are launching a state-wide Victory Scrap campaign between October 1 and November 15 to again comb all farms, homes and stores for steel and iron scrap. The drive is part of a national campaign requested by Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman, and Major General Brehon Somervillo to assure capacity production of steel mills throughout the coming winter months.

Consuming steel mills and suppliers have on hand an inventory of only 7½ million tons, sufficient to last just two months, Kenneth M. Burns, chairman of the state salvage committee of the Michigan Council of Civilian Defense, said.

"The need for steel in carrying on the war is greater than ever," Burns said. "This is an insurance drive. There are no steel mills down right now, but we must be sure that no mill will go down. We are skating on too thin a margin for safety. We must build a scrap stockpile or reserve on which we can draw. Scrap gathered in the full drive will go direct to the processing yards or be placed in Victory Scrap Bank piles, which can be drawn upon as needed."

Many factors are affecting the current scrap situation, Burns said. The overall quota for steel scrap for the last six months of 1943 has been increased 2,000,000 tons over the first half—an amount which will only maintain, not increase, current steel mill inventory and leave no surplus for contingencies. Ore shipments on the Great Lakes are off 8,000,000 tons due to the late opening of navigation this spring. At the same time, scrap inventories in dealers' hands are reported at the lowest point since the 1942 scrap drive.

Collections of household fats in Michigan were three per cent less in August than in July, but the decrease was not as great as the seasonal slump that had been anticipated, according to the monthly report issued from state salvage headquarters of the Michigan OCD.

For the first time in several months not one county achieved its quota, but Mason was again at the top of the list with collections of 95.7 percent. The average for the state as a whole was 47 percent.

Bomb the Japs with junk!

From where I sit ....

by Joe Marsh

One of the best-liked farmers in these parts is Bert Childers! And he has the best way of beatin' the man shortage, too.

Come hucking time, Bert invites all of his former neighbors over to have a glass of beer. When they ask politely "Where's the beer?" Bert points to a bucket-full of frosty bottles in the middle of the field.

"All you got to do," he says, "is work your way out to it."

Well, Bert's idea has caught on all over the countryside.

Folks are pitching in to help their neighbors harvest grain, and fruit, and vegetables—and are taking their reward in sociability when the job's done.

And from where I sit, that's a mighty healthy picture of American life—people working together to get in the food this country needs—and afterwards, sittin' around like good friends, over a moderate glass of wholesome beer. I'm for it!

CAN VITAMINS CHANGE GRAY HAIR?

Read the amazing experience of gray-haired people in Calcium Pantothenate tests sponsored by Good Housekeeping magazine.

According to this report:

Age—did not seem to affect results. The earliest response occurred in a 50 year old; the latest in a 24 year old.

Color—began to appear near the roots of the hair. The color may not appear all over the head at the same time. Symmetrical areas, perhaps on the temples or the back of the head, may show traces of color first, after which the color will spread to other parts of the head.

Time—varied from 1 month to 6 months.

Results—88% of those tested had positive evidence of a return of some hair color.

● Now thousands use GRAVVITA, which contains 10 mgm. of Calcium Pantothenate (the same amount used in tests above) PLUS 450 U. S. P. units of B_1, the vitamin necessary to healthy nerves. Try GRAVVITA. See what a difference it may make in the way you look. 30 day supply, $1.50, 100 day supply $4.00. Phone, write

COMMUNICATION

Dear Sir,

Was wondering if you would send me the Courier for the school year? I don't know how much it is, so if I've sent too much, you can use the remainder for papers to the boys in the service.

Charles Wexstaff is stationed about 60 miles from where I am attending college, and I hope that he will get a chance to come over. Do you know of any other Charlevoix kids in this part of the country? Would like to have their addresses if you have them.

I am right in the mountains, about a mile up. Sure is nice here. The people are very friendly; the men all wear huge hats with huge brims and a good share of them wear cowboy boots. Almost everyone wears blue jeans or slacks, haven't seen a woman (outside of the college) that has had a dress on for days. No one wears hats or gloves—and they all speak of Michigan as "way back east."

Sincerely,
Mary Willis

USO SERVICE MENS' CENTER TO RE-OPEN

Closed Since July 15 Because of Lack of Service Men

Charlevoix's USO service mens' center, closed since July 15, will re-open this Friday, October 1.

Located on the second floor of the Lewis building, Van Pelt place, the center is operated for the personnel of the local coast guard station and any other service men on leave or passing thru the city. It was closed after two weeks of operation because of a lack of service men, but it is now planned to operate the center each afternoon and evening.

A number of local women had previously volunteered to act as matrons, and others will be needed to keep the center open full time. Anyone who wishes to volunteer may call Miss Frances Martin, phone 367. Donations of furniture, current magazines, books, games, are always welcome.

MILKWEED POD HARVEST IS ON

Pupils in schools in the southern part of the state, where no collection program has been organized due to the limited pod growth, are arranging their own programs. Pods collected in such areas are being taken to a central point in their respective counties and shipped to the Petoskey processing plant.

"It takes the net weight of approximately two bags of pods—filled to maximum capacity but not forced—to make sufficient floss to fill one of the 'Mae West' type of life preservers used by the United States navy", stated Mr. Gunning, division manager of War Hemp Industries. Pods may be picked as long as the floss has not escaped from the shell.

Petoskey business places closed this afternoon (Wednesday) to allow merchants and employees to pick the urgently needed pods.

A young woman doctor serving in the Red army Medical Corps!

These are the central characters—characters who have thousands of real-life prototypes today—in "Bomber's Moon", the spectacularly thrilling new 20th Century-Fox hit which opens on Tuesday of next week at the Palace Theatre.

"Watch on the Rhine"

Warner Bros. production of Lillian Hellman's play "Watch on the Rhine" plays Saturday and Sunday at the Palace Theatre. Bette Davis, as the American wife of Kurt Muller (Paul Lukas), a German who has made the fight against Fascism his life work, adds another vivid and distinctive portrayal of her career. In the supporting cast are Geraldine Fitzgerald, Lucile Watson, Beulah Bondi and George Coulouris.

ROCK ELM

William Slaugh, who has been working away through the summer, returned to his farm home Sunday to look after the harvesting of his fall crops.

Elwin Sundstedt, who came from Flint, Saturday morning, to look after some business matters for his mother, spent Saturday night and Sunday at the home of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jensen.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, of Ellsworth, also Frank Addis, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jensen.

Jesse Lawton helped Mr. Nasson fork out beans Saturday afternoon.

The bingo party at the Grange hall Saturday night was well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jensen drove to Gaylord with Elwin Sundstedt, Sunday afternoon, to enable him to take the train there for his return to Flint.

MORE BLOOD DONORS WANTED FOR CLINIC

State Health Department Plans Civilian Blood Banks

Thirteen Charlevoix people have registered as blood donors for the clinic to be held in Boyne City on November 8, when a mobile collection unit of the Michigan State health department will be in that city.

With the cooperation of the American Red Cross, the state health department is establishing civilian blood banks to make plasma available at no cost except the doctor's fee for administering the transfusion.

As the mobile unit will accommodate 65 donors a day, it is hoped to have at least that many from Charlevoix county. To date, registrations have fallen below this mark. While a deadline for registration was previously set, other donors will be accepted at any time. Charlevoix residents who wish to volunteer to give blood may call Mrs. R. F. Sloan, phone 413.

MICHIGAN AUTOS TO USE SINGLE PLATE

Florida License System Adopted by State for 1944

Secretary of State Herman H. Dignan has announced that Michigan will adopt the Florida system of licensing vehicles for next year with just one license plate, placed on back of the car. The plates are expected to be maroon with white lettering.

Present license plates are becoming unrecognizable, Dignan explained, making issue of new plates necessary. By using a single plate per car, half the metal normally required will be saved. Dignan declared steel turned in from present plates will be more than sufficient for the new system.

Sale of 1944 licenses will start about Jan. 1.

MICHIGAN TOURIST BUSINESS SLUMPED

Michigan's 1943 tourist business, second largest industry in the state, brought in an estimated $175,000,000, a 50 per cent drop from the normal volume conservatively estimated at $350,000,000, W. Stewart Woodfill, proprietor of the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island, told members of the Michigan Hotel Association at their annual convention in Bay City, Sept. 17-18.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Mis Beverly Stroud entertained eight of her schoolmates at an overnight house party at Stroud's cabins, Friday night.

The birthday anniversary of Miss Betty Withers was celebrated Monday night at a party given by her sister, Mrs. James Bolton, at the Withers home. Seven guests spent the evening playing tripoli, after which refreshments were served.

Mrs. J. M. Foster entertained Thursday at a party for the 8th birthday of her grandson, Carl. Fourteen guests gathered at the Foster home after school for games and birthday refreshments.

A buffet supper in honor of Miss Marjorie Miller and Miss Esther Lou Fochtman, who left Tuesday for New York City, was given Sunday evening at the Bonnie Lodge, on Dixon avenue, by Mrs. Earl Miller. Twenty-one guests were present for supper and a social evening.

Mrs. F. J. Gallagher was pleasantly surprised last Thursday evening, when a number of neighbors and friends gathered at her home to celebrate her birthday anniversary. Cards were played by the 21 guests, and prizes went to John Phaseleer, Lou Allard, Mrs. Nina McAulay and Mrs. Eva McDonald. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

McFARLAND-HANSEN WEDDING MONDAY AT ST. MARY'S RECTORY

The wedding of Miss Charlene C. McFarland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. McFarland, and Lt. William L. Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hansen, was solemnized at 9 o'clock Monday morning, September 27, at St. Mary's rectory.

Rev. Fr. A. V. Ulanowicz performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of a number of relatives and close friends.

Attending the bride were her sister, Mrs. Franklin Boss, as matron of honor, Miss Murguerite Klaus and Miss Markeeta Staffeld, of Detroit, and Miss Anne Slezuk, of this city, as bridesmaids. Jerome Whitley served as best man for the groom.

Multiple layers of white net over taffeta fashioned the bride's gown, made with long sleeves and sweetheart neckline. Her lace-edged veil was held in place by tiara of orange blossems, and she carried a kouquet of pink roses.

The matron of honor wore a gown of pink chiffon over taffeta, with matching headdress of roses set in ruffles of pink net, and carried deep pink roses. The bridesmaids wore blue gowns made in the same stylo. Gardenias in blue net made their headdresses and bouquets.

A wedding breakfast for 25 guests was served at 10 o'clock at the Park Side Dining Room. Bouquets of snapdragons decorated the candle-lit table, which was centered by a large wedding cake. A miniature bridal couple, with the groom in lieutenant's uniform, topped the cake. The dining room was decorated with bouquets of gladioli.

Lt. and Mrs. Hansen left Wednesday to make their home in Kansas City, Kan., near the groom's station at Strother army air field, Winfield, Kan.

The groom graduated from Charlevoix high school in 1936, and enlisted in the army air corps in April, 1941, receiving his pilot's wings in December, 1942. The bride also attended Charlevoix high school.

Out of town guests at the wedding were the groom's sisters, Miss Marie Hansen, of Alma, and Miss Esther Hansen, of Jackson.

EVELYN HARRINGTON, WILLIAM P. EDWARDS MARRIED WEDNESDAY

Miss Evelyn Harrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harrington, of Bellaire, became the bride of William P. Edwards, seaman first class, U. S. navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Edwards, in a ceremony performed at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, September 22, by Rev. Donald R. Evans, at the Congregational manse.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Reed, of Charlevoix. The bride wore a navy blue tailored suit with navy accessories, and corsage of red roses. Mrs. Reed also wore a navy blue suit, with red aster corsage.

After a visit of several days with the groom's parents, the couple left Wednesday for Detroit. Mr. Edwards will leave Saturday to re-join his ship on the Pacific coast, while Mrs. Edwards will return to her employment in Detroit.

The groom graduated from Charlevoix high school in 1939, and enlisted in the navy in August, 1941. The bride is a graduate of Elk Rapids high school.

The Fulbright Resolution

Congress and bureaucratic Washington operate in funny ways at many times. Last week the House passed the Fulbright resolation by a vote of 360 to 29. Its misinterpreted action met with general public acclaim over the nation. But, I am proud of the fact that I was one of the 29 who voted against it. Consequently, let's look at the history, and the reasoning behind this resolution.

When I attended the international food conference at Hot Springs, Va. last May we suspected there was much more going on behind the scenes than we on the outside were permitted to know. On June 10, 1943, the state department issued what was called a "confidential release" to the newspapers of this country outlining a plan for our participation in an international program for the relief and rehabilitation of the conquered countries as fast as they were recovered from under the heel of the Axis, when the United Nations' military authorition advised that this work could be carried on by civilians. For some strange reason, and despite all the hubbub in the press of the land about the secrecy attendant the Hot Springs conference, few, if any, of the nations' press carried any announcement of this program. The fact remains, however, that in its initial draft it had been submitted to, and approved by, all of the nations represented at the food conference with, however, some roservations which have since been incorporated in a second draft which was announced to the press last week.

Briefly, this program sets up an international council, composed of one representative from each of the United Nations, and such other member countries as they may later take in by two-thirds vote. This council shall meet twice a year and in the interim the affairs of the relief and rehabilitation program will be handled by a central committee, composed of one representative of the big four United Nations, namely, Britain, Russia, China and the United States. This central committee is to nominate unanimously, and the council approve, the selection of a director general, who it is expected will be Governor Lehman of the United States. Three subcouncils are provided; one to handle European relief; one Far-Eastern relief and one council for supply, in which, of course—inasmuch as each country participates in accordance with its ability to supply—it is expected that we will play the dominant role, as usual. This is the nucleus of a super World State.

Now it is to be noted that this program provides that each country will approve of its participation in the program, and provide the authorization for the funds of supplies allocated to it by the central council, "fully in accordance with its own Constitutional procedure". Now remember this, and tie it in with the Fulbright resolution. Remember also, that our State Department proceeded with the drafting of this plan originally—in which they were advised over a period of two months by an Englishman, who had in the first instance attempted to handle an all-English controlled program to accomplish the same results but which, because of that very fact, was rejected in the first instance by Russia and also by several others of the proposed beneficiary countries. Nevertheless, our State Department did not take the Congress into its confidence. This despite the fact that our "Constitutional procedure" makes it very clear that the President can enter into treaties only "by and with the consent of the Senate".

Now, six weeks after this plan had been confidentially presented to the delegates at Hot Springs and four weeks after it had been released to the press, then and only then did the House foreign affairs committee—realizing there was something in the wind and in which they should, perhaps, have some slight consideration—hold a secret meeting and summoned before it the Assistant Secretary of State. He freely admitted that all that was left for Congress to do "was to appropriate the money to put our share of the plan into effect"—bear in mind, however, that the terms of the agreement state, the council (of all the nations) will determine how much of the burden each country shall bear—and that it would be very embarrassing to the State Department if we did not appropriate the necessary funds. Bear in mind, also, the U. S. A. is but one nation—has but one vote. England, too, is one nation—with one vote; but so are Canada, Australia, New Zealand—and other members of the British Commonwealth—"one Nation" (each)—with "one vote" each. Why not 48 votes for Uncle Sam?

In view of the fact that the Congress had not been taken into consideration in the formulation of the initial draft, Mr. Fulbright—an energetic freshman member from Arkansas — ventured the suggestion that, perhaps, Congress should at least give its tacit approval through the passage of some "simple resolution".

Thus, was born the Fulbright resolution which originally read as follows:

"That the Congress hereby expresses itself as favoring the creation of appropriate international machinery with power adequate to maintain a just and lasting peace, among the nations of the world, and as favoring participation by the United States therein".

Realizing at the last minute that this resolution was all-inclusive; was a carte blanche authority to the executive branch of the government to go the limit, and thus it might find tough sledding in passage through the House, the committee added these four words:—"through its Constitutional processes".

Now, of course, we are all agreed that we want to end this war as soon as possible. We are agreed that we must collaborate in the postwar world to maintain the peace, but as I challenged on the floor, this must be done fully in accordance with the principles of our own Constitution, our Declaration of Independence and our Bill of Rights. It is perfectly clear from the foregoing that not only was this program absolutely not drawn in accordance with our Constitutional procedure—providing for its ratification by the Senate—but it is perfectly clear, also, that by the very terms of the Constitution, the House of Representatives has no business whatsoever intruding upon the prerogatives of the Senate in passing any such resolution. All it did was to open the door wide to further maneuvers of this kind on the part of the executive branch by the very reason of which we may be committed forever to continue to give, and give, away every resource this nation has without any check thereon being placed by the peoples' representatives in the Congress of the United States. In fact that attitude of the administration was clearly expressed in the words of the majority leader of the House when he stated you are a scoffer, demagogue, false prophet, a divider, a bigot, if you vote against the Fulbright resolution.

I am one of those who realize that Winston Churchill thinks of England first; Joseph Stalin has never been known to let Russia's interests down; Chiang Kai Shek constantly battles for the interests of his native land. When is somebody going to give some thought to America first?

work day. Yesterday we were in the mess hall from four in the morning 'til eight at night. During the week that 15 of us were detailed to the camp bakery, they baked 15,660 loaves of bread. Yesterday in the mess hall a fellow told me there were 6,264 pork chops fried for our one area.

There is only two more weeks of this boot training and then we go, to some real advanced training and perhaps school for some of us. We may stay here in this camp, only in a different area, and then again we may be shipped out.

I have a bank mate from Grayling. He is a cousin of Cecil and Willard Drost, so I guess the world is quite small.

I've got some laundry to do, so had better quit. We get pretty dirty hitting the deck and crawling for position to distant positions on our stomach, so our whole uniform has to ba washed. Usually about the time we get them and most likely our whites hung out on the line, it rains. That's some more of your Virginia weather for you.

With another thank you for the paper, I remain .

Dear Sir,

I believe it is about time to write and thank you for sending me the paper for the last two years—including the 20 months I spent here in Bermuda.

I sure enjoy reading your paper, and I'm sure the rest of the boys and girls who are in the service from Charlevoix enjoy reading it too.

My life here in Bermuda is rather simple. I spend most of my time trying to find some shade. We have several USO clubs on the island, also there are a number of golf courses here, which are very reasonable for a soldier to play. There is plenty of water for a man to go swimming or fishing. We have a USO show from the States about once a month, which are always good. We have moving picture shows every night. So I guess the soldier over here is pretty lucky.

Here is thanking you again for your splendid paper.

Hi Ken and all,

Our outfit moved again, so I thought if I wanted to get the Courier on time I had better get busy and do a little writing.

A lot has happened since I last wrote. We were on maneuvers in the most dismal swamps in North Carolina for a couple of months, we then moved back to Camp Somerset, Me., for a short period, which I spent mostly enjoying my wonderful bunk. After sleeping on Mother Earth for two months it really was wonderful. We moved to Camp Pickett, Va., last week and we are again bivouacing. We sure have been taking a beating as far as comfort is concerned. We have been building every kind of bridges that the army wants built, and a few more thrown in besides. They sure keep us busy.

I saw in last week's paper where Ira Smith is stationed here. Would you send his address in the paper. It sure would be swell if I could see someone from home.

Everyone is supposed to get a furlough in the next couple of months, so I probably will be seeing Charlevoix soon.

It sure was swell the way the people of Charlevoix and the summer resorters responded to the Bomber drive. It makes a fellow feel proud to think that he came from such a wonderful place as Charlevoix.

I want to thank you and the people of Charlevoix for keeping the paper coming.

Your friend,
Bernie.

Dear Ken,

I guess you will be aboat as surprised to hear from me as anyone, but I can't help but write this letter.

I just came from a movie and "Behind the Rising Sun" was playing. Ken, I'm telling you, if you or anyone else there or anywhere in the U. S. could see the picture and the way the damn dirty little yellow Japs treat women and children, you just can't imagine it,—they would buy so many stamps and bonds the government would never need to put on bond drives.

Every part of the picture is true incidents. I wonder how American mothers would feel if Japs tore their babies from their arms and threw them in the air to kill them. I guess I've rattled enough on it, but you couldn't help yourself either if you can imagine things like this.

How is old Charlevoix? Just as dead as ever, I suppose, but I'd still like to have been there this summer. Have you done any hunting yet? How did the fishing go this summer? You usually have enough luck to catch one big enough for a meal.

How are sports in Charlevoix—have they started football yet, or won't they have a team this year? How is Mr. Kipke and the Coleman family. I forgot little "Red's" name.

I also have learned you are again the proud papa. Is it a boy or girl? A boy, I hope.

Guess this is quite a letter, as we've never known each other very well, but you should be the best source of information.

Good luck to your hunting this fall, also to Mrs. Usher and all the little "Kennies." Remember me to my friends.

Your pal (I hope),
Bud Rowe.

Allied Heavy Bombers Roam Over Italy To Halt Flow of Nazi Reinforcements; Major Shift in Army Command Heralds New Blows Against European Fortress

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

ITALY:
Rome Is Goal

Salerno's beaches won, American and British troops turned to the northward, with Rome their immediate goal.

Having failed in throw the Allies back into the sea at Salerno, Gen. Albert Kesselring's German forces withdrew toward the Naples area, where they were expected to put up another stiff rearguard action in the mountainous terrain.

After sharp, brief attacks on Allied shipping at Salerno, German aircraft disappeared from the skies, and American and British bombers roamed over Italy at will. Seeking to halt the flow of German re-enforcements to the south, Allied planes ripped railroads and highways.

Reports from Naples told of the Nazis' destruction of the city, indicating that the German high command intends to ruin every facility that might be of use to occupying Allied forces.

Flanking the Italian mainland, the islands of Sardinia and Corsica fell to Allied troops. In Corsica, Italian soldiers joined with "Free French" units in fighting to oust Nazi elements.

RUSSIA:
New Lines

With the Dnieper river in sight, the end of a long German retreat along the whole central and southern front in Russia neared. It is along the entire 750 miles of the broad, winding river that the Nazis evidently intend to make a final stand in Russia. Should the Germans fail to hold the Dnieper line, they would be compelled to fall back into Europe itself.

In the north, the Russians drove past Smolensk, threatening the Nazis' communications with Finland, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania. In this sector, the Reds were only 115 miles from the old Polish border.

Only in the extreme south did the Germans hold the Russians at long arm's length from the Dnieper. Evidently, the Nazis were bitterly resisting in the area so as to allow the escape of many German troops in the Crimean peninsula, which connects with the Russian mainland in this section.

Generals Form Union

Calling upon Germany to overthrow Hitler and establish a government having the confidence of the people and the strength to bring about peace, 100 former Nazi generals and other officers hooked up with the "Free German" group organized by Russia.

Captured at Stalingrad, the former Nazi commanders appealed to Germany to "... end the senseless, futile war" which "might any day cause a national catastrophe." Germany today faces a worse isolation than in 1918, they contended.

Addition of the former Nazi militarists to the "Free German" committee undoubtedly was for the assurance of order it might promise in case of Germany's internal collapse. Russia's creation of the "Free German" committee has been seen as a move to incorporate the always potentially strong German nation into its own European order, independent of Anglo-American planning.

ALLIED CHIEF:
Marshall Named

Congress was working itself into a pother over rumors of Gen. George C. Marshall's removal as American chief of staff when it was reported that he has been named commander-in-chief of all American-British forces throughout the world.

Gen. George C. Marshall

According to the rumors that threw Washington into ferment, Marshall had clashed with British military authorities over the opening of a second front in Europe.

Report of his appointment as commander-in-chief of all Allied forces with control over the British army, however, seemed to spike the rumors. As American chief of staff, General Marshall was in charge of all army planning, of operations and supply, and his new post undoubtedly was to carry the same responsibilities.

Against Island Hopping

Even as air-borne Australian troops landed in northeastern New Guinea in another daring move to cut off the Japanese from supply bases, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reemphasized the pattern of his strategic bottle-plans in the Southwest Pacific.

Assailing the principle of "island hopping"—that is, taking one island after the other—General MacArthur declared: "Key points must, of course, be taken, but a wise choice of such will obviate the need for storming the mass of islands now in enemy possession . . . (which) is not my idea of how to end the war as soon and as cheaply as possible."

Replying to talk he would be shelved, Gen. MacArthur said: "I have no personal military ambitions whatsoever, and am perfectly content in such role as may be prescribed for me."

MANPOWER:
War Needs

Testifying before the senate military affairs committee on the question of drafting dads, Gen. George C. Marshall and Adm. Ernest J. King declared they were interested only in meeting the services' quota for 1,200,000 men by the end of the year.

According to the war manpower commission, 446,000 fathers will have to be inducted if the services' demands are to be met. Marshall and King left the problem of raising the men up to the WMC, but warned against lowering physical standards in reclassifying 4-F's, or of taking childless married men over 38.

In leading the fight against immediate induction of fathers, Senator Burton K. Wheeler sought to establish that production was exceeding requirements in certain lines, resulting in a waste of manpower which could be used to better advantage in other industries behind schedule. Wheeler also sought to probe claims that certain employers were overstaffing their concerns and raising costs to assure larger profits on contracts.

Distribute Production

While congress stewed over the whole manpower question, Chairman Donald Nelson of the war production board issued a directive ordering all war agencies not to place contracts in areas where labor shortages exist if they can be filled elsewhere.

Donald Nelson

In this connection, the WPB also declared that war contracts should be negotiated, with smaller firms being paid premiums to meet higher production costs, so that full use may be made of all manufacturing facilities.

In connection with curtailing employment in industries whose production exceeds needs, WPB announced that hereafter such employment would be cut in communities where there was a scarcity of labor in other essential lines.

POST-WAR PEACE:
Vote to Cooperate

The question of nationalism and internationalism came to the front in the house of representatives and both sides came off with honors even.

With congress' adoption of the Fulbright resolution, the internationalists won a point through the measure's provision calling for America's co-operation in joining with other nations in preserving world peace by any seemingly proper means.

On the other hand, the nationalists won a point, too, through the resolution's stipulation that congress must approve any plan for such American co-operation.

The bill went to the senate, where it faces strong opposition on the grounds that the house was trying to cut in on the senate's constitutional privilege of advising and consenting to foreign treaties.

WHEAT:
CCC Rations Stocks

Tightening of transportation is complicating the Commodity Credit corporation's distribution of its wheat stocks for feed. The same difficulty has interfered with the CCC's program for purchasing 15 million bushels of Canadian wheat weekly.

Because of the difficulties encountered, CCC has rationed wheat to buyers, with big operators formerly ordering 165,000 bushels being cut to 50,000.

As of September 11, the CCC reported, 57,483,457 bushels of new wheat were held in loan, compared with 144,038,386 at the same time last year. Some 1942 wheat also is being held in loan. CCC efforts to call these loans to replenish its stocks, however, probably would result in farmers offering the grain on the open market for sale above the loan price.

New Synthetic Tube

Add to scientific wonders this synthetic inner tube, called marvinol, and made from a new class-to-plastic. According to the manufacturers, the material in the tube is non-porous, eliminating the usual leakage of two pounds of air weekly in ordinary tubes. In addition, the new tube is fully reclaimable in case of a puncture or blowout.

U. S. NAVY:
Greatest in History

With 613 warships and 10,269 planes, the U. S. navy ranks as the greatest in world history. Since 1940, 333 combatant vessels and 15,567 planes of all types have been added in a multi-billion dollar construction program.

In addition to the warships, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox disclosed that 1,274 mine and patrol craft have been built, along with 12,064 landing vessels and numerous other smaller boats.

Since the outbreak of war, the U. S. has lost 1 battleship, 4 aircraft carriers, 9 cruisers, 32 destroyers and 12 submarines, or a total of 58 warships.

FARM:
Manpower Wastage

Approximately 1,300,000 farm families are prevented from producing at their maximum because of a lack of financing, James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers union, declared.

Because they cannot get the credit for purchase of equipment and other facilities, Patton said, these families are producing below their level, and thus wasting badly needed manpower. To help them increase production, Patton suggested creation of a billion dollar loan program.

Another source of manpower wastage, Patton said, was the freezing of farm labor in most of the nation's 3,000 counties. Under provisions of public law 45, Patton pointed out, federal funds for recruiting and transporting farm labor from one area to another are advanced only on approval of the county agent.

POST-WAR:
Spending Seen

Sixty-four per cent of the people interviewed by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce plan to buy one or more major articles in the six months following the end of the war.

During this period, they intend to spend three billion dollars on automobiles; over one billion dollars on household appliances, chiefly radios and kitchen mixers; over 700 million dollars on household furnishings, and seven billion dollars on new homes.

On Guard

At their rocky perch on the lonely coast of Newfoundland, Canadian soldiers watch for signs of the enemy. This is one of Canada's advance posts in her war against the German submarine.

CHATTERER AND SAMMY JAY MAKE UP

WHEN Chatterer the Red Squirrel heard Sammy Jay say that he was going straight to the Green Forest to tell Shadow the Weasel that Chatterer was living in the Old Orchard a great fear filled his heart. He forgot his quarrel with Sammy. He forgot his greed for all the corn in Farmer Brown's cornrib. He forgot everything but his terrible fear of Shadow the Weasel. It was because of Shadow that Chatterer had left the Green Forest to live in the Old Orchard. If Shadow should find him here, he didn't know what he could do or where he could go. He knew that Sammy Jay meant just what he said, for, though it would be a dreadful thing to do, people do dreadful things when they are angry; and Sammy Jay was very, very angry, indeed. He already had spread his wings when Chatterer spoke.

"Please don't do that, Sammy Jay," he begged. "I—I—didn't mean the bad things I have said."

Sammy Jay's eyes snapped. He saw right away that Chatterer was very much frightened and he knew that in the future, as long as Shadow the Weasel was anywhere around, Chatterer would be so afraid that he would do anything Sammy might want him to. You see, Sammy Jay is very sharp.

"Am I any more of a thief than you are?" he demanded.

"No-o-o," replied Chatterer slowly, as if it were the hardest work to say it.

"Will you play any more tricks on me?" asked Sammy.

"No," replied Chatterer, more promptly this time.

"Well, I'll think it over and make up my mind in the morning," said

"I promise!" cried Chatterer hastily.

Sammy. "Perhaps I will and perhaps I won't tell Shadow where you are living. I'll think it over."

Now Sammy knew perfectly well that Chatterer wouldn't sleep a wink that night for worrying. Already he had made up his mind not to tell Shadow, for, like all the other little meadow and forest people, he hated Shadow. But, of course, Chatterer couldn't know that. He had so made up his mind, and a great fear that Sammy might tell clutched his heart. Chatterer thought very hard for a minute, and then an idea came.

"If you'll promise not to tell Shadow where I am you—you are welcome to all the corn you want at Farmer Brown's cornrib," said Chatterer in a very weak voice.

"Indeed!" replied Sammy. "How very generous of you, seeing that it doesn't belong to you, anyway, and I have just as much right to it as you have."

"And—and—well, I'll help you get it," continued Chatterer, his sharp wits working their hardest to think of some way to get Sammy to make that promise.

"How?" asked Sammy suspiciously.

"Why, when you can't get it between the cracks, I'll bring some out for you and hide it in the stone wall where you can find it," replied Chatterer. But in his heart he said that he would hide it so that Sammy would have to hunt a long time to find it. It seemed almost as if Sammy read that thought, for, cocking his head on one side, he said:

"I'll promise not to tell Shadow if you'll promise to get me corn whenever I want it and put it just where I tell you to."

Chatterer didn't like that idea at all, but what could he do? He thought it over so long that Sammy Jay spread his wings as if he was going to start that very instant for the Green Forest.

"I promise!" cried Chatterer hastily.

And so these two scamps of the Green Forest made up and planned how they would live all the rest of the winter on Farmer Brown's corn.

Health Haven In The Pacific

Behind the far flung battle lines on the South Pacific front our navy has established an oasis of peace and quiet where battered bodies and jangled nerves can be nursed back to health. Performing a near miracle, considering the time and labor expended, construction battalions have erected docking facilities and an airfield where casualties can be received from battles. For war weary but uninjured heroes the recreation center is a mecca—one spot on the war bound deep that is truly "pacific" where death can be forgotten for a brief hour in the sun.

A view of the hospital reveals the cool, airy canopy provided by the palms which tower over the buildings. Inset, top left: This sign erected at the outskirts of the center is a cheerful harbinger of the hours ahead for men who have been under the strain of battle.

Above: Water lovers find refreshment in the Pacific surf. Overhanging tree allows swimmers to indulge in acrobatics along with their aquatics. Right: Using utmost care to handle patients gently, crew of an ambulance plane that flew casualties from battle area pass their precious cargo to another crew who will rush the injured to hospitals.

Island foliage surrounds the dock which a navy construction battalion erected on the sandy beach to facilitate handling of wounded men.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

LEG: A brakeman on the Santa Fe railroad has been awarded $12,500 for the loss of his leg in an accident at Ellinwood, Kan. He had sued for $150,000.

MEXICO: The president of Mexico, Manuel Camacho, has signed an order freezing prices of basic foods, textiles, tires, gasoline and other essential articles.

FARM AWARD: Farmers who have achieved "exceptional" production records will be recognized by an "Agricultural Achievement award" to be presented by the War Foods administration to some farmer in each county. There is also an award for processors. State agricultural war boards are asked to make nominations.

Right now there are many worried parents, too, wondering how they are going to provide their smaller children with enough garments to keep warm this winter in view of the very serious and alarming shortage of clothes for kiddies below the 'teen age. There certainly is something radically wrong with a materials control program that practically excludes children, who especially need and must have warm garments.

PARENT EDUCATION CLASSES TO START

Child's Behavior, Development, Subject of Course

Classes in parent education, directed by Mrs. Belle Farley Murray of the University of Michigan extension service, will begin at Charlevoix high school next Wednesday evening, October 6, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Murray is conducting similar classes at Saginaw, Midland, Gaylord, Petoskey, Bay City and Ferndale. Classes in Charlevoix will be held in the high school commercial room, and all parents are welcome. A minimum of ten members is required for the class.

The two-hour class will constitute a study of the child's behavior, discipline, social adjustment, period of development, religious experience, and other phases of the growth of children.

Mrs. William Supernaw is chairman of the committee which met Wednesday morning at the high school to plan the course with Mrs. Murray. Other members are Mrs. Ralph Hamilton, Mrs. Robert Miles, Mrs. L. P. Peterson, Mrs. Glenroy Ikens and Mrs. Walter Bergeon. Any member will furnish additional information to those interested in taking the course.

Fire Sunday Afternoon

Fire, claimed to have been started from careless handling of matches, did slight damage at the Pat Whitley residence, 107 West Garfield avenue, about 4:30 Sunday afternoon. The blaze was confined to the basement, although other portions of the house were damaged by smoke before it was extinguished by the local fire department.

NORWOOD TOWNSHIP RESIDENT SUCCUMBS

Funeral Services Held Tuesday at St. Mary's Church

John Fratrick, Sr., 69, Norwood township farmer, died Saturday noon in Grayling hospital. In failing health for some time, he was seriously ill for three weeks.

Mr. Fratrick was born in Czechoslavokia, August 15, 1874. He came to Chicago as a youth, and was married to Christine Juriga in that city in 1900. In 1914 they moved to a farm in Wisconsin, and in 1932 came to Charlevoix and purchased a farm.

He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church, also of the Barnard Grange.

Surviving are the widow, a daughter, Mrs. John Sladek, of Chicago; three sons, John and Fred, of Charlevoix, and Pvt. George Fratrick, with the American army in north Africa; one sister, Mrs. John Patun, of Chicago; and three grandchildren.

Rev. Fr. A. V. Ulanowicz conducted funeral services at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Mary's church. Burial was at the Catholic cemetery.

The teams were quite evenly matched, with Charlevoix excelling on running plays and East Jordan through the air.

Charlevoix plays away from home this week, meeting Boyne City on their home field.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE OF KATHRYN SHARPS, CPL. JOHN E. JONES

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Kathryn Sharps, of Columbus, Ohio, daughter of Mrs. Belle Sharps, of Bremen, Ohio, to Cpl. John E. Jones, of the Lockbourne army air base, Columbus, on July 15. Cpl. Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Jones of this city.

The bride is a graduate of Bremen high school and the Good Samaritan school of nursing at Zanesville, Ohio, and is now on the staff of St. Anthony's hospital, Columbus. Cpl. Jones attended Charlevoix schools, entered the army in January, 1942, and is now stationed with the medical corps at the Lockbourne air base.

The couple are residing at 800 Oak street, Columbus.

ANNA MAE HOLMES BRIDE OF HOWARD GILLER, TUESDAY

In a ceremony performed Tuesday afternoon by Rev. Leigh H. Hagle, Miss Anna Mae Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Holmes, Charlevoix Rt. 1, became the bride of Pvt. Howard Giller, of Traverse City. The marriage was solemnized at 1:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Jacobs, on Bridge street.

The bride chose a dress of rose silk crepe, with which she carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

SORENSENS PURCHASED LAUNDRY PARTNERSHIP

Ivan Holmes Sells Interest in Local Business Place

Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Sorensen have purchased the interest of Ivan Holmes in the Model Home Laundry, according to announcement made by Mr. Sorensen.

By this transaction, Mr. Sorensen becomes owner of the laundry in which he has held a partnership for 27 years. Mr. Holmes, who bought out the interest of Emory D. Gimble in the business in 1931, is now employed in a war production plant at Muskegon.

The laundry business has been in its present location at the foot of Clinton street for the past 3 years.

PLANS MADE TO OPEN RECREATION CENTER

Plans for re-opening of St. Mary's recreation center to the youth of Charlevoix during the winter months were formulated at a meeting Monday night at the center, Rev. L. H. Hagle, scoutmaster, conferred with members of the city church committee and council of Catholic men on opening of the center.

To Coal Consumers...

After all, there is no serious shortage of coal, even though there is an unprecedented demand for it right now.

True, some consumers of coal have always bought their supply early, yet many have replenished their supply frequently, keeping only an amount needed in the bin during winter. When everybody wants the bin filled at once—a full year's supply—there's bound to be less coal available than you would wish, because a mine cannot increase its tonnage output to keep pace with consumers' current demand.

Mines are getting out more coal than ever and there's really no actual shortage, nor is one expected during the winter, provided the consumer will be calm and will take deliveries in about the same distribution throughout the winter as he has in the past.

All dealers are doing a splendid job of distributing coal so that everyone will be taken care of. Stampeding or panicky buying might result otherwise.

RED CROSS HAS ANNUAL MEETING

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS ELECTED FRIDAY

Reports of Chairmen Show Highly Successful Production Year for Charlevoix County

Annual meeting of the Charlevoix county chapter of the American Red Cross was held Friday night, October 1, in the Charlevoix city hall club room.

Following secretary's report given by Mrs. Ralph Price, of Ironton, and treasurer's report by Miss Ethel Crowell, of East Jordan, were reports of the various chairmen.

Mrs. Allen Campbell, of Charlevoix, production chairman, reported that during the past year the county chapter had made and shipped 1,790 civilian garments for war relief, 625 civilian garments to be placed in supply depots in this country for use in disaster relief, 954 knitted gurments for the armed forces, and 404 kit bags for the army. Women of the county are to be highly commended, said Mrs. Campbell, on the splendid work they have done in turning out this large amount of gurments.

Since beginning of the surgical dressings program last October, a total of 282,000 dressings have been made. This is the largest project yet to be undertaken by the county chapter, and has been highly successful to date.

Home nursing classes had more than 85 graduates this year, stated Mrs. W. C. Naylor, of Boyne City, county chairman of home nursing study.

George Hemingway, of Boyne City, first aid chairman, reported a total of 41 graduates in the first aid standard course, 25 in advanced classes, 10 junior coarse graduates, and 23 instructors. Bruce Malpass, of East Jordan, was the county delegate to water safety school in Traverse City.

Work of the camp and hospital council for Fort Brady wes reported by Mrs. Paul Clark, of Boyne City. The chapter furnished a sunroom at that camp this year, and also contributed cookies and small prizes for parties given for patients during July.

Re-elected to office were the following: county chairman, Mrs. C. F. Kreighoff, Boyne City; vice chairman, Mrs. Howard Tuft, East Jordan; secretary, Mrs. Ralph Price, Ironton; treasurer, Miss Ethel Crowell, East Jordan. Directors elected were: Mrs. R. F. Sloan, Charlevoix; Mrs. S. B. Neymark, Boyne City; Mrs. Ole Hegerberg, East Jordan.

DRAFTEES CHOOSE SERVICE IN NAVY

Ten Men Will Comprise County's October Contingent

Navy service was chosen by all ten of the Charlevoix county men who passed draft examinations at the Detroit induction station last Friday, the first time this has occurred since institution of the navy draft.

Passing examination were:

Charlevoix — Robet E. Balch, Vernard Clayton Hamlin.

Boyne City—Melvin Roy Hardy, Robert James Anzell.

East Jordan—Oscar Elmer Miller, James Elmer Hurlbert, Ervin John Murphy, Albert George Wilden, Harvey Boyd Bowen, Francis Roy Russell.

The draft board has not been notified of departure date of the men, but usual post-induction furlough for navy inductees is seven days.

LEGION AUXILIARIES JOINT INSTALLATION

SERVICES THURSDAY FOR WILLIAM KENNY

Former East Jordan Resident Is Victim of Accident

Interment services will be held here Thursday morning for William D. Kenny, former resident of East Jorden, who was killed Sunday night in a train and auto collision at Cheboygan.

Mr. Kenny had resided in East Jordan many years where he was employed in Gidley's drug store. He went to Cheboygan only five weeks ago to work. His wife, the former Edna Smith, of Charlevoix, died about 21 years ago.

Surviving are a brother, Anthony Kenny, of East Jordun; 3 sisters, Mrs. F. H. Garrett, of Council Bluffs, Ia.; Mrs. Frank Taylor, of Miami, Fla; Mrs. John Kelly, uf Minneapolis, Minn., and several nieces and nephews.

Following funeral services at 8:30 Thursday morning at St. Joseph's church in East Jordnn, the body will be brought here for burial in the Catholic cemetery.

BLOOD DONORS ASKED TO SIGN

CLINIC IS SCHEDULED FOR NOVEMBER 8TH

Registration in 1942 Civilian Defense Roll Call Does Not Cover Present Need

Slowness of response to the call for blood donors in the clinic to be held in Charlevoix county during the week of November 8, appears to indicate that many people believe their registration in the 1942 civilian defense registration makes it unnecessary for them to re-register.

These registration lists have been filed with the state office of civilian defense, and are not available to the Red Cross at this time. Those who signed as blood donors in 1942 are asked once again to register by calling Mrs. R. F. Sloan.

Blood plasma banks set up by the Michigan department of health in cooperation with the Red Cross, will make plasma available for civilian use at a nominal cost. Health department officials have pointed out, however, that only those communities which have donated blood to the program will be given first consideration in receiving plasma when it is needed. So, in order to make the plasma available to Charlevoix county citizens—in case of wholesale disaster or personal need, as in an operation or injury—it is imperative that donors be registered at once.

Age requirement for donors are that they be from 18 to 50 years old, inclueive, and those between 18 and 21 must have consent of parents or guardian. Physical examination will be given at the clinic, and transportation and canteen service furnished by the Red Cross county chapter.

P. M. TO OPERATE TRAINS SIX DAYS

Sunday Service Is Discontinued After October 3

Changes in train service on the Pere Marquette railway have been announced by B. Nickersun, station agent.

Sunday train service has been discontinued for the winter, as has sleeper service to Chicago on all daily trains. Both changes were effective immediately after Sunday, October 3. Sunday trains will operate as far north as Traverse City until October 31, and sleeper service will be maintained to Traverse City also.

Dining car service from Petuskey south was discontinued after last Thursday. Train schedules remain the same as during the summer months.

NEXT SHOE STAMP VALID NOVEMBER 1

Date Will Overlap Current Stamp In Ration Book One

The new shoe stamp No. 1 on the "airplane" sheet in war ration book three, which becomes valid November 1, probably will have to last six months, OPA has announced.

At the same time OPA said that stamp 18, originally scheduled to expire October 31, is extended indefinitely and will overlap the next stamp.

OPA's present plan is to eliminate expiration dates on shoe stamps and to make new stamps valid as soon as supplies warrant. This enables a person to save shoe stamps until shoes are needed.

OFFICERS SCHOOL CLASSES ELECTED

Junior and Senior High School Students Choose Leaders

Class officers have been elected by Charlevoix junior and senior high school students for the 1943-44 school term, and faculty advisors appointed. Election results were as follows;

Seniors—president, Dan Bollinger; vice president, Jay Chambers; secretary, Elaine Edwards; treasurer, Carl Schulz; advisor, H. E. Bingham.

Juniors—president, Marion Craig; vice president, Ruth Essenburg; secretary, Ann Campbell; treasurer, Mary Jane Usher; advisor, Stewart Coleman.

Sophomores—president, Vincent Olach; vice president, Bernie Zeitler; secretary, Beth Meggison; treasurer, Jack Mol, advisor, Nellie Smith.

Freshmen—president, Audrey Byers; vice president, Charlee Bennett; secretary, Ann Cellner; treasurer, Richard Hardy, advisor, Eleanor Anderson.

Eighth grade—president, Bill Carey, vice president, Bill Peterson; secretary, Eddis Hagie; treasurer, Francis Purtridge; advisor, Wyatt Wilson.

No returns have yet been received from the seventh grade class election.

LOCAL USO CENTER RE-OPENED FRIDAY

All Service Men Welcome Every Afternoon and Evening

After nearly three months of inactivity, Charlevoix's USO service men's center re-opened last Friday. it is expected to operate the center every afternoon and evening from 2 to 5 and 7:30 to 10 p. m. or later. An invitation has been extended to any service men in the city to visit the center.

Many local women have responded generously to the plea for matrons to supervise the center, but others who wish to volunteer their services will be accepted. At present, a matron is needed for Sunday evenings, and others for one or two afternoons during the week. Those who cannot act as regular matrons, but may substitute at times, are also asked to communicate with Miss Frances Martin, phone 367.

Current magazines, games, interesting books and the popular "pocket" books can be used at the center. Contributions of apples, cookies or other such articles of food will be welcomed. Those who have men in service and realize the value of USO centers for service men thus have an opportunity to help in successful operation of the local center.

OBSERVATION POST WILL REMAIN OPEN

No Instructions Received As to Closing of Watch Tower

Although announcement was made Tuesday by the War Department that thousands of Aircraft Warning Service observation posts would be curtailed or discontinued, no instructions have as yet been received concerning the Charlevoix post.

Because of the country's greatly improved air defenses, and no immediate prospect of enemy bombings, 600,000 civilians who had served as aircraft spotters will be relieved of this duty. They can serve better in field and factory, it was declared.

However, until instructions are issued from the Fort Brady air defense center to close this station, it will remain in operation.

OPEN RECREATION CENTER MONDAY

FACILITIES FREE TO ALL LOCAL YOUNG PEOPLE

Operating Committee Ask Church Cooperation; Want Sponsors To Supervise Center

St. Mary's Recreation Center will be opened to the boys and girls of Charlevoix next Monday evening, and will be operated on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings each week for young people.

A committee comprised of Fr. A. V. Ulanowicz, Rev. Leigh H. Ingle, Fred Bancroft, Arthur Edwards, H. C. Heckler and Ralph Hamilton are in charge of operating the center, and wish cooperation of all churches in the city. Sponsors are needed on nights the hall is open.

Two Thuredays each month have been reserved for the Boy Scouts of Charlevoix Troop 11, and the last Tuesday in each month is set aside for the pack meeting of Cub Scouts. The Scouts have a room of their own in which to place handicraft and trophies.

St. Mary's center fills the need of a good recreation spot for all young people of Charlevoix, regardless of creed, and particularly those of junior and senior high school age. Competent, responsible men will supervise recreation at all times. Table tennis, pool, games, dancing and reading are recreational facilities offered. There is no charge for use of the equipment, and only the usual charge for pop and candy bars.

Membership cards will be issued at no charge, and retaining of this card is contingent upon the holder's behavior at the center. The public is invited to come in at any time and observe the center in operation.

The past record of the recreation center is proof of its need, and many local young people have enjoyed its facilities.

CADET EXAMINATIONS AT TRAVERSE CITY

Applicants 17 to 26 Years Old Accepted for Air Corps

The army aviation cadet examining board will be in Traverse City next Wednesday, October 13, to examine applicants for cadet training in the army air forces.

Applicants may be 17 to 26 years old inclusive, married or single. They must have three letters of recommendation, birth certificate, and those between the ages of 17 and 18 years must bring parents consent blanks.

Applications and consent blanks can be obtained from Lt. C. B. Anderson, Civil Air Patrol, 602 South Union street, Traverse City.

ST. JAMES STUDENTS IN "JEEP" BOND CAMPAIGN

Students of St. James school on Beaver Island have started a drive to sell enough war bonds by December 7 to purchase a "jeep" for the armed forces. Directed by Sister Agnes Clare, the "Jeep Drive" got under way Friday, and the first week's sales of $1,650 were credited to the Third War Loan drive.

HUNTERS CAN USE "A" GASOLINE ALLOTMENT

Food Ration Books May Be Pooled by Campers, Says OPA

Michigan hunters with "A" gasoline books may use their entire allotment for hunting, the office of price administration has announced, but they will forfeit all other non-essential driving. The APO announcement also covered food and fuel oil regulations for the hunting season.

"B" and "C" book holders, who are entitled to 120 miles of non-essential driving a month, may use it for hunting purposes, the OPA said. As gasoline is rationed in two-month allotments the "B" and "C" book holders will be able to travel 240 miles including the trip to and from his destination and all side trips necessary.

The OPA said extra fuel oil rations for heating hunting camps will not be allowed, but local boards may allow rations for cooking, lighting or supplying hot water for the hunting season.

Hunters will be allowed to pool their ration books to buy food, with parties of less than 50 classified as Group 1 institutional users. A plan has been set up so that points may be advanced where it is necessary to buy food ahead, but the OPA warns that the points must be paid back from individual books within a 60-day period.

CENSUS OFFICE IS LOCATED AT BOYNE

Survey of Labor Market Covers 120 Selected Counties

The bureau of census, special surveys division, of the United States Department of Commerce, will establish an office in Boyne City to cover sample survey operations in Antrim and Charlevoix counties on their monthly report on the labor force, and other studies pertaining to the war effort and post-war problems.

Donald P. Watkins, of Boyne City, has been appointed supervisor of the office. The two counties are then included in a selected group of 120 counties from 44 states, in which such sample labor surveys are conducted regularly to determine the employment and unemployment situation in the nation.

By interviewing directly a cross-section of the national population, it is possible to obtain an extremely accurate report on the state of the labor market as of one week each month. Questions asked in selected households provide information on size of the household, number of persons under and over 14 years, and whether those over 14 years are employed, unemployed, or out of the labor market.

MRS. L. P. PETERSON ENGAGED BY SCHOOL

Nurse and Attendance Officers' Duties Are Combined

Mrs. L. P. Peterson has been engaged as Charlevoix public school nurse and attendance officer, in a program combining the work of both positions.

Her duties consist of checking health of students both in and out of school, and investigating causes of students' absence. Each year the fear of epidemics keeps as many students out of school as those who are actually ill, and it is believed that a better knowledge of the students' health conditions will aid in keeping up attendance marks.

POTATO PRODUCTION HITS HIGH RECORD

A. & P. Tea Company Urges Home Storage of Staple Food

This year's potato production, as estimated by the War Food Administration, will run 35 million bushels in excess of available storage facilities, it was learned today.

In calling attention to this situation, Harvey A. Baum, head of the A & P Tea Company's produce-buying operations, pointed out that this excess of potato production amounts to more than a bushel for every family in the country. The WFA's figure of a total crop of 460,512,000 bushels is the biggest in history, he said, and is 90 million bushels more than last year and 33 million bushels larger than any previous annual yield.

To prevent spoilage of this perishable crop, Baum said, the government is urging consumers to buy supplies of potatoes for home storage.

FINAL FIGURES IN BOND DRIVE

COUNTY $100,000 OVER THIRD WAR LOAN QUOTA

East Jordan Led "E" Bond Sales; State, County, Michigan Bell Purchases Were Divided

Final tabulation of totals in the Third War Loan Drive shows Charlevoix county exceeding its quota by more than $100,000. While state-wide results are not available at present, it is believed this county made a record in the campaign that compares well with the rest of the state.

A total of $523,775 in bond sales was recorded for the county, including the $100,000 purchase of Harry Bloch, of New York city and Charlevoix. Sales were divided as follows: Charlevoix, $178,875; Boyne City, $173,000; East Jordan, $107,900; St. James, $4,000.

East Jordan led in "E" bond sales, with $60,700; Boyne City was second with $66,200; while Charlevoix trailed with $52,000.

Apportioned among the communities were the bond purchase made by Mr. Bloch, $4,000 by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, $69,000 by the state of Michigan, and $20,000 by the county of Charlevoix. The state and telephone company total purchases were distributed among all counties of Michigan.

All those who assisted in the campaign, both by buying and selling bonds, deserve high praise for their part in success of the drive in Charlevoix and the county.

ROBERT C. EMREY CITY ACCOUNTANT

Appointed by Council to Succeed Mrs. Wilma Novotny

At their regular meeting Monday night, the city council approved the employment of Robert C. Emrey as city accountant, to succeed Mrs. Wilma Novotny.

Mrs. Novotny, appointed city accountant when Mr. Emrey entered the armed forces in February, has resigned and his former duties were again taken over this week by Mr. Emrey.

RAYDERS DROPPED SATURDAY'S GAME

BOYNE TRIMMED LOCALS BY 13 TO 0 SCORE

Charlevoix's Aerial Offensive Was Good; Meet Mancelona on Home Field This Week

Charlevoix's Red Raydere dropped Saturday's football contest at Boyne City, losing 13 to 0 to Coach Brotherston's outfit. The Rayders had defeated East Jordan on the home field the previous week, but met their match at Boyne.

Although the local team completed several passes and had the edge in aerial attack, Boyne's advantage in open field runs resulted in two touchdowns and decided the game.

Boyne won the toss and chose to receive, returning the ball to their 28-yard line. Charlevoix blocked Boyne's fourth down punt and carried the ball to their opponent's 12-yard line, where they lost it on downs. This was the Rayder's closest approach to Boyne's goal during the game.

Opening the second period, Boyne's punt over the local goal returned the ball to Charlevoix's 20-yard line. Remainder of the quarter was a comedy of errors, with Boyne declared offside on two successive plays, both teams fumbling and losing the ball. However, with two end runs of 20 and 30 yards, Boyne carried the ball over Charlevoix's goal line for the first score, but missed kick for extra point.

Charlevoix gained some territory by an air offensive in the third stanza. Novotny intercepted a Boyne pass on his own 30-yard line and the ball was returned to Boyne's 35. Boyne got to Charlevoix's 10-yard line, but was stopped.

Boyne's advantage in end runs showed again in the fourth quarter, when they took the ball 30 yards to the Rayder goal line and Mellencamp bucked it over for the second touchdown. Kick for extra point was good, making the score 13-0 for Boyne. Another attempted run around end which threatened a third touchdown was stopped by Zeitler, who downed the runner with a neat tackle.

The Kipmen will play at home this Saturday, meeting Mancelona at south side athletic field.

TELEPHONE COMPANY HONORS OPERATORS

Three Employees Marked Service Anniversaries in September

Three operators of the local Michigan Bell Telephone Company exchange observed service anniversaries during September, and were awarded gold bell pins by the company.

Mrs. Charles Martini, celebrating her 25th year in service of the organization, received a pin with a diamond set. Mrs. Snader Hulverson and Mrs. Fred Southwood, both marking their 15th year as operators, were presented with pins marked by three stars, each representing five years of service.

Mrs. P. R. Ross, president of the Blue Star Mothers chapter, asks that any members who can assist in the community tree planting, Friday, will contact her.

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

Just a few lines this morning while I have a few minutes.

The problem just ended for the week-end, now we can lay around for three days until next week's problem starts. As you may know, we are on our second phase of war games back in the hilly and cold state of Tennessee. Last summer we were here on the second army maneuvers, and being transferred to the 11th corps since leaving here last summer, we had to come back for four weeks of experimental problems for the 11th corps. We spend two weeks on the Blue side, then two weeks for the Reds.

So far I don't think much of Tennessee this time of year. We've been here 24 days now and it has rained 19 of them. A guy gets plenty of mud along with his other "gripes". And they sure have plenty of it here when it rains. It seems that the farmers were praying for rain all summer and it wasn't until the 114th got here that it started. So if you hear of anybody that wants rain, just send for the 114th. It always works.

We've had a little difficulty this time for a number of reasons. For one thing, being chiefly an intercept outfit, we have to maintain the speed of advance of our troops so that we will be as close to the enemy as possible to pick up their weak field stations, consequently we move often and fast. Lots of times we stay quite a ways ahead of our mess truck and water trucks so that we don't eat regular when the problem is on. We get along as best we can, with "C" rations and sandwiches they sometimes get to us with a jeep when they can find us. When the problem is over, we eat pretty good.

The water situation is quite serious because there are only so many places that "G. I." water can be obtained and it has to supply a large number of men. So we don't shave until Sunday and bathing is almost out of the question. We can get passes on the week ends for six to twelve hours and we try to get to town and stand in line in front of the ber-

STATE CONSERVATION COMMISSION TO MEET

October Session Held Wednesday At Iron Mountain

The state conservation commission at its October meeting at Iron Mountain, which is scheduled for October 6, will designate pike lakes and trout lakes for the 1944 fishing season, it was announced today.

The commission will also name the lakes that will be opened to close netting during the coming season.

Officials of the department's fish division, who will recommend the designations to the commission, state that they expect that there will be few changes over the present regulations. There will be a few additions and deletions, but no radical changes, they assert.

Seasickness bothers the army, too. Because the war takes them over the seven seas, soldiers must get the navy's sea legs. Read how the army uses a "Torture Machine" to find out what causes seasickness as told by Robert D. FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OCTOBER 3 TO 9

FARM FIRES DANGER TO FOOD SITUATION

Farm fire losses took a dip downward in 1942, with a reduction of about ten percent as compared to the 1941 figure. But the damage done by fire on farms still adds up to a staggering amount.

Since it is essential that the total be still farther reduced, all farmers are urged to take advantage of Fire Prevention Week, October 3-9, to rout out any hazards still existing on their property.

Fire losses in terms of even millions of dollars do not paint the true picture. It means a farm building burning somewhere in the United States every fifteen or twenty minutes. It means fields laid waste and crops destroyed in burns when every ounce of food is needed today by men in our armed forces, our fighting allies and our already rationed home folks. It means workers injured or killed, when farmers are already faced with a shortage of trained help.

It means buildings and equipment burned to rubble when it is difficult or impossible to replace them. It is a blow to the food front as devastating as the floods that swept through the midwest this spring, but it is more serious because it is continuing danger caused by the carelessness of the farmer himself.

Neglect and carelessness are the cause of the majority of farm fires. Some of the major preventive steps include repair of the whole heating plant from chimney to stove pipe, repairs and replacements of worn electrical equipment, recovering flammable roofs with fire-resistant material, cleaning out all flammable rubbish and installation of adequate lightning rods where they are lacking.

Fire prevention must be continued through the year and careful habits practiced at all times. The farmer has two fights on his hands, the fight to produce more food and the fight to protect that food against destruction, especially from the fire menace.

LANSING LETTER

At a special election in November, voters of Barry county in southern Michigan will have the ballot choice of adopting donedry prohibition or remaining under the state's present system of state liquor stores, special distributors and home rule control by home governments.

It will be the first Michigan test during World War II of county-wide option, as provided for in the amendment to the state constitution and ratified by the people in 1933.

The 1933 act of the legislature, which followed adoption of the amendment, not only provided for home rule by referendum vote of the people in municipalities and townships as to the sale of beer, wine and liquor by the glass and at stores, but it also provided strict home rule control of licenses. This home rule has been exercised, to date, by municipalities and townships which have the right to deny issuance of a license, or its revocation, merely by informing the state commission of its recommendation. The state commission has no alternative; it must deny or revoke, according to the desires of the home government.

In addition to these local controls, the amendment clearly provided for county prohibition thru a special election. Barry county will hold such a vote next month.

Historically, the problem of liquor control in Michigan dates to the first white settlement. In 1790 the Northwest Territory forbid the sale or gift of alcoholic beverages to Indians. As early as 1795 the Territory sought to prevent sale of such beverages to minors by imposing heavy penalties on innkeepers and retailers. The license system was inaugurated in 1792.

By 1850 the state legislature concluded that the license plan was a failure, and it turned to state-wide prohibition which was written into the state constitution that year as follows: "The legislature shall not pass any act authorizing the grant of license for sale of ardent spirits or other intoxicating liquors". The people ratified this amendment, 36,169 to 9,-139.

Twenty-six years later, the pendulum of public opinion had swung from donedry prohibition back to control—chiefly because the law had become a dond-letter and was openly and widely ignored. In 1876 the state vote against prohibition was 00,029 to 52,569. Then came the first county option law in 1887.

The 1943 movement for prohibition parallels the 1917-18 movement in Michigan and in the nation.

During the early months of World War I, Congress prohibited the sale of liquor to soldiers and sailors and empowered the President to prohibit the use of grains and fruits in the manufacture of alcoholic beverages. Then on Nov. 21, 1918—10 days after the Armistice was declared in France—war-time prohibition was approved as a peace-time measure by Congress, and the 18th amendment was submitted to the states for ratification or rejection. Ratification by three-fourths of the states became a reality on Jan. 16, 1919, and the amendment went into effect legally one year later. The Volstead act, an enforcement statute, was adopted by Congress Oct. 28, 1919.

At Washington today is House Bill 2082 whose objectives are given by sponsors in the following language: "To reduce absenteeism, conserve manpower, and speed production of materials necessary for the winning of the war". Or, in other words, national prohibition.

In 1917-18 the sale of beer to soldiers and sailors was prohibited. Today it is permitted. In fact, it can be served to soldiers in their own mess dining halls, if they choose to use their own "company funds" for this purpose. The OWI's national report as to sobriety of soldiers and sailors in World War II is a matter of record—and also considerable controversy, as might be expected.

In 1917-18 approximately 100,-000 Michigan men were in the armed services. Today, it is estimated that the total is at least 200,000. How many Barry county soldiers and sailors will vote in the November election is a question. The government's own newspaper for AEF soldiers, the Stars and Stripes, raised the question last May as follows: "We can remember the days of prohibition, when moonshine whiskey made quick fortunes for bootleggers, crooked politicians and dishonest police officials. As a result we claim we know what we want in the way of liquor legislation and feel those at home should wait until we return before initiating further legislation on liquor control".

The drys counter with excellent arguments, too. The rise of juvenile delinquency, excessive drinking by young people, serving of beer to minors. The Monday morning absenteeism at war plants. Rationing of tires and food to civilians vs. "use of tires and grain by breweries. (All distilleries have been converted to war needs).

A student of history will note that the earliest Mosaic lawgivers, more than 2,000 B. C., attempted to repress drunkenness. King Hammurabi of Babylon ordained that wine-sellers who permitted riotous persons to assemble on their premises should be put to death. The British Parliament has wrestled with the problem for more than 100 years, and liquor legislation has existed in China for thousands of years. One ancient Chinese ordinance forbid more than three persons to meet—and drink together.

Michigan has tried donedry prohibition twice. It has employed all methods of control—village, city, township, county, and state. Its present liquor control system has resulted in widespread complaints, due, in part, to LACK of liquor—a situation which, should encourage moderation automatically. The state commission is appointed by the governor, and hence is "political". It has had four chairmen in two years.

A problem of this kind defies a solution which is satisfactory to everyone. Thus the pendulum of public opinion has swung from one extreme to another, each generation seeking its own answer.

Barry county's special election in November may be straws in the wind. Its voters rejected county-wide prohibition in 1934, but they may think differently in 1943.

PROCLAMATION

In compliance with the proclamation of the Governor, designating the week of October 3rd to 9th, inclusive, as Fire Prevention Week, I urge all citizens of Charlevoix to take the necessary precautions for the prevention of fires, by cleaning up and removing inflammable material and making needed repairs that will make fires impossible. Property will thereby be conserved and a contribution made to the war effort.

ROBERT BRIDGE,
Mayor.

Oct. 2, 1943

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK PROCLAIMED

OBSERVANCE SET PERIOD OF OCTOBER 3-9

Urge All Property Owners Inspect Premises, Remove Possible Causes of Fire

Charlevoix's annual Fire Prevention Week opened Sunday and continues through next Saturday, it was announced Saturday by Mayor Robert Bridge.

In proclaiming the week, Mayor Bridge urged every person in the city to participate by aiding in eliminating every possible fire hazard.

Fire Chief Charles Marshall is making an inspection of buildings in the business area and public buildings, to locate possible fire hazards. Every building owner and every occupant of a home or other building is asked to make a complete survey of the property to search out and eliminate such danger spots.

Chief Marshall urged that attics be cleared of old paper, clothing and other things which might even indirectly cause a fire. He asked that electrical wiring be inspected for defects and that furnaces be inspected, cleaned and put in shape.

Chief Marshall said that the following rules might help in preventing fires:

Hot ashes must never be put in wooden boxes or barrels; use metal containers for this purpose.

Don't pour water on burning fat; use baking soda, earth, sand or a metal cover.

Put oily cloths into a metal box or a can with a cover; keep oily mops in the open air.

Use nothing but non-inflammable cleaning fluids.

Keep all plastics away from the heat; do not use plastic ash trays, etc.

Have chimneys and flues cleaned annually. Protect woodwork and other flammable parts near the furnace with insulation.

GRAND TRAVERSE BAY MOUTH DANGER ZONE

Area Is Machine Gun Range for Traverse City Air Station

Machine gun practice by aircraft of the Traverse City naval air station will be carried out near the mouth of Grand Traverse bay, and this area has been established as a danger zone by the U. S. army engineering corps.

The danger zone is outlined as follows:

The waters of Lake Michigan in the vicinity of Grand Traverse bay within the following boundaries: Commencing at the flashing white buoy at the southerly limit of South Fox island shoals, about nine miles south of South Fox island light; thence due east about 19 miles passing 2.5 miles north of Grand Traverse light on Lighthouse point, to the sailing course from Grand Traverse bay to the vicinity of Ile aux Galets light, about 2.5 miles from shore; thence north by east ⅝ east, about five miles (18 degrees) along said sailing course to a line drawn between the flashing white lighted bell buoy marking the northerly extremity of shoal water at South point, and the red spar buoy marking the north side of a deep passageway through South Fox island shoals, about 4.5 miles south ¾ west (188 degrees) from South Fox Island light; thence westerly along said line to said red spar buoy, thence in a southerly direction about five miles to flashing white lighted buoy, the point of beginning.

No vessel having a length of less than 100 feet shall enter or remain in the area at any time. Larger vessels or craft may pass through at any time. Before firing practice begins, the area will be patrolled by navy aircraft which will "buzz" warnings for any watercraft in the vicinity.

FIRE LOSSES WOULD BUILD BOMBER FLEET

Local Engineer Urges Rules for Fire Prevention Work

Loss of life from fire in U. S. last year rivalled the bombing casualties of England's worst blitz period, and the dollar losses would have built a fleet of 1200 Flying Fortress bombers, warns F. E. Cartier, who represents Walter Kiddo and Co., nationally-known fire protection engineers.

Fire experts caution household-ers that ordinary hazards should not be overlooked. Some of these hazards are—accumulation of rubbish in the attic or cellar, dirty chimneys, defective furnace and stove flues, home storage of gasoline and other highly flammable liquids, faulty electric wiring or wrong size fuses, and of course, careless handling of cigarettes.

After eliminating these hazards, citizens should make it their business to learn basic principles of fire-fighting and correct methods of handling various types of extinguishers found in home or factory.

Here are twelve basic rules for fighting fires with portable extinguishers:

1. Aim discharge from any extinguisher at base of fire, not helterskelter.

2. Don't use water on electrical fires—water conducts electricity and you may get a shock.

3. Don't invert water type extinguishers until you reach the scene of the fire.

4. Compressed carbon dioxide—soda-pop gas—is best for running liquid fires occurring in factories and commercial establishment. In fighting such gasoline or oil fires, start at the bottom and work up.

5. Fires in wood, paper, rags, rubbish, etc., require cooling, and are best put out with water.

6. When water may seriously damage costly materials, the flames can first be extinguished with carbon dioxide gas and the embers then quenched with a small amount of water.

7. Always get as close to the seat of the actual fire as possible, and avoid splashing the extinguishing liquid.

8. When using foam extinguishers on fires in tanks or vats, aim the stream against the side of the tank, so that the sudsy foam blanket spreads over the surface.

9. Don't use carbon tetrachloride or squirt gun extinguisher in enclosed spaces as they can cause toxic fumes.

10. Don't use water on gasoline or oil fires; it may spread, rather than extinguish the flames.

11. Don't ever walk away from a fire until you're sure it's out and will not reignite.

12. If there are special hazards in your home or at your job, or if any of the above principles are not clear, consult the fire department or F. E. Cartier, Kiddo representative, and do it now. If you wait until a fire breaks out, it may be too late.

A student of history will note that the earliest Mosaic lawgivers, more than 2,000 B. C., attempted to repress drunkenness. King Hammurabi of Babylon ordained that wine-sellers who permitted riotous persons to assemble on their premises should be put to death. The British Parliament has wrestled with the problem for more than 100 years, and liquor legislation has existed in China for thousands of years. One ancient Chinese ordinance forbid more than three persons to meet—and drink together.

Michigan has tried donedry prohibition twice. It has employed all methods of control—village, city, township, county, and state. Its present liquor control system has resulted in widespread complaints, due, in part, to LACK of liquor—a situation which, should encourage moderation automatically. The state commission is appointed by the governor, and hence is "political". It has had four chairmen in two years.

A problem of this kind defies a solution which is satisfactory to everyone. Thus the pendulum of public opinion has swung from one extreme to another, each generation seeking its own answer.

Barry county's special election in November may be straws in the wind. Its voters rejected county-wide prohibition in 1934, but they may think differently in 1943.

Murder Castle—Real Life Story of a Maniac

Corpses were the stock in trade of mysterious Mr. Mudgett who, for 14 years, terrorized the Middle West with his one-man crime syndicate. COAST GUARD BIRTHDAY

The United States Const Guard was 153 years old recently. It is one of the oldest of the nation's active military services and is in constant operation, in pence or war, devoting its energies to patrolling the water areas that are such a vital part of America.

Many people believe that the Const Gnurd is a unit thnt conhnes its efforts to the homo front while other hranches of the service do the fighting abroad. This is a mistake. Const Guardsmen are serving on the Atlantic and Pacific, in Africa and in the Solomons. They are stationed in Iceland and in Alaska and recently they figured in the fine work of invading und winning the island of Sicily. On isolated islands along remote stretches of beach blue jackets of the Const Gunrd nlso tnke part in defending our own region from nir attnck hy participation in the Aircraft Warning Service.

TO VICTORY GARDNERS

How is your garden coming—or going?

Are you planning on trying it again next year?

If so, now is a good time to start your 1944 Victory Garden. And you are going to need it, too. It now uppears that foodstuffs will he just as pinched if not more so, next year than this.

This is a good time to pull up all your vines and burn them. Burning helps destroy the eggs of hurmful insects which have been deposited in late summer, some of them to hatch next spring and pester you. So don't forget to burn them.

As soon as your gnrden spot is cleared of this year's vegetation, buy a load of manure, if you can find one, spread it thickly und spade it in. The manure will rot during the winter so you can put it on green this fall if you wish.

Tho idea is that most good gardens are planned in the full before so that a careful course of fertilization can be carried on now and again in the spring, bringing your garden soil to its maximum condition for high production.

Before you put your garden tools away for the winter, paint und repair them. It's a smnrt idea to have your name cut or burned in the handle because folks do borraw garden tools nnd folks do forget to return them.

The chief thing to do this fall is to get the garden spot clenned up, the vines and plants burned and a load of manure spuded in to rot during the winter.

DON'T BE COMPLACENT

The song complacency of some Americans who feel that the war is already over might very well be shocked into non-existence by the first enemy nir raid upon one or more of the many vital cities in this aren. At the present time victories in the Atlantic nnd the Pacific have made many of our people falsely optimistic. While it is true that our position is much better than it was last year, it is also true thnt victory is not yet ours.

Think bnck to the time when the enemy was penetrating our outposts and capturing our territory. The same people who now claim decisive victories for us laughed off our losses by saying that "the victor doesn't win the battles, he wins the war." This is still true and every one of our efforts must be devoted towards attaining thnt eventual end.

This area can be bombed with no more than a short hop by enemy raiders. On the map accompanying this article we have attempted to illustrate the reason Observers are vital in the defense of this area. Enemy bombers could very easily during the winter months land in various isolated areas to the north. Their purpose would be as follows. Assume that a flight of bombers leaves enemy territory with this area as its final objective. One-half of these bombers would carry nothing but fuel. The remaining half would be fully equipped for an all-out bombing venture. All of the planes would land at some previously designated point in the isolated northlands. Then one-half of the original number would load gasoline that the other half had carried and proceed to bomb the city set as their ultimate objective. Those that survived and were able to return to the original rendezvous would then refuel with the gasoline carried hy the supply planes and all those left could very easily attempt their return flight.

Such a mission as this would not be a suicide mission. The enemy airmen who were shot down and forced to land in this area after completing the bombing would have nothing more to fear than internment with other prisoners of war. Those who were successful in returning to the original rendezvous would have every reason to believe that they could safely return to their homeland.

Remember, that American bombers flew 3500 miles to bomb Japanese installations in the Pacific. That British craft think nothing of a hombing jaunt which carries them 1500 miles into enemy territory and back in the period of a single night. That Allied planes constantly fly over 3600 miles every day as part of routine business. Think it over. America can be bombed. The enemy's planes are just as efficient and effective as ours. Without the Ground Observer Corps the army will not have sufficient warning. Its defenses will not function properly, since our fighter planes require sufficient early warning to make their interception.

Do not let over-confidence and over-optimism lull you into a false sense of security. The enemy will some day attempt to bomb this area and when he does you must be on the alert. As long as your men shed their blood on foreign soil you can afford to give your time to protect their supply lines. Remember "They Must Not Pass Unobserved."

"Hi, Mom it's Joe!"

The call home means a lot to a man in the service. Most of the time he's too busy to get near a telephone, but between 7 and 10 in the evening he sometimes has a chance to make a call.

You can imagine what a disappointment it is for him if he finds all the long distance lines are busy.

By avoiding the use of long distance during those hours — 7 to 10 P. M. — you're giving soldiers and sailors a break they surely deserve. And if you have a man of your own in the service, remember it's better to let him do the calling. If you place the call, it may be difficult to locate him.

GRAIN SOYBEANS DEPLETE THE SOIL

But if Plowed Under They Increase Soil Nitrogen.

By PROF. GEORGE D. SCARSETH
(Soil Chemist, Agricultural Experiment Station, Purdue University.)

Many farmers do not realize that soybeans harvested for grain are a soil-exhausting rather than a soil-building crop. If soybeans are plowed under or cut for hay, and the manure therefrom is returned to the soil, they do increase the soil nitrogen and thus increase the corn or wheat yields that follow in the rotation. But harvested for commercial purposes such as oils, plastics, etc., they represent a drain on the soil.

A crop of 20 bushels of soybeans harvested for commercial purposes removes 15 pounds of phosphate (equivalent to 75 pounds of 20 per cent super-phosphate) and 20 pounds of potash per acre.

Soybeans are certain to play an increasingly important part in the present war effort. At present very little information has been obtained on how to provide a profitable means of directly fertilizing soybeans at the time of seeding, but experiments now in progress at Purdue university involving plowing under phosphate nad potash indicate that effective means are being found.

With a favorable price outlook, a greater acreage will be planted to soybeans this year. Farmers will find it advantageous to fertilize the crop, unless their soils have been adequately treated previously in the rotation. Based on experience at the university, the following suggestions may be of value:

If the soil is acid, lime it adequately this winter. This is important for otherwise the fertilizer will be lost. In many cases about three tons per acre will be effective. Then just before plowing the ground for soybeans, broadcast about 300 pounds of 0-20-20 or 500 pounds of 0-12-12 and plow under. Do not use any fertilizer when planting the beans. The benefits from the lime will last at least 10 years, although it has been found profitable to re-lime in about six years.

Indicative of the importance of plowing down fertilizer for soybeans, was a test at the Purdue experiment station last year. On an unfertilized plot, the soybean yield was 15.7 bushels of grain or 3,570 pounds of hay an acre. When an equivalent of 1,000 pounds of 4-10-25 had been broadcast and disked into the topsoil immediately before seeding, the yield increased only 1.6 bushels. But when this same amount was broadcast and plowed under the yield per acre was 23.4 bushels of grain or 4,053 pounds of hay. When lime at the rate of three tons per acre was used with the fertilizer and plowed under, the yield was 28.2 bushels of grain or 5,377 pounds of hay per acre.

Feeding Laying Hens

Successful poultry farmers pay nearly as much attention to the way they feed their pullets and laying hens as they do to the kind of feeds they provide. For one thing, abrupt changing in the diet causes the birds to go "off feed" and results in lower egg production and slower growth as will the use of stale feed. If a change in diet must be made it should be made gradually and extend over a period of a week or ten days.

One practice followed by many of the better poultrymen is to provide only a little more feed each day than the birds can clean up. The left-overs, if clean and dry, can be mixed thoroughly with the fresh feed in the hoppers.

In this way there will be no accumulation of stale feed at the bottom of the hoppers, reducing likelihood of mold.

Some Mighty Trees

The tree with the largest circumference is the sequoia, 101 feet, 6 inches, in California, and the tree given the widest spread (168 feet) is a liveoak at Hahnville, La. The wide-spreading liveoak on the Liendo plantation in Waller county seems to be unrecorded on the banks of the Potomac. A California redwood with an altitude of 364 feet is given the palm for the greatest height. The world's record for girth is given to a cypress in Mexico.

Probably the largest, oldest, slowest and fastest growing trees now in Texas, is the cypress. Its wood also has had more home and industrial use than any tree.

Less Spuds, More Eggs

People eat about the same total quantity of food now as they did 30 years ago, but the composition of the dietary has changed. Consumption of wheat and other cereals, potatoes and apples, beef, veal, and tea has declined. But consumption of vegetables (other than potatoes), citrus fruits, sugar, poultry, eggs, milk, manufactured dairy products (especially ice cream), edible fats and oils (other than lard and butter) and cocoa increased.

OFFICERS OF BAPTIST CHURCH ARE ELECTED

Business Meeting and Election Held Monday Evening

Annual business meeting and election of officers for the ensuing year was held Monday evening, October 4, at the First Baptist church.

Elected to office were the following:

Deacons, Delbert Ingalls, R. T. Davis, Ernest Peaslee; trustees, Albert Cook, Delbert Ingalls; treasurer, Ernest Peaslee; clerk, Mrs. A. J. Ushor.

Church pianist, Mrs. Walker Miles; assistant pianist, Mrs. Guy Smith; Sunday school superintendent, Mrs. Guy Smith; assistant superintendent, Mrs. Walter Smith; Sunday school secretary, Jesse Lawton; treasurer, Mrs. R. T. Davis; pianist, Mrs. Maurice R. Peterson; asistant pianist, Patsy Davis.

Cradle roll superintendent, Mrs. Hattie Meggison; primary superintendent, Mrs. Walker Miles; young people's sponsor, Mrs. Maurice R. Peterson.

Refreshments were served at close of the meeting.

DISCHARGED SOLDIERS STAY ON HONOR ROLL

Legion Petition, Requests from Citizens Are Answered

In response to several requests from local citizens, and particularly in answer to a petition presented to the city of Charlevoix by members of Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, names of men honorably discharged from service will in the future remain on the city honor roll.

Since some of those discharged may be veterans of actual fighting whose names should be kept on the honor roll, it was decided to make no distinction between returning veterans and those discharged after perhaps but a few months in service.

Names removed since the roll was erected will be replaced, and others added which were not previously on the roll.

NO ADJUSTMENT IN B, C GAS RATIONS

Board Not Authorized to Change Present Allowances

With the value of B and C gasoline ration coupons reduced now to two gallons each, the Charlevoix county war price and rationing board advises that it has recieved no authorization to consider applications from B and C book holders for adjustments under the new program.

The district OPA office at Grand Rapids stated that local ration boards might be permitted to handle such applications some time after October 15. Adjustments may then be made, but only in rare cases.

Coupon 5 must last through Sept. 30, for both heat and hot water. New Number 1 coupons (10 gallons each) good through January 3, 1944.

Bicycles

Persons gainfully employed or doing volunteer war work, or a pupil who needs a bicycle to get to and from school may qualify for a certificate of purchase by applying to rationing board.

Stoves

Persons wishing to purchase heating or cooking stoves that burn coal, wood, oil or gas must obtain a certificate from the local rationing board.

At least 20 per cent more bakery goods are being purchased this year with the same amount of shortening as was used last year.

TRUCK OPERATORS MUST RETURN "TT" COUPONS

All "TT" gasoline rationing coupons issued to commercial motor vehicle operators on the basis of certificates of war necessity for their operations during months of July, August and September, were valid us of midnight September 30th. All operators still holding such coupons must return them immediately to the district office of the Office of Defense Transportation, 115 South Mitchell St., Cadillac, according to a statement issued today by Harold L. Frier, manager of that office.

Bone Meal Substitute

Another war scarcity, stemmed bone meal, can be replaced by a substitute, suggests A. C. Baltzer, extension dairyman at Michigan State College. The product is phosphex, a deflourinated mineral mixture available at Michigan elevators. One pound is mixed with 100 pounds of grain, or it can be mixed with salt, one pound of salt to two pounds of mineral mix.

Leaves for the East

Miss Rae Ann Gravuer, manager of the Belvedere Hotel, left Thursday to spend a few days in Lansing and Detroit before going to Clementon, N. J., for a month's visit with relatives.

The leather in an average-size woman's pocketbook would make a pair of army aviator's gloves.

her shops for showers. I had a good shower about two weeks ago and I feel I need another before long. It isn't exactly the Ritz-Waldorf out here. But when you think how some of the boys "over there" have to get along, this is like a Boy Scout camp in comparison. So discount all this griping as a gripe and call it just a detail of what we are doing.

We feel good when we think that a lot of problems we solve here at home on maneuvers stand the armies across in good stead and save them a lot of lives and equipment, so all of our work here isn't in vain. I figure that even if it is tough sometimes and we feel we are depriving ourselves of something, the least we can do is to stop for a minute and think of those kids that are gambling with their lives. So what is a little mud or rain or chiggers or long tricks of work when some of the little things we discover here will help them over there.

And what a grand job you all are doing on the big bond drive up there. That is little enough for the folks back home to do. I know that if they could see some of the things their money goes to buy and how badly we need a lot of other things, they would cause a grand rush to get ahold of those bonds. I didn't intend to write a sales letter. I'll get back on the track.

You should be here and be up about 20,000 feet with a powerful telescope and watch the games. You see everything they use in the delightful pastime of war. Tanks, planes, jeeps, trucks, half tracks, big field guns, everything. I think I've never seen so many ways that man has invented to kill other men.

We were moving last night and being in a blackout, we couldn't see very far ahead. (They don't have any moon in Tennessee). We were held up at a crossroads till an armored division moved by and some of the tanks they have in that outfit are sure some baggies. Be good to help Leo Allurd plow the streets with in the winter.

I feel sorry for the poor infantrymen. It seems all they do is march from one place to the other and they never smile, just ask if you have anything to eat. It might be the kind of an outfit for a young guy, but not for me. I'll get my calouses, but not on my feet. And we feel high hat anyway because we know they can't do anything until the radio intelligence companies give them the information of the enemy positions and movements that we find out by intercepting their radio messages. But they know that and so don't razz us too much about always riding wherever we go. As a whole, everyhody gets along pretty good and everybody does his job to help the organization as a whole.

I guess I'd better sign off. We are moving right away and I have to get my gear together. We live out of one barracks bag for the duration of the games. So long till next time.

Keith.

Hello, Ken,

Just time enough to say "Hello" and give you my new change of address.

Things are far from being as bad as they could be down here; however, it'll never quite come up to the standards set by Michigan.

Incidentally, I wish that some of my buddies from up there would drop me a line to let me know just what their mailing address is. It so happens that I was unfortunate enough to lose a priceless little article known as an address book, wherein was contained all these and many more noteworthy names.

By way of closing, let me thank you for the splendid service you are doing us all in sending us the home town paper.

Sincerely,

Dear Ken,

Thought it about time that I dropped a line thanking you for the paper, which, up to the time that I left the States, reached me every week. When the good old Courier does come through, I imagine it will be necessary to take a day off in order to catch up on the local news.

As I write this I am sitting in our headquarters tent overlooking the plains of North Africa. It is a far cry from the sights one sees in Michigan, there being only an occasional row of olive or fig trees to brighten the landscape. The days here are very hot(a dry heat in which one does not perspire) and the nights very cool. I understand that in about another month it will start raining, so we are prepared for the worst, having seen pictures of this country during the rainy season when General Eisenhower's and General Montgomery's forces made their initial drive in North Africa.

I visited the city of Oran one day and it is quite a place. The population is a mixture of Arabian and French, the French being dominant and the language spoken. I imagine many people wonder how soldiers get along in a foreign city. I can say this, it doesn't take very long for these people to pick up American customs and American ways, nor vice versa.

Our means of exchange is the franc, one franc being equivalent to two cents in American money. The American dollar is accepted, that is if it has the gold seal on it rather than the blue seal. This gold seal dollar was printed for the use of American troops in foreign countries.

There are many Italian prisoners here and they do a great deal of work such as landscaping, building, etc. It is almost unnecessary to guard them as they receive better food, clothing and living conditions than ever before. Putting this in the army vernacular, "They found a home".

Our entire organization, officers, nurses and enlisted men are living in tents for the time being. However, I don't believe it will be long before we move into a permanent set-up, as the evacuation of battle casualties has already started from the Italian campaign. Numerous hospitals are now in operation in this theater, giving medical treatment not only to the soldier but to civilians as well. It is very important to keep up the good will of these people.

I don't want to take up all the advertising space, so will close for the time being. I suppose by the time this reaches you that you and Bonnie will be hot after the birds. Shoot a couple for me and next year I'll be with you. Tell all my friends hello and for them to write as over here mail call is even more important than pay day.

"Yardbird" Nick,
Pfc. Keith D. Nickerson.

P. S.—Tell "Wheezer" Scott that if it ever becomes necessary for him to evacuate the bright lights of Charlevoix in a hurry to head this way and I'll put him up for the night.

As Keith's address carries an APO number, which would identify the location of his unit, we can't publish it. However, we may give it to those of his friends who wish to write to him—and that applies to addresses of other service men overseas, also.

Dear Ken, and Charlevoix—

Darned if I thought I'd be in the army this long without seeing Charlevoix, but here I am, and here I'll be a while longer. I didn't know they needed me that badly—honest!

Anyhow, no matter when I do get home, I'll really be glad to get there. Summer is a swell time to be in the home town, but the real reason for coming home is the folks. So, even though it will be snowing when I get there, I'm always looking forward to it.

Things have been a little slower down here this month, because we have been resting up during a "break" in maneuvers, but they will soon be raising hob with the farms and wild-life again, and I won't have quite as much time for writing.

If you have never traveled thru the south, you would in turn laugh and cuss at the way cows and pigs stand in the middle of the road. Causes quite a traffic jam at times.

The reason for that is the army. The farmer either took down their fences, or let the army push them down, so the soldiers wouldn't have to eternally keep climbing over or crawling under them. So, as long as there are no fences, the livestock just roams around. At first we wondered how they kept from getting lost, but we noticed that each herd of cattle and each bunch of pigs has a sort of head man, and the head man knows where home is.

When we are out on problems, the hogs raid the field kitchen at night and root up the garbage that is thrown into a hole and buried. Sometimes they even have enough brass to come around in the daytime and try to dig the stuff up!

If you could see the filthy things in action down here, you would lose your appetite for pork, believe me. I'm beginning to thing horse meat isn't so bad, myself.

I'm looking forward to seeing you all, and I would like to say that I am proud of the way the people of Charlevoix can put over any bond drive or undertaking they start. It is nice to know that the folks back home are behind you.

Bye for now.

Your friend,
Lyle.

The Best Road

They say that Economy is the road to Wealth, and it is true. Ask those who have succeeded—they will tell you.

Not struggling, grasping, miserly economy, squeezing every dollar until the eagle squalls—oh, no, not that. But by determining to live within your income, by paying as you go, by denying yourself the things you can not afford, and by keeping your funds in a reliable Bank like ours, where your money is SAFE. That's the way to succeed.

WAC Inspection in North Africa

A unit of the Women's Army corps has been serving in North Africa for six months doing much of the non-combatant work associated with the tremendous Allied campaigns on North Africa and Sicily. The man who has directed these unique military victories—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower—is shown inspecting a WAC group.

SPARETIME JOBS SAVE TIME LATER

Average cows swallow 25 gallons of water daily, steers and horses need about 12 gallons each.

That, in the opinion of agricultural engineers at Michigan State College, proves the efficiency of a watering tank, constructed in sparetime, or repaired whenever it needs repair.

With reinforcing material scarce to the vanishing point, concrete specialists suggest adding an extra inch to planned wall thicknesses. When planning such a watering tank, another suggestion is to construct the floor of the tank with pavement around the tank to give livestock a 0-foot mud-free approach to the water supply.

Even if the tank is to be completed in wintertime when harvesting has been completed, it is wise to obtain materials now before they become a frozen mass. Sand and gravel handle easily in good weather but the time and labor are multiplied when the materials are handled in frozen condition.

Some provisions for heating water, sand and gravel must be made if the concreting job is to be completed in wintertime.

Outside and inside forms are constructed, according to plans that can be obtained from county agricultural agent offices or from material and supply dealers. The concrete floor is placed and concreting is continuous, walls being cast immediately following the floor. Five gallons of water should be used for each sack of cement to get a proper mix for watertight concrete. The mix is spaded thoroughly next to the form faces to produce a dense, smooth surface. Forms are removed in two or three days, any honeycombed spots should be patched with stiff cement mortar. Wet burlap should be kept on the new concrete for another seven days to prevent too rapid drying.

British air-sea rescue experts have invented an air-borne lifeboat that can be dropped by parachute and with its own power can carry 11 men 100 miles.

Now that the resort season is over and practically all of the heavy touring cars are gone, why not give Bridge street a thorough cleaning and get rid of the oil and grease left by the cars standing there, which if tracked into the stores, makes it difficult to keep the floors clean.

Fred H. Thomas, local contractor, is preparing plans for the new cottage of Dr. C. P. Pinckard, which will be built near the water tower on Park avenue in the spring.

At Boyne City a man named Wood and one named Stone met on the street recently and were exchanging views when a woman in a very stunning sheath gown passed. Simultaneously Wood turned to Stone, Stone turned to Wood, then both turned to rubber.

W. E. Byers has moved into the McNeil house, at 305 Antrim street.

Miss Mary Finucan, first and second grade teacher of the south side school, entertained her pupils Monday at a marshmallow roast.

William Mitchell and Lynn Thomas left Monday for Ann Arbor to attend the University of Michigan. William will enter for his second year of dentistry and Lynn will take a course in mechanical engineering.

Twenty-five Years Ago

Joseph Mitchell writes from France: "The Allies are giving it to the Germans now. They are driving them back farther every day. I do not think the war will last much longer, nearly everyone thinks it will end some time this fall." (Wish some of the current speculation would work out as accurately as this one did).

The future about teaching German in our schools continues, with the board of education president, W. E. Hampton, defending the patriotism of the board, which has been under heavy editorial fire. The University of Michigan has not agreed to accept one year of French and one of German, in place of two consecutive years of foreign language, as an entrance requirement.

Miss Beatrice Harrington and Miss Bernice Tramlall left Saturday for Alma, where they will attend school.

Fire destroyed Cross Village Friday night, leveling buildings on both sides of the main street for three blocks. Cause was unknown, and destruction of the village was laid to the fact that there are no wells and water had to be carried up the steep bluff from the lake. A thrilling feature was the scene at the old Catholic church where the white cross in the church yard defied the flames and loomed chaste and unharmed, while all around it went down.

If your copy of the Courier smells a little smoky this week, do not open it with the expectation of finding a red-hot editorial or a flaming scandal. We just had a little fire here last Sunday, that's all. Barney Harrington discovered it when returning from an afternoon visit to the post office, and Fire Chief Charles Merskall soon extinguished the blaze with little resulting damage. A gaping hole in the ceiling of our press room, extending through to the floor of the Christian Science hall upstairs, is the only destruction done.

Cleveland Roe, business manager of the C. H. S. Athletic Association, has issued an appeal for general public support of our football team. Mr. Blakeslee is organizing cheer leaders, and Mr. Austin and Mr. Attenburg are coaching the team.

Allen Arnold has left for Detroit for the winter months. His place at the Priest studio has been taken by Harold Jones.

Ray Faulkner's new quick-lunch restaurant, in the Powers building, opened for business last week and is doing fine. Mrs. Perl Scott, of Hayes township, and Mrs. Goldie Pant of Charlevoix, are the cooks.

A big NRA celebration and Dollar Day will be held in Charlevoix on October 14, with the execution of Old Man Depression the outstanding entertainment feature. After he is hanged and shot, "Bud" Hammond will take him aloft in a plane and drop him in the waters of Round lake. (A good suggestion for our celebration The Day The War Ends).

Charlevoix's Red and White football team won their initial contest of the season in a 6 to 0 victory over East Jordan on the home field Saturday. Stars of the game were Harold Potter, Warren Shapton, Charles Hebert. (Then, as now, there was a Bergmann on the team!)

Time was, we observe from reading the Kroger store ad, when a dollar or two would buy a load of groceries you couldn't carry home with one hand. For instance: lard, 4 pounds 25c; onions, 10 pounds 23c; fresh bread, pound loaf 6c; raisins, 4 pounds 31c (what raisins?).

Fight Six Fires

Rural volunteer fire fighters in Ottawa county have extinguished six blazes that threatened wildlife and reforested areas since an organization and equipment were obtained in April. Conservation Officer Forrest Lavoy reports the fires occurred in Grand Haven, Port Sheldon and Spring Lake townships of the West Ottawa soil conservation district. None of the fires resulted in serious damage. Township fire chiefs and their crews are supplied with fire fighting equipment. This includes pumps, axes, shovels and first aid supplies, stationed at central spots in the various townships.

Sawdust for Bedding

Cows keep clean with sawdust for bedding if straw is scarce, according to suggestions from Michigan State College and its dairy department. In some areas of the state, excess hay is used for bedding. Clean quarters reduce the hazard of spreading mastitis in the dairy herd.

A worker at a California aircraft plant has worked out a machine operation which can be performed by a trainee and triples output.

MAILS CLOSE OCT. 15 FOR OVERSEAS GIFTS

Packages for Navy Personnel Are Accepted Up to Nov. 1

This is the year people on the home front really do their Christmas shopping early. The mails for oversea close Oct. 15 for the army and Nov. 1 for the navy.

If the wrist watch, cigarette lighter, hunting knife or fountain pen hasn't yet been bought, wrapped and addressed, it should be looked after within the next few days. The post office will not take anything which could endanger any person or anything in the mail, so lay off the liquor, lighter-fluid, matches or anything of that sort. Hunting knives should be short—eight inches or slightly more.

Food will probably spoil, unless it's fruit cake in a tin box. Let other goodies await the homecoming. Air mail is quite limited, better take the ordinary army or navy mails. They are planned for the forces and work better than individual efforts. One woman last year wanted to send a turkey airmail to England. It would have cost over thirty dollars and would have been had meat when it arrived. But it took real effort for the post office to persuade that mother not to send that turkey.

Give the boys and girls things which will go in small packages, and the post office says don't send checks which recipients may find trouble cashing, but postal money orders, good anywhere.

The love it greater than the gift. Let him know that. He needs it.

Skirted Sailors

Enough officers and bluejackets to man a major task force including a battleship, two large aircraft carriers, two heavy cruisers and fifteen destroyers have been released to naval battle stations by women appointed for voluntary emergency service. So successful was the first year's experiment of utilizing women at naval shore posts that the navy intends to raise their number from 27,000 to 91,000 by the end of 1944. The success of their invasion into a service which was once strictly all male has greatly changed the navy's original plans regarding the women's reserve. Originally their activities were largely to be confined to office work but today they are manning control towers at airfields, serving at nerve centers of naval communications, restoring health to the wounded at naval hospitals, packing parachutes, teaching blind flying, doing research work of all types and other vital work. They learn to work together with military snap and efficiency. To those who are ambitious there is always the opportunity for further education and more responsibility via officers' training schools. On the first birthday of the WAVES they were told by Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief U. S. fleet and chief of naval operations, that "the expectations of the navy in you have been justified by your hard work and sincere devotion to duty. You who are members of the women's reserve have won the respect of the naval service by your acceptance of military requirements, readiness for responsibility, an already valuable contribution to the work of winning the war."

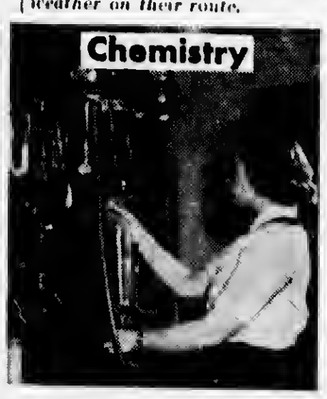
Victory Parade

Technician Donna Lacher of Chicago, Ill., gives directions to student pilot in a link trainer as he would get them by radio. The instrument before her records his course.

Ensign Margaret Cameron of Houston, Texas, at the wheel of the command car of the navy bureau of ordnance in Washington, D. C. Driving is one of her minor duties as a liaison officer.

WAVE Anne Livesay was a photo-laboratory technician before joining the navy. She's doing the same work for Uncle Sam now.

Seaman Margaret Barnes at Anacostia, near Washington, D. C., checks the weather board which informs pilots as to the weather on their route.



Ensign Martha King works on a blue print. A graduate of the University of Michigan, she also investigates the effect of wind on airplane designs by using model planes in a wind tunnel.

Ensign Elizabeth Gerrard, formerly a research technician at Northwestern university, measures the amount of carbon dioxide in a gas at the naval medical center, Bethesda, Maryland.

Many of the skirted sailors are learning to use the language of the navy which is vastly different from coed slang. They "hit the deck" for "chow." A wall is called a "bulkhead." Floors are "decks."

Recreational facilities have not been forgotten. At the Great Lakes, Ill., station there are movies, happy hours, softball, sailing and nearby golf courses. The WAVE pushing the pencil is Constance Gorski.

CHATTERER HAS TO KEEP HIS PROMISE

CHATTERER THE RED SQUIRREL wished now that he hadn't been quite so greedy. If he had been content to let Sammy Jay get what corn he could from Farmer Brown's cornerib, instead of playing that sharp trick to frighten him away, Chatterer wouldn't have felt so uncomfortable now. To be sure, he had made up with Sammy after their quarrel when Sammy had found out about that trick, but Chatterer had had to make a promise which he knew he would have to keep, and Chatterer is one of those little people who hate to be obliged to do things. He had agreed to help Sammy Jay get corn from that cornerib when Sammy should ask him to. In fact, he had promised to get the corn and put it wherever Sammy wanted it put. It wasn't much to do. He really didn't mind doing the thing itself; it was the thought that Sammy could make him do it.

Now Chatterer had sharp wits and Sammy Jay had sharp wits. Chatterer always had thought his the sharpest, and it hurt his pride to feel that Sammy had got the better of him. He couldn't think of anything else as he curled up for the night in his snug bed in the old home of Drummer the Woodpecker up in the Old Orchard. He thought and thought and thought and thought, trying to find some way to wriggle out of his promise, and, just before he fell asleep, an idea came to him. He would go over to the cornerib before Sammy Jay was awake, eat his fill and then hide from Sammy.

"I saw Shadow the Weasel down in the Green Forest this morning, and he inquired for you."

The next morning very early Chatterer visited the cornerib, ate a hurried breakfast, and then hid in the old stone wall to watch for Sammy Jay. But Sammy didn't come at the time he used to visit the cornerib before Chatterer had given him that terrible scare. Chatterer waited and waited, but no Sammy Jay. Chatterer began to get impatient, but still he didn't dare leave his hiding place for fear that Sammy might come. At last Chatterer decided that Sammy had gone somewhere else that morning, so he came out of his hiding place and frisked along the stone wall on one edge of the Old Orchard. After a while he forgot all about Sammy Jay. Anyway, he was sure that Sammy wouldn't think of going to the cornerib so late in the morning, for it wouldn't be safe at all. Farmer Brown's Boy almost would be sure to see him. So Chatterer forgot all his troubles and frisked about and had a splendid time all by himself.

Right in the midst of it Sammy Jay arrived in the Old Orchard.

"Good morning, Chatterer," said he, "I fear I am a little late for breakfast."

"Breakfast!" sneered Chatterer, "breakfast! Why it's nearer dinner time. I had my breakfast hours ago."

"I thought likely," replied Sammy. "I suppose you have plenty of corn ready for me here?"

"Corn ready for you? I should say not!" snapped Chatterer. "You didn't say anything about getting corn for you this morning."

"Didn't I? Well, I guess I must have forgotten to. Never mind—you can run over there and get some for me now," replied Sammy.

"Go yourself!" snapped Chatterer.

"I think I'd rather not," replied Sammy. "Farmer Brown's Boy is chopping wood right close by the cornerib, so I prefer to have you go."

"I won't!" Chatterer fairly screamed, and danced about in his rage. "I won't!"

"Oh, all right," replied Sammy, yawning. "I saw Shadow the Weasel down in the Green Forest this morning and he inquired for you. I think I'll go look him up again."

Chatterer turned pale. "I—I'll go," he stammered weakly. There was no way out of it; he had to keep his promise.

WILL THAT CAR OF YOURS BE A

DISABLED VETERAN

AFTER THIS WARTIME SUMMER?

NOT IF WE CAN HELP IT! Not if you see that it gets the regular attention it needs before it needs it!

Today, your car faces an uncertain future. There's a long, rocky road ahead. Replacement parts are scarce. Whether your car falls by the wayside or sees you through this emergency depends on the kind of care you give it now.

So don't delay. Have every part thoroughly conditioned for worm-weather driving today. And then keep it in tip-top shape -- come in for a check up regularly.

WE'RE HERE TO HELP SPIKE WARM-WEATHER TROUBLES NOW! Nip 'em in the bud -- that's the way to save yourself time, headaches and money. We can do a bang-up conditioning job on your car -- perhaps even save you up to one gallon of gas out of every ten you buy! But get the full story. Drive in today!

ENGINE . . Drain out worn lubricants—replace with clean Summer Mobiloil.

GEARS . . . Check differential and transmission. Replace lubricants if necessary with the right grades of Summer Mobiloil Gear Oil.

CHASSIS . . Thoroughly Mobilubricate your car -- eliminate squeaks and rattles.

RADIATOR. Clean out your cooling system with Mobil Radiator Flush -- condition it against rust and scale with Mobil Hydrotone.

IGNITION. Check your battery, spark plugs. Clean or replace if necessary.

TIRES . . Give them a thorough inspection for cuts and bruises. See that they are properly inflated for Victory driving.

Salmis of Duckling at the Lord Jeffery Inn

LORD JEFFERY INN
Salmis of Duckling
Roast five-pound duck for 1½ hours. Remove from pan, pour grease into small sauce pan. Put one quart stock in a roast pan and boil. Saute one cup chopped mushrooms in small sauce pan of grease. Stir in four tablespoons flour. Then add gravy stock from roast pan. Quarter the roast duck, place in covered pan. Pour the sauce over the duck and let cook slowly for one hour or until well done. Just before serving, add one-half cup Madeira wine and twelve sliced stuffed olives; serve with curried rice.
NATIONALLY FAMOUS FOR FINE FOOD

GOEBEL BEER

NATIONALLY FAMOUS FOR GOOD TASTE

The Lord Jeffery, in Amherst, Massachusetts, bears the name of a hero of the French-Indian War who became governor-general of colonial America. This famous inn attracts people from long distances to see the Plimpton Collection of Lord Jeffery's letters, and to enjoy the good taste of its New England cooked foods.

There is another traditional good taste you can enjoy almost anywhere and at almost any time . . . the nationally famous good taste of Goebel Beer. It is a natural addition to any list of fine foods, and just right for between meals. When you want to add good taste to your daily fare, be sure to order Goebel Beer.

SALES OF FISHING LICENSES DROPPED

Only Slight Decrease in Resident Angling Permits for 1943

Apparently Michigan's fishermen realize the importance of periodical recreation in maintaining their efficiency at their war jobs, as fishing license sales registered only a 15.7% drop during the summer months of 1943 over the same period last year, officials of the state conservation department report.

Only about 10.2 per cent less resident fishing licenses were sold up to September 1 of this year, but annual non-resident fishing licenses slumped 25.5 per cent, and temporary non-resident licenses dropped 46.2 per cent, the department discloses. Sales of wife's non-resident licenses dropped 38 per cent during the first eight months of 1943.

ROMANCE BEATS MAIL TO COAST GUARDSMAN

Letter Traveled Eighteen Months To Reach Destination

This is the story of a letter, its nearly 18 months of travels around the world's sealanes, and of a love affair that moved faster than Uncle Sam's overseas mail service.

The letter's postmark is April 10, 1942, and the return address reads "Miss Mae Gallagher, Saint James, Michigan." She was writing to her fiance, Coast Guard Surfman John H. Coppens of Empire, Michigan, then assigned to the navy troop transport "McCawley." Well, it was that same day—April 10, 1942—that the "McCawley" put out from her American port, headed for the south Pacific. The letter reached the departure point only hours after the transport had sailed. So the navy postmaster routed it forward the "McCawley" via the next transportation in that direction.

But Surfman Cuppens kept just a step ahead of the missive from Miss Gallagher and it was forwarded to him successively at a New Zealand port, aboard a supply transport ship, aboard a destroyer tender, then to a New Caledonia receiving station, back to the San Francisco fleet post office, and finally to the Chicago coast guard office.

Meantime Coppens has twice received citations for bravery, taken part in the operations against the Japs on Guadalcanal, suffered a severe attack of malaria, returned to the States—and married Miss Mae Gallagher.

The wedding was performed August 14 at Pontiac, Michigan. The letter, incidentally inquiring as to why he hadn't written, reached Coppens at the Chicago district office Friday. That seems to call for some commentary on how particular Uncle Sam is about getting his boys' mail through, sooner or later.

Other interim occurrences include the torpedo sinking of the "McCawley", Coppens' promotion to boatswain's mate first class, and a good slice of table-turning in the war in the Pacific as a whole. Coppens now is stationed at the Chicago coast guard public relations office, making appearances at bond rallies and on coast guard radio programs.

ARMY LETTERS

Dear Ken,

Just came back to duty yesterday. I'm feeling fine. Am sending my new address and thanking you for the paper. I've been receiving it for the past nine months and it's been a pleasure to receive it.

I got up at 6 a. m. this morning. It was a little hard for me to get out of bed after being in the hospital two months and getting up at 8 a. m. I hated to come back to this place, but I'll see worse places than this before the war is over.

I sure miss the "Waves" that brought my meals to me while I was sick.

Closing for now. Just don't know how long I'll be here. So long.

As ever,
Pete.

Predator Bounties Paid

In August, first of the four peak months of the year, 167 coyotes, 16 bobcats, and 4 wolves were bountied by the state conservation department at a cost to the department of $2,875. All of these animals, except 12 of the coyotes, were turned in from the upper peninsula.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The Bi-Weekly Club met at the home of Mrs. Fred Bergmann last Wednesday evening for a potluck lunch and surprise party in honor of Mrs. Richard Bergmann's birthday anniversary. A social evening was enjoyed by the guests, and many gifts were presented to the honoree.

Mrs. Henry Supernaw entertained Wednesday afternoon with a party honoring the birthday anniversary of her daughter, Mary Janice. Twenty-two little guests played games, and were later served refreshments.

Members of the Pilgrim Fellowship held the first of a regular series of suppers at the Congregational church dining room Monday evening. Twenty-two young people were present for games, group singing, and refreshments. It is planned to hold such suppers every two weeks during the winter.

Holding their first meeting of the year on Monday at the home of Mrs. J. F. Scudder, the Charles Dickens Club outlined their program of study for the year. Tea was served, with Mrs. W. H. Miller presiding at the tea table.

Mrs. Robert Ashdon entertained members of the Academia study club at her home Tuesday evening, at their regular business meeting. Following general discussion and a quizz program, refreshments were served.

AT THE MOVIES

HARDWOOD TREES TO BE PLANTED FRIDAY

Clubs, City Organizations Asked to Aid Community Project

Planting of 3,000 hardwood trees in the transplant stage will be undertaken Friday morning by the Charlevoix Garden Club, with assistance of members of local civic organizations.

Purchased by the city, the trees will be set out on what was the ninth hole on the abandoned portion of the municipal golf course, where there are already thousands of young trees which will in the future be transplanted about the city.

Every club and organization in the city is asked to aid in the planting, which is a community project. Those who will help are asked to report at the planting site at 10 a. m. Friday, armed with spades and gloves.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

Every time Lem Martin hears about another Jap battleship being sunk—or another Nazi city being blasted—Lem grits his teeth, and digs into his pocket for more War Bond money.

"With our soldiers over there doin' better 'n' better at their scorin'," Lem says grimly, "we can do the same at home."

It's easy to think that if the war is going well, we can afford to let down just a little instead o' realizing that the bigger our offensive gets the more our boys are going to need equipment and munitions.

From where I sit, here's the way it is . . . It's up to everyone of us to put not only our spare money into War Bonds, but to figure out new ways of saving so that we'll have still more money to invest in Victory.

As Lem says: "We asked for plenty of action—and we're sure getting it. All over the world our men have got them Axis fellas on the run. Let's Back the Attack with War Bonds."

RAYDERS SCORE SECOND VICTORY

MANCELONA DEFEATED BY 6 TO 0 COUNT

Charlevoix Plays Next Contest At East Jordan Saturday; Hard Fight Expected

Charlevoix high school's Red Ruyder football team hung up their second victory in three starts when they defeated Mancelona by a 6 to 0 score at south side athletic field Saturday afternoon.

Zeitler scored Charlevoix's only touchdown in the third period. The scoring march started from the visitor's 45-ynrd line where the Rayders had blocked and recovered a Mancelana punt. Belfy skirted the end for 5 yards, Zeitler went thraugh center for 10 and another line buck netted a first down. A line play carried to Mancelona's 3-yard strip. Zeitler crnshed through for the score. Try for extrn point failed.

Charlevoix had made a previous scoring threat which was stopped by the whistle nt the half on Mancelona's 3-yard line. Taking a Mancelona punt on his 45, Novotny returned 20 yards. Zeitler passed to Chambers for a first down and Belfy, in two line bucks, went to the visitars' 3-yard strip as the half-way whistle sounded.

While Mancelona put up stiff opposition throughout the contest, they never were close enough to Charlevoix's goal to constitute a scoring threat. For the most part the game was a see-saw affair, with whatever advantage there was in Charlevoix's favor.

Coach Kipke's startling line-up was Plum and Bellinger at ends, Cross and North at tackles, Shearer and Brown at guards, Dick Hardy at center, Zeitler and Novotny, halfs, Belfy as tailback and Chambers calling signals. Olach went in for Bellinger, injured early in the game, while Ward substituted for Cross and Lewis went in for Belfy.

The Rayders go to East Jordan this Saturday to meet the Crimson Wave on their home field. Defeated by Charlevoix by a margin of two points in the opening game of the season here, Jordan is out to even the count.

FRIDAY IS DEADLINE FOR OVERSEAS GIFTS

Christmas Parcels for Soldiers Must Be Mailed at Once

This Friday, October 15, is the last day for mailing Christmas gifts to soldiers overseas, is the warning issued by the local post office.

After this date, no packages can be sent to army personnel unless a written request from the soldier is presented at the post office. Previous weight and size limitations, relaxed during Christmas mail month from September 15 to October 15, will again be in effect.

Packages may be sent to navy personnel until November 1.

PYTHIANS HELD FIRST MEETING MONDAY NITE

Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, Knights of Pythias, held their first official meeting of the year Monday night at Castle hall. Members enjoyed a fish dinner, followed by the business meeting presided over by Dallas Henry, chancellor commander.

COAST GUARD WANTS YOUTHS TO ENLIST

Recruiter to Tour Cities During October and Novamber

Young men 17 years of age are being accepted for enlistment in the United States coast guard at the recruiting office in Kalamazoo. All enlistments are for the duration of the war.

During October and November, a coast guard recruiter will be in the following cities from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on the days designated: Grand Rapids, Mondays and Fridays at the post office; Battle Creek, Tuesdays at the post office; Muskegon, Thursdays at the armory; Sturgis, Saturdays at the post office. Further information and applications can be obtained from the recruiter on duty in these cities.

Applications for enlistment in the Spars, women's reserve of the coast guard, may also be obtained from the recruiter. Women between the ages of 20 and 36 are eligible for enlistment. The coast guard is now preparing to replace most of its pay and supply officers at shore stations with officers of the Spars, it has been revealed.

SUPERVISORS IN OCTOBER SESSION

APPROPRIATIONS REQUESTS UNDER CONSIDERATION

Major Portion of Work of Annual Fall Session Remains in Hands Committees

The Charlevoix county board of supervisors opened their 75th annual October session Monday morning at the court house here.

Activities up to the present time have centered around reading of correspondence and receiving requests for appropriations from various county agencies and other officials. These matters have been referred to committees for future action.

Rollin T. White appeared for the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, seeking annual appropriation to that oganization. Appropriations for Charlevoix Hospital, the county agricultural agent, county school commissioner and the National War Fund campaign which will begin this month, are also under consideration.

An appropriation of $2,200 was voted to District Health Unit No. 3. This sum is $100 more than was voted last year, due to increase in salaries in that department.

The supervisors voted to continue the present bounty of $3 on fox, and an additional bounty of $3 on bobcat was approved.

Reports of county officers, formerly heard at the October session, will in the future be made at the April session. Auditor General Vernon J. Brown has notified county officials that, according to a recent act of the legislature, fiscal year for all county departments will coincide with the calendar year and reports must be made at the first meeting after January 1, 1944.

It is anticipated business of the session will be completed this week.

Litter Bearers in Action on New Georgia

Medical progress, coupled with speedy evacuation of wounded from combat zones to rear hospitals have been responsible for a tremendous increase in the percentage of recoveries of men wounded in this war compared with World War I. Part of the credit goes to hard-working, little-publicized litter bearers pictured in action on New Georgia island. Top left: Still wearing camouflage suits, bearers place wounded aboard a landing craft. Bottom left: Attendants place patients in ambulance for transfer to ship. Note the muc-aked wheel. RESIDENT OF MARION TOWNSHIP SUCCUMBS

Irving A. Drost Died Sunday, In Ill Health Many Years

Irving A. Drost, 63, resident of Charlevoix county for 13 years, died Sunday night at his home on Carpenter avenue. He had been ill for three months, although in failing health for a period of several years.

Mr. Drost was born December 15, 1879, at Grawn. He was married to Clara Dahmer on September 14, 1908, at Grawn, and in 1930 they came to Marion township to make their home. About six weeks ago they moved into this city.

He was a member of Barnard Reformed church.

Surviving besides the widow are three daughters, Mrs. Robert Sarasin, of Midland, Mrs. Otto Russell and Mrs. Kenneth Todebusch, of Detroit; a son, Irving Drost, Jr., aviation machinists mate second class, U. S. navy, Pensacola, Fla.; a sister, Mrs. Tony Manville, of Traverse City; two half-sisters, Mrs. Gene Hosford, of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Ollie Sitzoma, of Kewadin; also five grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by Rev. Donald R. Evans from the See Funeral Home. Interment was at Brookside cemetery.

MRS. WILLIAM FLYNN SUCCUMBED TUESDAY

Wife of Beach Hotel Owner Ill Since Early Summer

Mrs. William E. Flynn, wife of William E. Flynn, owner of the Beach Hotel, died Tuesday night at Charlevoix Hospital, where she had been a patient for several days. She had been ill with heart trouble since early in the summer.

Mary Powers was born April 22, 1887, in West Rutland, Vt. She was married to Mr. Flynn April 30, 1922, at Southern Pines, N. C. Since Mr. Flynn acquired ownership of the Beach Hotel in 1940, she has been executive housekeeper of that hostelry, and previous to that was housekeeper at The Inn. Both she and Mr. Flynn have many friends among local and summer residents of Charlevoix.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Friday morning at St. Mary's church, Rev. Fr. A. V. Ulanowicz officiating. Interment will be at the Catholic cemetery.

PLANTING OF PINE TREES POSTPONED

Dryness of Soil Causes Delay in Garden Club Project

Planting of 3,000 trees on the old ninth hole of the municipal golf course, planned by the Charlevoix Garden club for last Friday, has been postponed.

The trees are pine, not hardwood, as was stated in last week's issue of the Courier. Due to dryness of soil in the planting site, and difficulty of watering the location, it was decided to postpone planting until after the ground is thoroughly soaked by rain.

WAC RECRUITER HERE MONDAY, OCTOBER 18

A recruiter for the Women's Army Corps will be at the Charlevoix city hall next Monday, October 18, from 11 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., to interview any young women desiring information concerning the women's army.

CLOSED SEASON ON GREAT LAKES

NETTING BANS LISTED FOR TROUT, WHITEFISH

Season on Lake Trout Is Closed Until Nov. 10; Whitefish Nov. 5 to Dec. 10

No changes have been made this year in closed season on lake trout, whitefish and chubs in Michigan waters of the Great Lakes, the conservation department announced as the lake trout fishing season in Lake Michigan closed Saturday.

Fishermen may not take lake trout in Lake Huron from October 1 to 31; in Lake Superior from October 10 to November 4; and in Lake Michigan from October 10 to November 10.

It will be illegal to take whitefish in Lake Huron from November 1 to December 1; in Lake Superior from November 1 to November 26; in Lake Michigan from November 5 to December 10; and in Lake Erie from December 1 to March 10.

The regulations forbid taking of chubs from October 15 to November 20 in Lake Michigan, Lake Superior and Lake Huron.

During this time no permits will be issued to anyone to fish for spawn, it was warned.

The conservation department will again this year handle lake trout eggs after the season reopens, it was announced. Eggs from Lake Huron will be handled at the Harrisville state fish hatchery, and eggs from Lake Michigan at the Thompson hatchery. Eggs from Lake Superior will be transferred to the United States Fish and Wildlife Station at Duluth, Minnesota.

CARLOAD OF SCRAP PAPER IS SHIPPED

CSO Thanks Citizens for Help in Gathering Fifteen Tons

Fifteen tons of scrap paper left Charlevoix last Friday on a special train car reserved by the Pere Marquette Railway at the request of the Charlevoix Service Organization, sponsors of the scrap paper drive held October 1,2 and 4.

The CSO wishes to extend thanks to the residents who contributed to success of the paper pick-up, the city of Charlevoix for the use of city trucks, and Boy Scouts for aiding in the collection.

Present plans are to have a regular pick-up day each month, with Boy Scouts canvassing homes to gather scrap paper. The paper will then be stored until enough is collected for another carload, which will probably be shipped before Christmas.

NOTICE

In order to assure that the Courier reaches some 300 service men regularly, it is absolutely necessary that we have their correct addresses. Please notify us immediately of any change in the mailing address of those now receiving the paper. Addresses for new subscriptions may be left at this office, or with Ralph Hamilton, chairman of the Charlevoix Service Organization.

OFFICERS CANDIDATE TEST AT HIGH SCHOOL

Applicants for Special Training Programs May Take Exam

Young men of Charlevoix who want to take the first step toward an officer's commission in the army or navy may do sa on November 9.

On that day the second test for candidates for the army specialized training program and navy college V-12 program will be given at Charlevoix high school, along with other schools and colleges throughout the nation.

Civilians who will be 17 but not 22 by March 1, 1944, and who are high school graduates or will be graduated by March 1, 1044, are eligible for the army test. Applicants for the navy program must be students who have attained their 17th but not yet their 20th birthday by March 1, 1944, and who are high school graduates or will be graduated by March 1, 1944. The navy program provides officers for the navy, marine corps and coast guard.

Students who pass the army test will go to specialist schools after their induction, while those passing the navy test will report to the nearest office of naval officer procurement, and taken into the navy immediately.

BLOOD DONORS ARE ASKED TO REGISTER

Age Limit of 50 Does Not Apply, Red Cross Chapter Says

If sufficient donors can be secured in Charlevoix, the state health department's mobile blood collection unit will visit this city as well as Boyne City early in November, county Red Cross officials have announced.

As the unit can accommodate 65 donors a day, it is necessary to have approximately that many registered here. The age limit of 50 years for donors is not strictly adhered to, it is understood. Persons over that age are accepted. All donors are given an examination in order to assure that their physical condition is good.

Boyne City has already signed over a hundred donors, while only 18 Charlevoix residents have registered. It is hoped that a great many more will volunteer to donate blood, which is to be processed into plasma for civilian blood banks. Register by calling Mrs. R. F. Sloan, phone 413.

ROBERT C. EMREY IS DEPUTY CITY CLERK

Resignation Mrs. Wilma Novotny Accepted by Council

Robert C. Emrey, who last week resumed his former duties as city accountant, was again appointed deputy city clerk at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night.

City Clerk Ray S. Hamilton made the appointment after receiving the resignation of Mrs. Wilma Novotny, who has held the office since Mr. Emrey resigned his duties to enter the armed forces in February.

PYTHIANS WILL HARVEST BEANS AT SLOUGH FARM

Members of the Pythian lodge will go to the Will Slough farm this Thursday, October 14, to pull beans. Any member who would like to go is asked to contact Bill Supernaw.

For Hospital, Health and Accident or Life Insurance, call Geo. O. Haggard, phone 390, or write Box 72, Charlevoix.—Adv. 35tf.

FORMER RESIDENT IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Services Monday Afternoon for Mrs. Francis Frame

Committal services were held Monday afternoon at Brookside cemetery for Mrs. Francis Frame, 47, former Charlevoix resident, who died Thursday at Cleveland, Ohio.

Ann Ashmore was born February 18, 1896, at Charlevoix. In 1911 she was married to E. H. Smith. They left this city in 1915 to make their home in Flint, and later went to Portland, Ore. In 1938 she was maried to Francis Frame, of Cleveland, who survives her.

Surviving besides the husband are two sons, Cpl. Melvin Smith, of Altus army air base, Okla., and Grover Smith, of Marquette, a daughter, Mrs. Marian Adams, of Cleveland; a sister, Mrs. Herman Voight, of Flint; and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday in Cleveland, and the body brought to Charlevoix for burial. Rev. Leigh H. Hagie officiated at services here.

MILKWEED FLOSS HARVEST ENDING

CROP MUST BE ALL PICKED BY OCTOBER 20

Kapok Supply Nearly Exhausted; Two Bags of Milkweed Pods May Save a Life

Great concern is being expressed by officials of the Milkweed Floss division of War Hemp Industries, of Petoskey, because milkweed pods are not coming in as rapidly as was first anticipated.

Slowing up is accounted for, to some extent, by the fast ripening of pods, causing them to open and permit floss to escape. This does not indicate that floss is of no value, inasmuch as pods may be picked as long as the floss has not completely escaped from the pod shell.

There are still excellent picking opportunities in Charlevoix county, as it is estimated that to date less than 25 per cent of the available material has been harvested. Picking bags are to be obtained at the Charlevoix Co-Ops. Co., local buying station for War Hemp Industries.

The need for floss is urgent, as the present supply of kapok will be exhausted after next June. Milkweed floss is rapidly replacing the unobtainable kapok as a filler for life preservers, but as the entire year's supply must be picked during a few autumn weeks, it is important that every bit of floss be gathered. The harvest is expected to end about October 20.

"It has ceased to be a matter of just dollars and cents", said Henry Gunning, divisional manager of War Hemp Industries. "We must look at it from the standpoint of lives. Two bags of pods are required to make sufficient floss to fill one life preserver, which may save the life of a man from any northern Michigan community".

UPLAND GAME SEASON OPENS

HUNTING ALLOWED 22 DAYS IN LOWER PENINSULA

Laws, Limits and Seasons Remain Same As Last Year; Shooting Will Start at 8 a. m.

Michigan's most popular hunting season opens at 8 a. m. Friday morning, October 15, when the legal bid of protection is lifted from all common varieties of small upland game in the lower peninsula. Shooting may start at 8 a. m.

With the upland game season above the Straits open since October 1, and duck season since September 25, the October 15 opening in the lower peninsula will bring out the rest of Michigan's hunters who have hoarded enough gasoline coupons to get to the best hunting grounds.

Species which become legal game Friday are pheasants, partridge, woodcock, cottontail and snowshoe rabbits, fox squirrels, prairie chickens and sharptailed grouse. The latter two species are found only in the upper peninsula and northern section of the lower peninsula. The lower peninsula area in which they may be hunted is defined as that lying north of the north line of Town 16 North, and west of Saginaw bay.

Fox and gray squirrel may be hunted in all the lower peninsula from October 15 to November 5, as long as the bird season lasts.

Game laws, limits and seasons remain the same as last year. All are explained in the 1943-1944 game law digests which are issued with the hunting licenses. No duck stamp is required to hunt woodcock.

While foliage is falling fast because of early frosts, a heavy rain is needed to bring leaves down and provide conditions required for satisfactory partridge hunting. Prospects this year, according to reports, are good.

ASK COOPERATION IN DISPOSAL OF LEAVES

Burn Leaves on Own Properly, Is Request of Council

Practice of burning leaves on the city streets, strictly forbidden in previous years, is this year being encouraged by the city council in order to dispose of the great accumulation of dead leaves on the streets.

Due to manpower shortage, removal of the leaves cannot be accomplished without cooperation of citizens in burning those accumulating on their own property. Burning holes in tarvia-topped or asphalt seal-coated streets can be avoided by care in building fires. Blazes should be spread out along the curb, rather than piled out into the street, and kept as close to the curb as possible.

In an advertisement in this issue, Leo Allard, street commissioner, asks citizens to cooperate with the council's request.

Sunday School Class

Mrs. W. H. Miller is teaching the adult bible class at the Congregational Sunday school. All those interested are cordially invited to attend.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

I don't know why I'm taking the trouble to write this danged column at all, unless it is just through force of habit and that I sort of enjoy shootin' off my bazoo. Last week, being too busy, I didn't write it, and you know, not a single person said anything about missing it. Guess maybe they were fed up on the trash, and I don't blame them much. Well, anyway, here it is again, whether you like it or not.

Back in the early days, printers, in order to pad their income, used to sell groceries, fancy articles and general merchandise. Before this war is over and before we are able to pay back what it costs, maybe we'll have to do the same thing.

Elmer Barber told me Saturday night that that same afternoon a bald-headed eagle swooped down several times upon his 14-year-old daughter, Bonnie, while she was cutting cross lots from the Ryder place across the Coulter farm to her home on State street. While the huge bird did not touch the child, it swooped low enough to frighten her badly. I never heard of this specie of eagle attacking a human before, but of course there can always be exceptions.

Paying as we go might not be so bad if we only knew where we were going.

It's a good thing the number of fishermen is light this fall, for otherwise there would be a lot of disappointed anglers. Here it is almost mid-October and no perch run into Round lake, they're not biting out in the Lake Michigan bay like they were a year ago, and I believe I can count on the fingers of one hand the number of steelhead caught in the past few weeks. If the plentifulness of fish travels in cycles, this Fall must be the bottom. Let's hope so, anyway.

There is no longer any demand for high pressure salesmanship.

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

ARMY LETTERS

Dear Ken,

I just received my third paper. It really is swell of you and the CSO to send it. One never really knows the true value of the home town paper until he is in the service.

I was very disappointed in not seeing "Shot at Random." I hope you haven't discontinued it.

The navy life is really swell. They treat us like kings, they even let us sleep until 5:30 on Sunday.

They really give you a work out. We drill from 5:45 until 6:30, then they let us have chow, and don't think it doesn't give one an appetite.

I just got back from seeing Great Lakes beat Ohio. It really was a good game. Friday night we went to a "Meet Your Navy" program.

The navy really has a swell system. If there's an opera or something going on, they say they want a hundred volunteers, then before you can say whether you want to go or not, they draft you. I thought my being drafted was over, but I guess it just started, as I have been drafted three times since I came here.

Give my regards to Mrs. Usher and the little ones.

I have to do my washing, so I will close. Thanking you again for the swell paper.

Your friend,
Pete

P. S. If you can't read this, I think your daughter should be able to.

Peter J. McCafferty
Co. 1405, U. S. N. T. S.
Great Lakes, Ill.

Hi Ken!

Surprised? I suppose so. Well, I wish to let you in on a secret. As you know, I was in Charlevoix last June. And as the crash boat outfit I am in give furloughs every four months or so, I just got me another few days leave, so decided to take in some more of the U.S.A. scenery. So here I am in the city of St. Louis, Mo. There sure has been plenty to see. As you might know, we also have the World Series here. Tickets sold out so didn't get to see it.

CORRESPONDENCE

ROCK ELM

(Too late for last week)

Fine weather for farmers to finish their fall work. Bean harvest is now completed and corn cutting and silo filling are under way.

Lawrence Jensen had his beans threshed in the field with a combine last week. The yield was about 15 bushels per acre.

Ernest Muthers started work on the night shift at the Central Lake canning factory last week. Reports are that they have so much sweet corn on hand they are finding it hard to care for it.

Earl Bradley called on Jesse Lawton, Sunday evening.

The woods are now in the full glory of their autumn tints.

BARNARD

Farmers are making good use of the fine weather to harvest their crops.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Boss made a trip to Alpena on Saturday.

Jake Boss, of Detroit, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Boss, over the week end.

News from the New Guinea war zone tells us that Carlton Smith was slightly wounded in the recent campaign there.

Mrs. Stephen Burr and small son, of Beaverton, are visiting Mrs. Burr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis McDonald.

Mrs. Ray Cunningham, of Detroit, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Potter, last week.

We are sorry to hear of the death of Irving Drost at his home in Charlevoix. Funeral services were held in Charlevoix on Wednesday. The bereaved family have the heartfelt sympathy of all Barnard friends.

Our Lenguers are planning to attend the League rally at Harbor Springs, Sunday evening.

MURRAY SCHOOL

Pvt. Norman Kunkle was home to spend his furlough.

Marilyn Hair was home during vacation.

Wm. Price has had electricity installed in his home recently.

George Huston was a caller at the home of Wm. Hair, Sunday morning.

Don Lawson is home from Detroit, visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hair and family visited Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Whitney, of Central Lake, Sunday.

Alice and Marie Price went to Kegonic to visit friends there.

Mr. and Mrs. Chir Gregory and family and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Speigl and family visited at the Wm. Hair home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McLellan and family were Sunday visitors at the Wm. Price home.

Mrs. Stueck, of Bay Shore school, Mrs. Evans of Burgess, Mrs. Hair, of Maple Grove, and Mr. Hargett, of Murray, attended the teachers' institute at Traverse City last Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubble and family have moved to Boyne City.

Everyone enjoys this beautiful weather.

MAPLE GROVE

Billy Allison has been working for Lee Rising a few days.

Otto Kane returned to Detroit, Thursday, after spending several days at his farm.

Pfc. Paul White left Thursday for Camp Gordon, Ga., following several days visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob White.

The Milo Kane family visited Mr. and Mrs. Fay Kane, of Boyne City, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob White and family and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Baker attended an auction sale near Eastport last Wednesday afternoon.

Wesley and Bobby White visited at the Cole home Sunday afternoon.

Milo Kane returned to his work in Detroit, Sunday, after spending the past week at his home helping with corn cutting and potato harvest.

Potato harvest is in full swing at the Lee Sneathen farm, and the weather the past few days seems made to order for fall work.

The teacher, Mrs. Hair, attended the teachers' institute at Traverse City, Thursday and Friday.

Glennie Kane is absent from school because she had the misfortune to get a piece of glass in her foot.

NORWOOD

George Lord, of Charlevoix, is visiting at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Richardson.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Empey and family were week end guests of Mrs. Empey's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hinckley, of Prescott, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hull, of Pontiac, have received word from their son, Bud, that he has been promoted from corporal to the rank of sergeant.

Proceeds of the chicken pie supper sponsored by the Norwood Ladies' Aid on Wednesday evening of last week amounted to $38.00.

Frank Richardson was stricken with a partial stroke on Thursday of last week. Everyone wishes him a speedy recovery.

Oscar Hedlund, of Traverse City, is visiting at the home of his brother, Charles Hedlund.

Oil for Alaskan Highway Traffic

Oil for traffic using the new Alcan highway will be piped 550 miles from the huge underground lake of petroleum resources in the Mackenzie basin at Fort Norman. It will also serve ships along the Alaskan shore. Left: An inspector checks the welding on a section of the line. Right: Two of the many girls working in connection with the project are pictured in their laundry.

CLARKE DISTRICT

Our war stamp sales this week totaled $6.80.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stutzman were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Warner, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boss, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Boss went to Alpena, Saturday.

Frank Blouch and Mrs. Mary Case visited her brother, Charles Warner and family, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Parsons and children, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Parsons and Miss Jane Parsons visited at East Jordan, Sunday.

School was closed Thursday and Friday while our teacher, Mrs. Clyde Warner, attended teachers' institute at Traverse City.

BEAVER ISLAND

Jim Franz and Clarence Gray, of Holland, spent a few days here last week fishing.

Mrs. John Feindt, of Kalamazoo, spent a few days here this week visiting relatives. She left Friday to visit in Charlevoix before going home.

Mrs. Howard Dunk, of Chicago, arrived Thursday to visit her aunt, Mrs. L. J. Malloy.

Owen D. Gallagher, of Grand Haven, returned to his home Monday, after several weeks' visit here with his brother, Dominick Gallagher.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutt and daughter of Hammond, Ind., closed their cabin at Nomad this week and returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Leonard, of Chicago, spent several days here at their cottage near Font lake.

Pete Timmer and small son, of Charlevoix, were visitors on the island Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Bennett left Friday for a trip on the mainland. They will be gone several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller closed their cottage and left Friday for their home in Detroit.

J. M. Maynard, of Mansfield, Ill., spent a few days here this week duck hunting.

EVELINE ORCHARDS

The Helping Hand Club will meet October 20 at the home of Mrs. Cecil Hutchinson.

ABILITY TO PAY

In a broadside on the subject of post-war planning, the New Jersey Taxpayers Association points out that all such plans should be developed with strict regard to "their cost, and the ability of the taxpayers to finance them".

That same slant has been adopted by Winston Churchill in connection with Britain's various schemes for post-war readjustment, including the famous Beveridge plan. The Prime Minister has implied that it would be a grave mistake to foist upon the public visionary reforms demanding far more than the contents of the ordinary man's pocketbook.

Nor does this indicate chronic opposition to all forward-looking programs of social, political or economic nature. As a matter of fact, the real friend of progress is he who exercises a reasonable amount of fiscal restraint before entering the realm of idealistic experimentation.

When the war ends, there will be thousands of demands for improvement of domestic and international affairs. Some people will expect Utopia to be realized overnight.

What will be needed is the ability to separate the wheat from the chaff and then focus upon those plans which offer humanity real promise of all-round betterment without running everyone into the poor house because of inability to foot the bill.

Much as our starry-eyed reformers may regret it, ability to pay is a stern but necessary adjunct of accomplishment in the world of practical affairs. Our post-war planners—Federal, State and municipal—will do well to recognize that simple fact as they proceed to work out their grandiose blueprints of provincial or universal salvation.

Shipbuilding is the biggest single item in Wisconsin's war contracts, with the first fleet of submarines to be launched on the Great Lakes coming from Manitowoc, Wisconsin ways.

FARM TOPICS

HOG PRODUCTION AND FARM PLAN

Plenty of Grain Is Seen Necessary for Success.

By E. M. Regenbrecht
(Swine Husbandman, Texas A. & M. College.)

Hog production, a basic item in the Food for Victory program, easily can be made successful if properly fitted into a profitable farming plan.

Especially suited as a small enterprise, hog production primarily is dependent for success upon the availability of an abundance of grain feed. Hogs always pay more for corn, barley, or grain sorghums than does the grain market. About four pounds of feed produces a pound of pork, but the feed must be properly balanced. Feeds used to balance the farm grain usually are higher in price than the latter but the quantity is small.

Farmers who keep from one to three sows almost always make a success, Regenbrecht says. Hogs do not do well when run in large groups because sanitation and disease prevention become serious problems with large herds. The principal item of expense in hog production is the grain feed, but if this is grown on the farm, or obtainable locally at reasonable prices, the enterprise easily can be established on a profitable basis.

While a sandy, well-drained soil is the most suitable, hogs can be successfully raised on a heavy black soil, but in such case concrete feeding floors are almost a necessity. Hog pastures are necessary, with small grain for winter, and sudan for summer the best. Native grasses such as bermuda are good for a short time in the spring, but soon get hard and tough, and become of little value. A good pasture will furnish 50 per cent of the needed protein and otherwise reduce the cost of production.

Suitable equipment — a movable hog house, a few troughs and a self-feeder—can be built at small cost. A concrete wallow can be classed as almost a necessity. If hogs are kept comfortable they make rapid and economical gains and losses from overeating are avoided. It is likewise true that hogs which do not have a dry, warm place in which to bed during the winter will not make as much profit as those properly sheltered.

Save Money by Making Own 'Homemade' Soap

With the fats and oil situation giving this country considerable worry, rural families with cooking fats available can save by making homemade soap.

Enameled or granite ware is suitable for small batches of soap, but for larger batches an iron kettle is recommended. A large granite or wooden spoon is best for stirring.

The four ingredients of soap are lye, water, fat and perfume. Lye should be pure and uniform, and if possible soft water should be used since it will improve the quality of soap.

Fat used should be clean and light-colored and it should be clarified as it accumulates. Clean tin cans, well covered, are best for storing the fat until a sufficient amount has been collected for soap making. Both fats and oils must be washed free from salt. Rancid greases may be purified by boiling with a solution of one part of vinegar and five parts of water.

Scents such as oil of citronella, bergamot, oil of lavender, geranium or sassafras may be added to perfume the soap. This will help destroy the odor of the fat.

Killing Cattle Lice

A dairy herd infested with lice causing severe cow discomfort cannot provide top milk production. Powdered sabadilla dusted on the infested parts is a popular louse killer. It may be used alone or mixed with equal quantities of powdered tobacco and flowers of sulphur. Work the powder well into the hide during dusting. Blanket the animal for a few hours after treatment and thoroughly brush the skin, preferably out of doors.

It is well to repeat this treatment in 15 days in order to get lice that hatch from the nits. Use care when applying the sabadilla powder not to get it up the nose and mouth. A handkerchief or doubled cheesecloth placed over the nose and mouth will prevent irritation.

What Next??

A writer with a flair for "looking up" information tells that honey isn't merely a jar of liquid amber to give zest to the breakfast toast and flapjacks. During the past few years packing firms have bought honey in large lots for curing hams, and many carloads of it have been bought by brewers. Hydromel (honey and water) is one of the oldest drinks known in Europe, and honey brandy and honey champagne still are considered delicacies.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON
From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley

In my weekly broadcast of August 15th, I said: "A stubborn four-way gasoline war is underway in full stride. The loser will must probably be you, Mr. John Q. Public, as usual." In one corner of this squared off "battle royal" we find a group of eastern seaboard Congressmen and Senators; in another we find a similar group of midwestern solons, while in the other two corners—and directly opposed to each other— is government bureaucracy, headed up by War Fuel Administrator, Harold Ickes, seconded by his associate William R. Boyd, president of the American Petroleum Institute and chairman of the Petroleum Industry War Council and of course, Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown; and lastly, representatives of the midwest oil industry. I ended that broadcast by saying: "the fact remains there is still sufficient oil and gasoline in our area (the midwest), if we are permitted to have it, to supply our needs and it will be indeed difficult to convince any of us out here that political consideration are not paramount in the present drastic proposals to limit gasoline in the mid and southwest".

Bureaucratic Washington seemingly moves in strange ways, but always with an eye to political consequences for the Fourth Term campaign of '44. Out in the midwest our producers are still throwing away millions of gallons of gasoline. Yet the bureaucrats have finally brought about their equalization program and now you folks out home have had your coupons cut in order that the pleasure drivers in the East can have theirs raised. Their votes will be welcome in '44!

On September 16th and 17th, a national food conference was held in Chicago composed of producers, processors, distributors, and consumers, which in my opinion accomplished much more tangible benefit not only to the United States but to the United Nations than the famed International food conference in Hot Springs, when it adopted clear, concise, and entirely logical recommendations to the Congress in the following program:

1. Fair prices at the market place instead of the present system of subsidies which tend to place food production and distribution under bureaucratic control.

2. That no rollback of prices be financed out of government funds and no subsidies either direct or by subterfuge be paid.

3. Obtain maximum production as the best means to halt inflation, protect consumers and militate against the further growth of black markets.

4. When increased production is requested by government, floor prices must be guaranteed on all such commodities to insure against loss to those assuming such war risk.

5. Timely provision for skilled labor, necessary machinery, supplies and equipment must be made.

6. Unification of the whole food production, processing and distribution program through their establishment, by act of Congress, in one government agency.

In my opinion much of our food difficulties of today can be minimized if, such a program were adopted by the Congress, but I am equally as certain that the Administration will do everything in its power to prevent Congress' taking any such remedial action.

"Tax and Tax, Spend and Spend"

The Ways and Means committee is down to hard study on a new bill. I do not envy them their job because it's going to be extremely difficult to find the 10½ billion dollars additional requested by the secretary of the treasury when he appears before the committee on Monday. Here are some of the proposals: The $500 exemption for single persons is to be continued, but there is a proposed reduction for married couples to $1100. Personal and corporation income tax rates will be considerably increased. But if we are to raise this money, by far the major burden of that increase must fall on the lower income groups. Illustrative of the difficulties faced by the committee are the recommendations that the tax on whiskey and other distilled spirits be raised $6 to $10 per gallon—when there is no whiskey on the market; beer, up $7 to $10 per barrel—when there is less beer on the market; wines, 10 to 50 cents per gallon—when there is less wine consumption. And so it goes. Consequently, I doubt that the committee will report any tax bill with any expectation of raising that amount of money. Instead it is time for the President to decrease his expenditures for domestic purposes all the way along the line. At least six to eight billions can be saved by even reasonable curtailment.

Father Draft

While we are talking about drafting fathers, let's cut some of our expenditures by taking some of the 400,000 young single men from behind their soft desks in government departments and put them into uniform.

COFFEE SUPPLIES AT WAR-TIME HIGH

Renewal of Rationing Is Denied by Officials of OPA

Coffee supplies in the nation's warehouses are now at a war-time high.

"Not only are grocers supplied with ample stock", according to Francis M. Kurtz of the Great A. & P. Co.'s coffee-buying affiliate, "but the amount of coffee in warehouses has reached a war-time high. On Dec. 31, 1942, there were 1,492,812 bags on hand in comparison to an Aug. 31, 1043 inventory which showed 4,184,270 bags.

Persistent rumors that a renewal of coffee rationing was in prospect were definitely denied in an official OPA statement recently issued at Washington.

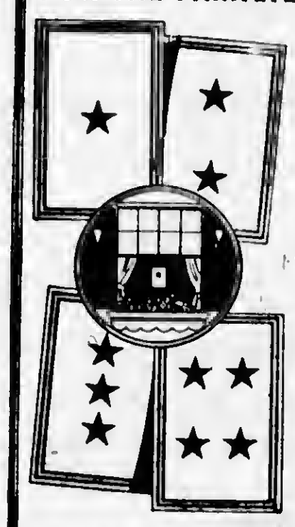
FREE SERVICE STAR CARDS
FOR THE FAMILIES OF SERVICE MEN



This Service Star window card should be seen in every home in America that is represented by a father, husband, son or brother in the Armed Forces of the United States. It emphasizes America's pride in those who are serving our country in time of war.

BLUE, SILVER OR GOLD

The Blue Star indicates service in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps within the boundaries of the United States.

The Silver Star denotes service outside the continental United States, either on the high seas, in the United States possessions, or on foreign soil.

The Gold Star is America's tribute to those who make the supreme sacrifice under the Stars and Stripes in time of war.

You are entitled to display the proper star for each member of your family serving in the Armed Forces of the United States of America. For example, if you are the parent of one boy in camp in the U.S.A., you are entitled to one Blue Star. If you have two sons in service—one in the U.S.A. and one outside the U.S.A.—you are entitled to a Service Star card bearing one Blue Star and one Silver Star.

THE MAYFLOWER
Recipe for Tomato with Crabmeat

For eight tomatoes, take two cups of select crabmeat. Season with a half tablespoon each of lemon juice and tarragon vinegar, two tablespoons olive oil, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce to taste. Mix gently but well with two hard-cooked eggs, chopped; a teaspoon of chopped chives and two tablespoons of sweet pickle relish. Refrigerate.

Peel and scoop centers from ripe tomatoes. Just before serving combine crabmeat mixture with approximately a half cup of mayonnaise and fill tomatoes. Sprinkle with finely chopped hard-cooked egg and paprika. Serve chilled.

GOEBEL BEER

NATIONALLY FAMOUS FOR GOOD TASTE

In the Nation's Capital, Mayflower cuisine is a highlight for presidents, cabinet members, visiting statesmen and for Americans from coast to coast. Tomato with crabmeat is among the dishes that are first selections by people who dine in the Mayflower's luxurious Presidential Dining Room.

There is another taste that quickly became a first selection with Americans everywhere . . . the good taste of Goebel Beer. Wartime restrictions limit the quantity of Goebel now available, but they have not changed its taste or quality. For nationally famous good taste at its all-time peak, order Goebel Beer.

THE DAY OF THE SMALL TOWN

To one who has for a lifetime watched the trend of population between city and country town, it is quite gratifying to observe that the day of the small town is just dawning. The moving of all city conveniences to the small towns has been so gradual that it has passed almost unnoticed, but it exists nevertheless.

The small town now offers the young folks all the modernisms of the city, waterworks, paved streets, gas and electric service, telephones, baths, gardens and parks, with few of the miseries of the city: smoke, noise, dirt, strife, slums, fire hazards, human trash, smells, pollution, thieves, excessive heat, traffic dangers, restricted children, narrow quarters, etc.

The public schools of the small towns are now on a par with any of the city institutions. Few notice that families can be raised in a small town at a much less cost than in the city. If one values breathing and garden space, the small town offers a modern home and a large garden from which much of the living may be obtained, at a lower investment than any city can give. Instead of being cramped in a cellhouse in the city, one may have breathing space in the small town for a modest investment.

Young folks need no longer be attracted to the seething city, when a home in the small town offers so much more for so much less.

The inhabitants of small towns are learning to appreciate their many advantages over the dwellers in metropolitan areas, and are giving thought to their many advantages in establishing a home where there is healthful open space and charitable social equality.

The population is thin in small towns so that human beings of evil ways and practices cannot hide themselves and their lives as in the city, which automatically leaves only those whose lives are above reproach to be neighbors and friends in the small town.—The Brighton Argus.

TO SURGICAL DRESSINGS WORKERS

"Make dressings and more dressings and then go back and make more dressings—we need O, so many!" writes Clair Tillotson, orderly in an American hospital on a south Pacific island, to his mother, Mrs. Nelson Tillotson, of this city.

It is difficult to comprehend the magnitude of the task undertaken by surgical dressings workers in this war. Visualizing the thousands of work rooms where they work every day of the year is a thrilling and inspiring picture.

These workers represent many types and ages. Most of them are women, busy women with many obligations toward their families and homes. Others have regular jobs in offices, school rooms and factories, but give their evenings to making dressings. There are groups in prisons and reformatories and among the deaf and dumb. There are men who have become experts in this art, young girls of high school age and some very aged women, a few of whom "rolled bandages" in the Civil War.

Surgical dressings workers constitute the greatest number of Red Cross volunteers. The work is tiring and monotonous, and requires skill, precision and great patience. Some quotas are large, with extra work and speeding up required. Other quotas will be reduced and work slowed down. This situation is unavoidable.

Making the dressings is one of the most important of all services rendered by the Red Cross. It is given to few women in war time to minister directly to sick or wounded soldiers, but the privilege of making dressings for them is given to all. The volume of work turned out is possible only because of their unflagging zeal and devotion.

CAN VITAMINS CHANGE GRAY HAIR?

Read the amazing experience of gray-haired people in Calcium Pantothenate tests sponsored by Good Housekeeping magazine. According to this report:

Age—did not seem to affect results. The earliest response occurred in a 50 year old; the latest in a 23 year old.

Color—began to appear near the roots of the hair. The color may not appear all over the head at the same time. Symmetrical areas, perhaps on the temples or the back of the head, may show traces of color first, after which the color will spread to other parts of the head.

Time—varied from 1 month to 6 months.

Results—88% of those tested had positive evidence of a return of some hair color.

● Now thousands use GRAYVITA, which contains 10 mgm. of Calcium Pantothenate (the same amount used in tests above) PLUS 450 U. S. P. units of B_1, the vitamin necessary to healthy nerves. Try GRAYVITA. See what a difference it may make in the way you look. 30 day supply, $1.50, 100 day supply $4.00. Phone, write

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

Dan Miles allows he's swimming right in style these days.

Dan's always made a point of finishing up whatever food was put before him. "Don't make sense to waste food just to be stylish," he says.

Now out comes an etiquette authority who says it's wartime fashion to take only what you're going to eat—and finish it up clean—because "Food Fights for Freedom."

As Doc Mitchell says, "Most folks eat too much anyway. Man and boy, I've watched this town for years, and 75% of us dig our own graves with our teeth."

From where I sit, this new style in eating may lead to moderation, and moderation has never hurt anybody.

In fact, you find moderation and tolerance go hand in hand ... whether it's what you eat or what you think.... Or whether one man prefers a moderate glass of beer when you yourself would rather have a soda.

Human Bomb

Allen L. Gordon became a human bomb when a shell lodged in his left hip and did not explode. Navy physicians who removed it were faced with the possibility of an exploding patient. The dangerous surgery was performed successfully in the South Pacific. Gordon was standing at his post on an American battleship when he was injured.

PLAN REGISTRATION FOURTH RATION BOOK

Will Be Issued Through School Period October 26-29

Arrangements are being made to issue war ration book four through schoolhouse registration, October 26-29.

Registration will take place from 1 p. m. to 8 p. m. in the high school building, and will be conducted as have previous ration book registrations. Further details will be announced later.

Appointed on Committee

Police Chief Clarence Heise has been appointed a member of the committee for the annual police pistol tournament of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, according to announcement from Oscar G. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the association.

Baptist Sunday Services

Harold Dahlquist, of Traverse City, will speak at Sunday morning services at the Baptist church at 11 o'clock. Young people's meeting will be at 7:30. Mr. Dahlquist and the Gideons will conduct evening services at 8:00 o'clock.

Work Room Closed

The Red Cross room in the city hall will be closed until further notice. It is suggested that those who have left soiled gowns there will pick them up and have them laundered before work begins on the next quota of surgical dressings.

Banded Ducks Travel Far

GOVERNMENT OFFERS LOANS FOR POTATOES

Report Growers Being Guaranteed Support Price

Potato growers are reminded by Walter H. Henley, chairman of the Charlevoix county AAA committee, that the government is offering a loan on U. S. No. 1 potatoes, stored in farmer's own storage or in acceptable warehouses, at $1.65 per 100 pounds in bulk. No farmer should sell his potato crop for less.

This vital food must not be wasted. Wholesale dumping on the already over-taxed market will not only waste the crop but force the market to lower levels. The federal government guarantees the support price of $1.65 through loans and FDA purchases. If a dealer will not pay $1.65 for U. S. No. 1 potatoes, farmers should contact the county AAA office at Boyne City.

FREAK TROUT CAUGHT BY ALPENA FISHERMAN

Specimen Identified As Albino by Conservation Department

Officials of the state conservation department's fish division have solved the mystery of the freak trout that has been baffling Alpena residents.

Jack Doyle, a local commercial fisherman, caught a strangely marked lake trout, with bright canary yellow scales. Fisherman Doyle declared that he had never seen a similar specimen in 38 years of fishing, and the unusual fish was mystifying all fishermen in the area.

When the specimen was sent to the conservation department fisheries men at Lansing, examination revealed that it was an albino trout—an exceedingly rare species, which occurs only about once in several million fish.

FIRES IN WOODS ARE BANNED BY GOVERNOR

Issues Proclamation Forbidding Smoking and Campfires

Governor Harry F. Kelly has issued a proclamation forbidding smoking or open fires in woods for the duration of the present forest fire emergency.

The proclamation is for the special attention of hunters smoking in wooded areas while hunting is included in the ban and no open fires can be made. Burning permits cannot be issued while the proclamation is in effect.

Smoking and open fires are banned except around established places of habitation. The proclamation is effective for all the upper peninsula and northern part of the lower peninsula.

I also paid a visit to the Goldmans at their residence here, where I was given a very nice supper. I guess they were much surprised to see me in St. Louis. Wish to take the opportunity of thanking them for their very kind hospitality. I certainly enjoyed the visit.

Today is Sunday, so I attended 9 o'clock mass at the St. Louis cathedral. It was very beautiful and something I shall never forget.

Haven't many more days left, then I'll be seeing some more cross country scenery again. West Virginia sure has plenty of large mountains. The people have their homes built on the side of the hills. Some places I saw, just about the whole town was built on the side of the mountain.

My girl friend took me down the Mississippi river to see the river boats. We saw a show boat, they have vaudeville shows on board. Also there was a side-wheeler passenger boat named the "Admiral." Very large and streamlined. Also some small coast guard craft standing by at the side of the river.

Stayed at the Jefferson hotel the first night, but on account of the world series everything was filled up, so am now at the Y. M. C. A.

Guess this will be all for now, so I'll be seeing you back in "Old Virginny" next week. Sure will be glad to read some more Charlevoix news again and thank you again for the Courier.

Best of luck to the boys in the service.

Sincerely,
Pfc. Charles Krulik

Dear Ken,

As you can see from the above address, I have been sent to a new army training center with the hope that the new treatment they are giving us will rid us of malaria. If it's pills that it takes to cure it we should be on our feet again very shortly. We take more pills each week than the Charlevoix-Bay Shore road has bumps.

Thanking again the people that make the paper possible, and with hopes this letter finds you still pulling in the "big ones" (or at least telling about them.)

Notice!

The City Council urges citizens to assist in disposal of dead leaves by burning those accumulated on their own property.

On tarvia or asphalt seal-coated streets, fires should be kept as close to the curb as possible and spread along the curb, making long fires rather than single pile fires, in order to avoid burning holes in the streets.

With cooperation of citizens, it is hoped no damage will be done to streets, and a situation aggravated by manpower shortage will be relieved somewhat.

Refreshments were served later in the evening.

Mrs. Hugh Mayne entertained with a party at her home Saturday afternoon honoring the fourth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Roberta. Five little friends gathered for games, followed by refreshments.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure—(Chancery)

In pursuance and by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, in Chancery, made and entered on the 9th day of August, 1943, in a certain cause therein pending, wherein Archie L. Livingston and Frank Supernaw, as trustees, are plaintiffs, and Belvedere Golf Club, Inc., a Michigan corporation, formerly the Belvedere Golf Realty Company, a Michigan corporation, is defendant.

Notice is hereby given, that I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the East Front door of the Court House (that being the place of holding the Circuit Court for said county), on Monday, the 6th day of December, 1943, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, Central Standard War Time, of said day, the following described property, viz: all those certain pieces or parcels of land situate in the Townships of Marion and Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, described as follows:

First Parcel:

The southwest quarter (SE¼) of the Southwest quarter (SW¼) of Section thirty-four (34), in Township Thirty-four (34), north of Range eight (8) west, excepting a parcel of land described as follows: commencing at the southwest corner of said first parcel; thence north four (4) rods; thence east forty-six (46) rods, thence south four (4) rods; thence west forty-six (46) rods to the place of beginning.

Second parcel:

The north half of the northeast quarter (N½ of NE¼) of section three (3), in township thirty-three (33) north, of range eight (8) west, excepting about two and 5-16 acres along the east side thereof owned and used by Marion township as a gravel pit; and also excepting a strip of land two (2) rods in width off the south side, and east of the County Road, formerly deeded to said Marion township for highway purposes.

Third Parcel:

All that part of the south half of the southeast quarter (S½ of SE¼) of section thirty-four (34) township thirty-four (34) north, range eight (8) west, lying south of the railroad right-of-way of the Standard Portland Cement Company; and also excepting the highway known as the County Road.

In accordance with the terms of said decree, said property will be sold as an entirety and not in separate parcels.

Bids will be received and accepted in accordance with the terms of said decree, and will be publicly announced on the day of the sale prior to receiving bids.

Dated October 12th, 1943.

On motion the Council adjourned.

RAY S. HAMILTON, City Clerk ROBERT BRIDGE, Mayor

1944 Campaign. Lansing political gossip is that Governor Kelly, as the Republican nominee for re-election, will be opposed by either former Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner or former State Treasurer Phil Fry as the Democratic nominee. Dr. Eugene B. Keyes is expected to be Kelly's running mate, unless some unforeseen upset occurs in the primary. The governor's advisers are concerned about 1944, feeling that Republicans must be strongely united to overcome any presidential election tide against "switching horses in mid-stream".

No Special Session. Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, by some judicious thinking, came to the rescue of the state administration and extricated it from the dilemma of summoning the state legislature now into special session. Several state departments were incurring deficits due to wage increases granted by the state civil service commission. Attorney General Rushton had ruled that the "Little Legislature" lacked statutory powers to make appropriations from its funds for deficit purposes. Brown's solution: The law required him to notify department heads when deficits were impending. In turn, the department head is to request civil service to abolish certain positions or reduce wages. Final responsibility rests with the department head and the governor. It is Brown's belief that adherence to these mandates will reduce the deficiency to around $100,000 by January 1.

Economies. Governor Kelly is determined to balance the state's budget. Accordingly, he appointed a special committee consisting of Senator Don VanderWerp, chairman of the senate finance committee; Rep. John P. Espie, chairman, house ways and means committee; Robert S. Ford of the governor's office, Budget Director Fred Striffler and Thomas J. Wilson, the civil service director. The committee has two duties: "To find out for me what action is going to be taken by the various appointing authorities to live within their appropriations" and "to make whatever recommendations they think might be helpful in this situation". First sessions were held Thursday and Friday.

Mackinac Bridge. A statement by Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, clarifying his views on the proposed Mackinac Bridge, is to be read this Friday, (Oct. 15) at the Blaney Park post-war planning conference sponsored by the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau. In brief, the Ziegler position is said to be somewhat as follows: When funds are available to build the bridge, the highway department will assume any responsibility for the bridge which is given to it by the state or federal government. Changes may be required at that time for the causeway which, according to two ferry captains, cannot be used during stormy weather for docking of state boats. In the meanwhile, the state department should give priority to post-war highways which would help to alleviate post-war unemployment.

Liquor Woes. Governor Kelly's quest for a $15,000-a-year business executive to fill the $7,500 post of chairman of the state liquor control commission has been consuming his attention almost daily. The appointment is due soon, and perhaps has already been announced by now. Illustrating the governor's dilemma, a Detroit labor newspaper charged recently that the average tavern had hardly "more than one-third" of the legal liquor supply necessary to conduct its business. The editor arrived by mental gymnastics at the conclusion that Kelly was either in cahoots with bootleggers or was catering to the Anti-Saloon League!

Confusion. Schuyler L. Marshall, newspaper editor at St. Johns, reports that farmers in Clinton county are greatly confused by federal regulatory actions coming out of Washington. AAA subsidies, offered first for growing less food and offered now for growing more food, have been followed by drastic government controls on beans and peppermint oil. "For quite a spell an owner of a farm was told that he could not eat meat raised on that farm, unless he actually lived on it and worked on it". Just as the people are confused by Washington's economic regimentation, so are they confused about the various schemes to prevent World War III through "winning the peace" and to prevent inflation despite an ever-soaring national debt. Marshall's conclusions: "In short, we do not know what to think—we just hope . . . and pray". He is father of two sons in the army.

Farmers. Both State Treasurer D. Hale Brake and Auditor General Brown own and operate farms. Brake's livestock farm is near Stanton, while Brown has acquired his ancestral homestead near Mason.

Soldier's Morale. Cheery letters from home plus a copy of the hometown newspaper make an effective combination, so the OWI, states, for good morale of soldiers and sailors. As recognition of the value of sending hometown newspapers to boys overseas, the post office department recently rules that Christmas gift subscriptions may be made without a specific request being obtained from the soldier. The deadline is this Friday (Oct. 15).

Three entertainments and two lectures constitute this winter's lecture course, presented by the Coit Lyceum Bureau. The first number will be the International Operatic Company, on October 17, at the Opera House.

Miss Ida M. Pierce became the bride of August Cellner in a pretty ceremony Monday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierce, near Ironton.

Little Floyd Brown suffered a fracture of his left arm Monday, when he fell off a large box in Brown's store.

A. Karslake closed the skating rink Saturday night after a very successful season, and left for Mishawaka, Ind., to open his winter rink.

The Boyne City high school football team was defeated by the local team Saturday, 40 to 0. Charlevoix's team is considered the fastest in this part of the state. Captain Ned Durance, McGeogh and Mascho were responsible for much of the ground gained.

The Beaver Island Transportation Co. has purchased a new boat to be placed on the run about November 1 under command of Capt. William Finucan, taking the place of the present mailboat Irene.

Dr. R. B. Armstrong, health officer for Charlevoix, has received instructions from the state board of health in regard to helping to check the spread of Spanish influenza.

Edward Edwards left Monday for Gettysburg, Pa., having received his call to enter the tank service.

Miss Hazel Richardson has accepted a position in Levinson's dry goods store for the winter.

The first issue of the "Chanticleer," the new high school paper, crowed for the first time last week. Editor Albert Widdifield and his able staff of collaboratora have turned out a winning fowl, it appears. On page 10 we find a ghoulish tale of the Paris catacombs, probably written by Widdy after a bad night of wrestling with the effects of too much mince pie. (Widdy was, at last report, advertising manager for the Chicago Flexible Shaft Co., which in peacetime turned out the famous Sunbeam electric products.)

The popular phrase for an automobile trip in 1923 was to "drive through" to Detroit, the Soo, or wherever. What they drove thru was not explained, but apparently motorists had to be prepared for just about any type of roads—or none at all.

Installation of the Lady Maccabees has been postponed on account of the smallpox quarantine, which also caused postponement of the board of supervisors session.

Dave Schweitzer and family leave next Monday for Long Beach, Calif., traveling in an automobile "house on wheels," which Dave constructed for the trip and the neighbors claim is a blinger.

EDUCATORS HELP ON MACHINE CARE

Youths Shown Best Care Of Farm Equipment.

By DR. A. K. GETMAN
(Chief of Agricultural Educational Bureau, New York State College of Agriculture.)

The training of rural youth in high schools and institutes throughout the states meshes with the states' programs of farm machinery repair and adjustment, in which repair clinics, tractor tune-ups, and field adjustment meetings for adults are planned during 1942.

Since "victory in arms needs machines on farms," teachers of vocational agriculture in high schools, heads of departments of farm mechanics at technical institutes, and all school executives have been urged to co-operate with county agents and manufacturing agencies in the program under the general guidance of county agricultural defense committees.

A critical situation is ahead in maintaining and increasing American food production, and the current need is to put farm equipment in the best possible condition. It is imperative, he said, to use the present shop facilities and personnel to the utmost, and that all available public and private resources act together.

School garages, or similar buildings, it is pointed out, would make ideal places for farmers to bring their machinery for community repair clinics under engineers trained and employed by the state colleges of agriculture.

AGRICULTURE IN INDUSTRY

By Florence C. Weed

(This is one of a series of articles showing how farm products are finding an important market in industry.)

Grape Refuse Salvage

Almost every state has commercial vineyards. California raises wine, raisin and table grapes or about 85 per cent of the total. Eastern grapes are grown for juice, wine and fresh market. Since imported French wines have been cut off by the war, this may increase the demand for domestic wines pressed in California, New York and Ohio.

At present, grape pomace left from winemaking is a waste material. Research is under way to find economical methods to recover crude tartrates from which come tartaric acid used in the manufacture of baking powder.

Raisin seeds were once a waste product. Now a California manufacturer is distilling raisin seed oil to use as a coating to prevent packaged raisins from sticking together. The oil offers a promising base for cosmetics since it contains better than average quantities of vitamin F. So far, it has not been economically practicable to utilize waste grape seeds from wineries in the East, because of the cost of transportation.

The thrifty French have developed new outlets for their grape crop under the stress of war time. Since the start of hostilities they have been contributing to wartime fuel which is a mixture of gasoline and grain alcohol made by distilling grape after the pressed out.

Soap, hard to obtain because of the dearth of fats, is being made from oil crushed from grape seeds, once discarded in the wine making process. Tons of natural sugar are being retrieved when fresh sweet grapejuice is boiled down. Many of these products could not be economically produced if other products were available, but are worth doing in war time.

WATER COOLER BEST FOR MILK

Hot Weather Necessitates Effective System.

By H. R. SEARLES
(Extension Dairyman at University Farm, St. Paul.)

Whether milk and cream are used on the farm or sold to the creamery, cooling becomes the problem of the hour on the dairy farm during the summer. A good cooling system is a necessity if the dairyman is to prosper.

Air is not a good cooling agent, even in the coldest winter. Experiments have shown that milk cools many times faster emersed in water than standing in air. Cooling large quantities of milk may call for ice or artificial refrigeration, but the dairyman who sells cream can usually do a good job with a cooling tank and well water. Using the water that goes to the main stock tank first for cooling is entirely satisfactory if proper equipment is provided.

The water may be pumped through a two-barrel tank, with most of the pumping carried out at the same time the warm cream is put in. The tank will be a better cooler if it is sheltered from the sun and wind and if it has a tight cover to hold out warm air and dust. If the tank is of metal, some insulation on the outside will also help hold out heat.

The milk and cream supply for the family will also be more desirable if care is taken in keeping the product cool. Putting the home milk in two-quart glass jars and sinking these in the cooling tank is satisfactory. Even if there is refrigeration on the farm, it is a good idea to cool the milk first in water and not put the burden on the refrigerator.

The obsolete smokestack of Milwaukee's city hall will make 35 tons of steel scrap.

Dear Soldier:

You fighting men like to read letters from home according to your officers. Trouble is us at home realize this and every soldier in the army gets an average of two letters a day—each a government living two to four times the amount of mail distributed to civilians in a town of equal population. Uncle Sam realizes it too and he gets your letters to you no matter where you are. The following pictures show how he does this. Maybe they will help to bring you even more glad tidings from home.

Two soldiers (below) under the supervision of an officer use a locator card system to find correct addresses for incorrectly directed mail. Approximately 43,000 writers misaddress letters each month to soldiers on maneuvers in Tennessee, but 87 per cent reach the right soldiers. Left to right: Lieut. Michael T. Diamond, Staff Sergt. Henry Cooper and Corp. John Fairfield.

To soldiers mail from home is considered to be the next best thing to a furlough. Right: Captain Raymond D. Ferguson checks the latest reports on the location of American soldiers in North Africa. Captain Ferguson was the first postal officer to arrive in this area of operations.

Tennessee—Sergt. Joe Flood (top left) sorts letters near an infantry command in the woods. Miss Margaret Sands (top right) a correspondent, hands out the mail. North Africa—Sergt. William Matcoff (bottom left) sorts bulk mail. Capt. Charles V. Fowles (bottom right) fighter pilot, forgets war as he reads news from home.

When writing to a serviceman in the U. S. or overseas

TELL HIM	DON'T TELL HIM
1. How the family is helping to win the war.	1. Your troubles. He has his own.
2. How anxious the family is for the boy's return.	2. Your complaints. He can't do anything about them.
3. How well and busy the family is. Give details.	3. About the things you are deprived of. He can't supply them.
4. How the family is getting along financially.	4. Doleful predictions of the future he is fighting for.
5. What's doing in the community, sports events, social doings, etc. Reminisce a little about past events. Enclose clippings from the home-town newspaper.	5. Unnecessary details about financial troubles. If there are things he should know about family finances and he is in a position to do something about them, tell him. But don't string it out.

These points were the result of a survey taken among servicemen.

A great space saver is the V-mail process in which mail is photographed larger when it reaches its destination. These men are sorting V-mail for processing. They have to work too fast to be curious about the contents. Mail from home is the army's biggest morale builder.

CHATTERER GETS SAMMY JAY SOME CORN

IN ALL his life Chatterer the Red Squirrel never had felt so angry and so helpless. He had thought himself so smart that he could outwit Sammy Jay, and, instead Sammy had outwitted him. This was bad enough in itself, but to make matters worse he had got to do something which he felt was very dangerous. He had got to go get Sammy some corn from Farmer Brown's cornerib right in broad daylight, and there was Black Pussy sitting on the doorstep of Farmer Brown's house and Farmer Brown's Boy himself chopping wood close by the cornerib. But if he didn't keep his promise Sammy would go tell Shadow the Weasel where he was living, and Chatterer was more afraid of Shadow than of Black Pussy and Farmer Brown's Boy. Wasn't it a terrible position to be in? Chatterer thought so. And all the time he knew that it was all his own fault. If he hadn't been so greedy and tried to scare Sammy Jay away from the cornerib, he wouldn't be in such a fix now.

He ran along the stone wall to the end on the edge of Farmer Brown's dooryard. Then he peeped out. Black Pussy was dozing on the doorstep. Her eyes were closed. Chatterer started across for the tree close by the cornerib, and then his courage failed and he ran back to the stone wall. Three times he did this, and each time he looked up to see Sammy Jay grinning at him from an apple tree in the Old Orchard. It was very plain to see that Sammy was enjoying Chatterer's fright. Chatterer almost cried with fear and anger.

The fourth time he gritted his teeth and kept on, running as fast as he knew how. He was almost past Black Pussy, when she opened her eyes. In a flash she was after him. Chatterer reached the tree first and was up it like a little red flash. There he felt safe. At least he felt safe from Black Pussy, for she wouldn't dare follow him out on the small branches. But Farmer Brown's Boy had seen her rush.

"What are you interested in, Puss?"

"What are you so interested in, Puss?" asked Farmer Brown's Boy. He couldn't see Chatterer because Chatterer was smart enough to keep on the other side of the tree trunk. "Is it something you want me to see?" he continued, and started to walk over to the tree. Chatterer's heart was beating terribly with fright—thump, thump, thump! At just that minute there was a great racket over in the Old Orchard. "Thief! thief! thief!" screamed Sammy Jay, making a great fuss. Farmer Brown's Boy turned to look in that direction.

"I wonder if that fox is prowling around again," said he. And, while he was still looking and wondering, Chatterer dropped to the roof of the cornerib and slipped inside through the hole he had found under the edge of the roof. He gave a great sigh of relief.

"I believe Sammy Jay did that purposely to make Farmer Brown's Boy look over there instead of up in the tree," he muttered. And he was right. Sammy had no desire to have any real harm come to Chatterer, and so at just the right minute he had fooled Farmer Brown's Boy.

When Farmer Brown's Boy was sure that Reddy was not over in the Old Orchard he once more turned to Black Pussy, who was still glaring up at the place where Chatterer had been. He looked up, too, but of course, there was no one to be seen.

"I guess you must have dreamed you saw something, Puss," said he, stooping to stroke her gently. Then he went back to his wood chopping. Chatterer watched his chance and got back to the old stone wall safely with his cheeks stuffed full of corn for Sammy Jay.

Elizabeth With Variations

By HOPE RIDER

(Associated Newspapers—WNU Service.)

AUNT BESSIE said. "No pie." She said it in a way that made me feel that pie was something outrageous. Aunt Bessie was like that. She had a way of saying things, not unkindly, nor very insistently, but definitely, so that they made you feel as if she was right and you were wrong.

It was a good pie—chocolate, with whipped cream on top. And because of what Aunt Bessie said, Jack said, with a glowering eye cocked sidewise at her, "Give me an extra large piece, Elizabeth. It's my favorite dessert." It isn't. As a matter of fact, Jack would rather have apple pie than any other. But chocolate pie fitted into my menu, so I had made it—and it's a lot of work—for this first dinner of Aunt Bessie's with us after her last trip abroad.

"Me, too, mama," said young John. "I want a double order." And that was true. Boy-like, my ten-year-old wants a double order of any pie.

Aunt Bessie looked down her nose at her grandnephew across the table from her. "I hope," she said, "you don't give the baby chocolate pie at this ungodly hour, Bessie?"

"Oh, no," I answered as easily as possible. "Betty, you know, is only three—hardly graduated into the pie class yet. She had her cereal and milk at half past five, in the approved modern fashion, and was asleep by six."

"Yet," said Aunt Bessie, "I don't know that your mother and I suffered because we were brought up in the old fashion, Bessie. We were husky enough. Of course, your mother died when you were a baby—but no kind of food could have saved her from being killed by a runaway horse. I always thought she was a reckless rider."

Well, we were off to a pleasant evening; I could see that. Jack was furious. He bit into his chocolate cream pie so hard that his teeth clicked. John looked eager. I could see that he was planning craftily to get Aunt Bessie to give him a detailed account of the awful accident that had killed my mother before I could really remember her. And I was annoyed, too. Aunt Bessie was in one of her less pleasant moods—she was calling me Bessie.

"Elizabeth," said Jack, sternly, "another piece of pie, please."

There's always been an Elizabeth in our family—in my mother's family, I mean. The name had fallen to Aunt Bessie in her generation, when Bessie was the usual form. I'd been christened Elizabeth, and had kept the name as it was. And we'd given the name to our baby, and of course called her Betty. My grandmother—the mother of my mother and Aunt Bessie—had been called Bess, and her mother had been Lizzie Holden. And there'd been a succession of Bets and Bessies and Lizzies with a Betsy in Revolutionary days—way back to the days of Elizabeth in England, when there had been a Bess Hardwick as one of the good queen's ladies in waiting. We were proud of that ancestor, of course. And it was fun to pass on her name. But I wondered, as I watched Aunt Bessie drink her cup of black coffee if the name had caused as much trouble in the past as it was causing us now.

I really loved Aunt Bessie. She'd been a darling to me always. My father had married again, and, as my stepmother had no place in her plans for a leftover daughter, I had spent my childhood in various schools. With Aunt Bessie as the bright fairy godmother who made life interesting. Summer holidays abroad or in the mountains with her—unexpected Christmas trips to Atlantic City or Bermuda—a convalescence one winter, in Florida, and a lovely winter, out of school, in California. Of course I loved her. But she was a spoiled sort of woman, nevertheless. Too much money and too little to do.

Now, after an eighteen months' trip around the world, she had come to us for a six weeks' visit. We had really looked forward to it. Jack had planned trips to the theater and dinner in town—"We can't let her think there's nothing worthwhile in this country, Elizabeth," he had said. And I had rounded up a lot of her old friends and planned to have them for cards and luncheons. Little John liked company, and had mapped out picnics to some of his favorite haunts. And Betty seemed to have got it into her head that the aunt who was coming was coming, really, to see her.

"Did you make that pie, Bessie?" asked my aunt.

"Yes."

"Haven't you a maid?"

It was an unnecessary question. Annie had been serving dinner, and very nicely, too. "Yes," I answered. "But she is not an experienced cook. So I do some of the cooking. You know, I learned how at school—at Miss Marken's. And then, I like it, and I've really become quite an expert."

"Oh," said Aunt Bessie, "I've always thought it was more important to learn to cook the plain things well, than to waste time on fancy desserts. Pie, for instance—"

Fortunately, she went to bed early. I couldn't get the conversation back to a pleasant tone. But she went to her room at nine—she's a wretched sailor and the crossing had been bad—with a cup of hot water and an electric pad and a magazine. Jack and I sat by the fire for a time, while Jack ate half a dozen soda mints. We didn't talk about Aunt Bessie—nor about pie.

After Jack had gone next morning, Aunt Bessie came downstairs. She looked rested and pleasant. But I really give the baby credit for the success of her visit—which turned out to be a great success.

I got up from my place and kissed Aunt Bessie as she came into the dining room. She likes a morning kiss. She always looks attractive in the morning, too. It's part of her routine to wear a crisp, fresh linen dress, always a soft blue, in the morning. Her laundry bills are huge, but she doesn't care. And getting her blue linen dresses laundered to her liking in the Pyrennees and the Andes, in South Africa or Arabia, in Hong Kong or Moscow, gives her something pleasant to worry about.

"Who's dat?" demanded the baby, pointing at her with a stubby cereal spoon. Betty loves blue.

"That's Aunt Bessie," I said.

"What's its name?" she asked.

"Aunt Bessie," I said.

Betty looked at her thoughtfully, appraisingly. "I yike her," she said after a while. "Dat's my name—Bessie. I want to kiss her."

"You darling," said Aunt Bessie, taking the baby into her arms. "You're my darling, adorable little namesake."

So that was that. Aunt Bessie and Betty became inseparable. Aunt Bessie would hardly leave her long enough to go to the theater and dinner parties we had arranged, and she always insisted that the baby be brought into show her friends at luncheon or cards. And she called the baby Betty, at first.

But it's strange, what's happened. We're all calling the baby Bessie now. She won't answer to Betty. "I'm Bessie," she said, seriously. "Yike my niec Aunt Bessie."

Aunt Bessie told me the other day she's written a new will and left all her money to the two children, half and half. "Of course, her mama's Betty," said my aunt. "But you don't mind, I know—I'm calling her Bessie in my will. It's sort of sweet, you know, having her want to be Bessie, like me."

Jitterbugs Are Not Nuts, They Are Lower Animals

Jitterbugs are not crazy, wrote Animal Lover Ellsworth Jaeger in Nature Magazine recently. They merely carry on ancient dance patterns which lower animals developed eons before man appeared on the earth. Jive-Justifier Jaeger described jitterbug patterns of 16 animals, ranging all the way from "thread legged bugs" to caribou. Samples:

Sometimes at dawn turkeys go "high-stepping." With lifted wings they hop, jump up and down, then spring forward. During this "Turkey Trot," the hens sing "quit, quit," while the gobblers make high-pitched rattles "like a hard wood stick scraped rapidly along a pickel fence."

At dusk, skunks often form in a circle for a dance, their noses touch, then they prance backwards into position again. This often goes on ten or twelve times with perfect rhythm until suddenly the skunks disperse, well satisfied.

Once Ellsworth saw an old male porcupine who was shuffling around, "emotionally upset." Suddenly he hunched up his back, drew his forefeet close to his body, stood on his hind legs and thumped his feet, clicking his teeth in fast tempo like castanets.

The hummingbird when in love sways back and forth like a pendulum attached to an invisible wire, in an arc of some twelve feet, and makes a sound "like a bow drawn across cello strings."

Rebuilding the Navy

The United States had no navy worth mentioning from the close of the Revolutionary war until 1794. The Barbary pirates were attacking merchant vessels in the Mediterranean, and President Washington on March 3, 1794, directed the attention of congress to the depredations of the pirates. Congress thereupon ordered the construction of six frigates of not less than 32 guns, and the President signed the act on March 27. Arrangements were made for building the Constitution, the President, the United States, the Chesapeake, the Constellation, and the Congress. The act provided that if the trouble with the pirates should cease, the construction of the vessels should be stopped. In November, 1795, a treaty ending the raids was signed with the dey of Algiers, and the work was stopped. President Washington protested and congress ordered the completion of three of the warships. One of them was the Constitution, which was launched on October 21, 1797. This ship is preserved as one of the most interesting relics of the navy.

SHOT AT RANDOM

The high pressure now has to be used by the fellow who is trying to buy something.

Friday brings the small game hunting season in the lower peninsula and it will give a lot of us cooped-up guys a chance to get out and shake off accummulated odors. And one thing certain, the fellow who gets any shooting at birds this fall is going to have to go into eastern cover, for they're mighty awful scarce around this neck of the woods. They tell me that early frosts have brought most of the foliage down, so conditions should be just right.

Glenn Rose came into the office the other night and got our list of addresses used to send papers to Charlevoix boys in the armed forces. Said he was going to start writing letters and cards to them. There's well over three hundred names on that list, so he's taken on quite a job, but between you and me, he could never do anything that would be more appreciated.

When the war is over and the government doesn't demand so many reports, what will we do with our leisure time.

SCHOOL STUDENTS AID CROPS HARVEST

Potatoes, Milkweed Floss Picked by Student Groups

Students of Charlevoix schools are lending their aid to harvest of potato and milkweed crops in this vicinity, says Supt. O. P. North.

Each day a group of seven or eight students goes out to nearby farms to pick up potatoes, transported by school bussus on their regular rounds.

About 200 milkweed floss bags have been distributed through the schools to sudents who are taking part in the harvest now in progress all over northern Michigan, Mr. North also stated.

STATE LAND SALES BEGIN OCTOBER 25

Charlevoix County Area on Sale at Petoskey, October 28

The state conservation department has announced that the third in its fall series of state-wide lands sales will be held during the week beginning October 25.

Descriptions in 11 northern lower peninsula counties will go on the block at these sales.

Areas in Missaukee and Wexford counties will be offered for sale at the sale scheduled for October 25 in Cadillac. Traverse City will be the scene of the sale on October 26 at which descriptions in Leelanau, Benzie, and Grand Traverse counties will be sold. Areas in Antrim and Kalkaska counties will be offered at Kalkaska on October 27, and in Charlevoix and Emmet counties on October 28 at Petoskey. Cheboygan county areas will be sold at Cheboygan on Octber 29, and areas in Presque Isle county will go on the block at Rogers City on Octoher 30.

-Areas which former owners have a right to redeem by matching the high bid will be offered in afternoun sales at Traverse City, Kalkaska, Petoskey, and Rogers City.

WOMEN'S ARMY CORPS RECRUITING OFFICE

Traverse City Headquarters for Northern Michigan

Recruiting headquarters for the Women's Army Corps in this region have been established in the Traverse City post office building, with Lt. Magda Carlson in charge.

Lt. Carlson is authorized to determine eligibility of applicants for enrollment in the WAC, to give the required mental aptitude test and to send applicants to Detroit for the final physical examination.

Since the Women's Army Corps has been made a part of the army, age limits have been changed to include women who have passed their 20th birthday but are not yet 50. No applicant may have a child under 14, or other dependents.

NIGHT SERVICE AT STRAITS SUSPENDED

Ferries Operate Between 6 a. m., 9 p. m., Central Standard Time

The state highway department has announced suspension of night ferry service at the Straits of Mackinac.

The last boat leaving St. Ignace and Mackinaw City in the future will leave at 9 p. m., Central War Time. Service will start daily at both ports at 6 a. m. with 1½ hour trips thereafter.

Suspension of the night boats was ordered due to extreme light travel compared to the cost of maintaining the service.

During the hunting season, 'round-the-clock ferry runs will be made at the Straits as in the past, department heads said.

Marines Returning From Raid on Japanese

Col. Harry B. Liversedge and Lieut. Col. Samuel B. Griffith, left, lead a contingent of marines ashore after a raid on enemy positions on New Georgia island. Constant pressure by Allied forces in the Pacific has pushed the Japanese from the Munda air field, Salamaua and Lae. These gains have been followed by constant raids on other enemy bases.

CHECK MUTILATION IS ASKED HALTED

Treasury Requests Cooperation of Merchants, Individuals

Chief of Police Clarence Helse has been requested by the United States secret service to warn merchants and other handlers of government card checks to avoid the practice of folding, spindling or otherwise mutilating of these checks.

The holes made by the spindling have the effect of causing the sorting and tabulating machines, which operate on the punched holes in the card, to register also on the hole caused by the spindle. Holes made by pin or staple on checks cause the same kind of difficulty in the processing operation.

Folding of checks causes the edges to be thickened beyond the capacity of the throats of the machines and causes the machines to clog. It also shortens the check so appreciably as to disturb the alignment of the holes and cause the machine to make erroneous recordings.

The cooperation of all concerned is requested by the Treasury in order to avoid mutilations. Without the use of the card checks, it would have been almost impossible for the government to make the millions of disbursements to individuals.

YOUNG MEN OF 17 ARE URGED TO JOIN NAVY

Recruiting Officer Gives Figures For Inductees, Volunteers

A total of 29,866 men joined the navy in lower Michigan during the first nine months of 1943, it was announced today by Lieut.-Comdr. Byron E. Flechtner, officer in charge of navy recruiting and induction in this area.

Of this number, 25,070 were inductees and 4,787 were volunteers, he said. The nine-month total exceeds the 26,729 men taken into the navy in lower Michigan during all of 1942.

During September, 3,943 men joined the navy in lower Michigan and of these, 3,268 were inductees and 675 volunteers.

"The fact that 650 of these 675 September navy volunteers were 17-year-olds indicates the continuing popularity of the navy with young men of this age," said Commander Flechtner. "We urge other 17-year-olds to join the navy now before they become 18 and lose the right to choose their branch of service."

PETOSKEY MAN GIVEN STATE HIGHWAY JOB

Wilson J. McDonald Is Director of Finance Division

Appointment of Wilson J. McDonald, Petoskey, as director of the finance division of the state highway department to succeed David F. Ruse, who was dismissed Monday from that post, was announced last week by State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

McDonald has been secretary-manager of the Petoskey chamber of commerce and manager of the department of state branch office in Petoskey for the past 14 years. Prior to that he had 13 years of banking and accounting experience with the Big Rapids Savings bank and the First National bank, Petoskey. Before entering the highway department employ, he took a leave of absence from the Petoskey chamber of commerce to become administrative assistant for the Milk Weed Floss division of the War Hemp Industries in Michigan.

LEAVE FEATHERS ON BIRDS, IS WARNING

Don't Destroy Identity of Game Until Delivered to Lockers

State conservation department authorities reminded hunters today not to destroy the identity of their game birds and animals when transporting them to cold storage lockers.

It is expected that this year, with the war-time meat shortage growing more acute, that more hunters than in previous years will be preserving their game kill in freezing lockers to help keep the family meat diet up during the winter months.

Although department game experts advise drawing game birds very soon after killing, the feathers should be left on until the birds are delivered to the storage plant, they warn.

MOTORISTS CAUTIONED PREPARE FOR WINTER

Early Arrangements for Service Inspections Advised

Approaching the third winter since Pearl Harbor, America's wartime motorists received a timely suggestion today from Ed Hedner, national director of service, Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors, of the vital necessity of using preventive maintenance measures to conserve parts and assure operation of their vehicles during cold weather.

The increasing scarcity of many materials, particularly copper used in starters, generators, wiring, battery cables and thermostats; rubber radiator and heater hose and other items, make it imperative, he said, for car and truck owners to have their vehicles inspected earlier than usual this year to make sure they are put in good condition for winter driving.

Motorists were cautioned to make early arrangements for service inspections and necessary repairs in order to avoid delays, due to the manpower situation, shortage of materials and wartime restrictions.

WEDDING OF JENNIE PUTIKKA AND FOREST WAGNER SEPTEMBER 25

The marriage of Miss Jennie Putikka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Putikka of Sebeka, Minn., and Pfc. Forest C. Wagner, of the army air base at Sioux Falls, S. Dak., son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wagner of Charlevoix, took place Saturday, September 25, at the First Lutheran church in Sebeka.

Rev. Glenn officiated at the ceremony, for which the traditional wedding music was played by Miss Bernice Halverson.

The bride wore a formal satin gown with lace-edged train. Petals of lace made the coronet which fastened her trailing veil, and she carried a bouquet of white gladiolli. Her matron of honor, Mrs. James Brown, wore a full-length pine green crushed velvet dress, and carried a bouquet of white roses and azaleamums. Pfc. James Brown, of Ashville, N. C., was best man.

A wedding dinner was served to the bridal party and their guests in the Shriver-Johnson tea room, following the ceremony.

Pfc. and Mrs. Wagner will reside in Sioux Falls, S. Dak., for the present.

JORDAN IS WINNER OVER CHARLEVOIX

SCORED 6 TO 0 VICTORY SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Locals Go to Harbor Springs for Final Out of Town Game of Season Next Saturday

Charlevoix high school's Red Rayder football team was defeated 6 to 0 Saturday at East Jordan in their fourth game of the season. The locals had defeated Jordan 8 to 6 in the opening contest this year.

Playing in a blinding snowstorm, neither team was able to gain much advantage during the first three periods of the contest, Jordan scored in the last two minutes of the final quarter after blocking a punt deep in Charlevoix territory. Passing to the Jordan receiver on the Rayder 2-foot line, the Crimson Wave bucked over the goal for the only touchdown of the game. Try for extra point failed.

In spite of the conditions, the Rayders played their best defensive game yet this season. Neither team could retain the wet and slippery pigskin long enough to make a decisive gain during most of the game.

Stewart Coleman, coaching in the absence of Coach Kipke, aseil Lewis and H. Olack at ends, Cross and North at tackles, Shearer and Brown at guards, D. Hardy at center. In the backfield were Zeller and Novotny at halfs, Belfy at fullback and Plum playing tailback. Chambers, who has been calling signals, was benched because of injuries received in practice.

The Rayders go to Harbor Springs this Saturday for their last out of town game of the season. Although beaten by Boyne City, 15 to 7 last Saturday, the Rams previously had inflicted a decisive 19 to 0 defeat on East Jordan, and promise the Rayders strong opposition. The remaining two games of the local schedule, following the Harbor tilt, will be played at home.

SIDNEY LOEWENSTEIN IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Summer Resident Here More Than Thirty-Five Years

Word was received Monday of the death of Sidney Loewenstein, of Chicago, a beloved summer resident of Charlevoix for more than 35 years. In ill health for almost two years, Mr. Loewenstein died Sunday.

Surviving are his wife, a son, Richard, and one grandson, Michael, all of Chicago. Funeral services were held Tuesday in Chicago.

The Loewensteins had returned to Chicago late in September, after spending the summer at their Michigan avenue cottage.

REV. J. L. NEVINS TO PREACH HERE SUNDAY

Rev. Leslie J. Nevins, of Traverse City, superintendent of the Methodist Grand Traverse district, will be guest speaker at the First Methodist church on Sunday, October 24. He will speak at the 11 a. m. service here, and at Greensky Hill Indian Mission at 3:30 p. m.

See us for your anti-freeze. Brown Motors, Inc.—Adv. 42t2.

BISHOP WHITTEMORE TO CONDUCT SERVICE

Fathers and Sons Are Invited to Episcopal Church Sunday

The Rt. Rev. Lewis Bliss Whittemore, of Grand Rapids, bishop of the diocese of western Michigan, will confirm three candidates at Christ Episcopal church on Sunday, October 24, at 5 p. m.

The candidates are Mrs. Robert Asidon, Robert Carey and William Carey. They will be presented to the bishop by Rev. Arthur G-T Courteau, the priest-in-charge of Christ church.

Fathers and sons of Charlevoix are invited to be present at this service, as Bishop Whittemore's sermon will deal with the father-son relationship and its significance in the world today. Men of Charlevoix who have no sons are urged to act as "father-substitutes" to boys who have no fathers. Sylvester Vaughan, 400 Prospect street, lay-reader, is in charge of arrangements.

REGISTER FOR RATION BOOKS

DISTRIBUTION FOUR DAYS AT HIGH SCHOOL

Copy of Third Ration Book Must Be Presented for Each Issue Of Book Four Wanted

Distribution of war ration book four will take place four days next week in the commercial room of Charlevoix high school, from 4 to 8 p. m., beginning on Tuesday, October 26, and continuing through Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Registration will be continued Saturday, October 30, from 2 to 5 p. m. for those living outside this school district.

Application blanks will be distributed through school children to those homes having children in school. Blanks will also be available at the place of registration.

It is necessary that an application be made out by each family for their own family group. Much unnecessary confusion will be prevented, and time saved, if these applications are filled in before reporting for registration.

A copy of war ration book 3 must be presented for each copy of book four for which application is made. That is, books must be brought to the registration place when applying for the fourth book.

Residents of Hayyard, Loeb, Phelps, Hilton and other nearby school districts will register at Charlevoix. Members of the Charlevoix school faculty will be in charge.

LOCAL MEN RECEIVE PURPLE HEART

WOUNDED IN NEW GUINEA NOVEMBER, 1942

Oldest Military Decoration Is Awarded to Son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pap, Sr.

Cpl. Frank Pap, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pap, has been awarded the Purple Heart medal, given men who have been wounded in action with the American armed forces.

Seriously wounded in New Guinea in November, 1942, Cpl. Pap was decorated only recently, and has sent the medal home to his parents. No details of their son's injury have been obtained by Mr. and Mrs. Pap.

Cpl. Pap, 27, attended Charlevoix schools and was inducted into the army in April, 1941. He went overseas with the famed "Red Arrow" division in April, 1942, and was in action in that division's New Guinea campaign until he was wounded. In March he was discharged from the hospital, and is now in Australia.

The Order of the Purple Heart, now awarded to men who have been wounded, or posthumously to those who died in battle, is America's oldest decoration. It was originally established in 1782 by General George Washington and awarded his Revolutionary War heroes. The medal is a gold-bordered heart, with gold bust of Washington on a purple background.

GIFT DEADLINE FOR NAVY IS NOVEMBER 1

Parcels to Men Starting Abroad Sent Until December 10

While the deadline for sending unsolicited Christmas gifts to army personnel overseas was passed last Friday, gifts for navy, coast guard and marine corps men may be sent until November 1.

Friends and relatives of soldiers in staging areas, preparing to go overseas, have until December 10 to send unsolicited gifts to overseas posts. Those who take advantage of the extension of time must show a war department postal or other evidence that the soldier did not go overseas until September 30 or after. Others who wish to send gifts to soldiers already overseas must produce a request from the addressee.

CONFISCATED NETS ARE USED BY ARMY

Employed In Camouflage Training by Troops in Detroit

Commercial fishermen whose nets were confiscated by the state conservation department and turned over to the army would never recognize their fishnets now.

The conservation department has learned that the nets have found a new use in the army, which obtained them from the conservation department without cost. Troops of the Sixth Service command in Detroit are now using the nets for camouflage training.

NEW REGULATION FOR OVERSEAS ARMY MAIL

Return Letters and Publications Not Correctly Addressed

All mail for soldiers overseas which is improperly or incompletely addressed will be returned to the sender, under a post office department ruling effective this month.

First class mail and second class publications received at ports of embarkation will be returned without directory service being given. Mail addressed to overseas army personnel must show, in addition to name and address of sender, the soldier's name, rank, army serial number, branch of service, organization, APO number and post office through which the mail is to be routed.

SUPERVISORS END OCTOBER SESSION

MEETING ADJOURNS MONDAY AT COURT HOUSE

Customary Appropriations Made; Budget of $80,545.50 Is Adopted for 1944

Completing their 75th annual October session in seven working days, the Charlevoix county board of supervisors adjourned Monday afternoon.

A budget of $80,545.50, requiring 9 mills tax for county purposes was adopted. The budget figure is slightly less than $80,662.73 adopted last year.

Harry A. Craig, of Charlevoix, was re-appointed a member of the county welfare commission for three years.

Officers salaries were left unchanged. An increase of $100 over the present sum was voted for clerk hire in offices of the county treasurer and register of deeds, raising the deputies' salaries to $1,100 annually.

Request for appropriation of $1,500 for the National War Fund was not voted by the board.

Reports of William C. Palmer, county school commissioner, and B. C. Mellenemp, county agricultural agent, were heard. General reports of county officials, however, will not be made until the first meeting after January 1, 1944, according to a recent act of the state legislature.

The matter of giving operation of the Ironton ferry to the county road commission, under consideration for several months, was debated. A communication from the road commission was read, stating that they would accept the

CPL. RAYMOND NOWLAND IS GUADALCANAL VETERAN

Second Member of Family to Be Honored with Decoration for War Wounds

Second Charlevoix man to be decorated with the Order of the Purple Heart is Cpl. Raymond J. Nowland, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Nowland.

Veteran of the battle of Guadalcanal, Cpl. Nowland is a member of the First Marine Raider battalion and one of the first marines to land on that island when it was seized from the Japs by American forces in August, 1942.

Cpl. Nowland was wounded in action on Guadalcanal, although the nature of his wounds has never been learned. Since his return, he has seen action in many locations in the south Pacific.

Graduating from Charlevoix high school in 1938, Cpl. Nowland enlisted in the marine corps in January, 1942, and has been overseas since July, 1942.

He is the second of his family to receive the medal, as his uncle, M. Claire Nowland, of Detroit, was awarded the decoration in 1939 for wounds received in action during the first World War. His parents, while maintaining their home in Charlevoix, are at present residing in Traverse City.

KIWANIS HALLOWEEN PARTY OCTOBER 29

Free Movies for Students of City and Rural Schools

The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club has formulated plans for its 7th annual Halloween party for children, a plan instituted to provide entertainment in place of the customary seasonal pranks.

Friday afternoon, October 29, a free movie will be given at the Palace Theatre at 3 o'clock through cooperation of Mrs. Elizabeth Moon, for children of Charlevoix public and parochial and adjacent rural schools, up to and including the fifth grade. In the evening at 7:15 o'clock the movie will be presented free to students from the sixth grade up.

A Kiwanis committee composed of C. M. Bice, F. R. Bulow and Harry E. Bingham, visited schools Tuesday to extend an invitation to the students to attend the entertainment. Signatures of students are to be obtained on pledge sheets, and tickets issued preceding the free movie.

STUDENTS AT ST. JAMES END MILKWEED PICKING

First Victory Project Completed by Island Schools

Milkweed pod picking ended last Thursday on Beaver Island, when students of St. James school shipped 235 bags of pods to Charlevoix.

Introduced Sept. 29 by R. C. Mellencamp, county agricultural agent, and K. C. Festerling, 4-H Club agent, pod picking was the first victory project of the year to be completed by the students.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEET AT PETOSKEY

School of Instruction Given at Elks Temple Friday Night

A school of instruction for members of the American Legion Auxiliary, lower 11th district, was given Friday night at the Elks temple in Petoskey.

Mrs. Charles Henika, of Petoskey, was in charge. Among guests were Mrs. Robert E. Lee, Flint, department president; Mrs. John C. Maxon, Davison, department child welfare officer; Miss Bertha Proestel, Detroit, department secretary; Mrs. Carl Murphy, Mancelona, district president; Mrs. Emma Lund, Cheboygan, district membership chairman.

Mrs. Mollie Smith, of Charlevoix, was appointed district legislative chairman. Attending from this city were Mrs. H. C. Wilson, Mrs. Harry Walstad, Mrs. Charles Reinhart, Mrs. Allen Ulrich.

NO HALF-HOLIDAY FOR BUSINESSMEN

MERCHANTS FAIL TO REACH UNANIMOUS DECISION

Wednesday Afternoon Closing Is Asked by Board of Commerce; Plan Rejected by Few

At the request of several Charlevoix retail merchants, a survey was made among retail merchants and service people to determine whether it would be advisable to close all business places in Charlevoix a half-day a week, Wednesday afternoon being suggested.

Reasons given for wanting a half-holiday were a small vacation after the summer's work, help shortages, and lack of goods to be sold. Of the 30 merchants contacted, 23 were in favor of taking Wednesday afternoon off, three thought is unwise but would close if all other establishments closed, and four would not close.

From this information, it does not seem feasible for the board of commerce to sponsor a half-day closing. Four Petoskey stores closed last Wednesday afternoon, and an effort is being made to have all stores in that city closed a half-day.

It has been suggested that a better time to begin closing Wednesday afternoons would be after January 1. However, since it appears that Charlevoix is gaining trade from smaller communities in the county and Antrim county, some merchants deem it inadvisable to close at all.

OCTOBER COURT TERM TO CONVENE MONDAY

Judge Parm C. Gilbert Presides; Docket Is Light

A light docket is listed for the October term of circuit court, convening next Monday before Judge Parm C. Gilbert, of Traverse City.

Cases listed include one criminal, five issues of fact and law, one chancery, and seven divorce actions.

Judge Gilbert, who was unable to preside at the August term because of illness, has recovered and has resumed his judicial duties.

NATIONAL WAR FUND CAMPAIGN

FIGHTING MEN, DESTITUTE NATIONS, TO BENEFIT

Drive for $10,000 in Charlevoix County Starts October 26; City's Goal $2,768

Funds for 17 war-related relief agencies will be raised during late October and November in the National War Fund drive. Goal of the campaign is set at $125,000,000, of which Michigan's share is $5,749,425.

The drive starts next Tuesday, October 26, in Charlevoix county. Quota assigned the county is $10,000, divided as follows:

Charlevoix city and township, $2,768; Boyne City, $1,891; East Jordan, $1,245; townships—Bay, $227; Boyne Valley, $477; Chandler, $69; Evangeline, $599; Eveline, $421; Hayes, $522; Hudson, $128; Marion, $347; Norwood, $258; Penine, $106; St. James, $187; South Arm, $435; Wilson, $320.

War fund officials representing northern counties of the lower peninsula will hold a pre-campaign rally at the Park Place hotel in Traverse City, Thursday of this week. Principal speaker will be Rev. Orlando Ingvolstad, director of Norwegian Relief, Inc.

Through one gift to the National War Fund, men and women everywhere can help to repay a debt of gratitude to men in service, and help destitute people among all the United Nations. While almost half of the huge sum goes to United Service Organizations to provide morale-sustaining facilities for American fighting men, millions of dollars will be divided among the United Seamen's Services, British War Relief Society, United China Relief, Queen Wilhelmina Fund, Greek War Relief Association, Polish War Relief, Russian War Relief, United Yugoslav Relief Fund, United Czechoslovak Relief Fund, War Prisoners Aid, U. S. Committee for Care of European Children, French War Relief Fund, Norwegian Relief, Belgian War Relief Society, Refugee Relief Trustees, and Friends of Luxembourg.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

I heard a fellow remark not so long ago that he had to pay more for two false teeth than the doctor charged for a couple of live children. Well, life's like that!

Monday morning you could look east across Lake Charlevoix and see hills covered white with snow beyond Boyne City. That was the result of the week end storm, this region's first real taste of winter. It was a blinger while it lasted. In the snow belt from Cadillac north to Mancelona, the fall was heavy. Happened that myself and family drove through it for two hours Sunday night. Besides the snow falling so thick you couldn't see a car's length ahead, there was easily seven or eight inches on M-66 from Mancelona north after this highway had previously been plowed. Charlevoix, tempered by Lake Michigan, escaped the heavy snowfall, for we ran out of it completely between East Jordan and home.

When a radio commentator said the other day that the right flank of the German line was sagging, Two-ton Tessie from Toenail Hill, said she knew exactly what that meant, for these new rubberless Victory girdles made her feel the same way.

Amid a scarcity of hunting news due, no doubt, to the nasty week end weather keeping a lot of the fellows to home, comes the startling announcement that George Haggard bagged himself a nice cock pheasant the opening day, and near Charlevoix, at that. Under ordinary circumstances such an incident would be of only passing notice, but for my part, I didn't know there was a pheasant within miles of here. Frank Poole says he's done a lot of missin' himself, and otherwise guess the weather kept most of the boys under cover. Had some nice pheasant hunting south of Grand Rapids myself and am itching to get at the "pats" next week end.

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Hi Ken,

I've been going to write you, but I've been so busy I haven't found the time 'till tonight. I have to go on guard duty at midnight tonight so I have a few minutes now, I should be resting but I'll write instead. Boy! This is the life, even though they do wake us up at 5:15 in the morning. We drill all morning and then usually get lectures in the afternoons.

I will break boot this week but you can keep sending the paper to this address until I get a new one.

We really have tough training here. Our instructors are marines and we receive commando training and landing tactics.

We went thru the gas chamber yesterday and that really is a honey. I can't see very well yet, so don't be surprised if I write kind of screwy.

There isn't much that I am allowed to tell about our training because we are restricted as to how much we can tell, so I'll close for now. I thank you and everyone who makes it possible for us boys to get the home town paper. It really keeps your morale up and if you don't think it does, you should see the boys here flock around the mailman when the home town papers and mail comes through. I'll take time also to tell all mothers at home not to worry about their boys in service because they receive the very best of care in this camp and I'm positive that it is the same way in every other camp in the country. All I ask, and I think every other fellow thinks the same as I do, if you keep sending the equipment for us to use we'll keep those little yellow rats retreating all the way back to Tokio. Sooner or later we are all going to get a crack at the Axis. The best and most direct way for the folks at home to do their best is by buying more bonds.

Your friend,
Bob

BOILING WATER BEST SPUD BATH

Potatoes—22 million bushels of them, come out of Michigan fields this fall to make Michigan housewives brush up on just what method makes the best way to boil potatoes.

There's only one best method, home economics extension specialists at Michigan State College explain.

For one pointer, potatoes actually contain food treasures if they are cooked properly. Nutrients include much needed supplies of vitamin C. Then there is a high calory content, plus calcium, protein, phosphorus, iron, thiamin, riboflavin and vitamin A.

Don't soak before cooking, the specialists warn.

Scrub the potatoes and drop them into a kettle of boiling salted water, enough to barely cover the potatoes.

Cook until tender, then drain at once to prevent water-logging. Serve in their jackets or peel.

Michigan farmers responded to an appeal for greater potato production with an increased acreage and an apparently high yield per acre from better seed and better protection from disease and insects. Instead of 130,000 acres harvested in 1942, the present harvest is estimated at 220,000 acres, with an average yield of 100 bushels an acre.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"You were absolutely correct in making the statement you did, George...not a drop of whiskey has been distilled in this country in over a year."

"That's what I told the boys down at the lodge, Judge, but they were so surprised I thought maybe I was wrong."

"No you weren't, George. The truth of the matter is that a year before Pearl Harbor, the beverage distilling industry voluntarily offered its facilities to the government. Many companies started to produce alcohol for war purposes almost immediately. And just as soon as the government's requirements increased, the distilling facilities of the entire industry were converted 100% to the production of war-alcohol and nothing else. As a matter of fact, the beverage distilling industry is producing about half of the government's needs for this vital war material. And that's a 24 hour a day, 7 day a week job, George."

"I'm glad I told you about my talk with Sam, Judge. You've given me a lot more facts on that subject."

Your Car's Life Can Be

STRETCHED FIFTY PERCENT

The engineers who build America's automobiles say proper care can stretch car life fifty percent. Yes, ten simple rules will do the job. And high on their list is the choice of suitable winter motor oils and greases. Proper lubrication, these experts explain, reduces friction, avoids unnecessary engine wear, makes cars start and run easier. Knowing this, millions of motorists prefer high-quality Mobiloil, the world's largest-selling motor oil.

Mobiloil Arctic gives exceptional lubrication, guarding every vital engine surface with a tough, protective film of all times -- even during cold starts and fast warm-ups. Mobiloil is refined for extra purity, too, and thus resists dangerous carbon and sludge formation. Such impurities can gum up your engine, make it harder to start and run -- and even do a lot of damage. So, for the safe, dependable winter lubrication you need to make your car last, ask for Mobiloil Arctic.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON
From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley

An Over-Ambitious Frankfurter!

A very interesting battle behind the scenes is now underway here in Washington. It centers around the desire of Justice Felix Frankfurter, and his associates running the New Deal, to secure absolute control over the Supreme Court of the United States through the election of Justice Robert H. Jackson, former Attorney General, as Chief Justice to succeed the present Chief Justice Harlan Fiske Stone, who will reach 70 years—the voluntary retirement age—at about the expiration of this present term of court.

Justice Frankfurter has always been one of the most powerful influences behind the scenes of the "ultra-liberal movement" even before the New Deal was elected into office. Formerly a professor in the Harvard university law school, from which President Roosevelt graduated, Justice Frankfurter's selected proteges have invariably occupied positions of relatively high importance in every branch of the New Deal here in Washington. The only important government body that they have never completely controlled has been the Supreme Court, which passes upon the constitutionality of legislation enacted by the congress and is after all the highest court to which anyone in this nation can go for the dissemination of justice.

Standing in opposition to the ambitions of Justices Frankfurter and Jackson, are Justices Hugo Black, William O. Douglas, Frank Murphy, and Wiley Rutledge, each of whom was elevated to the bench by President Roosevelt, but each has his own personal reasons for his opposition. For instance, Justice Black resents Frankfurter's frequent scrapping of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights in his endorsement of New Deal dictator schemes. Justice Murphy blames Black for blocking his ambition to become Secretary of War and it has now become known that President Roosevelt intended to replace Secretary Stimson by Mr. Murphy after Pearl Harbor. Justice Frankfurter, however, blocked the appointment because he felt he could no longer control the policies of the war department if Murphy were in the driver's seat. At that time Murphy was attorney general and he blames Frankfurter for kicking him upstairs to the Supreme Court. Douglas would have liked very much to head up the war effort on the home front and he blames Frankfurter for prefering others such as Mr. Nelson and Judge Byrnes, who are more amenable to suggestions from him. Rutledge is sore because Frankfurter has claimed responsibility for his elevation to the bench, whereas he learned that actually Frankfurter preferred another gentleman for the same seat.

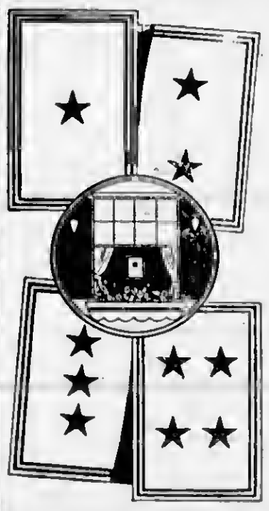
Supporting Frankfurter's candidacy of Jackson are only Justices Stanley Reed and Jackson. It is assumed, of course, that Frankfurter has the support of the White House, but the election of the Chief Justice, theoretically at least, rests with his fellow members and, therefore, the balance of present Chief Justice Stone and Justice Owen J. Roberts, both Republican. Roberts, however, cannot be regarded as being in disfavor with the White House when it is recalled that it was he who headed up the White House investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster. The outcome will be interesting and of great importance.

Legislative Inactivity

Some criticism is being levelled at Congress for its relative inactivity since its return to Washington Sept. 14th. Undoubtedly that criticism is justified and is not in keeping with the desires of many members who are thoroughly disgusted. We "heard from our constituents" when we were home this summer and many of us returned with an ambition to get things done. However, no legislation reaches the floor of either House of Congress until it has been carefully considered in committees. That is where most of our work is done. The chairman and the majority of the membership of a committee rests with the party in power. Legislation, therefore, cannot be studied in committee nor can it be reported to the House for action unless the majority will permit such legislation to be considered. The responsibility, therefore, for the legislative inactivity of the Congress rests solely upon the party in power in both the House and Senate, which in many instances is still being dictated to in no uncertain terms by the White House.

The next important bill to come before us will be the extension of the Commodity Credit Corporation. It is gratifying to learn as I prepare this news letter that the House committee on banking and currency has overwhelmingly—by a vote of 23 to 2—completely rejected the White House proposal, supported by the Labor Unions, to appropriate an additional one-half billion dollars to roll back food prices and to provide so-called subsidies for farmers. The only recipient of such largess—manna from heaven—are the distributors, wholsalers and retailers of food products; not a cent gets back to the farmers and the real loser is everyone, of all classes, who foots the tax bill for Uncle Sam. And it should be noted that this proposal is only provided so the camel can get his nose under the tent, because the ultimate cost of any roll back or subsidy scheme will be not less than five billion dollars, which is far more than the annual cost of running our entire government prior to the New Deal.

FREE SERVICE STAR CARDS
FOR THE FAMILIES OF SERVICE MEN



This Service Star window card should be seen in every home in America that is represented by a father, husband, son or brother in the Armed Forces of the United States. It emphasizes America's pride in those who are serving our country in time of war.

BLUE, SILVER OR GOLD

The Blue Star indicates service in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps within the boundaries of the United States.

The Silver Star denotes service outside the continental United States, either on the high seas, in the United States possessions, or on foreign soil.

The Gold Star is America's tribute to those who make the supreme sacrifice under the Stars and Stripes in time of war.

• • •

You are entitled to display the proper star for each member of your family serving in the Armed Forces of the United States of America. For example, if you are the parent of one boy in camp in the U.S.A., you are entitled to one Blue Star. If you have two sons in service—one in the U.S.A. and one outside the U.S.A.—you are entitled to a Service Star card bearing one Blue Star and one Silver Star.

HOT HAY MOW IS FIRE HAZARD

Spontaneous Ignition May Cause Large Losses.

By W. C. KRUEGER

(Extension Agricultural Engineer, New Jersey College of Agriculture, Rutgers' University.)

United States farms suffer a loss of more than $15,000,000 annually from the spontaneous ignition of hay in barns. Foresighted farmers can take several steps to guard against this menace, and one of the most important is to inspect their mows frequently during the two to six-week period immediately following storage—the most critical period for fires.

Legume hay, such as alfalfa, the clovers, and soybeans, is particularly susceptible, although the firing of other hay materials stored chopped or unchopped is not uncommon.

The wetting of hay due to leaky roofs or through open doors or windows and the slower heating of especially dense and green material may result in dangerous heating months after crop placement.

The temperature in hay mows may be determined quickly and easily by means of a homemade thermometer probe. This consists of a small diameter pole, preferably round, having a thermometer fitted in a groove just above the sharpened end. Since probe holes left in the hay may conduct air to hot spots and encourage combustion, as few holes as possible should be made and these should be plugged with a similar sized stick between readings. The plugs serve as markers for subsequent readings in the same location.

Temperatures under 150 degrees Fahrenheit may be considered safe but above this point the hay should be inspected frequently, since dangerous situations may develop. Temperatures above 175 degrees are definitely critical. Fire Department standby service should be arranged, and when temperatures approach 190 degrees it is time to consider removing the hay from the barn. It is well first to remove all tools, implements, and livestock, however, since the action of removing hay and admitting oxygen to hot spots may result in ignition and flash fires.

Disinfectants Help Cure Calves With Foot Rot

Calves often get infected with foot rot when they are allowed to run in yards that are low, dirty and muddy. This is an infectious disease which usually starts in a crack between the toes.

Lameness is the first symptom. The foot swells and the flesh at the base of the hoof and between the toes becomes very sensitive. The infected foot should be washed with a tincture of iodine and bandaged to keep it clean. It is sometimes necessary to soak the foot twice a day in a disinfectant solution and to trim away the diseased or infected tissue. The calf should be kept in a clean, dry place until all signs of the disease have disappeared.

To prevent the occurrence of this infection, keep yards and lots clean and well drained. If a low, wide box of lime is placed so the calves will have to walk through it in going to and from the barn, it will aid in preventing this trouble.

Japanese Beetle Traps Chiefly for 'Scouting'

Traps for Japanese beetles, now widely utilized by federal entomologists, are not intended primarily as beetle destroyers. These traps are for "scouting." They are baited with a mixture of chemicals that attract beetles from a distance, and are set to give information as to the presence or absence of beetles in the neighborhood.

The bureau of entomology and plant quarantine does not recommend beetle trapping as desirable for individuals. The bait is likely to attract beetles from a considerable area, but many of these beetles may not enter the trap, with the result that the lawn or garden near the trap may have more beetles than it would without a trap—although neighbors at a distance may have fewer. To be effective, trapping should be systematic and on a community basis, covering a square mile or more—and the larger the area the better.

Stomach Worms

To treat sheep for stomach worms, the North Carolina State College Extension service recommends drenching them with the following solution: Dissolve four ounces of copper sulphate (blue stone) in one pint of boiling water, then add enough water to make a total of three gallons. Next add three ounces of a 40 per cent solution of nicotine sulphate (Black Leaf 40). The three gallons make enough to dose 100 mature sheep.

POTATO AND APPLE SHOW NOVEMBER 2-4

Farmers of Thirty-One Northern Counties to Participate

The eighth annual Northern Michigan Potato and Apple show will be held at Petoskey, November 2-4, according to B. C. Mellencamp, county agricultural agent.

Premium lists have already been distributed throughout 31 northern counties, says Robert S. Lincoln, Emmet county agricultural agent, secretary of the show. Many classes are offered in competition for potato and apple growers, Future Farmers of American and 4-H Club classes. Special classes are offered for growers of clover seed, and for schools, as well as a poster contest for school students.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

Ned Buxton was home on furlough last week. And you ought to see the fuss the town made over him. Seems like almost everybody wanted to give a party, or a testimonial dinner, or stage something special in the way of celebration.

Of course, Ned acted grateful. But he told me later, all he really wanted was to sit down with a few old friends, enjoy a glass of beer or two, and talk about old times again.

I guess that's how many soldiers feel. They don't want a lot of fuss made over them, with formal celebrating and such.

What they really like are the simple pleasures—one of Mom's home-cooked meals, visiting with friends over a glass of beer—enjoying things that mean home and comfort and security.

From where I sit, our biggest job, apart from helping win the war, is making sure those things are waiting for our men when they come back home for good.

AGRICULTURE IN INDUSTRY

By Florence C. Weed

(This is one of a series of articles showing how farm products are finding an important market in industry.)

Irish Potatoes

The lowly "spud" takes many forms besides being mashed, boiled and fried. In Maine alone, an average of 3,000,000 bushels go into starch. Most of this is used for sizing the fine count warp threads in the cotton textile industry. In 1934, a peak of 5,319,000 bushels were used for starch.

Much of the high grade edible starch was imported before the recent war and new factories are being built in this country to improve the quality of the American product. There is no doubt but that the present chaotic conditions of the world have helped the United States to become more self-sufficient. In the calico printing industry, our domestic starch is now being used in place of a foreign import. One plant in the United States is making nitro-starch, an explosive which is made extensively in Europe.

In Maine, experiments are under way to use the potato in making plastic compounds. So far the idea is still in the laboratory stage but chemists believe that the potato may have a future in this field. Such an outlet would use profitably the culls and second grade potatoes which are usually wasted.

Another use of the potato, so far not tried here, is the making of fuel alcohol as a substitute for gasoline and kerosene. It was developed first in Germany.

No crop produces as much food per acre as the prolific potato plant where yields of 200 to 300 bushels are common. The leading potato growing sections are Aroostock county, Maine; Long Island, New York; the Eastern Shore of Virginia, Red River Valley of Minnesota and southern Idaho. Maine produces about one-seventh of the 345,000,000 bushel crop annually.

Poultry Ration

Any of the common grains may be used with good results in the poultry ration so long as the mixture contains at least three different grains. This makes it possible to substitute cheaper grains when some of them are too high in price. The thing to remember is that oats are an important part of the ration for chickens of all ages, and that where yellow corn is not used, it is necessary to supply additional vitamin A in alfalfa or cod liver oil.

A standard non-portable typewriter contains enough aluminum for 22 magnesium incendiary bombs, enough rubber for a pair of rubber boots for the army.

Army engineers are surveying navigable rivers in the middle west to locate sunken wrecks that may have metals and other materials for the scrap drive.

FALL SCRAP DRIVE STARTS NEXT WEEK

Continual Home Salvage Program Urged by County Chairman

"War plants, salvaging their waste materials, have learned lessons that home-makers might well follow", says Harold S. Lees, chairman of the Charlevoix county salvage committee and director of the fall scrap drive which starts Monday, October 25.

Methodical systems of segregating and salvaging materials are followed in the country's leading industrial plants. Bell Telephone system is returning as much copper to the nation's stockpile each year as it withdraws. Douglas Aircraft Co., by sifting its fleer siftings, reclaims 118 million rivets a year, enough for 400 bombers. The Erie Railroad reclaims 75,000 pieces of pipe and old flues used in engine boilers. Thompson Aircraft Products extracts cutting oils from steel chips, reclaiming not only the oil but permitting 7 million pounds of turnings to be sold in a single month.

By adopting such a systematic salvage plan in homes, housewives could contribute steel scrap, tin cans, used kitchen fats, waste paper, rags and other strategic war materials on a continual basis.

"Every bit of unused scrap metal should go to war", said Mr. Lees. "It should be gathered together, ready for the collection trucks. We must comb our attics, basements, and yards once more. There's scrap to be had, and our steel mills need it. We must insure that no steel mill will go down this winter for lack of scrap.

"The worst feeling a soldier can have is to know there is insufficient equipment behind his efforts. Production at home must keep stride with increased military action. This war isn't won yet. It can still be lost if we relax on the home front".

GENEVIEVE BROCK, FLOYD FALTING ARE MARRIED IN DETROIT

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tornga, of Ellsworth, announce the marriage of their daughter, Genevieve Arlene Brock, to Floyd F. Falting, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Falting of Charlevoix.

The wedding took place Saturday afternoon, October 16, at 2 o'clock in the Methodist chapel on East Grand boulevard, Rev. John W. Yeoman officiating.

The couple will make their home in Detroit, where Mr. Falting is employed by the Packard Motor Co. The groom is a graduate of Charlevoix high school, class of 1939.

ARMY LETTERS

Hi Ken,

I have finally found time to write you a line again, and let you know I receive the Courier every week. I am enjoying it more each time. I keep watching in it to find out if any other fellows from home are stationed near me, but so far I haven't found one.

Once more I have the pleasure to spend my winter in Florida. I am stationed here at Drew field, near Tampa. It's pretty nice here, lots of sunshine and it gets pretty hot. It may be a nice place to spend your winters but I will take the good old north way day. Heck, some of the kids down here have never even seen any snow.

I am down here in a new squadron that has just been formed, so it's pretty nice. I am doing a lot of work with a 16 mm. camera. I'd like to show you some of my pictures but I am lucky if I get to see them more than once myself. They don't take any chances.

The lights are about to go out so I'll sign off for now. Thanks lends for the paper. Please send it to my new adress.

As ever,
Louis McKenzie

Dear Ken,

I just finished reading the paper and thought I would write and thank you and the surviving population of Charlevoix for it. I receive the paper every Sunday, and so far the last three I've received have been on maneuvers. Next week's will also be out on maneuvers.

Today is a rest day, so far we've had a wonderful day. Rifle inspection, our area cleaned up and our tents in neat condition. You can see we have a nice rest period up to this point.

One of the toughest problems here is the water to bathe with. It is about three miles to a creek where we went Thursday on a problem. So later, several of the dogfaces will take off across country for a nice refreshing creek—we hope.

I never realized that I'd wish for those G. I. bunks as much as I do now. They sure will be soft and fluffy after what we have slept on for the last couple of weeks. And the rations—between C and K rations we survive, but we only get them once a day. The other two meals are hot.

I guess I'll close and remain a dogface.

As always,
Ralph

Dear Ken,

I just received my first copy of the Courier since arriving at Camp Lejeune and find that my address is a little different than I gave you while in Charlevoix. I would like to have you make the correction before I miss a much looked forward to copy of the hometown paper.

I am in school again. This time operating amphibious tanks and tractors. We can do everything but fly and sometimes we do that for a short distance.

I would like to take this opportunity to say hello to all my friends both in and out of the service, and hope that we will all be able to get back to Charlevoix again in the near future.

As ever,
Bill.

2nd Lt. William J. Foster
Amphibious Base Bn.

P. S.—Ken, don't print this with the misspelled words. I didn't have time to check.

(Bill, we'll correct any misspelled words for you and all the other fellows, too, so come on and write, we want to hear from you all.)

Hi, Ken,

Well, here's to you a good toast if I were there in your presence. First of all, as the story goes, where I am the soldiers are not allowed to discuss anything about what we do or even where we are now in any letter we write home.

I could write a whole book on what I've seen and heard, but I guess I'll wait 'till after the war is over and I come home again. I've really had some thrilling and most interesting times.

I'm now serving army duty overseas, northwest Pacific, and I'm not kiddin' a pound when I say it's pretty cold at this time of the year. There's a good many soldiers here like me—we really disagree with the weather.

One undesant feature is that there isn't a single girl around here and it's a cinch that the soldiers here do crave the sight of a girl.

About the Courier, I haven't gotten it for a long while and I'm wondering if it can be sent to me. I had been getting it regularly back at Seattle. I hope I may get it again, as I got a great deal of pleasure from reading it.

Well, so long, good luck.
Pvt. Enos Wusagashik.

Dear Ken,

Just a few lines to let you know my change of address and station. I am now with a parachute infantry regiment and although the training is tough, I like it fine. Every morning before breakfast we run for a short distance—five miles, more or less, mostly more. All of us P. F. D.'s (privates for the duration) swear it is twice that distance when we get back.

The rest of the day we amuse ourselves with calisthenics, tumbling, and 101 other contortionist's tricks.

If the brass hats are right, we jump in November sometime, and then a furlough—I hope.

Georgia has a lovely climate, but I sure would like to feel that cool breeze off Lake Michigan once more.

So long and here's hoping to hear from you via the Courier again; and thanks for sending it gratis.

Yours truly,
Frank.

Pvt. Frank DeJong
Co. A., 1st Bn., 542 Parachute, Inf. 7
Fort Benning, Ga.

Hi, Ken,

Here I go again trying to make excuses for not writing you a few lines and letting you know my new address. But to tell you the truth, I have been waiting to see if I would acquire a newer one still, for we are only based in this unit temporarily.

We are to be sent out to different squadrons as they need men, that's my main reason for not writing before this, but seeing as how I have been in this outfit this long I am taking a chance on sending you my address.

The next reason is that we don't have much time off, and on the day we do have off I always have a million things to do.

About a week ago I received three copies of the Courier, for three weeks in August. It was the first I had received since leaving the states, and if you ever saw a happier fellow than I was over three papers, I want to see him. They really mean a lot when you are way over here and know it will be a long time before you get home again.

I believe I read every item in the paper, even to the ads on how much groceries are costing these days, so you can see I was darn hard up for news from the old home town to read them.

Would like to be able to tell you about some of the things I have seen since I left the states, but it's no go, for even the weather is considered a military secret.

I know this much—I am not very far from Bob Hess and I hope some day to be able to see him.

I want to take this time to thank you and the people who make it possible for me to receive the Courier, for I know more than ever now what it's like to receive word about what is going on in your home town.

I hope all my pals get the copy that this letter appears in and that they would drop me a few lines. I would like to hear from them and find out how they are getting along.

Will you please publish my address so they will know where to write to me, even if I am no longer attached to this unit my mail will catch up with me some time in the future.

It's getting late and I have to get up early, so I'll say "so long" for now and hit my sack.

Just a letter from a home town boy who is beginning to wonder if he has a home town because he hasn't seen it in so long,

J. Gilbert Pewers, AMM3c.

Sorry that newspaper censorship regulations prohibit our publishing Gilbert's address, but we will be glad to give it to any of his friends who want to write to him. Just send us a letter or postcard.

Why VICKS VAPORUB Is So Good

For Relieving Miseries of

Childrens Colds

More than two generations ago—in grandmother's day—mothers first discovered Vicks VapoRub. Today it is the most widely used home-remedy for relieving miseries of children's colds. And here is the reason . . .

The moment you rub VapoRub on the throat, chest and back at bedtime it starts to work two ways at once—and keeps on working for hours—to ease coughing spasms, help clear congestion in cold-clogged upper breathing passages, relieve muscular soreness or tightness. It promotes restful sleep. Often most of the misery of the cold is gone by morning! That's why VapoRub is so good to use when colds strike. Try it!

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

"I was at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941".

Joe James Custer, war correspondent of the United Press, was speaking. His audience was Michigan newspaper editors, assembled at Ann Arbor.

"We had been told Pearl Harbor could not be successfully attacked. It was impossible to do so. I was a sports editor for an American newspaper for many years, and on Saturday, Dec. 6, I attended a football game at Honolulu. There was a radio broadcast during the game, and little did we know that the Japanese were listening to the broadcast, knowing that any interruption might indicate an awareness by the military of their sneak approach.

"Why did they strike Dec. 7? It was the morning after a college football game and an evening celebration. The Japs knew that Sunday morning would catch us at our lowest point of vigilance. The time was selected with this in mind".

Norman Lodge, Associated Press war correspondent, has seen war in the raw.

Speaking bluntly, almost heartlessly as he portrayed the reality of fighting conditions in the South Pacific, Lodge reminded the Michigan editors that he had served in France during World War I. He had been on a ship, blown up by a mine in the English channel. He had been in London during the 130 days of aerial bombardment. He wore the Croix de Guerre and the Purple Heart.

"There are no rules of sportsmanship, no Geneva convention, out in New Guinea and the Solomons. It is kill or be killed. The Japs take no prisoners, and neither do we. We don't need a live Jap for information, because every Jap carries a diary with him. Jap prisoners at Guadalcanal attacked doctors in our American hospitals. These are facts because I was there to see them. I don't know why our government forbids war correspondents to tell the truth about the unpleasant along with the pleasant things of war".

Andy in a uniform and Martha in a Sloppy Joe sweater go to the Rackham building for an hour's recorded concert. The scene is Michigan's great state university at Ann Arbor, a peace-time institution for higher learning, now converted into a war training center. Here, too, there is reality of the coming sacrifice, an awareness of the rendezvous with death or life on some far-off foreign land.

Ten days later. Andy and Martha spend two hours at a USO dance at the League. One Sunday they go for a brief stroll to the Arboretum and back. During the week they see each other perhaps three or four times for five minutes between classes.

That's the social life for one month for an army student and his girl friend at Ann Arbor. He is a member of a company so select its members are taken from the Air Corps. He is studying a course twice as tough as an average university peace-time program.

He—and she—are just a sample of the new seriousness which typifies the 1500 navy, 2600 army and most of the civilian students at Ann Arbor now. Fraternities are closing down. Traditional extra-curricular activities are cut to the bone.

Andy and Martha are learning to fight.

Five young navy students, graduates of Annapolis, hang their jackets on door knobs and planer handles, pick up a ten-foot wooden model of a landing barge, weigh it, lower it into the 300 foot naval tank. "She needs 352 pounds", says one.

Lead blocks are piled in, the last few shifted a quarter of an inch at a time to get a trim tested with delicate machinist's levels. Then the five take over the big tank trolley, haul the model back and forth, watch gauges, check results.

They are students in the School of Naval Architecture, transferred to Ann Arbor from Annapolis, preparing for duty at shipyards, navy bases, big ports where their will be the responsibility of getting damaged ships back into the fight.

A church. A Filipino girl, wearing the national stiff-shouldered waist, a long trailing veil, walks down the aisle. Beside her, to give her away, walks President Alexander Grant Ruthven.

She is Miss Rafaelita Hilario. Her father was department of state advisor to President Quezon before the Japs struck at Pearl Harbor and then took Manila.

Since those fateful days, she has not heard from her folks. Her husband is a young Filipino doctor at Battle Creek. After the ceremony, asked what they were planning, Mrs. Soriano said:

"We're going to be good Americans. My husband has to go to New York and Washington. We're going to stop at Niagara Falls".

Lodge, the A. P. war correspond, continues: "The news we are allowed to tell you is always predicated on war. Bad news is held up month for good news. Political powers at Washington think we are a panty-waisted nation.

"When you have seen our young American kids fight in jungles, often days without food and under worse conditions than anything I ever saw in France, going into battle with a smile and never a grumble, you would think twice before you at home complain about gasoline and beef roasts and other petty sacrifices".

Don't worry about us, Mr. Lodge. Michigan can take it, the bad with the good. Any sacrifice we make here, little as it is, will be repaid a million-fold if war is kept from our shores and our land and if our boys come back home. We're going to back these kids of ours, pray for their safe return, and then when the United Nations win this war, together we're going to fight to keep the peace.

We will have our usual fine line of personal Christmas cards, good assortment, various prices, all with your name inscribed. Charlevoix Courier.—Adv. 42tf.

Extensive improvements have been made during the past week to the Carpenter building, occupied by F. G. Hines & Co., and the B. W. Miller grocery. The old porch on the second floor has been torn down, and new plate glass windows put in. (Some time later, the building itself was torn down, and the information bureau built in its place.)—(We asked somebody about this one before leaping to conclusions about the building's location.)

Attorney R. L. Lewis is now located in his new office in the recently erected Priest building.

The big water meter has been installed at the city plant, an improvement that has been needed for a number of years.

Couches of the best material at ridiculously low prices at Graham's furniture store. Look at them and you'll buy one.—Adv.

Capt. Henry C. Plum, 70, died Sunday. Enlisting in the Union armies at the age of 18, he served during four years of the Civil War and at 25 became a sailor. He had held captain's papers for 35 years.

Miss Anna Lombard, commercial teacher, entertained high school and grammar school teachers, also Superintendent and Mrs. DeVoe, with a hayride party and supper at Porter's farm, Friday evening.

Albert Edwards and family have moved onto the Shapton farm south of town on May street, which they recently purchased. The place will be known as "Hill Crest Garden."

C. H. S. notes, edited by Marcia Goss, Gladys and Bernice Pulcipher: Junior class officers are—president, Helen Parsons; vice-president, Ruth Mitchell; secretary-treasurer, Herbert Taggart. Seniors—president, Dean C. Scroggie; vice-president, Olie Lyngklip; secretary-treasurer, Bessie Allen.

Christmas gifts for doughboys overseas must be mailed before November 20. Every member of the AEF is entitled to one package, not larger than 9 by 4 by 3 inches, and 3 pounds in weight. An official coupon, which must be pasted on the package, will be given to each soldier to be sent to the friend or relative from whom the gift is expected.

Ira Brown left Wednesday for Ann Arbor to take a course in mechanical training.

Miss Bernice Crandell returned home last week from Alma.

Robert Sloan is home from school in Cincinnati, due to the flu epidemic.

Fire originating in the rear room of Pearl & Pearl's barber shop, Friday evening, for a time threatened destruction of that building and also the one next door north, occupied by the Adams Express Co. Pearl & Pearl will not re-open their shop during the winter months, but have affiliated themselves with Sam Rose, and will be found at the shop in the I. O. O. F. building.

Orders were given Saturday for closing of all theatres, schools, churches and public gatherings of any nature in Charlevoix, so serious has the spread of Spanish Influenza become. Only about two cases are reported here, and it is hoped to keep the city free from the epidemic.

The annual hunt of Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, Knights of Pythias, will be held next Tuesday. Team captains are: Blues, Colonel Hamilton; Yellows, Fritz Bergmann; Reds, Ira Adams.

Hon. Thomas Meggison, of Central Lake, and his son, Harold, who is enjoying a vacation from his duties at Fessenden's drug store, left this morning for Newberry to shoot the wily partridge.

Bert Taylor is taking a vacation from his work at Martin Block's store this week.

Henry Cooper, county treasurer, has been laid up for some weeks at home, but is now somewhat improved and expects soon to be back on the job.

A "sympathy stag" party was held Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge, in honor of Clarence Bridge and Knye Buttars, whose approaching marriages are close at hand. Both young men left Tuesday by automobile for New York city, for a two weeks' visit.

Buster Keaton and Buck Jones are staring in pictures at the New Palace Theatre this week.

"Old Man Depression" was fittingly disposed of last Saturday when Charlevoix celebrated the NRA with the first observance of its kind held in Michigan north of Grand Rapids. Stewart Coleman directed a program of street sports, including a tug-of-war in which the Hayes-Eveline team defeated the Marion-Norwood stalwarts. John McCann prepared barbecue sandwiches and coffee at the bakery. Boxing bouts were staged in an arena at the corner of Bridge and Clinton streets (could this have been the vacant lot where now rises the Courier edifice?). Tom Trumbull of Camp Wolverine and "Hardrock" Ager of Charlevoix, Frank Winnick of Charlevoix and Bill Reed, Grand Rapids, Chief Crampton and Bill Woods, this city, all fighting three rounds to a draw. "Cy" Powers acted as referee.

Walker A. Miles assumed his duties as substitute carrier at the local post office Saturday.

Fred W. Young Jr., of Detroit, will open offices for the practice of dentistry here in about a week. He has taken a suite of rooms over the Dahlquist store.

Bud Gill, Lyle Beaudoin, Keith Wagner and Art Elliott; winners of last Sunday's treasure hunt, will sponsor the hunt next Sunday.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

In the matter of the estate of Hannah Rae Gilden, deceased.

At a session of said court, held in the probate office in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 18th day of October, 1943.

Present: Hon. Rollie L. Lewis, Probate Judge.

The above estate having been admitted to probate and Harry A. Craig having been appointed administrator,

It is ordered, that two months from this date be allowed for creditors to present their claims against said estate for examination and adjustment, and that all creditors of said deceased, are required to present their claims to said court, at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, on or before the 23rd day of December, 1943, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which time claims will be heard.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Rollie L. Lewis,
1213 Judge of Probate.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure—(Chancery)

In pursuance and by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, in Chancery, made and entered on the 9th day of August, 1943, in a certain cause therein pending, wherein Archie L. Livingston and Frank Saperstaw, as trustees, are plaintiffs, and Belvedere Golf Club, Inc., a Michigan corporation, formerly the Belvedere Golf Realty Company, a Michigan corporation, is defendant,

Notice is hereby given, that I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the East Front door of the Court House (that being the place of holding the Circuit Court for said county), on Monday, the 6th day of December, 1943, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, Central Standard War Time, of said day, the following described property, viz: all those certain pieces or parcels of land situate in the Townships of Marion and Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, described as follows:

First Parcel:

The southeast quarter (SE¼) of the Southwest quarter (SW¼) of Section thirty-four (34), in Township Thirty-four (34), north of Range eight (8) west, excepting a parcel of land described as follows: commencing at the southwest corner of said first parcel; thence north four (4) rods; thence east forty-six (46) rods, thence south four (4) rods; thence west forty-six (46) rods to the place of beginning.

Second parcel:

The north half of the northeast quarter (N½ of NE¼) of section three (3), in township thirty-three (33) north, of range eight (8) west, excepting about two and 5-16 acres along the east side thereof owned and used by Marion township as a gravel pit; and also excepting a strip of land two (2) rods in width off the south side, and east of the County Road, formerly deeded to said Marion township for highway purposes.

Third Parcel:

All that part of the south half of the southeast quarter (S½ of SE¼) of section thirty-four (34) township thirty-four (34) north, range eight (8) west, lying south of the railroad right-of-way of the Standard Portland Cement Company; and also excepting the highway known as the County Road.

In accordance with the terms of said decree, said property will be sold as an entirety and not in separate parcels.

Bids will be received and accepted in accordance with the terms of said decree, and will be publicly announced on the day of the sale prior to receiving bids.

Dated October 12th, 1943.

'Invasion' in America

An oft repeated phrase on Axis broadcasts has been "green troops of the United States." These so-called "green troops" have pushed the Axis battle veterans from Africa, from Mediterranean island fortresses, from Sicily, and finally back into the heart of Europe. Much credit is due to the careful training given them in the United States where they learn to invade facsimiles of European villages, complete with snipers, booby traps, and land mines. Soldiers in the top photograph are shown raiding a simulated citadel of dictatorship at Camp Carson, Colorado.

SIEGE—Upper left. Before rushing the Gestapo headquarters, a camouflaged machine gun crew thoroughly raked it with fire from a nearby captured house. Lower right: An infantryman charges from a smoke screen.

ATTACK—Top: Yank mines throw dust and smoke skyward as an attack nears a model French town. Bottom: A land mine lets go with a roar and catches an unwary soldier by surprise. He jumped for cover a second later.

ROUGH GOING—A platoon crosses a stream via foot bridges they have hurriedly thrown across. This training proved worth while in the mountains of Tunisia and the beaches of Sicily. Inset: Trainees enter a house containing snipers.

QUICK AND THE "DEAD"—Troops charge through a cemetery after eliminating a sniper in the belfry of the church during a rehearsal battle.

OLD MR. TROUBLE GETS CHATTERER AT LAST

THE more Chatterer the Red Squirrel studied the queer things he had found in Farmer Brown's cornerib, the greater his curiosity grew. He had meddled with the smeller of the two things and it hadn't hurt him in the least. To be sure, it had given him several frights, for when he meddled with the wires on top of it something snapped, but each time he had scampered away unhurt and each time he had felt less afraid of it. Finally, it wouldn't snap any more and then he lost interest in it. Besides, it smelt terribly strong of common barn mice, and Chatterer has the greatest contempt for barn mice. Of course, you have guessed what it was that Chatterer had been meddling with. It was a mousetrap, and he had sprung it without getting hurt.

Chatterer didn't know that it was a trap. He ought to have known, but he didn't. You see, it was not at all like the traps Farmer Brown's Boy sometimes had set for him in the Green Forest. He knew all about those traps and never, never went near them. Now that there was nothing more exciting about the mousetrap, Chatterer turned his attention to the other queer thing. He walked all around it and looked at it from every side. It certainly was queer. Yes, sir, it certainly was queer! It looked something like a little house, only he could see all through it. He put one paw out and touched it. Nothing happened. He tried it again. Then he jumped right on top of it. Still nothing happened. He tried his sharp teeth on it, but he couldn't bite it. You see, it was made of stout wire.

Inside was something that looked good to eat. It smelled good, too. Chatterer began to wonder what it would taste like. The more he wondered the more he wanted to know. There must be some way of getting in, and if he could get in, of course, he could get out again. He jumped down to the floor and ran all around the queer little wire house. At each end was a sort of little wire hallway. Chatterer stuck his head in one. It seemed perfectly safe. He crept a little way in, and then backed out in a hurry. Nothing happened. He tried it again. Still nothing happened.

"Better keep away," said a small voice down inside of him.

"Pooh! Who's afraid!" said Chatterer. "This thing can't hurt me."

Then he crept a little further in. Right in front of him was a little round doorway with a little wire door. Chatterer pushed the little door with his nose and it opened a teeny, weeny bit. He drew back suspiciously. Then he tried it again and this time pushed the little door a little further open. He did this two or three times, until finally he had his head quite inside, and there right down below him was that food he so wanted to taste.

"I can hop right down and get it and then hop right up again," thought Chatterer.

"Don't do it," said the small voice inside. "Corn is plenty good enough. Besides, it is time you were getting back to the Old Orchard."

"It won't take but a minute," said Chatterer, "and I really must know what that tastes like."

With that he jumped down. Snap! Chatterer looked up. The little wire door had closed. Old Mr. Trouble had got Chatterer at last. Yes, sir, he certainly had got Chatterer this time! You see, he couldn't open that little wire door from the inside. He was in a trap—a wire rat-trap—set by Farmer Brown's Boy.

MACHINERY CARE BEST BET FOR "44

There will be some new farm machinery for use in 1944. But there will not be what the average farmer considers "enough" farm machinery and labor until after the war is won.

That is the conclusion of E. G. McKibben, head of the agricultural engineering department at Michigan State College and recently on loan as farm machinery advisor to the federal War Production Board.

He advises Michigan farmers to take care of the machinery they now have. Even with the promise of an increased supply of repair parts, farmers, in his opinion, would do well to look over machinery, list needed repair parts now and even order them now although such machines may not be used again until planting, cultivating or harvest in 1944.

"When a machine is not ready to go, delay is costly. Many farmers learned that lesson in 1943", relates Professor McKibben. "Only a few days were favorable in some areas for timely field work. Farmers whose machinery for seedbed preparation or planting was not in shape, ready for work, missed out in getting crops in on time".

In addition to checking machine condition, certain protection is advised. Bright parts should be swabbed with grease and bearings should be lubricated. Fertilizer should be cleaned from attachments on drills and planters. Worn parts on fertilizer shoes should be replaced.

Charlevoix will miss Sidney Loewenstein, a long-time summer resident, whose death occurred Sunday in Chicago. He was an all around swell fellow.

The first thing we need, if we want to be pleased with ourselves, is a poor memory.

I've often wondered how many sportsmen know that bird groups are referred to in the following terms: a covey of partridge, a nide of pheasant, a wisp of snipe, a flight of doves or swallows, a muster of peacocks, a seige of herons, a building of rooks, a brood of grouse and a plump of wildfowl?

When you get an ailment you never heard of before and begin talking about it, you find that every third person has had it and that every second person has a relative who is a victim right now.

Patient: "How are my chances, Doc"?

Doctor: "Pretty good. But don't start reading any continued stories".

In an exchange paper this week the editor apologized for printin' so little news. He said it ain't because there's nothing goin' on, but because nothing happens that he dares to print until the ammunition supply runs just a bit shorter. It struck a responsive chord, for I've seen the time I felt the same way.

Femme: "Are your kisses dynamite?"

Handsome Lad: "They sure are, sister".

Femme: "Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition".

Well, anyways, that should be enough for this time.

Notice!

The City Council urges citizens to assist in disposal of dead leaves by burning those accumulated on their own property.

On tarvia or asphalt seal-coated streets, fires should be kept as close to the curb as possible and spread along the curb, making long fires rather than single pile fires, in order to avoid burning holes in the streets.

With cooperation of citizens, it is hoped no damage will be done to streets, and a situation aggravated by manpower shortage will be relieved somewhat.

DEER HIDES NEEDED FOR ARMY EQUIPMENT

Gloves, Boots, Mads for Troops In Cold Climates

The state conservation department today issued an urgent appeal to deer hunters to turn all deer hides obtained this season into commercial channels for the manufacture of military equipment.

Department officials reminded hunters that this year's deer can furnish much-needed gloves and mukluks (Arctic shoes) for our troops stationed in cold climates, as well as fill out the family meat ration.

Although revised federal regulations do permit that a deer skin may be processed for the owner's personal use or for a gift, hunters are urged to see that the greatest possible use is made of their war-time deer hide by directing it into commercial channels so that it may be used for the armed forces.

Permits to sell or ship deer hides may be obtained from any conservation officer, hunters are reminded. The department will also furnish hunters with the names of authorized fur dealers in Michigan to whom they may sell their hides at the market value.

ENTERTAINMENT AT SUPP HOME TUESDAY

Costume Plays Written, Directed by Mrs. Rose Nettleton

Mrs. Rose Nettleton was hostess to 45 guests at an entertainment and tea given Tuesday evening, October 12, at the Dixon avenue home of Mrs. Floyd Supp.

Four historic plays were presented from script written by Mrs. Nettleton, who has devoted many years to the study of fashions of the past and their authentic reproduction. Mrs. Walter Bergeon, Mrs. A. W. Goddard and Mrs. Nettleton read the plays as the players portrayed characters in pantomime and tableau.

Mrs. Oscar North, as Priscilla, and Mrs. Frank A. Kenyon, as John Alden, vividly presented the love story immortalized by the poet Longfellow. Mrs. A. J. Stelter and Mrs. Laura Benner, as "The Candle Makers", gave an excellent exhibition of that ancient art.

"Reunion of the Class of 1864" was a colorful affair. Mrs. Stewart Coleman, Mrs. Max Smith, Mrs. Leo Carey, Miss Lillis Flanders, Mrs. A. L. Fochtman, Mrs. D. C. Nettleton, Mrs. Fred Tyler, Mrs. Albert Cook, Mrs. Otto P. Krueger and Mrs. Lloyd Curtis, as classmates attired in costumes with ruffles, hoopskirts and quaint bonnets, posed, pirouetted and courtseyed as was the custom of the time.

Mrs. Clair S. Webster sang "In the Gloaming" as Mrs. Supp enacted a play entitled "Old Love Letters". During intermissions, the audience was entertained with songs by the Charlevoices trio, Mrs. Charles E. Bellinger, Mrs. Webster and Mrs. E. D. Hawley.

Presiding at the candlelit tea table following the program were Mrs. Rose Nettleton, Mrs. Bonnor, Mrs. Stelter and Mrs. Supp. Refreshments were by Mrs. Wilbur A. Cline.

LIVESTOCK HANDLERS TO MEET AT GAYLORD

Transportation Committee Will Be Selected for Area

A meeting for all producers, truckers, dealers and processors of livestock in the Cadillac area is scheduled for 2 p. m. Tuesday, October 26, at the Otsego county court house in Gaylord.

An area livestock industry transportation advisory committee will be elected, according to Harold L. Frier, ODT district manager. This committee, when approved by the office of defense transportation, will advise and assist the ODT in directing movement of motor trucks used in the transportation of livestock to or from points in this area.

Producers, truckers, dealers and processors who raise, buy, sell, transport or handle livestock within the area are entitled to elect their representative on the committee.

The Cadillac area includes Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Clare, Crawford, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Lake, Leelanau, Manistee, Mason, Missaukee, Montmorency, Oscoola, Otsego, Presque Isle, Roscommon and Wexford counties.

ANNE SLEZAK, IRVING DROST JR. MARRIED AT PENSACOLA, FLA.

The wedding of Miss Anna J. Slezak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Slezak of this city, and Irving A. Drost Jr., aviation machinists mate first class, U. S. navy air corps, took place Monday, October 11, at Pensacola, Fla., naval air station, where the groom is stationed. He is the son of Mrs. Irving A. Drost Sr., and the late Mr. Drost.

Post chaplain McClang performed the ceremony at 9 o'clock in the morning at the naval air station's post chapel. Attending the couple were Frank Manfredi and Tony Rogers, both stationed at Pensacola.

For her wedding, the bride wore a white linen suit, with white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

A wedding breakfast for 12 guests was served at the San Carlos hotel in Pensacola, immediately following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Drost arrived in Charlevoix last Wednesday to visit their parents, leaving Saturday for a visit with relatives in Detroit before returning to Pensacola to make their home.

The bride is a graduate of Charlevoix high school, class of 1942, while the groom also attended school here. He enlisted in the navy air corps in July, 1942, and is now an instructor in aviation mechanics at Pensacola.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The Bi-Weekly Club met last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Clare Staley, on Prospect street.

Miss Ernestine Chow entertained members of her sewing club Monday evening at her home on Clinton street.

Donna Jean and Doris Jane Onderkirk, twin daughters of Mrs. Nina Onderkirk, celebrated their 16th birthday Saturday evening. Bouquets of flowers, and a large birthday cake, decorated the table prepared for 16 guests. The evening was spent in dancing, singing and games, after which gifts were opened. Guests included Miss Lois Schuster, of Boyne City, who was week end guest at the Onderkirk home, also Donna Henry, Joan Heise, Nancy Totten, Donna Rose, Elaine Taylor, Lois Walstad, Maxine McKenzie, Mrs. Irving Drost, Jr., the former Anne Slezak.

Graduates from Chanute Field

Cpl. Henry J. Ricksgers, son of George Rickagers, of St. James, has completed training as an instrument specialist at the Chanute Field, Ill., school of the army air forces training command.

Mrs. Chester Smith gave a birthday party Saturday afternoon for the third birthday of her daughter, Billie Kay. Games were played by the guests, after which refreshments were served and favors of candy-filled Halloween baskets were given to those present. Guests were Mona and Margo Davenport, Wally, Elaine Poole Vicki Miller, Sandra VanDolen, Betty Blissett, Glenn Mayhew, Don and Skip Smith.

Members of the Academia club and their husbands met Monday night at the home of their president, Mrs. S. M. Vaughan, for their monthly cooperative dinner. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Merlen, Mr. and Mrs. William Sapernaw, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Supernaw, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Denn Davenport, Mrs. Robert Ashdon, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Houck and Mr. and Mrs. Fay Davis. After dinner the first round of their winter ping-pong tournament was played in the basement recreation room.

AUXILIARY CHAIRMEN WERE NAMED MONDAY

Regular Meeting at Legion Hall Under New President

Appointive officers of the American Legion Auxiliary were named Monday night by Mrs. Edgar Smith, president, at the regular meeting at the Legion hall.

Chairmen named were: child welfare, Mrs. Harrison Trimble; poppy sale, Mrs. Allen Ulrich; Americanism, Mrs. H. C. Wilson; gold star, Mrs. Tom Bacot; war activities, Mrs. Wesley Howard; flowers, Mrs. Harold Withers; membership, Mrs. Charles Reinhart and Mrs. Lyda McGhan; legislative, Mrs. Mollie Smith.

Following the business meeting, chicken supper was served. The meal was furnished by Mrs. J. Sidorowicz and Mrs. Charles Reinhart.

FEWER WILLIAMSTON PLAN HUNTING CLUBS

Decrease Attributed to Rationing, More Farm Work

Only about two-thirds as many farmer-hunter cooperative hunting clubs have been organized this year under the Williamston plan, state conservation department authorities report.

Complete figures reveal that 64 clubs were put into operation this year, as compared with 96 last year. Only 16 Michigan counties were represented in the list of this year's clubs, while last year's clubs were distributed over 23 counties.

State conservation department authorities attribute the drop in cooperative clubs this year to farmers' preoccupation with farm work and their conviction that gasoline and ammunition shortages would reduce the number of hunters this year.

Coast Guardsman Promoted

Robert E. Kelley, coast guard formerly stationed in Charlevoix and now with the armed forces in north Africa, has been promoted to chief machinists' mate. Bob took an active part in the recent invasion of Sicily.

RAYDERS LOSE TO HARBOR SPRINGS

GAME WAS CLOSE DESPITE 14 TO 0 SCORE

Locals Play Final Two Games on Home Field; Meet Boyne City Next Saturday Afternoon

Playing their last game away from home this season, Charlevoix high school's Red Ryder football team lost Saturday to Harbor Springs by a 14 to 0 score. It was the locals' third defeat in five starts.

The contest was closer and more hard-fought than the score would indicate. Charlevoix played the Rams on even terms with exception of Harbor's two touchdown marches which both resulted from passes.

Harbor scored its first touchdown midway in the second period. Harbor returned a Raydor punt to Charlevoix's 38-yard line. An end run was good for 30 yards. Davenport shot a 38-yard pass to Allerding, who romped the remaining 20 to score. Davenport's kick for extra point was good, making the score 7 to 0.

The same passing-running combination clicked again in the last minutes of the game. Standing deep in his own territory, Davenport passed to Allerding, who ran untouched for 50 yards and the second score. Davenport's kick for extra point was again good and Harbor took a 14 to 0 lead. The contest ended a minute later.

Coach Kipke's starting line-up was Belfy and H. Olach at ends, Wurd and North at tackles, Shearer and Brown at guards, D. Hardy at center, Novotny at right half, Zeitler at left half, Graves at fullback and F. Martin at quarter. Plumm substituted for Martin, K. Hardy for Novotny and Lewis for Olach.

The Rayders return here for their final two games, meeting Boyne City at south side athletic field this Saturday. Boyne's record so far this season has been excellent, but the Rnyders are expected to make a strong fight to avenge their 13-0 defeat earlier in the season. Harbor comes here for the final game on November 6.

TWO MEN SENTENCED DISORDERLY CHARGE

Third Placed on Probation After Hearing in Justice Court

George Sharrow, 26, and John Frye, 23, were jailed and fined Saturday by Justice H. R. Fowler for assaulting Kenneth Armstrong, 32, at 2 o'clock that morning on the corner of Bridge and Clinton streets, near the County bank.

Arrested by Patrolman Joe Smith and later charged with disorderly conduct, Sharrow was given 30 days in jail, together with fine of $15 and costs of $5, or 20 days extra. Frye was sentenced to 20 days, plus $5 fine and $5 costs or 10 additional days.

Robert Sharruw, 18, pleaded not guilty and was released on bond. At his hearing before Justice Fowler on Tuesday, he reversed his plea and was placed on probation for one year, and assessed fine of $5 and costs of $5.

MRS. GOLDIE PANT SUCCUMBED SUNDAY

Life-Long County Resident Died After Extended Illness

Mrs. Goldie I. Pant, 59, died early, Sunday at Charlevoix Hospital after an illness of several months. Her health had been failing for a period of years.

Goldie Isabel Coatta was born December 6, 1883, at Ironton. She was married to Leroy Pant on March 1, 1902, at St. Ignace, and shortly after their marriage they came to Charlevoix to reside. Except for a few years spent in Muskegon, Mrs. Pant had lived here since.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Lillian Cramblit, this city, two sons, George, of Muskegon, and Clarence, of Mt. Pleasant; five grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Richards and Mrs. Ann Smith, of El Monte, Calif.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the See Funeral Home, Rev. W. D. Wood officiating. Interment was at Brookside cemetery.

USE OF RATION BOOK OUTLINED

FOURTH BOOK DESIGNED TO LAST TWO YEARS

Registration Here Tuesday Until Friday; First Stamps Become Valid on November 1

Issuing of war ration book four started Tuesday afternoon at Charlevoix high school, and will be concluded by 8 p. m. Friday. A special registration from 2 to 5 p. m. is scheduled on Saturday, for those outside this school district who were unable to come to Charlevoix during the week.

With stumps in the first three ration books still in use, many people do not understand the need of a fourth book. However, as book four is planned to last nearly two years, it will eventually be used alone and will simplify shopping as much as can be under the rationing system.

The cost of designing, printing and distributing a new ration book is approximately $1,500,000, and the process takes nearly six months. A new book has been issued every four or five months, so as each book has come off the presses, the next one has gone into production. As a further economy, instead of putting more pages in this book, the stamps have been reduced in size about half of the present point stamps.

EAST JORDAN MAN KILLED IN ACTION

Peter Boyer Jr. Is Fourth Man Lost from That City

Fourth East Jordan man to be killed in action in the present war is Peter Boyer Jr., 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Boyer Sr.

He enlisted in the army in July, 1942, and went overseas in May, 1943. He was killed in action September 14 in the north African sector. Surviving are his parents, three brothers and five sisters.

East Jordan's other three casualties in the war have been Lt. Keith O. Bartlett, Charles Kotalik and William A. Clark.

Selections from the latest designs in army and navy apparel: 1. The new WAVE summer uniform for enlisted personnel. The gray and white seersucker dress with matching jacket will be worn by officers and enlisted personnel, with rank or rating shown by appropriate insignia in navy blue. 2. This WAVE blue smock is worn by pharmacist's mates, laboratory technicians, parachute riggers and other technical specialists. 3. Officers of the U. S. army and all ranks of the WAC may wear this new type overcoat which is olive drab, wind resistant and water repellent. 4. New lightweight showerproof raincoat and havelock for enlisted personnel of the Women's Reserve of the U. S. navy.

AIR WAC RECRUITING TEAM IN CHARLEVOIX

Drive to Enlist 46,000 Women Is Opened Throughout Nation

A campaign to enlist newly-termed Air WACS was opened in Charlevoix on Tuesday by a special army air forces recruiting team, and will continue each Tuesday until December.

Capt: Robert E. Lynch Jr., and Staff Sgt. Arthur H. Fink, both on temporary duty from Strother army air field, Winfield, Kansas, have established headquarters in the city hall club room. They will be here each Tuesday for personal interviews with women interested in joining the newly-formed air service branch of the women's army corps.

Special appointments, day or night, may be made for interviews. Eligible for the Air WACS are women between 20 and 50, of excellent character, mentally alert and in good physical health. They may be either single or married, and are permitted to marry while in service.

The recruiting station in Charlevoix has been established as part of a drive to enlist 46,000 new members of the women's army corps. WAC recruiting headquarters in this district is at Traverse City, in the post office building.

REGULAR COLLECTION OF TIN CANS IN CITY

Clifford McKibbin Jr., Salvage Chairman, Announces Plan

Regular pick-up of salvaged tin cans has been announced by Clifford McKibbin Jr., chairman of the Charlevoix salvage committee.

Residents who have cans prepared for collection may call Mr. McKibbin's office, phone 75, and arrangements will be made for city trucks to call for the cans. No concentrated drive for cans is scheduled, as the systematic pick-up plan will operate more efficiently than a few days of collection at one time.

Cans must be prepared for salvage by removing paper label and both ends of can, stepping on the can to flatten it, and placing ends inside the flattened tin. Do not place them outdoors until just before they are to be picked up by trucks, as they rust quickly and are unfit for salvage.

ANNUAL MEETING OF RESORT ASSOCIATION

Future Development of Western Michigan Is Theme

The 26th annual meeting of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association will be held at the Pantlind hotel in Grand Rapids on Thursday, October 28, according to announcement made by William Palmer, secretary-manager.

An interesting program has been planned for all who have a stake in the future development of West Michigan's tourist and resort industry, as well as its commercial and agricultural progress.

COAST GUARD RECRUITS YOUNG MEN AND SPARS

Opening a drive for recruits in the women's reserve of the U. S. coast guard, the "SPARS", and for young men 17 years of age, a coast guard recruiter and a SPAR recruiter will be in the post office building at Traverse City from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Monday and Tuesday, November 1-2.

OBSERVATION POST PLACED ON ALERT

CHIEF OBSERVER MCKIBBIN NAMES FOUR AIDS

Charlevoix Watch Tower Outside Area of 24-Hour Duty Which Surrounds Fort Brady

Chief Observer Clifford McKibbin Jr. has appointed four alert officers for the local Aircraft Warning Service observation post, acting under instructions from the Fort Brady air defense command. The post was recently placed on an alert status.

Officers appointed are Miss Marjorie Webster, George Shannuquet, Art Wexstaff and Joe Smith. Twenty volunteer observers will be enlisted by these officers. When the Gaylord state police post notifies Mr. McKibbin that an "alert" period is scheduled, he will instruct one of the alert officers to assign two observers to the tower for that time. Another officer will call the three secondary posts in this area, Pete Bennett at Ironton, William Alward and Edward Bradford on rural routes.

Purpose of these practice alert periods is to keep trained observers always ready for duty, so that in the event of actual need, there will be a well-organized staff on call. Sgt. Schary, of Fort Brady, in his official call here Monday, stated that the Charlevoix primary post is just outside the 24-hour duty area surrounding Fort Brady. This area extends at present to Petuskey, but Charlevoix might at any time be included in the region.

CIRCUIT COURT TERM OPENED MONDAY

Judge Gilbert Adjourned Session Until November 3

Judge Parm C. Gilbert, presiding at the October term of court for the 13th judicial district here Monday, disposed of one criminal case and several divorce actions.

Harlen Sutton, this city, was placed on probation for non-support. Three divorce decrees were granted.

Court was adjourned until Wednesday, November 3, at which time civil cases will be heard.

COMMUNICATION

The following resolution was passed by Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, at their regular meeting Tuesday night:

Resolved: That we wish to commend the law enforcement officers of Charlevoix for their promptness in meting out justice to the parties who unmercifully beat up a member of the armed forces home on furlough. It is hoped that the lenient sentence imposed by the judge will remind these three men that such brutality, conceivably only practiced by our enemies the Nazis and the yellow Japs, will not be tolerated in Charlevoix.

Above resolution was introduced by Leo Powers, who moved its adoption. Supported by Frank Poole.

VANE SMITH, LOCAL BOAT BUILDER, DIES

Succumbed Tuesday Afternoon at Charlevoix Hospital

After an illness extending over a period of several weeks, Vane H. Smith, 40, boat designer and builder, died Tuesday afternoon at Charlevoix Hospital.

Born in Charlevoix, August 20, 1903, he graduated from Charlevoix high school and later studied marine design at Chicago Technical Institute. He was a competent navigator and had piloted pleasure yachts for summer residents for many years. Prior to his illness, he was an engineer for the Dachel-Carter Shipbuilding Corporation at Benton Harbor.

Surviving are his wife, the former Mildred Voorheis, whom he married June 16, 1930, at Niles, Ohio; four children, Vane, Virginia, Cynthia and Douglas; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Smith, this city; and two brothers, Marcus, this city, and George, of Benton Harbor.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock at the See Funeral Home, Rev. Donald R. Evans, officiating. Interment will be at Brookside cemetary.

PRANKLESS HALLOWEEN AIM OF KIWANIS CLUB

Free Movie for All Students Is Scheduled for Friday

Continuing a policy established several years ago, the Kiwanis club is providing free entertainment Friday afternoon and evening for all students who sign pledges to refrain from Halloween pranks.

A Kiwanis committee composed of C. M. Bice, F. R. Bulow and Harry E. Bingham distributed pledges among students. Their signature is a promise to respect private property and keep out of Halloween trouble.

As a reward, youngsters of public, parochial and some rural schools up to and including the fifth grade will be entertained at a movie at the Palace Theatre, at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. Upper grades will be guests at the movie in the evening.

The plan was proven a very successful one in the past six years and this year should be no exception.

SHAKESPEARE STUDY CLUB FIRST MEETING

Program of Thirteen Meetings Is Outlined by President

The Shakespeare Study club held their first meeting of this year Monday at the home of Mrs. Donald Herrick. Twenty members were present for the annual "recipe day" luncheon and business meeting which followed.

Program was the year's thirteen meetings was outlined by Mrs. Glenn See, president. Many meetings will be devoted to Red Cross sewing. The club will meet next Monday with Mrs. Kit Carson, on Dixon avenue.

RED RATION STAMPS TO EXPIRE SATURDAY

Shoppers are reminded that red ration stamps C, D, E and F will expire at midnight, Saturday, October 30. Red stamp G, which became valid Sunday, October 24, is good until December 4.

FORMER RESIDENT STRICKEN SUNDAY

Funeral of Mrs. Ernest Hutzler Here Wednesday Afternoon

Mrs. Celia M. Hutzler, 58, wife of Ernest E. Hutzler, lighthouse keeper at Cat Head Point, Northport, died suddenly Sunday at her home.

The Hutzlers made their home in Charlevoix for several years when Mr. Hutzler was tender of the Charlevoix harbor lights. They moved to Northport about four years ago.

Surviving are her husband; six children, Mrs. Ethel Stormer, of Detroit; Glen Furst, of the U. S. coast guard; Norman Furst, of Traverse City; George Hutzler, of the U. S. navy; Leota and Dale Hutzler, at home; one sister, Mrs. Albert Harwood, of Atwood; and seven grandchildren.

The body was brought here on Wednesday for funeral services at two o'clock in the afternoon, Rev. G. Russell Parker, of Northport, officiating. Interment was at Brookside cemetery.

126TH REGIMENT WRITES HISTORY

SEVEN CHARLEVOIX MEN IN RED ARROW DIVISION

Called for "Year of Training", Outfit Has Been Overseas Since April, 1942

Monday's Grand Rapids Herald dedicated several news columns to the 126th infantry regiment of the Michigan National Guard, western Michigan's own regiment which left three years ago this month for active service. At least seven Charlevoix men are members of this outfit, part of the 32nd or "Red Arrow" division which so distinguished itself in New Guinea campaigns.

Sent off for a "year of training", the regiment has written history in battle. Sgt. Harold Newman, son of Mrs. Dolphus Newman, is the only one of the local men who was originally called as a member of the national guard. The others, drafted into service, were assigned to this regiment later.

Sgt. Robert Heise, Sgt. David Matchett, Lt. Carlton H. Smith, Cpl. Frank Pop, Jr., and Pfc. Orin C. Sutton, all of whom were in the draft contingent of April, 1041, were members of Company L. When part of this company was isolated behind Jap lines while attempting to block the Jap retreat along the Sanananda road, in De-

LOST RATION BOOKS RETURNED BY MAIL

Post Office Will Deliver Books Mailed by Finder

The office of price administration announced today that finders of a lost ration book may simply drop it in the mail without postage or envelope.

It said the post office department has agreed to deliver books to the owner on payment of five cents postage due. They will be forwarded to the nearest war price and rationing board when owners cannot be located.

Highest prices paid for good used cars. See Karl J. Erber, Northern Auto Co., Charlevoix, Mich.—32tf.

USO TO BENEFIT FROM FUND DRIVE

NATIONAL CAMPAIGN OPENS HERE NOVEMBER 1

Half of $125,000,000 Raised In Nation Goes to USO, Morale Builder for Soldiers

The National War Fund Drive, announced last week as opening in Charlevoix on Tuesday, October 26, will begin on Monday, November 1. This date was set so as not to conflict with this week's registration for war ration book four.

Robert Bridge, city chairman, will appoint committees to canvass business and residential districts of Charlevoix to raise the city's quota of $2,768. Quota set for the entire county is $10,000. Boy Scouts of Charlevoix Troop 11 will take an active part in the campaign by distributing literature throughout the city.

Of the 17 war relief agencies which will benefit from the national campaign to raise $125,000,000, United Service Organizations is perhaps best known by all Americans. War Prisoners Aid will also receive a large share of funds from the drive. Instead of separate fund-raising campaigns for these and the 15 other agencies, this combined drive reduces such campaigns to two—the National War Fund drive and the annual American Red Cross drive, scheduled for March, 1944.

Half of the huge sum raised by this drive will go to USO, which to date has sent 609 entertainers overseas to bring laughter and amusement to American fighters in combat zones. In addition to establishing service men's clubs near every army camp and naval station in this country, USO has 150 bases outside the continental United States. USO-Camp Shows is the biggest entertainment circuit in history, sending troupes to the fighting fronts and to bases in this country. These actors and actresses have traveled thousands of miles to appear before troop audiences ranging in number from a few men in a jungle tent to 20,000 who jam-packed several acres of an airfield.

Any benefit our service men receive from their families and friends is a contribution to the war effort because it makes them better fighting men.

GARDEN CLUB OPENS CLUB YEAR TUESDAY

Entertainment at Dinner by Mrs. Arthur Ranger, President

Members of the Charlevoix Garden club were entertained at dinner Tuesday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. Arthur Ranger, marking opening of the club year.

Program for the year was outlined in the business meeting which followed dinner. "Winter protection of the garden" was the lesson presented by Mrs. Ross Alexander, who brought out the interesting point that garden shrubs are killed, not by freezing of the ground, but by storm winds. Proper windbreaks for shrubs will preserve them through the winter.

Eighteen guests were present for the meeting.

See us for your anti-freeze. Brown Motors, Inc.—Adv. 42t2.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

A scandal is something that must be real bad to be good.

Milt Block says he told Mike Hamlin to wash the delivery truck last Saturday, and Mike, being too lazy to get out and scrub the truck, shoved it into the lake. Well, anyway, that's the way Milt told it to me, but I'll bet he'll be surprised to find out I believed him.

I heard a dentist remark once that his profession identifies certain patients as sugarholics. These sugarholics have decaying teeth. They eat far more candy and sweet things than they should. The dentists tell them to quit, but they can't or won't. "If you can get them to quit for six weeks, they lose the craving, just as drunkards who stay on the wagon for six weeks lose the craving for liquor," he said. Beer might be less harmful, he tho't, and chewing tobacco might be a blessing. It is a fact, this dentist remarked, that boys and men who chew tobacco regularly have excellent teeth. Inveterate cigar smokers also are likely to have sound teeth. The juice cleanses the mouth, in a manner of speaking.

If old Horace Greeley lived now, he'd tell the girls to go west. That's the only section that has more men than women.

Among interesting and welcome letters from men in the service this week is one from Benjamin Walker, telling about being lost in the desert for two and part of a third day while on maneuvers. You'd have to read the letter to appreciate it fully and, between you and me, I'm keeping an eye on that fellow, for with his imagination, he's got at least one of the most important qualifications of a newspaper writer.

In late years I've found it difficult to keep up with these younger people of ours in a conversation, particularly if the talk

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Hi Pal,

Just a line to let you know my change of address.

We have a very nice camp here and I sure like it. This is the best part of Georgia I have seen.

I was just up home on furlough and the north sure looked good. Wish I could have 15 days about deer hunting time. There is nothing I would like better.

I enjoy the paper very much and thanks a lot.

As ever,

Hi Ken,

I guess it's about time I wrote you a few lines to let you know I am still in Reno, "the biggest little city in the world," I sure enjoy the paper very much. It means a lot to read all about the folks back home. I sure wish I could be there for hunting but I guess I can't. I really get a kick out of your "Shot at Random". I am now a Pfc. In the army and am spending my time at present in the hospital. I had an operation but I am getting along just fine. Better ring off for this time. So long now.

Your friend,
Pfc. Leonard J. Furgeson.

Dear Ken,

Just about time for another letter to you and I have lots of spare time now, so I had better start it. I don't have much news because censorship regulations prevent me from saying anything about the weather, where I am, what I am doing and how I am doing it.

In case you hadn't noticed it, take a peek at my new return address. It's the same except for a couple of items. I was sworn in as Warrant Officer the 24th of September. This being overseas, sure has some compensations. I would never have had the chance for this promotion back in the states.

AT THE MOVIES

"Jitterbugs"

C'mon, you hepcats, and cut a rug with Laurel and Hardy and their two-man zoot-suit band . . . as they beat it out eight laughs to the bar in 20th Century-Fox's mirth riot, "Jitterbugs," which is coming next Tuesday and Wednesday to the Palace Theatre.

"The Good Fellow"

Comedy, and plenty of it, is the theme of "The Good Fellow", a good laugh on fraternal organizations and their members, which opens next Tuesday and Wednesday at the Palace Theatre. The fact that the star of the picture, Cecil Kellaway, plays the role of an inveterate lodge joiner, brings the picture into the world of every citizen in town.

"The Ox-Bow Incident"

"The Ox-Bow Incident", 20th Century-Fox's widely acclaimed action drama coming next Thursday and Friday to the Palace Theatre, has the West for its locale and, even though the film is far from a horse opr'y, fans will have the first opportunity in over a year to see Henry Fonda in cowpuncher's duds and riding hard.

Captivating charm and loveliness are high points in the new series of paintings, "Flower Girls," by the well-known artist, Henry Clive. Don't miss "Wild Rose" the first of the series, with verses by Phyllis McGinley, on the front color page of The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Sunday Chicago Herald-American.

CRICKET'S CHIRP SIGNALS DAMAGE

Crickets may sing a cheerful song in appreciation of a warm hearth or a friendly basement, but crickets just simply lack too much culture to be good household pets or tenants in winter months.

Crickets are just as apt to eat holes in valuable rags, clothing or other household fabrics as they are to digest pieces of old rags, explains Professor E. I. McDaniel of the Michigan State College entomology department.

Even leather shoes or curtains may be chewed by the chirping insects after they enter homes in the fall of the year. Entrance may be through small openings in walls, through poorly screened doors or windows.

If only a few enter, the pests may be killed with a flyswatter. A serious invasion is best repelled by other means, according to Professor McDaniel.

Sodium fluoride or powdered borax makes a good control, put out in powdered form. On the outside of the house either powder may be sprinkled under weathered boards. Inside, the powder can be used in dark corners where the crickets are apt to congregate, or put under some shingles placed flat at edges of the basement floor. The fluoride is poison and should be kept from pets or infants, but the borax is not dangerous.

"Just dropped by to tell you, Frank, I had a fine letter from your son, Joe, this morning. Mighty nice of him to take the time to write me... I know how busy they keep the boys. That's a fine camp he's been transferred to up in New England."

"Yes, Catherine and I had a letter this morning, too. Said he was writing you... he's very fond of you, Judge. Catherine is certainly proud of Joe and proud of the great Army he's a part of."

"She has good reason to be, Frank. Joe is one fine fellow and the Army he's in is the best disciplined, best behaved in our history. Just last night I was reading an article that quoted a report signed by five chaplains in the very camp where Joe is now training. I remember their exact words which were "there is no liquor problem at this Post." And I understand that's true in camp after camp all over the country. And if Catherine would like to see that report, I'll drop it off at the house tomorrow."

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Years of history-making decisions are being compressed into minutes. It is thirty minutes before oldnight! Soon only seconds will remain.

The urgency of these minutes and seconds is being indicated this week at the assembly Thursday and Friday (Oct. 28 and 29) at Fort Knox, Kentucky, of a large group of Michigan public officials, war production lenders and newspaper editors, led by Governor Kelly.

The key men were invited there by the war department.

The purpose: To hear from high-ranking army officials confidential information about the impending showdown between the United Nations and the Axis; the relative strength of these two forces, military and civilian; and the imperative need for increased production in the United States of munitions and ships.

Washington has announced that the Fort Knox conference is a regional meeting, patterned after the recent national conference at Washington several weeks ago which was attended by approximately 200 leaders. At its close, the war department permitted release of "secret statistics" about the economic resources of the Germans and the Japanese.

Newspaper war correspondents at a recent newspaper meeting in Ann Arbor were critical of the army and navy for alleged failure to give the American people the "facts"; they emphasized repeatedly the vastness of the military task confronting the United States, especially in the Pacific.

If there has been public complacency, many newspaper editors are inclined to blame Washington for sugar-coating the news. Hence, the Fort Knox conference may bring interesting repercussions. Some editors will accept the facts as the uninspired truth. Others may conclude that talk of a long war is merely a Washington official "line" for the purpose of conditioning the public to additional regimentation. The coming 1944 political campaign is a factor. . .

What are the "secret statistics", as revealed in Washington following the recent pep-up conference? Here are a few:

Germany has 300 well-training and well-equipped army divisions in Europe. Most of these are on the Russian front. The American army and navy at the end of 1944 (fourteen months from today) will have about 7,500,000 men overseas and 3,750,000 still on duty in this country. Today, the reverse is true. Our oversens armies are not concentrated in France as they were 25 years ago; they are scattered around the globe. At the end of two years of preparations, we are just about ready to transport a big invasion army to Europe. Our big test is yet to come.

Contrary to common belief, the German air force is larger today than it was in 1939, and the Japanese air strength is constantly increasing. Japanese have 2,000,000 men who have not been called yet to the colors; its manpower resources are "very great". Our victories in the South Pacific have been 3,000 miles from the empire itself and only at the fringe of the Japanese-held territory.

Germany is estimated to have 35,000,000 workers in war factories today, compared with 23,000,000 in 1939. Their food ration is higher in calorie content than four years ago.

The American home front must increase production of munitions about 21 per cent in 1944. This means the making of $75,000,000,000 in weapons of war. Much of this will be in airplanes, especially heavy bombers and transport planes. To get our army and their material oversens and to keep our many fronts supplied with replacements and additional supplies, the American home front must produce 20 per cent more ships in 1944 than in 1943.

Such is the picture, as certified this month by the army and navy.

Transfer of pre-war fathers from Michigan war plants to the armed forces is going to tighten Michigan's labor shortage still more. The dearth of manpower should scrape bottom by April or May, 1944. Our army is due to reach full strength by July, 1944—30 months after declaration of war. Already our war is stretching into length.

Michigan manufacturers are wary about giving approval to any precedent which would possibly embarrass them, later, on, in government control of manpower. Today's utilization of labor is on a voluntary basis, although new restrictions went into effect Oct. 15 requiring funneling of employment requests involving "critical" occupations into the United States Employment Service. The new manpower control, based on management-labor committees, is said to be the next thing to a national labor draft.

Organized labor also wants a back door opened wide. Actually Michigan labor is not united on the matter of manpower utilization; some leaders are willing to accept all-out control "for the duration" on a basis of patriotic sacrifice; other leaders violently oppose it as a dangerous invasion of their own rights.

Michigan farmers have succeeded pretty well in their 1943 efforts to deliver the crops on schedule, despite handicaps of shortage of labor and a late spring. In agriculture, voluntary labor has succeeded to date. The nutional yield was off only about 10 per cent from 1942 bumper production. Victory gardens, scheduled to produce ten to twelve million tons of food, are expected by the U. S. department of agriculture to yield around eight million tons.

As any city dweller knows, prices of fruits and vegetables have approached fabulous levels. Luxury goods—jewelry, for example—are enjoying record sales. Men's suits are up in price, despite the absence of a vest and a second pair of pants. Women's clothing sales are 40 per cent ahead of 1942 at this time.

Inflation is here, although the cost of living has been stabilized mementarily.

Michigan's state government is wrestling with problems of postwar planning, trying to absorb the terrific shock of vast unemployment and heavy relief loads; meeting impending department deficits due to wage rises while other departments return unexpended funds to the state general fund; trying to satisfy liquor buyers with a short stock of goods, rationed strictly on a quota basis, in competition with black market liquor available to private dealers in other states which do not control profit through a state monopoly.

As 446,000 fathers are drafted this year and 500,000 more fathers face military service in 1944, national shortages in manpower, transportation, newsprint, gasoline, tires and perhaps food are bound to get worse.

During the next few minutes of history, lives of future generations will be vitally affected by what we do or fail to do.

With 12 per cent of all national war contracts concentrated in our factories, Michigan must work harder and keep an eye on the clock. Soon only seconds will remain.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

From Your Congressman

Fred Bradley

Federalizing Education

The Senate last week debated a bill, which had considerable opposition in the Congress and is known as the Educational Finance Act of 1943. This legislation is designed to appropriate 200 million dollars for grants to the several states during the war period and additional permanent grants of 100 million dollars. Most of the money was to have been to raise the salaries of country school teachers. During the Senate debate Senator Langer of North Dakota introduced an amendment reading "That there shall be no discrimination in the administration of the benefits and appropriations made under the respective provisions of this act or in state funds supplemented thereby on account of race, creed, or color." In defense of this amendment, Senator Langer stated the South was asking for funds provided under the above legislation so it can discriminate more and more against the poor children of the South. He pointed out that in one state $61.20 a year is spent for the education of a white child and but $12.62 for a Negro. Race equality, of course, has always been a touchy subject with Southerners and so Southern Democrats bitterly opposed Senator Langer's amendment but despite their opposition the amendment passed by a vote of 40 to 37 with the support of the opponents of the Bill who saw this amendment a good means to bring about the defeat of this entire measure. Consequently, Southern proponents of this bill stating that the amendment takes control of educational funds away from the States and charging that the Northern Senators were playing politics, refused to consider its passage with the Langer amendment included therein and so the bill was recommitted to the Senate committee on Education and Labor by a vote of 53 to 26.

It is true that there is a shortage of school teachers because many of them have seen an opportunity to earn higher wages in war plants. It is also true that the tax rolls of many counties and communities have been considerably lessened by the acquisition of property by the federal government, and on which no taxes are paid, thus embarrassing the local school boards, nevertheless there is no question but what thru the granting of federal funds to states for educational purposes an avenue would be opened up for New Deal planners to slowly and surely spread their propaganda to the youth of our nation and thru our youth attempt to convert our older folks to their way of thinking. I am of the belief that the states can still raise their own revenue for educational purposes even if they must find recourse to adopting a sales tax to foot their expenses like we have in force in our own state of Michigan. Once you let the federal government support institutions which are the responsibility of state and local governments you are on the direct road to federalization and federalization leads to socialism and dictatorship.

Taxes

House Republicans the past week came out against any increases in federal taxes. Democratic members of the ways and means committee indicated the Republican stand killed any chance of a tax bill. So the sales tax question again came to the foreground with Republicans being non-committal and some expressing the sentiment that they would oppose such a tax "except as a last resort".

Joseph Martin, House Republican leader, stated he did not believe in burdening the taxpayers with additional personal income taxes at this time but that we must first put our financial house in order before asking more oppressive personal taxes from the American people. He joined Republican committee members in demanding economy—eliminating waste and extravagance in the government — before new and higher taxes are asked. Representative Martin said "the administration would continue to demand more of the taxpayers money for every project to which they can give a plausible explanation and with the whole world as their playground, it is evident the people will be unable to keep pace with these "happy-go-lucky" spenders as they are reaching the end of their ability to assume new tax obligations".

It would be a simple thing, in my estimation, to curtail non-essential government expenditures by ten billion—the amount requested to be raised thru additional taxation.

COYOTES LEAD BOUNTY PAYMENT IN SEPTEMBER

Coyotes were [illegible] in the lead of predatory animals bountied by the state during September, one of the weak bounty months of the year. Four hundred and forty-two of the animals were bountied at a cost to the state of $7,730. This is 285 more coyotes than were bountied in August, the first of the peak bounty months, but 19 less than in Sept mber, 1942. Ten wolves and sixty-four bobcats were also bountied at a cost of $185.

Q. Why should oil be changed every two months or at 1,000 miles—whichever comes first?

A. Your car produces nearly 1 gallon of water per gallon of gas burned. Short-run driving fails to expel all this water. Some gets into the crankcase and contaminates any oil—especially in cool and cold weather.

Here's your easiest-on-the-battery motor oil!

SHOP-CRAWLING

"Shop-crawling" is a new name for an old practice. It refers to the procedure of going from store to store to get the needed articles. This, of course, is a familiar activity of bargain-hunting housewives, and the despair of husbands who have been compelled to go along on their shopping tours.

Sometimes shop-crawling is necessary because the first, second and third stores don't have what is wanted. When, however, it involves buying a scarce commodity up to the limit in each of several stores, merely to have it on hand, it becomes hoarding. Then it hurts everyone in the long run, including the crawler. That kind of operation is a public menace.

DOING WITHOUT

As the war settles down into what seems like a last, long, grim slugging match, and Americans really begin to pass the ammunition, Washington gives warning of still more curtailment of unnecessary driving. There will be less gasoline for civilians, and the gas itself will be of poorer quality, giving less mileage.

By this time the public is learning to "take it", so that every new shock in the form of privation, or loss of luxuries, tends to be regarded as "just another of those thing".

Fortunate are the people who can look at the matter so philosophically. This fat and pampered nation has hardly made a real beginning yet in the matter of war sacrifice. By the standard of any nation in the Old World, and of many also in the New, the American people are still revelling in luxury. It will be time to growl about privation when the average American can no longer have eggs, steaks, tropical fruits, white bread, cake, pie, warm clothing, new shoes, and many other desirable things unattainable by an immense majority of the people in this world.

VIOLATIONS HUNTING LAWS IN SEPTEMBER

Conservation Officers Made 356 Arrests in Month

Although duck hunting season did not open until the 25th of the month, 78 of the 356 arrests made by conservation officers during September were for violation of the duck hunting laws, the department of conservation reports.

Fifty-six arrests were made during the month for possession of a gun in deer or small game area during the closed season and forty-four for fishing without a license.

For the 356 violations of conservation laws in September the total of fines paid was $4,196.00 and the total of jail sentences served was 35 days.

GIFTS TO SOLDIERS NOT YET OVERSEAS

December 10 Set as Deadline for Mailing Christmas Parcels

Christmas parcels for soldiers who have left home stations en route overseas after September 30 may be mailed as late as December 10, it was announced by Col. S. D. Ringsdorf, district commander, district No. 1, Sixth Service Command, Detroit.

The new deadline has been set for the benefit of persons who receive official change of address notification subsequent to September 30. The reason for the separate provision is that relatives and friends of soldiers being shipped now would have expected the soldiers still to be in this country at Christmas time and would not have sent parcels in time for the regular October 15 deadline for oversens mailing.

The change of address notification must be presented by the sender when the package is mailed. The same limitations on weight and size placed on packages mailed before October 15 will hold for those mailed before the December 10 deadline. Packages may not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined, and they may not weigh more than five pounds.

One other restriction on the deloyed mailing is that only one parcel can be sent from one person to any one individual with an overseas A. P. O. address.

MRS. WILL WITHERS IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Was Life-Long Resident of Marion Township; Services Monday

Mrs. Belle Withers, 83, widow of the late William Withers, well known dairyman, died early Friday morning at her home in Marion township. She had been failing in health for some time.

Belle Block was born March 14, 1860, at St. James. In 1861 the family came to Marion township, and here she lived for the rest of her life. On December 9, 1885, she was married to William Withers, who preceded her in death January 22, 1939.

She was a member of Charlevoix chapter No. 72, Order of Eastern Star.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Rowley Williams, of Marion township; two sons, Clarence, of Wyandotte, and Harold, of this city; seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Rev. G. Russell Parker, pastor of the Congregational church at Northport, conducted funeral services at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the Sce Funeral Home. Interment was at Brookside cemetery.

WEDNESDAY PARTY AT K. OF P. LODGE HALL

Due to heating plant difficulties, the party scheduled for Wednesday, October 27, at St. Mary's Recreation Center will be held in the Knights of Pythias lodge hall. It is expected that the condition will be remedied within a few days so that the next party will be at the center.

WORK OF FOREST FIRE FIGHTERS IS PRAISED

Volunteer Group Gets First Trial In Recent Emergency

P. J. Hoffmaster, director of the state conservation department, today praised the efficient and gallant work of the volunteer members of the newly created Forest Fire Fighters' Service during Michigan's recent 11-day forest fire emergency.

Pointing out that although 225 fires got started during the danger period, the area burned over was kept under 9,000 acres, Mr. Hoffmaster commended the quick and effective action of these volunteer crews all over the state in keeping the damage from so many starts down to a comparatively low acreage.

The director stated that this recent fall fire threat was the first chance that this volunteer organization had had to "show its stuff". The FFFS was organized early in the spring by the Office of Civilian Defense, with the cooperation of the conservation department and the United States forest service.

NEW LAW REQUIRES MARKING SHANTIES

Ice Fishermen Must Put Name and Address on Shelters

A new law, in effect this year for the first time, requiring the marking and removal of shanties or other structures or shelters used for fishing through the ice is being brought to the attention of ice fishermen by F. A. Westerman, chief of the state conservation department's fish division.

The law requires the name and address of the owner to be written legibly where it can be seen easily on the outside of the fishing shanty or shelter and that the structure be removed before ice conditions make removal unsafe or within 30 days after the ice melts if ice conditions prevent taking it away sooner.

To take care of any structures that are not removed at the proper time, the law authorizes the director of conservation to have them removed and stored or destroyed and to assess the costs involved to the persons whose names are on the buildings.

Violation of this law constitutes a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $50 and costs, 30 days in jail, or both.

126TH REGIMENT WRITES HISTORY

ember, 1942, Sgt. Matchett was one of the "Lost Company", rescued two days before Christmas after being cut off for 21 days from the main body of the force. Ill with malaria for some time, he has recently returned to combat duty.

Sutton is well known as the "Jap-Killer", with approximately 45 Japs to his credit in November, 1942, and probably many more by this time.

Bob Heise, son of Paul Heise, was for three months in the personal staff of General Douglas MacArthur in Australia, but has recently been transferred to a different location.

Carlton Smith, drafted into the army as a buck private, was last summer sent to officers' training camp in Australia after participating in many of the 126th's battles in New Guinea, and in August was commissioned a second lieutenant. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith, Rt. 1.

Decorated with the Order of the Purple Heart for wounds received in the New Guinea campaign last november was Cpl. Frank Pop, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pop. He is at present believed to be in Australia.

Cpl. Edward S. Radle, son of Mrs. Charles Radle, and an active participant in Charlevoix high school athletics, was inducted from Detroit in April, 1941. When the first air-borne American troops landed on New Guinea in August, 1942, Ed. was the first enlisted man to set foot on the island. Both he and Sgt. Newman, suffering from malaria which is so prevalent in the tropics, are now at the same army training center for recuperation from the malady.

Charlevoix can be proud of the record made by these seven men who have served overseas since April, 1941, with the 126th regiment. As a tribute to their fine service record, those members of Charlevoix Post No. 1153, Veterans of Foreign Wars, who were in the 32nd division during the first World War, are sponsoring memberships in the V. F. W. for these men.

WORLD PARISH DAY AT BAPTIST CHURCH

World Parish Day will be observed at the Baptist church in afternoon and evening services Sunday, November 4. Several speakers will be present. The public is cordially invited to attend.

MEETING BLUE STAR MOTHERS THURSDAY

Blue Star Mothers will meet Thursday evening with Mrs. Carl Kohler, 215 Park avenue. All members are urgently requested to be present.

CREDIT ASSOCIATION STOCKHOLDERS MEET

Gaylord Organization's Annual Session In November

Annual stockholders' meeting of Gaylord Production Credit Assn. will be held in sections again this year, in order that everyone may have an opportunity to attend.

Dates and places for the meetings are as follows: Gaylord V. F. W. hall on November 8, beginning with lunch at noon; Petoskey at the court house on November 8, at 8 p. m.; Cheboygan at council rooms November 9, at 8 p. m.; Alpena at the Engle hall on November 10, at 8 p. m.

While this is a meeting of the stockholders of the association, anyone interested in farm credit and leaders of agricultural organizations are also urged to attend. In addition to the educational features of the program, there will be a lunch, entertainment and prizes.

MICHIGAN IS SECOND IN LIMESTONE OUTPUT

Rogers City Quarry Is Known As Largest In World

With the largest limestone quarry in the world within its borders, Michigan's ten million dollar limestone industry ranks second in the country, surpassed only by Pennsylvania.

Michigan quarries produced 15,884,930 tons, valued at $9,049,188 in 1942. With 9.5 miles of working face from which the blasted-down blocks of rock are scooped into waiting cars by the largest electric shovel used in a limestone quarry, the quarry at Calcite near Rogers City in Presque Isle county is known everywhere as the largest limestone quarry in the world.

LICENSE FUNDS BOUGHT PUBLIC ACCESS SITES

Reporting on the progress of its popular public fishing site program, the state conservation department's fish division reveals that 192 public access points on Michigan lakes and streams have now been purchased or optioned. This program, which is financed from the special 40-cent fund established from resident fish license fees, has been carried out since January 1, 1940, at a cost to the state of $300,272.

NOTIFY DISTRICT OPA BEFORE FARM AUCTIONS

Farm equipment auctioneers were recently advised by the regional office of price administration that they are required to notify the Grand Rapids district OPA office of every scheduled public or private sale of used farm equipment at least six days before the sale. The notice shall include place, date, and time of sale, and a copy of announcement of the sale.

Promoted to Corporal

The public relations office of the 106th infantry division at Fort Jackson, S. C., recently announced the promotion of Pfc. Fay A. Bradley, former Charlevoix county deputy clerk, to the rank of corporal. Recently the untimely death of the First Sergeant of his organization left Cpl. Bradley with full responsibility, which, says the dispatch, he carried on in a commendable manner, but lack of seniority kept him from obtaining that rank at this time.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through the Charlevoix Courier.—Adv. 23

At Fort Knox School

Pvt. William E. Chambers, this city, is one of a class of soldier students who are taking a special course in the wheeled vehicle department at Fort Knox, Ky., armored school. This department trains student mechanics in the intricacies of keeping peeps and jeeps, trucks and scout cars rolling in combat.

Deer License Blacklist

The state conservation department's new 1943 blacklist of persons denied the privilege of buying a deer hunting license this year, which was distributed to the proper authorities throughout the state this week, contains 376 names. Last year's list named 232 persons who were refused the right to buy deer hunting licenses.

Weight Tax Returns

Vouchers totaling $4,218,364.51 in returns to counties from the third quarter of the 1943 vehicle weight tax collections were turned over to the auditor general this week by Charles M. Zeigler, state highway commissioner. Charlevoix county is scheduled to receive $15,936.11.

Blame It on the Weather

Even the weather gets blamed for causing violations of hunting laws, according to Dale Benjamin, conservation officer of Eaton county. When he arrested a hunter for failing to wear his back tag, the man said it was raining and he didn't want to get the tag wet.

ARMY LETTERS

Dear Mr. Usher,

I am very happy to receive the Charlevoix Courier. I love to read about what is going on back home and the letters that the boys write and you put in the paper. I guess all the kids I knew and went to school with are in the armed forces now. There are a few that I write to, but I sure have a hard time keeping up with them and I guess they have a hurd time keeping up to me.

Even the Courier has a hard time keeping up to me, but they always catch up somewhere and they are never too old or too late to read and enjoy them.

I want to thank you a million times for sending the paper to me and I sure do enjoy it. I want to wish you good luck and thanks again.

Hello folks!

Sincerely yours,
Martin W. Richardson AOM3c

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

"Keeping store," Sam Abernethy says, "can teach a person plenty about human nature.

"Now coffee rationing's lifted, folks ain't a-breakin' their necks tryin' to buy all they can. Knowin' they can have it if they want it, they ain't so all-fired anxious to get it."

Sam's right, as usual. I don't crave that second cup half as much as when I couldn't get it.

But that's human nature . . . Like allowing moderate beer in the Army's post exchanges. Instead of leading to more drinking, the OWI report says it works out just the opposite—often as not the men choose soda-pop or milk, with beer right there and no restrictions on it.

But if it wasn't there, like in the last War, the story might be altogether different.

From where I sit, that's how it is with Americans. Tell 'em they can't have a thing and by golly, they'll find ways to get it. But admit their right to have it, and their own good sense will lead to moderation.

Joe Marsh

CAN VITAMINS CHANGE GRAY HAIR?

Read the amazing experience of gray-haired people in Calcium Pantothenate tests sponsored by Good Housekeeping magazine.

According to this report:

Age—did not seem to affect results. The earliest response occurred in a 50 year old; the latest in a 23 year old.

Color—began to appear near the roots of the hair. The color may not appear all over the head at the same time. Symmetrical areas, perhaps on the temples or the back of the head, may show traces of color first, after which the color will spread to other parts of the head.

Time—varied from 1 month to 6 months.

Results—88% of those tested had positive evidence of a return of some hair color.

● Now thousands use GRAYVITA, which contains 10 mgm. of Calcium Pantothenate (the same amount used in tests above) PLUS 450 U. S. P. units of B_1, the vitamin necessary to healthy nerves. Try GRAYVITA. See what a difference it may make in the way you look. 30 day supply, $1.50, 100 day supply $4.00. Phone, write

(From the Charlevoix Journal, published by Charles J. Strang)

It is said that never in the history of Charlevoix has there been so much building going on at this time of year as there is now.

George B. Guyles has been appointed postmaster at Norwood.

A. J. Mudge is advertising his new grocery at the corner of Antrim and Grant streets.

The floors are laid in the new mills; the boiler is being set this week; the iron siding is completed, and the machinery is expected on the next boat from Chicago.

J. Milo Eaton and J. L. Newberry are building stone walls in front of their lots on Main street, and grading and sodding the lots in front of their houses.

C. B. Glass has finished the brick work on E. H. Green's block, and commenced Al. Washburn's new house on Monday morning.

W. H. Harris, manager of the new mill, is expected to arrive this week.

Dr. G. W. Crouter, chemist and druggist, is selling an oriental balm guaranteed to have a magical effect on complexions spoiled by the lake air and wind, or suffering from moth, tan and pimples.

Party of young people made things lively at W. A. Atchinson's Friday evening.

The next two attractions at the opera house are "Brewster's Millions" and "The Light Eternal," both famous stage plays presented by road companies.

Henry Papineau bought out James Whitley's barber shop Wednesday.

Bert Tayler, who left June 25 for a visit with relatives in Birmingham, England, returned Tuesday.

W. H. Cooper and Elmer Donaldson were severely injured Monday morning when they fell from a broken scaffolding along the second floor of the Carpenter building on Bridge street, where they were painting.

C. H. S. notes—Elsie Miles, of East Jordan, entered high school this week as a sophomore. . .Charlevoix defeated Petoskey in Saturday's football game, 27 to 7.

County normal—Miss Ethyl Jacobs is housekeeper for the week, and Gladys Johnson is ventilator. (We are very curious about the duties connected with the office of ventilator.)

The 1914 Olympic Forty and Majestic Forty-Five autos are now out, says R. F. Sloan, distributor for the Jackson Automobile Co. The smooth running Northway motor never fails to start from the driver's sent. Did you ever have darkness overtake you and discover the fact that you had no match to light the lamps? These models have plenty of electricity for lighting. No need to look and see how low the gas is in the tank, the gauge is always before your eyes.

Lifting of gas-less day ban by the fuel administrator brought out many cars last Sunday, in spite of rainy weather.

Persons from surrounding towns and places afflicted with influenza will be prohibited from stopping in Charlevoix, by order of the board of health.

Charlevoix county has oversubscribed its Fourth Liberty Loan by $31,700. Charlevoix's quota was $111,000.

Writing from France this week are Lawrence Ditlefsen, Forrest Wallace, Roscoe Corbin, Joe Holecheck, Walter Hall.

Will Ripley has arrived safely overseas. . .Ed Edwards is in New York, waiting to go overseas. . .R. L. Lewis leaves Sunday for Camp Zachary Taylor, Ky., to enter officers artillery training school. . . Leuving Wednesday for Camp Kustis, Va., were Martin Carling, Charles D. Hale, Clarence Hanshew.

Christmas parcels for boys in the AEF in France are limited to three pounds, Postmaster T. G. Finucan advises, while those in Siberia and Russia are limited to seven pounds. Presents for men in the navy are limited to 20 pounds.

Sheriff Charles Novak and Deputy Henry Pike, scouting southeast of Bayne Falls the other day, found two men running a 25-gallon, double header still, full of apples, with 400 gallons of mush ready to distill, and two other stills ready to be installed. Five gallons of manufactured moonshine were seized as evidence.

Wright Ripley, keeper of Charlevoix harbor lights since they were placed in the harbor entrance 39 years ago, will retire from the lighthouse service November 1. His successor is Carl J. Grann, keeper of Calumet harbor light.

From the rural correspondence we learn that there really is, or was, a Toenail hill, near the high bridge over the railroad just this side of Phelps. And we thought all along that Ken had made that up as a legendary location for the mythical rural characters in his column. Though why we should give his scribblings any publicity when he never mentions ours, is beyond us.

Percy Edwards left last week for Bayne City, where he has employment this winter at the tannery.

Bobby Emrey, little son of County Clerk and Mrs. Charles Emrey, ran into a dog Saturday while speeding along the sidewalk on his velocipede, and was thrown from the bicycle, sustaining a fracture of the collarbone.

Clarence Bridge and Miss Maude Charlotte Cable were married Thursday in Grand Rapids, and Kaye Buttars and Miss Eleanor Simpson were wed Friday in Detroit. Both couples are now on a honeymoon trip east. Mr. Bridge is superintendent of the city's electric light and water departments while Mr. Buttars is assistant cashier of the County Bank.

Local hardware dealers may expect a general rush on their stocks of guns, ammunition and other hunting paraphernalia as members of Charlevoix Encampment No. 19, under Oscar Nelson and Jud Hardy, get ready for their annual hunt next Saturday.

C. H. S. notes—Double seats in the high school assembly room have been removed and placed in single aisles. . .Charlevoix lost to St. Ignace Saturday, Dick Marshall was unable to play, Billy Novak was hurt, and the field was knee-deep in mud.

There will be a Republican rally at Boyne City next Tuesday evening with torchlight procession, bands, campaign speaker and all the trimmings.

Henry E. Buddy, formerly of Onaway, is the new A & P store manager. Cliff Heller and wife have been transferred to East Jordan.

Miss Helen Newman and Albert Cook were married Wednesday by Rev. B. G. Mattson at the Congregational parsonage. After a wedding trip to the bride's home in Creighton Mines, Canada, they will reside in Charlevoix.

Foster and Hebert starred in Charlevoix's win over the Boyne football team Saturday on Boyne's field, making the Kipmen the only undefeated and untied class C team in this region.

Soaped windows and nightly gathering of the young people about the downtown section heralds the close approach of the Halloween season.

Joseph Howard has assumed the management of the O. E. Wilbur dock properties during the balance of the navigation season. Capt. Wilbur has gone to Chicago for the winter.

Charles Bleha, this city, and Miss Esther Fitzgerald of Oberlin, Ohio, were married Sunday afternoon at the Baptist parsonage. They will make their home in this city, where Mr. Bleha is employed at the A & P store.

AFTER TEN YEARS

Ten years ago the country was greatly agitated by the fight, then nearing its end, to repeal the prohibition amendment, and by the depression, then entering upon its fifth year.

How far away those days seem now! Our economic problems then seemed without solution, yet now unemployment is almost a forgotten word.

Except that we confidently expect to win the war, today's problems seem equally without an answer. Yet it may well be that ten years from now, in the midst of some other perplexity, we shall look back on these days and wonder why they ever seemed baffling.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

Scouting on foot in Tunisia, Pfc. Charles H. Evans was captured by 30 Italian infantrymen and marched to the rear. A bayonet at his back, Evans whirled, disarmed his guard, and escaped. Although wounded by rifle fire, he hid in a cactus patch till nightfall, slipped back to our forces with valuable information picked up as a prisoner. For this he wears the Purple Heart and the Silver Star. Celebrate Evans' escape with another War Bond.

Right now I am enroute to my squadron, returning after nine days' rest leave. I had a good time on leave in a civilized country, where, as one of the boys remarked, the women wear shoes. After seeing nothing but natives and service men for so long, just to look at a civilian seemed good. During my leave I had a few good steaks with all the trimmings, good shows and lots of entertainment to make up for what I missed for eighteen months. It wasn't like home, but it was the next best thing, and I sure enjoyed it in a big way. I enjoyed two days of good fishing for real fish, sails and sharks. It will sure make steelhead fishing seem tame now. No hunting allowed, but I sure itch for a gun sometimes. There were deer running right through the camp area. Most of them were tame enough to pet, but they are considered a pest around here because they are always getting into anything that is left outside without a cover on it. Sorry I can't tell you the exact location, but even if I did you wouldn't be able to do any hunting there this fall.

As you know, I used to be the squadron aircraft inspector, and that is still my line of work, but instead of one squadron, I have the whole group. And that is not only airplanes, it covers inspection of everything from airplanes on down to the trucks. It will means lots of paper work and long hours, but I can take it.

I still get the paper everytime a bontload of mail comes in, and you can't realize what it means to get some news from home. It is small compared to some papers, but it does a first class job just the same. The letters from the men in the service are of especial interest because I happen to know whore some of them are and I got quite a kick out of their letters.

Well, I suppose I had better close now. Nothing more to say and time to eat again, anyway.

Sincerely,
Bob Fochtman.

Dear Ken,

How is everything around Charlevoix? Fine, I hope. I am sorry I haven't written before, but have been awful busy and didn't have time hardly to write even to my folks, but now I'm caught up on my work for a little while, so will try and write a few letters.

It won't be long and it will be buck hunting, but don't think I'll be able to go this fall, but hope I can next.

I am still in England and don't like it any better than I did when I first got here. I haven't run across anyone from Charlevoix or from any one around there. It sure is lonesome over here.

I want to thank you for sending me the Courier and would appreciate it if you would continue sending it. I can't think of anything else to say, besides it is getting late, so guess I'll have to close for now. So until I'm with you again, keep smiling and I'll try to do the same.

As ever,
Sox

Pvt. Delta Richardson.

Dear Ken,

Wish to thank you and the people of Charlevoix for making it possible for me to receive the Courier. It really is a great paper. We are off maneuvers, but will soon be on the move again.

During our maneuver campaign last month I got separated from my outfit. I wandered about in the desert heat for two days without food or water. On the third day when I was about ready to give up, I staggered up a small sand dune and there on top was a small restaurant. With a parched throat and gnawing stomach, I seated myself at a table and ordered the best food and drink I have ever had in my whole life. When I had finished and was feeling pretty lucky, I discovered I didn't have any dough. I sat there a while and finally got up courage to call the waiter and tell him I couldn't pay for my repast. He smiled as he lit a cigar for me and said, "That's all right soldier, this is just a mirage". With my renewed strength I strode out and within the hour found my own outfit. So here I am safe, writing this to you.

So long.

Pvt. Benjamin Walker.

Dear Sir,

I think I will drop you a few lines so I can get your interesting paper. I would like to get some news from back home. I was reading your paper quite regularly but all my friends from Charlevoix are not with me any more, and I started to miss the paper.

A guy sure can lose track of his friends in a hurry, so I think the paper will help me a little to keep track of them. Gosh, the spot I am in now, there isn't any news so I will sign off for now anw I will be looking forward to getting the Courier.

Yours truly,
Andrew Speigi
c/o Postmaster
New York, N. Y.

Dear Ken,

I thought I'd drop you a few lines today. Was going to write you while at Great Lakes, but just didn't. I knew I wasn't going to be there very long anyway. Have been here about two weeks and I believe I'll be here for quite a while yet. Right now am working in what is called ship's company.

They always keep a few fellows here out of every company of men that comes in for this work. The rest of the fellows don't get to stay here over a week until they are shipped out to sea or to bases in the Pacific. The weather sure is swell out here. It gets pretty warm during the day but always cools off at night. Makes it just right for sleeping.

We are entitled to a 24-hour liberty pass every third day and usually go into Berkley or Frisco for the night. We have those USO shows in camp every Saturday night. The one last night was very good. Milton Douglas of the radio was master of ceremonies and he is quite a comedian.

I guess this will be all for now. Hope you get your buck this fall. With those little red points so scarce a nice buck would come in mighty handy.

Best of luck,
Dannie

Dear Ken,

Just a few lines to let you know I have finally settled down long enough to have an address. Was transfered from Nashville, Tenn., to Peterson Field, Colorado Springs, Colo. I was there just a day and was again given a train ticket. This time for Oklahoma City.

My three years will be up in February and it looks like the army wants me to do my share in the States. I can do that but I don't feel right about it.

Order Appointing Time for Hearing of Claims

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

In the matter of the estate of Hannah Rae Gilden, deceased.

At a session of said court, held in the probate office in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 18th day of October, 1943.

Present: Hon. Rollie L. Lewis, Probate Judge.

The above estate having been admitted to probate and Harry A. Craig having been appointed administrator,

It is ordered, that two months from this date be allowed for creditors to present their claims against said estate for examination and adjustment, and that all creditors of said deceased, are required to present their claims to said court, at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, on or before the 23rd day of December, 1943, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which time claims will be heard.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Rollie L. Lewis,
42t3 Judge of Probate.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure—(Chancery)

In pursuance and by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, in Chancery, made and entered on the 9th day of August, 1943, in a certain cause therein pending, wherein Archie L. Livingston and Frank Supernaw, as trustees, are plaintiffs, and Belvedere Golf Club, Inc., a Michigan corporation, formerly the Belvedere Golf Realty Company, a Michigan corporation, is defendant.

Notice is hereby given, that I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the East Front door of the Court House (that being the place of holding the Circuit Court for said county), on Monday, the 6th day of December, 1943, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, Central Standard Time, of said day, the following described property, viz: all those certain pieces or parcels of land situate in the Townships of Marion and Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, described as follows:

First Parcel:

The southeast quarter (SE¼) of the Southwest quarter (SW¼) of Section thirty-four (34), in Township Thirty-four (34), north of Range eight (8) west, excepting a parcel of land described as follows: commencing at the southwest corner of said first parcel; thence north four (4) rods; thence east forty-six (46) rods, thence south four (4) rods; thence west forty-six (46) rods to the place of beginning.

Second parcel:

The north half of the northeast quarter (N½ of NE¼) of section three (3), in township thirty-three (33) north, of range eight (8) west, excepting about two and 5-16 acres along the east side thereof owned and used by Marion township as a gravel pit; and also excepting a strip of land two (2) rods in width off the south side, and east of the County Road, formerly deeded to said Marion township for highway purposes.

Third Parcel:

All that part of the south half of the southeast quarter (S½ of SE¼) of section thirty-four (34) township thirty-four (34) north, range eight (8) west, lying south of the railroad right-of-way of the Standard Portland Cement Company; and also excepting the highway known as the County Road.

In accordance with the terms of said decree, said property will be sold as an entirety and not in separate parcels.

Bids will be received and accepted in accordance with the terms of said decree, and will be publicly announced on the day of the sale prior to receiving bids.

Dated October 12th, 1943.

You Can't Keep a Good Ship Down

The Japanese bombs on Pearl Harbor which ignited a war flame in Ameriea also disabled every United States battleship in the Hawaiian area and destroyed 80 naval aircraft of all types. The aireraft were all replaced within a few days. Within a year mast of the damaged vessels were repaired and back in actian. Today, almost two years from December 7, 1941, the United States navy has came back ta defeat the best that Japan can throw against it. Aecarding to authorities there is no navy that can match the combined size, experienee, and air strength of Uncle Sam's fleets.

This war has braught new feats of naval salvage operatians of which Pearl Harbor is an autstanding example. The work af naval salvage workers exceeded the most hopeful expectatians and the speed with which they repaired broken ships symbolizes the navy's spirit whieh is carrying it to Japan's shares for a final accounting.

Damage and corrosion to the superstructure of the Oklahoma are quite pronounced in this picture: Inset: Some of the navy ship yard workers are women. Dorothy Waiwaiole, Hawaiian, is shown cutting steel to be shipped back to the mainland.

Valuable parts of the 26-year-old Arizona are salvaged daily by divers shown ascending from her sunken hull.

Salvage work is in progress elsewhere also. A bridgehouse from a sunken ship off Staten Island is hoisted to a barge.

Some of the vessels damaged at Pearl Harbor required extensive machinery and intricate electrical overhauling as well as refloating and hull repairing. Naval repair yards took full advantage of these inherent delays to install numerous modernization features and improvements. Left: Main deck of the California.

CHATTERER IS PUT IN PRISON

Whoever does a deed that's wrong
Will surely find someday
That for that naughty act of his
He'll surely have to pay.

THAT was the way with Chatterer the Red Squirrel. Of course, he had no business to steal corn from Farmer Brown's corncrib. To be sure, he felt that he had just as much right to that corn as Farmer Brown had. You see, the little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest feel that everything that grows belongs to them if they want it and are smart enough to get it before someone else does. But it is just there that Chatterer went wrong. Farmer Brown had harvested that corn and stored it in his cornerib, and so, of course, no one else had any right to it. Right down deep in his heart Chatterer knew this.

Chatterer was very miserable, so miserable and frightened that he could do nothing but sit huddled up in e little shivery ball. He hadn't the least doubt in the world that this was his very last day and that Farmar Brown's Boy would turn him over to cruel Black Pussy for her breakfast. Farmer Brown's Boy had left him in the trap in the house and had gone out. For a long time Chatterer could hear pounding out in the woodshed, and Farmer Brown's Boy whistling as he pounded. After what seemed a very long time, ages and ages, Farmer Brown's Boy came back. He had with him a queer-looking box.

"There," said he, "is a new home for you, you little red imp! I guess

He struggled and did his best to bite.

it will keep you out of trouble."

He slid back a little door in the top of the box. Then he put on a stout glove and opening a little door in the trap he put in his big hand and closed it around Chatterer. Poor little Chatterer! He was sure now that this was the end and that he was to be given to Black Pussy, who was looking on with hungry yellow eyes. He struggled and did his best to bite, but the thick glove gave his sharp little teeth no chance to hurt the hand that held him. Even in his terror he noticed that the big hand tried to be gentle and squeezed him no tighter than was necessary. Then he was lifted out of the trap and dropped through the little doorway in the top of the queer box, and the door was fastened. Nothing terrible had happened, after all.

Farmer Brown's Boy took the box out into the shed and put it where the sun shone into it. For a little while he stayed watching, but Chatterer still sulked and sulked. By and by he went away, taking Black Pussy with him, and Chatterer was alone.

When he was quite sure that no one was about, Chatterer began to wonder what sort of e place he was in and if there wasn't some way to get out. He found that one side and the top were of fine stout wire through which he could look out, and that the other sides and the bottom were of wood covered with wire, so that there was no chance for his sharp teeth to gnaw a way out. In one corner was a stout piece of an appletree, with two little stubby branches to sit on, and halfway up a little round hole. Very cautiously Chatterer peeped inside the hole. Inside was a splendid hollow. On the floor of the box was a little heap of shavings end bits of rag. And there was a little pile of yellow corn. How Chatterer did hate the sight of that corn! You see, it was corn that had gotten him into all this trouble. At least, that is the way Chatterer felt about it. When he had examined everything, he knew that there was no way out. Chatterer was in a prison, though that is not what Farmer Brown's Boy called it. He said it was a cage.

VILLAGE OF BRIMLEY HAS MOOSE VISITOR

Animal Rampages Through Fences and Gardens of Northern Town

Residents of the St. Mary's river resort village of Brimley are still talking about the whirlwind visit paid their town by a half-ton moose the other day.

The heavy-footed giant rampaged through Brimley, tore up fences, trampled gardens, and suddenly disappeared along the shore. Several hundred persons saw the big fellow, with a heavy set of antlers, as he emerged from the east, dripping wet from swimming in the Whiska river. As he rambled through the village, he never bothered to leap fences; he just lumbered right through them.

It is thought that the moose swam the St. Mary's river from Canada, possibly at Cedar Point, before taking off for Brimley for his fleeting brush with civilization.

TWELVE MILES ILLEGAL TROUT NETS ARE TAKEN

Captain Charles Allers of the conservation department's commercial fisheries patrol boat No. 1 reports the confiscation in the southern part of Lake Michigan of twelve miles of illegal trout nets. The nets are valued at about $1,500. When confiscated they contained approximately half a ton of fish.

happens to be in a joking vein, because of the expressions they use. I thought perhaps some of you readers might have the same trouble, so am quoting herewith a few of these expressions and what they mean. For example, "You melt me," means I like you; C. O. D. means come over dear; "Roll up your flaps" means keep quiet; "Bluey Woozy" is girl who likes sailor, and "Khaki Whacki" is girl who likes soldier; A. W. O. L. is a wolf on the loose; "In cold storage" means I haven't got a date. Try to work these phrases into your conversation and you'll see what I mean.

At the rate geese were flying south Sunday, winter is either here or on its way. Monday afternoon's temperature of 35 degrees was sort of on the wintry side, too.

A hundred things that men do are not good for them, but somehow they survive.

Folks used to ask the Lord for their daily bread and now they ask the rationing board for their daily fuel.

She: "Is there much graft in the army?"
He: "Oh, sure. Even the bayonets are fixed."

It was good to see Judge Parm C. Gilbert back on the bench for the October court session. He'd been seriously ill all summer and only lately returned to his duties.

Walter Lipmnn says the U. S. has no foreign policy. Perhaps he can tell us what the domestic policy is.

As you consider present marketing conditions, it would seem that the best way to ration is still by supply. If the merchant cannot buy, neither can you, whether you have stamps or not.

And that reminds me that farm prices are the highest in 23 years—for what the farmer hasn't got.

I hunted "pats" last Sunday and came home with a skunk, if you can figure what that means.

The fishing for perch has been great the past few days on the west shore of Lake Charlevoix off the Belvedere swimming pier and the railroad swing bridge. They're getting some in Round lake, too. The steelhead situation has been peculiar this fall, I was told Monday by Capt. Oscar Smith. He said they were not very plentiful and nothing under three pounds. Fish running between 5 and 9 pounds were the rule.

Rationing of coal is now promised—or threatened. It seems it is easier to make the people go without it than it is to get union miners to dig it.

Dear Sir:

OPA MAILS REPORT FORMS TO FARMERS

Dealers in Rationed Foods Must Register with Local Boards

The office of price administration today stated that in order to assist farmers in sending OPA the ration points they collect from the sale of rationed foods, local war price and rationing boards are mailing direct to farmers in their areas the necessary reporting form, addressed envelopes and complete instructions regarding the collection of ration stamps.

The farmers are required to turn over to their local OPA rationing board all ration points received from the sale of rationed foods, and also a report for the month in which the sales were made. This report must be filed not later than 15 days following the month that the sales were made.

The farmers who deal in these rationed foods must also register with their local rationing board.

Farmers who have not reported to OPA, since they have not sold rationed meats or fats up to this time, may not receive the reporting form and instructions by mail. However, they may obtain the form at any local board.

It is not necessary for the farmer to go to his local board to register. When he files his first report, and submits ration stamps for sales of rationed foods during the previous month, he automatically becomes registered.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS TO BE SENT IN NOVEMBER

Cards and Parcels Must Be Mailed Long Before Holiday

War has dislocated the Christmas mailing season this year, is the statement of Postmaster General Frank C. Walker in announcing that Christmas gifts and cards must be mailed during November if they are to reach their destination in this country before December 25.

There can be no assurance, in view of the unavoidable handicaps of war, that gifts and cards mailed in the weeks immediately preceding Christmas will be delivered on time. Such matter must not impede movement of war materials and personnel, and military mail.

Heavily burdened transportation facilities, loss of 30,000 postal employees to the armed forces, replacing these experienced employees with inexperienced personnel, and the fact that this year it will be almost impossible to secure the 200,000 temporary employees usually hired during the holiday season, are the main factors in setting November as Christmas mail month.

Last year mailing started early, but the volume at first was small and there was the usual pre-Christmas rush. This year, if mailings become a last-minute deluge as in previous years, it will be physically impossible to deliver them by Christmas. Gifts sent in November should be marked "Do not open until Christmas."

BLOCK GROCERY TRUCK DUCKED IN ROUND LAKE

Brakes Released, Vehicle Rolled Down Mason Street Hill

The second automobile "drowning" to take place at the foot of Mason street within a few weeks, occurred Saturday afternoon when Milton Block's grocery delivery truck rolled into Round lake from a parking place beside the Block store.

Returning from lunch, Mr. Block parked the panel truck next to the store. In some manner the truck's brakes were released and the vehicle rolled downhill and into the lake. Rescue was effected about 7:30 p. m. by Forrest Plumm and Carlton Ikens with the city electric department's large truck, equipped with a powerful hoist. The truck was in the water about five hours.

The first such incident to occur on Mason street hill took place last August, when Clarence Meggison's Oldsmobile sedan was accidentally pushed into the lake by a truck.

Following the morning service there will be an official board meeting, at which every member is requested to be present.

BEAVER ISLAND RUN ROUGHEST ON LAKES

Motorboat Magazine Features Trip to Island in Current Issue

The following article is reprinted from the October issue of Motorboat, nationally circulated boating magazine:

"Salt water sailors who are inclined to scoff at the Great Lakes when mention is made of heavy weather, have never made the crossing between Charlevoix and Beaver Island.

"Providing one of the many delightful cruises for thousands of summer tourists and vacationists visiting Charlevoix and northern Michigan, this 33-mile boat trip on Lake Michigan also is often a physical test for sea-farers and requires a sturdy craft and able seamanship to handle it.

"Plying the route with passengers, mail and freight, is the steel motorship Mary Margaret, a Diesel-powered craft whose somewhat abbreviated length and seeming excessive height belies its seaworthiness. Piloted by Capt. Leroy Allers, one of Beaver Island's native sons and descendant of a seafaring people (half of the island's male population are fishermen or Great Lakes sailors), the boat makes daily trips in summer and three trips weekly in the spring and fall, regardless of weather.

"The Charlevoix-Beaver Island route is frankly termed by lake mariners as the toughest on Lake Michigan, a circumstance caused by the intermittent barrier of islands midway between the Michigan and Wisconsin shores, creating cross-seas and heavy current in any westerly blow. Long, even waves customary in unobstructed water are always absent during a blow on the Beaver Island "run", thus the route gains its reputation.

The mailboat is the sole means of communication between the mainland and the island, with its 300 inhabitants. The trip is popular, too, for the island, once the stronghold of "King" James J. Strang's Mormon colony, still holds much of historical interest, not to mention excellent fishing, and deer hunting in season. Many city residents, particularly yacht owners, have found the Beaver's natural beauty and solitude to their liking, with the result that the summer-home colony is increasing annually."

USE OF RATION BOOK OUTLINED

Book four has six pages of point stamps: two pages of red, two pages of blue, two pages of green stamps. Their lettering and numbering system is identical with that now in use. Two pages of numbered stamps printed in black ink are also in the book. Of these, 72 are labeled "spares", 12 are labeled "sugar" stamps, and the 12 designated for coffee will also be used as spares. The book was in production when coffee rationing was discontinued, and the necessary changes would have been costly.

On November 1, green stamps A, B and C will become valid for purchases of processed foods. Their validity period will overlap that of blue stamps X, Y and Z in book two, which expire November 20.

Red stamps in book four will not be put into use until further notice. It is planned to use them for purchase of meats and other commodities now being rationed with brown stamps in book three. Blue stamps in book four will also go into use later in purchase of processed foods.

There will be no change in the method of shopping with the new ration book, and the same number of points are allowed for each person as in the past.

DRAFT DELINQUENTS ORDERED TO REPORT

Men Over 38 Subject to Draft in Some Circumstances

Draft delinquents are given until November 1 to report to their local selective service board, says Fay C. Davis, clerk of the Charlevoix county board.

Anyone failing to report change of address or to report for physical examination after that date will be referred at once to the United States district attorney in Grand Rapids. Previously, delinquent cases were allowed to drag for several months while the delinquent was given ample time to report to his local board. Such leniency will be eliminated in the future.

Men over 38 who believe themselves to be draft-exempt are also warned not to ignore the "work-or-fight" ruling, for recently a number of these over-ages men have been inducted upon their refusal to take essential jobs, or, in some cases, to support their families.

FRANKLIN OCHS WRITES OF HISTORICAL SPOTS

Prefers Edinburgh to London, In Opinion After Visiting Both Cities in Recent Weeks

Reprinted herewith are two letters from Franklin Ochs, pharmacists mate second class, U. S. navy, stationed in England, written to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Ochs. He tells of visiting many places in Great Britain of historical interest.

September 21

Dear Mother and Dad,

I did not get a chance to write Friday as I had planned. I received temporary orders which took me to London. I was able to spend Saturday night and Sunday seeing as much of London as possible. I stayed at the Washington Red Cross Club, which I believe is the nicest Red Cross club in London. The arrangements with the taxi were made to see points of interest in the city, and I collected cards of most of the places and some guide sheets.

I went through Westminster Abbey and St. Paul's cathedral; saw Buckingham palace, Big Ben, the houses of Parliament, Scotland Yard, the war office and other government buildings, London bridge, Tower bridge, Tower of London, the Charles Dickens curio shop and the bombed area of old London. On Sunday, I walked through the parks, St. James park and Hyde park, which are both near Buckingham palace.

It was all very interesting and there are many other things I would like to tell, but they are hard to tell in a letter. While in London I had some of the warmest weather since I left the States. It really was nice there then, and I did not even see any of that so-called London fog.

October 20

Dear Mother and Dad,

Now I have seen some of the more important cities of the Bri-

HALLOWEEN PARTY AT RECREATION CENTER

Costume Dance Given Friday for Local High School Youth

St. Mary's recreation center was the scene of a highly successful Hallowe'en party given Friday evening for Charlevoix high school students and their guests.

Black crepe paper decorations formed the setting for an evening of dancing and games. Prizes for the best costumes were awarded Fern Gorman, in "gay nineties" garb, and Linda Bowman, dressed as a lumberjack. One dollar in war stamps was awarded each winner.

COUNTY BANK BALANCE OVER MILLION DOLLARS

Last week's published statement of condition of the Charlevoix County State Bank showed a balance of $1,153,161.81, the first time a Charlevoix banking institution has showed an amount in excess of one million dollars on a published statement.

Highest prices paid for good used cars. See Karl J. Erber, Northern Auto Co., Charlevoix, Mich.—32tf.

LOCAL SERVICE MEN AWARDED PRIZES

Over $250 Sent From St. Mary's Recreation Center

Winners of the service men's popularity contest which ended last Wednesday at St. Mary's recreation center were: first prize, $10, Richard Hull; second prize, $5, Carl Snider.

In the contest preceding this one, Lt. John Collins won first place, Irving Hallett Jr. was awarded second. Another contest started this week.

Over $250 in cash prizes have been sent to service men since these contests originated.

Graduates at Lowry Field

Pfc. Hubert Greene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Greeno, of St. James, has graduated from the armament department of the army air forces technical training command at Lowry Field, Denver, Colo. Entering the army in May, 1943, he received his basic training at Lincoln, Nebr.

YOUNG VETERAN HOME ON VISIT

HIGH AIR AWARDS WON BY STAFF SGT. EVERS

Turret Gunner on B-25 Bomber in 55 Missions Over Africa, Sicily and Italy

Wearing the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal and several oak leaf clusters, Staff Sgt. Stanley A. Evers arrived in Charlevoix, Saturday, to visit for three weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Evers, of Hayes township.

At the age of 20, Sgt. Evers is a veteran of the African, Sicilian and Italian campaigns. As top turret gunner on a B-25 bomber, he participated in 55 bombing missions which opened the way for invasion of Sicily and the Italian mainland, following the allied victory in north Africa.

Sgt. Evers enlisted in the army air corps immediately after his graduation from Charlevoix high school in June, 1941. He trained at McChord Field, Wash., Esler Field, La., Stockton Field, Calif., and the Harlingen army gunnery school, Texas, before going overseas in July, 1942.

An incident which took place early in the Egyptian campaign won him the Distinguished Flying Cross. When his plane fell out of formation with one of its two engines shot out, a German fighter plane attacked the crippled ship. From his exposed position in the upper turret, Sgt. Evers bent off the enemy plane, although he did not actually shoot it down. For this heroic action he was given the air forces' highest decoration.

REGISTRATION FOR RATION BOOK FOUR

Issue 2,488 Books to Local and Nearby Rural Residents

A total of 2,488 copies of war ration book four were issued in last week's registration at the high school building. Residents of Charlevoix and the immediate vicinity registered here.

Members of the faculty and high school students assisted in issuing the books. Registration was carried out smoothly, with no rash of applicants at any time.

Fighting Disease, Japs in Jungles of Burma

Americans, Burmese, Chinese, British, and native Naga coolies are battling side by side against disease and the Japanese in the jungles of Burma. Left: Big Hawk, an expert in microscopic work, instructs Na Shaw, another Burmese nurse, at the Seagrave hospital unit of the U. S. army. Right: Along a rugged north Burman trail, American-trained Chinese soldiers put a field gun into position. Upper inset: Capt. Rolf Krog of St. Joseph, Mo., and a Chinese soldier take time out to rest beside a jungle trail. This picture was taken in the Naga hills where the Chinese and American troops fought together against the Japanese.

RATION TOKENS TO BE USED AS CHANGE

New Fiber "Coins" in Circulation by February, Says OPA

Ration tokens are in the future to be put in circulation as "change" for processed foods and meats-fats ration stamps, similar to the way coins are used with dollar bills in ordinary money transactions.

Expected to be ready for use by February, 9,000,000 of the tokens are being manufactured at a cost to the government of $1,300,000. Each will have a value of one point, and when they go into use, all red and blue stamps will be given a value of 10 points each, according to OPA plans.

Slightly larger than a nickel and smaller than a quarter, they will be made of layers of vulcanized fiber with a yellow center showing around the edges, and two opposite faces of blue and red. In order to make counterfeiting difficult and costly, they will be manufactured with fluorescent qualities. When examined under ultra-violet light, the tokens will be luminous. Only a limited number of companies are equipped to produce the particular material of which they are made, providing a further safeguard against counterfeiting.

BLUE STAR MOTHERS HEAR ARMY OFFICER

WAC Recruiter, Air Corps Captain Spoke at October Meeting

The Blue Star Mothers chapter, meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Carl Kohler, heard brief talks by two army officers who are recruiting for the Women's Army Corps in northern Michigan.

Lt. Magda Carlson, in charge of the Traverse City WAC recruiting station, described the WAC's duties and need for more women to enlist in this branch of service. Capt. Robert E. Lynch, who is on leave from Strother army air field, Winfield, Kansas, also spoke briefly. He is aiding in a special recruiting drive for Air WACs.

Following the business meeting, refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed by the 20 members present.

FISHING CRAFT MAY ENTER DANGER ZONE

War Department Allows Passage of Vessels Through Area

Danger zone regulations governing the mouth of Grand Traverse bay, where aerial machine gun practice is being carried out by aircraft from the Traverse City naval air station, has been revised by the war department to allow commercial fishing vessels to enter the area.

As the area covers much of the waters north of the Leelanau peninsula and east of South Fox island, it is a passageway for many commercial tugs. These vessels will be allowed passage through the area by the commanding officer of the Traverse City naval air station when training operations permit.

MOBILE CLINIC AT BOYNE CITY

CIVILIAN BLOOD BANKS TO BE ESTABLISHED

More Donors Are Needed Here If Charlevoix Hospital Is to Get Processed Blood Plasma

The state health department's mobile clinic will be in Boyne City at the Hotel Dilworth next week from Monday through Friday, to collect blood for civilian blood plasma banks.

The traveling clinic has its own staff of doctors and nurses, and will operate from 9 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. daily. Canteen service for donors is being furnished by the Charlevoix county Red Cross chapter.

If Charlevoix Hospital is to get a supply of plasma after it is processed, it will be necessary to obtain more donors. As anyone who has given blood for this purpose will testify, the procedure is painless. As the plasma is used only for civilians, perhaps a member of the donors' family or a friend may be the one to benefit. Either accidents or operations may necessitate blood transfusions.

While it was hoped to secure at least 65 donors in Charlevoix in order to bring the unit to this city, only about 35 have registered with Mrs. R. F. Sloan. Boyne City, it is reported, has over 200. The mobile unit will probably be in that city for three days or more.

Persons who have received application cards are asked to contact Mrs. Sloan at once, either in person or by phone. It is necessary to know how many local people wish to donate blood to the blood bank program.

ARMY-NAVY COLLEGE QUALIFYING EXAMS

Tests Will Be Given at 9 a. m. Tuesday, November 9

Qualifying tests for the army specialized training program and navy college program will be given at 9 a. m. Tuesday, November 9, at Charlevoix high school.

As tests will begin promptly at 9 o'clock, candidates are to be at the examination room before 8:55. Each applicant will be notified by approximately Dec. 10 whether or not he has qualified for college training, but no actual scores will be reported.

GUEST PREACHER AT METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. Fred T. Champion will be guest speaker at the Methodist church at the 11 o'clock service next Sunday. A member of the northern Indiana conference, Rev. Champion and wife have spent the summer and fall months in Mackinaw City.

Dickens Club Meeting

The Charles Dickens Club will meet each Monday afternoon thru the winter. The next lesson, November 8, will be given at the home of Mrs. A. L. Livingston, 312 Clinton street.

CLOSE NOVEMBER 11

Charlevoix city and county offices, and banking institutions will be closed all day Thursday, November 11, in observance of Armistice Day.

LONG AIR TRIP MADE BY CAPTAIN SHAPTON

Memphis Paper Relates Story of 30,000 Mile Flight

A recent issue of the Memphis, Tenn., Commercial Appeal carried the story of an army four-motored transport's flight to India, on which Capt. Leslie D. Shapton, of Charlevoix, was navigater.

From the Fourth Ferrying group's base at Memphis airport, the plane headed for South America, making a few brief stops along the way. The trip to Africa was made at night by instruments and compass, and, declared Major George F. Ridenour, pilot, "It was some real navigating on the part of Captain Shapton. We made our landfall within less than one minute of the time he had calculated, and at the exact spot."

Crossing the African jungles and Egypt's Nile valley, the big plane stopped at numerous isolated American air fields. Across the ancient cities of the Near East they flew, and landed near the Taj Mahal, built three hundred years ago as the tomb of the Shah Jehan's favorite wife. When the plane returned to Memphis, it had logged 30,000 miles for the trip.

Captain Shapton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shapton, received his promotion to captain just before starting off on this long flight. The Memphis newspaper was sent to his uncle and aunt; Mr. and Mrs. George Block, by a relative in that Tennessee city.

SIGN SATURDAY FOR AAA FEED PAYMENTS

County Committeemen at Co-Ops. to Receive Applications

A Triple-A county committeeman will be at the Charlevoix Co-Operative company on Saturday, November 6, for the purpose of signing applications for dairy feed payments.

All farmers who are eligible to receive this payment should bring their receipts or other evidence of sale of milk, butter fat, or butter to the Co-Ops. this Saturday.

On this same day, farmers in this area may sign for AAA fertilizer. It is expected that another car of 20 per cent phosphate will soon be received in Charlevoix. Those who have not received fertilizer should make an effort to sign on this date.

ISLANDS HAVE FIRE FIGHTING EQUIPMENT

Conservation Department Sheds on Beaver, Bois Blanc

Two new portable equipment sheds to store state owned fire fighting equipment are being built on Bois Blanc and Beaver Island, the field administration division of the state department of conservation has announced.

Trucks, tractors, pumpers and other fire fighting equipment will be stored in these sheds to provide the area with equipment that would be difficult to bring in quickly at the outbreak of fire.

BOYNE CITY YOUTH IS ANNAPOLIS CANDIDATE

James I. Mellencamp, Boyne City high school senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Mellencamp, has been named by Cong. Fred Bradley as principal candidate for appointment to the U. S. naval academy at Annapolis, Md. Three appointments are to be made from this district.

C.H.S. STUDENTS AID FARM HELP SHORTAGE

Money from Pulling Beans Goes to Athletic Association

Fifty students of Charlevoix high school pulled beans at the Will Slough farm near Phelps last Friday afternoon, both alleviating the farm labor shortage and earning funds for the C. H. S. athletic association.

Transported to the farm in the school bus, the students will realize about $100 from the afternoon's work, which will be put into the athletic association's treasury. Coach Ray Kipke accompanied the group.

Armament School Graduate

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wexstaff have received word from their son, Pfc. Charles W. Wexstaff, that he has graduated from the armament school of the army air forces technical training command at Lowry Field, Denver, Colo., and is still stationed at that field. He entered service in April, 1943.

WAR PRISONERS ARE BENEFITED

UNITED WAR FUND DRIVE OPENED HERE MONDAY

Preserve Morale of "Barbed Wire Legion," Six Million Men In Enemy Prison Camps

The Charlevoix County United War Fund drive of the National War Fund campaign was given impetus at its opening, Monday, by a contribution of $500 from the city of Charlevoix.

At the council meeting Monday night, this sum was voted by the councilmen to start Charlevoix toward the $2,768 goal set for the city. County quota in the drive is $10,000.

One of the 17 war relief agencies to benefit from the National War Fund drive is War Prisoners' Aid, which helps the more than six million men who today constitute the "barbed wire legion". These are the military captives imprisoned in war camps, men whose present existence is bare and whose future usefulness in the world, once peace brings their release, is threatened by their tragic experiences.

To keep alive the morale of these men is to preserve not only their bodies but their minds and spirits for better days to come.

Treatment of war prisoners is governed by the Geneva Convention of 1929, a part signed by most of the nations now at war, both allied and axis. This inter-

BOYNE DEFEATS RAYDER ELEVEN

SCORED 13 TO 0 VICTORY HERE LAST SATURDAY

Charlevoix Plays Harbor Springs Here This Week in Final Contest of Season

Boyne City high school's football team defeated Charlevoix's Red Raylers by a 13 to 0 count at south side athletic field last Saturday afternoon.

Their performance was a duplication of that of October 2 when they downed Charlevoix by precisely the same score on their own field.

Boyne scored both touchdowns in the second quarter after being held in their own territory throughout the initial period. Taking Charlevoix's punt on their own 18-yard line, Boyne returned to mid-field. Mellencamp made it first down on Charlevoix's 30, an end run netted three yards, an off tackle play added four and a line buck gave them first down on the local 20-yard strip. Boyne slanted off tackle for no gain, but on the next play passed for a touchdown and hit the line for extra point and a 7 to 0 lead.

The second touchdown followed in close order. Charlevoix fumbled and Boyne recovered on the local 30-yard line. Two bucks and a forward pass advanced to Charlevoix's 18 and an end run was good for the score. There was twenty-five seconds left in the first half.

The second half was a see-saw affair with neither side threatening to score.

Coach Kipke's line-up was: la, Plumm; lt, Ward; lg, Shearer; c, H. Hardy; rg, Brown; rt, North; re, Olach; qb, Zeitler; rh, Novotny; lh, Martin; fb, Belfy. Cross substituted for Ward, Graves for Martin, Bellinger for Olach, Lewis for Hardy, K. Hardy for Novotny.

The Raylers close the season on the home field Saturday, playing a return tilt with Harbor Springs, to whom they lost by a 14 to 0 score October 28.

BRUCE WITHERS IN ARMY PUBLICATION

Commodore Aircraft Rescue Fleet Pictured on Flagship

Sgt. Bruce Withers, commodore of a fleet of aircraft rescue boats in New Guinea, is pictured in a recent issue of "Yank", army publication. Wearing "a topee and nothing much else", he is shown steering his crashboat out of an unnamed harbor.

Two copies of the picture have been received by local people, one from Lewis Brown, yeoman third class, U. S. navy, in Australia, and one from Lt. Meryl McRae, army nurses corps, also in Australia.

CHOSEN DIRECTOR OF RESORT ASSOCIATION

E. J. Edwards, of Charlevoix, was elected a member of the 1943-44 board of directors of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association at the annual meeting held Thursday in Grand Rapids. All counties of the western Michigan area are represented on the board.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

Did you ever notice how many people feel that duty is what everybody else ought to do?

Gosh, how time flies! Here it is only 11 days before the deer season opens, and believe it or not, I haven't got my buck tied up yet. Each year, you know, I've threatened to lay a quarter of beef before going to the woods just to be sure of winter meat, and then they ration the darn stuff so you can't get it without the points I haven't got. Looks mighty tough this year for fellas who are poor shots like me.

Joe L. Holbrook, editor of the Dresden (Tenn.) Enterprise, has a solution for the paper shortage. He suggests that we organize a Mail It club among all newspapers, particularly rural weeklies and small dailies, and let each save all the slash sent out under franked mailing privileges—all that stuff that is burdensome to mail handlers and obnoxious to the rural press because probably one one-hundredth of it never gets opened. Then at the end of each week, take the entire accummulation and mail it, first class, to either his representative in congress or to that group that is eternally talking rationing of print paper. If this is done systematically for a period of three months, Mr. Holbrook firmly believes someone will be made to sit up and take cognizance of where the waste of paper lies. With you, Joe Holbrook, we heartily agree.

CIO has endorsed Roosevelt for a fourth term. Now we have a good reason for being opposed to the CIO. If they'd endorse him for life, we think he would modestly accept. In other words, we're presumably in a state of national emergency as long as he lives.

It is part of the duty of husbands to hear about their past sins. It is part of wisdom never to argue, or question any statement, however inexact it may seem; merely to utter soothing

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

I've received the Courier now for six weeks, and I'm sure glad to get it. It's like getting another letter from home. I should have written sooner, because I have no excuse.

It sure does my heart good to read about my home town. It's so much different than the country I'm in. I never did care much for a hot climate and they would have to send me to India.

I am looking forward now to the time when I will be coming back to Charlevoix, which I hope won't be long now. I'd love to get home this winter so I could just roll in the snow, then maybe I could get rid of this prickly heat. It isn't anything serious enough to ground me, as a matter of fact, it doesn't bother me when I'm up there where it's cold. Sometimes I even turn off the heated suit so I'll get cold for a change.

Just a word about Chronce Smith. He isn't stationed with this squadron. I have seen a lot of Couriers addressed to him sent here. I believe he's in the 492, but you can find out from his mother. I also got a Courier that was sent to other squadrons. Hope this letter straightens it out.

A few weeks ago we built a skeet range. Our crew goes out on its off hours and shoots against other crews to see which can knock down the most birds. I love shooting skeet a lot better than I do shooting pursuit, because skeet don't shoot back at me.

Yesterday while I was coming back from the Flying Cobra Club, I had to walk by a lake surrounded by palm trees, and some native girls were fixing up a road. (Girls in this country do most of the work.) I had borrowed a camera from one of the fellows in our crew, so I could get some pictures of them. But we were luckier than we had expected, because over in the lake some of the beauties were swimming and they were pretty well exposed. While we hid there sweating it out, I got some pretty good shots. I have a friend in the photo section who

THE MIGHTY NAZI BATTLESHIP "Tirpitz" was at an anchorage far within the Arctic Circle when, as recently disclosed, midget British submarines torpedoed her. This picture, taken last year when she was hiding up in another Norwegian fjord, shows this newest and most powerful of German battleships surrounded by anti-torpedo nets, camouflage and small attendant craft. Through miles of such canning protective defenses, including minefields, the British sailors piloted their tiny craft to strike heavy blows at this menace to the Allied convoy route to Russia.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS
By B. C. Mellencamp

Harvest of Record Crop of Potatoes Completed

On the agricultaral front the record crop of potatoes is perhaps the outstanding accomplishment of farmers this year. Early in the spring farmers were asked by the government to increase their acreage of potatoes. Also price supports and loan programs were promised. As a result of these efforts, farmers have met the challenge by the largest acrenge of potatoes ever grown in recent years. The yield per acre has been exceptionally high and the quality of potatoes extremely fine. As of the present time, three growers of potatoes have exceeded a yield of over three hundred bushels per acre. They are William Shepard, of East Jordan, with Chippewas; Elmer Hott, of East Jordan, with Chippewas; and Charles Reidel, of Boyne City, with Green Mountains. Many other yields of from 275 to 300 bashels per acre have been noted. In fact, nearly all of the potato growers who used good seed, sprayed adequately and fertilized to a reasonable degree secured over 200 bushels to the acre. Best of all, never before have we enjoyed such a wonderful harvest season from the standpoint of weather as this year. Many farmers harvested their crop without having to delay a single day for rain or cold weather. Likewise, blight has been checked and field frosts were very slight.

Greater interest has been manifest in certified seed and also a new seed development: namely "War Approved Seed". This year the following growers have certified seed: Leroy Hardy, Boyne City, 5 acres of Russett Rarals; Ed. Jensen, Walloon Lake, 20 acres of Rosset Rorals; Lee Sneathen, Charlevoix, 27 acres of Russet Rorals and 1 acre of Irish Cobblers; Howard Stephens, Charlevoix, 10 acres of Russet Rurals and Chippewas; Don Fox, Boyne City, 13 acres of Russet Rurals.

In addition there were seven new growers of certified seed as follows: William J. Petts, 7 acres of Russet Rurals; August Jensen, Walloon Lake, 5 acres of Russet Rurals; Howard Skornia, Boyne City, 1 acre of Russet Rurals; Fred Brauer, Petoskey, 1 acre of Russet Rurals; Elmer Hott, East Jordan, 10 acres of Chippewas; Carl Grutsch, East Jordan, 1 acre of Sebago; William Shepard, East Jordan, 5 acres of Chippewas.

Now in order to have available an adequate supply of high quality seed to meet the demands for next spring, we have fields that have been inspected and found satisfactory for what is called "War Approved Seed". This seed supply is only slightly inferior to certified seed and certainly much to be preferred over ordinary table stock. It is expected that farmers who need new seed will be interested in baying this war approved seed. The following growers have been approved for "War Approved Seed": Leroy Hardy, Boyne City, Russet Rurals; William J. Petts, Boyne City, Russet Rurals; Fred Brauer, Petoskey, Rasset Rurals; William Shepard, East Jordan, Chippewas; Clinton Blanchard, Charlevoix, Chippewas.

Anyone interested in contracting for next spring's requirements are invited to stop in and see the various lots of seed. Latest information indicates that even a greater acreage of potatoes will be asked for by the federal government next year. Thus the importance of good seed is still a prime requisite in successful production.

ROBERTA SEYMOUR IS BRIDE OF LT. FRED W. YOUNG IN FLINT

At a wedding solemnized Sunday afternoun at 12:30 at the Court Street Methodist church in Flint, Miss Roberta Seymour became the bride of Lt. Fred W. Young Jr., army dental corps, stationed at Fort Custer. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Seymour, former Charlevoix residents who now reside in Flint, and the groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Young, of Detroit.

Dr. W. E. Hurrison officiated at the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families of the couple. Chrysanthemums in fall shades decornted the church. Mrs. Robert Darrah, of Petoskey, sister of the bride, and Dr. Carlisle F. Rueger, of Grosse Pointe, attended the couple.

A street-length gown of gold velveteen, with boucle bodice, was chosen by the bride. Her accessories were brown, and she wore a corsage of brown orchids. Mrs. Darrah wore a pastel blue woul dress with brown accessories and a cattleya orchid corsage.

The bride's mother wore a blue dress with sequins nnd a red rose corsage, while tha groom's mother ware black velvet, also with red roses.

Dinner for 20 guests was served at the Hotel Durant, where the table was set with n three-tiered wedding cake topped by miniature bride and groom.

The couple left for a trip to southern Michigan nnd Indiana, and after November 8 will reside nt 533 Elm street, Kalamazoo.

Out of town guests at the wedding were the groom's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Young, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Milburn, of Detroit; Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Renger, of Grosse Pointe; Mr. and Mrs. Truman Barbier, of Dearborn; Mrs. John Cross, of Charlevoix.

The bride is a graduate of Charlevoix high school, and has been employed in Flint for the past few months. Lt. Young left his dental practice in Charlevoix to entor the army dental corps in June of this year.

missions he received the Air Medal, to which was added a bronze oak leaf cluster for each five consecutive raids. Five bronze clusters were replaced by one of silver, and three more bronze added after that.

Sgt. Evers' bomber group was dubbed "The Earthquakers" by Germans in the African campaign, indicating what effect these bombers had on the enemy. While he was not attached to any one plane, most of his raids were flown in one known as the "Black Widow."

The enthusiastic reception given Americans upon their landing in Sicily was partially due, Sgt. Evers thinks, to the fact that the American troops had more food than the Sicilians and were willing to share it. Whatever the reason, they were heartily welcomed.

Sgt. Evers will report at tha air forces' redistribation center in Atlantic City, N. J., on November 23. It is expected that he will be given an assignment as gunnery instructor at an air base in this country.

MARRIAGE OF JANET WEBSTER AND THOMAS LOUISELLE ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Webster, 311 Antrim street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Janet Margaret, to Thomas Louiselle, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Louiselle, Charlevoix Rt. 3.

Yours truly,
S/Sgt. Vernon Willette
India.

Dear Ken,

It's been quite some time since I wrote you, so thought it about time I dropped you a few lines to let you know I'm still kicking and raising quite a dust.

I want to thank you for keeping the hometown paper coming to us boys over here. Sometimes it's a month old when I get it, but it's still a great help, for it kinda keeps me informed on what is going on back home.

I'm sure going to miss the hunting season this year. I sure would like to bag a nice big buck. Maybe the boys won't get them all this year and there will be a few left for us fellows when we get back.

I guess this will have to be enough for now, for due to the censor, I cannot say where I am or what we are doing. So I'll just give you my change of address and sign off. Thanking you again for the paper, as ever

Your friend,
Harvey.
Pvt. Harvey J. Cole, 36188527

Dear friend Ken, and everyone up Charlevoix way,

Just a few lines to let you know I am overseas now and am still getting three square meals a day. I am stationed a short distance from where Bob Fochtman is.

Coming over from the States, I was on the same ship that Ralph Stephens was, and we visited each other every day and night. However, he went some other place.

I sure get plenty of cocoanuts. One is a meal in itself. I saw some of Foster's boats down here. Our unit is (censored)—so no telling where I'll end up at.

I haven't received the Courier for quite some time and sure wish I had it now. Haven't heard from Harold Holm for some time, although he isn't far from me. Got a swell letter from "Chum" White some time ago.

I sure hope to see the good old home town again. Until then I can dream. Hello to all my friends, especially Art Fagan.

Sincerely,
James Annis, CM3c

Time-Tested Advice About Chest Colds!

Grandma Was Right Time Has Proved It

Today, the first choice and family standby for relieving miseries of colds in millions of homes is the same home-remedy grandma used . . . Vicks VapoRub! What better recommendation could a product have!

When you rub time-tested VapoRub on the throat, chest and back at bedtime it starts to work 2 ways at once—and keeps on working for hours to relieve coughing spasms and congestion in the cold-clogged upper breathing passages, to ease muscular soreness or tightness. It invites restful sleep. And often by morning most of the misery of the cold is gone! Try it.

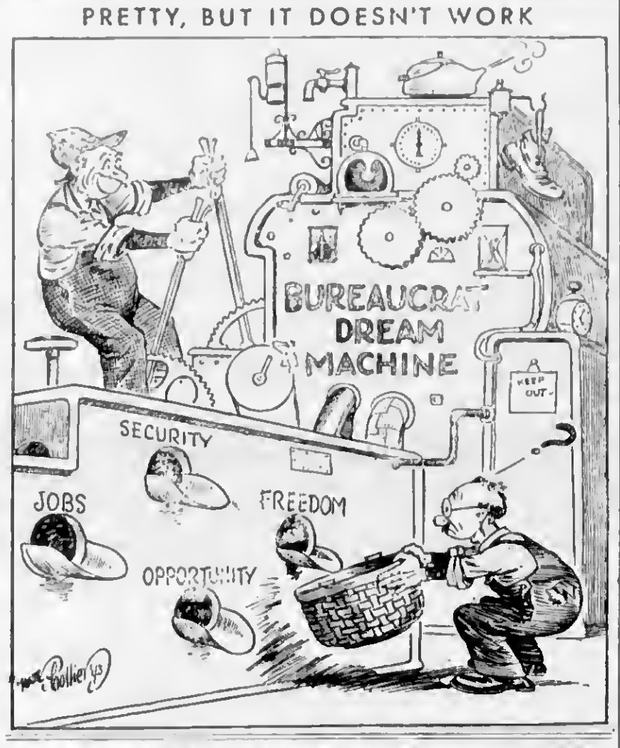
PRETTY, BUT IT DOESN'T WORK



Michigan Mirror

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Governor Kelly's 1942 campaign pledge of a soldier's bonus is currently spotlighting Michigan's postwar employment problem.

Like the side show to the main tent, the question of providing compensation for veterans of World War II is linked inevitably to the big problem of absorbing Michigan's augmented industrial army of war workers into peacetime production. The Michigan unemployment compensation commission recently announced, following a statewide survey, that 350,000 persons had been added to industrial payrolls since April, 1940.

Approximately 400,000 Michigan men and women have joined the armed forces.

Thus, it is apparent that the heaviest unemployment load ever experienced in Michigan will accompany the re-conversion of Michigan industrial facilities to normal production at the close of the war. From July, 1937 to March, 1938, the rate of increase in Michigan unemployment was 301 per cent—five times greater than the rate for the country as a whole! Just as sure as night follows day, Michigan is due for the worst unemployment slump in its long history when our two-ocean wars come to an end.

Records of World War 1 show that 175,329 Michigan citizens served in armed forces. Of this number, 4,295 died in the service.

In 1921 the State of Michigan, by referendum of the voters, issued $30,000,000 in bonds to provide a "bonus" to returning veterans. State records show payments were made to approximately 166,000 individuals, or an average of $180 per veteran, although some of the men received as much as $300 to $400 because of length of their military service.

Records of World War II show that slightly more than 400,000 Michigan men and women are in armed services today. If the war continues several years and replacements are required annually by the army and navy, state officials estimate today our military rolls may reach 500,000.

On the basis of 400,000 veterans, a World War II "bonus" would involve an expenditure of $72,000,000; a half million veterans, $90,000,000—just three times the bond issue of 1921. Incidentally, the last bonus bonds will be paid off in 1944—just in time, perhaps, for another war's compensation.

It has never been the belief of Governor Kelly that the state of Michigan, through action of the legislature or approval of the people of a special bond issue, should provide post-war compensation to veterans regardless of what the federal government decided to do.

The amount of such compensation has always been contingent, in the mind of the governor, on the decision of Congress as to what the federal government should do. Such action has not been taken to date at Washington.

"If our returning soldiers are forced to wait for several years to receive this token", the governor said in Chicago April 2, 1943, "its point is lost in the time elapsed; its force is spent. That such will happen is a foregone conclusion UNLESS provision is made in the not too distant future, with the federal government coming to a point of determination of what its SHARE shall be. It is only after such action is forthcoming that the several states can proceed with plans for ADDITIONAL funds that may be necessary to meet the situation in an adequate manner."

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg announced last week he would propose creation of a social security advisory committee to study the question of extending unemployment compensation benefits and old age insurance to veterans of World War II.

"As the law now stands," said Senator Vandenberg, "the civilian who stays on his job builds up insurance benefits while the man in uniform does not increase his benefits while he is in the service."

Michigan men and women who were employed, prior to their entrance into war service, in work covered by unemployment compensation benefits (these being paid by the employer) will be eligible for payments upon their return home. But many others—boys who are only 18, 19 and 20, for example—will not be eligible to receive those benefits, and it was this inequality which Senator Vandenberg has in mind. Compensation of this type was not available to veterans of World War I. If it is extended to cover all veterans, obviously the federal government must play Santa Claus in footing the bill.

The spectre of long relief lists, new WPA projects, and kindred government doles is not pleasant to contemplate.

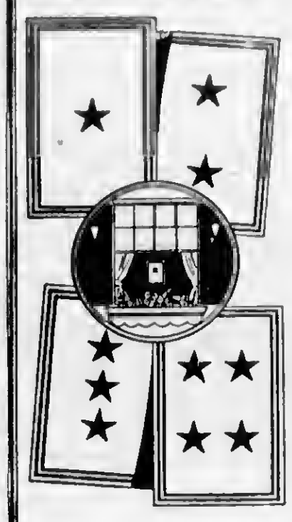
FREE SERVICE STAR CARDS

FOR THE FAMILIES OF SERVICE MEN



This Service Star window card should be seen in every home in America that is represented by a father, husband, son or brother in the Armed Forces of the United States. It emphasizes America's pride in those who are serving our country in time of war.

BLUE, SILVER OR GOLD

The Blue Star indicates service in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps within the boundaries of the United States.

The Silver Star denotes service outside the continental United States, either on the high seas, in the United States possessions, or on foreign soil.

The Gold Star is America's tribute to those who make the supreme sacrifice under the Stars and Stripes in time of war.

• • •

You are entitled to display the proper star for each member of your family serving in the Armed Forces of the United States of America. For example, if you are the parent of one boy in camp in the U.S.A., you are entitled to one Blue Star. If you have two sons in service—one in the U.S.A. and one outside the U.S.A.—you are entitled to a Service Star card bearing one Blue Star and one Silver Star.

Produced in Red, White and Blue
Actual size 6 inches x 9¼ inches.

This space contributed by the Charlevoix Courier as a patriotic service to those who are giving their loved ones to the cause of victory.

And especially so when Michigan is enjoying the greatest prosperity spree in its industrial history. Earnings of the average factory worker in Wayne county (Detroit) are more than double what they were in 1940. Even after income tax deductions and War Bond purchases (10 per cent), the family income each week is estimated to be 64 per cent above that of 1940, as calculated by the Detroit Board of Commerce.

Nationally, wages have increased from 85.6 cents an hour on Sept. 15, 1942 to 96.3 cents an hour for August, 1943. The hour rate rise has exceeded the rise in the cost of living index, as determined by the U. S. department of labor.

If the national administration accedes to demands of organized labor for additional earnings, prices are bound to rise, and further inflation will be inevitable. Washington observers doubt that the administration will resist such pressure at the eve of a 1944 national campaign.

Results of the Detroit mayoralty election, this Tuesday, are bound to be interpreted in various ways. The Grand Rapids Labor News (AFL) said on Oct. 22 that the Detroit primary success of a "genuine union labor candidate" (Frank Fitzgerald) has inspired the CIO in Grand Rapids to sponsor its own slate of municipal candidates.

With the national war labor board favoring check-off of union dues from workers' paychecks, organized labor has plenty of funds to spend. Unions are in proverbial clover. The CIO in Detroit contributed $30,000 to the Fitzgerald chest.

Unfortunately or otherwise, labor is not united. Last year the CIO tried to go all-out for Van Wagoner while the AFL leaned heavily toward Kelly. Notionally today the AFL is reported to be deserting the Roosevelt bandwagon, while the CIO is still loyally plumping for a fourth term.

Yet the trend continues: Labor is not likely to lose its legislative benefits regardless of whom the American people elect for president in 1944. Recent utterances of Wilkie and Dewey, for example, indicate this beyond a question. Labor may be checked locally by the voters when irresponsibility of leadership is evidenced, but it is here to stay.

LOCAL MAN IN BRITISH ISLES

tish Isles, London, Glasgow and Edinburgh. I found that London was very interesting as far as places to see, but the people are all in a rush and too busy. Edinburgh is quite different. It is a very clean city and anyone you meet there takes on interest in you and tries to show you about and to see that you have a good time.

The American Red Cross Club in Edinburgh is the best club I have seen, the Red Cross people and the Scottish people themselves are very friendly. I enjoyed my stay in the Edinburgh club the most of any and had the best time I have had in a long time. While I was there, I went on tours of the city, on foot. One morning it was a trip to all the different banks, mostly to see the various types of buildings. All these tours were given for the Americans at the club, conducted by a man who gave his time to the club.

Another time he took us to the law courts on High street. You have seen pictures of British courts where they wear white wigs and long gowns, they still look just the same and the men are seated in just the same manner. It was all very interesting to watch and to listen to. We also went through St. Giles, which is a baby Westminster Abbey. After seeing both, I enjoyed comparing them. Another day this same gentleman showed the group through Edinburgh castle, from which you get a wonderful view of the city and surrounding country.

After leaving the castle, we walked down High street and the Canongate to Holyrood palace—this is known as the Royal Mile—this palace is where the king and queen stay when in Edinburgh. Everything the guides tell you about the palace has reference to Mary, Queen of Scots. You should look up the history of her life and read it. She lived quite a life and you will learn all about the castle and palace.

I also walked up through the King's park and up to Arthur's Seat, which is just a high hill.

Captured in Iceland

Off the north coast of Iceland, fliers of the U. S. Army Air forces shot down a German plane and captured seven of its crew. German Sergt. Gunter Karte, who suffered injuries to his foot, is assisted back to his quarters after interrogation by U. S. officers.

Unrationed Butter

Mrs. C. M. Connell, Reading, Pa., saves butter rationing points by churning cream with a jig saw. Her husband devised the ingenious method. A can of cream is attached to the saw and the motion churns it into butter.

FARM LIGHTS SAVE TIME, ADD SAFETY

Electric lights serve 82 per cent of the 186,000 Michigan farms and contribute comfort, safety and the ability to turn out extra food and feed products for wartime use.

No other state has as many farms served by electricity, comments Prof. D. E. Wiant of the Michigan State College department of agricultural engineering. Yet even in Michigan there are new ideas about lighting, lighting economy and care of the lighting equipment that many farmers overlook.

Polishing reflectors, replacing broken switches and burned out bulbs and using bulbs of adequate size are included in the general recommendations.

Even the younger members of the family ought to get some help from corrections of the lighting for study purposes, according to Professor Wiant.

At a distance of two feet, if there is no glare reflection, he says, adequate light requires a 100 watt bulb for reading. If there is glare or reflection, the light should not be stronger than 60 watts if two feet from reading material. Ceiling lights should provide 200 to 300 watts for reading purposes.

Yard lights protect poultry and livestock from thieves. Lights in the barn and barnyard also permit more hours for field work in that chores can be done before or after dark.

Along Princess street, which is the main drag of the city, there is a park on one side known as Princess Street Gardens. This is filled with flowers and shrubbery and is very beautiful. In this park there is a monument to nearly every one and everything that came along.

The Scotchmen will ask you if you have seen the Forth bridge and if you say no, he will tell you that you haven't been in Scotland. The bridge is one and a half miles long and 370 feet high at the highest point above water. So one day I took the train out to a small town a short distance from the city, so now I have not only seen it, but have ridden over the bridge.

In another letter, I wrote about what I saw in London, so will not tell that in this letter. If I were to have another leave I would spend it in Edinburgh.

This is about all I have time to write tonight. I told you in my last letter that I received the package with the popcorn. I had some hot buttered popcorn tonight and was it good. That is about the only thing I can think of that I would like to have you send from time to time. We are able to get most of the other things here in our ship's service store.

Love,
Franklin.

LIFT BAN ON TURKEYS FOR CIVILIAN SALES

An estimated eight million pounds of turkey remains on foot on Michigan farms to provide the holiday meals of many families in the state, with an estimate that for the three year-end holidays an equal amount probably will be shipped into Michigan from other states. Growers, with facilities and the available labor, should study price ceilings, advises O. E. Shear, Michigan State College extension poultryman. Feather dressed or even oven-dressed birds may pay sizeable returns over sales of live birds.

We will have our usual fine line of personal Christmas cards, good assortment, various prices, all with your name inscribed. Charlevoix Courier.—Adv. 42tf.

LEGAL NOTICES

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Howard A. Griffin, Plaintiff, vs. Doris Bernice Griffin, Defendant.

Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery, at the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 27th day of October, A. D. 1943.

In this cause it appearing from affidavit on file, that the defendant, Doris Bernice Griffin, left her last known place of abode and that it cannot be ascertained in what state or country the said defendant, Doris Bernice Griffin, resides.

On motion of Floyd A. Supp, plaintiff's attorney, it is ordered that the said defendant, Doris Bernice Griffin, cause her appearance to be entered herein, within three months from the date of this order and in case of her appearance that she cause her answer to the plaintiff's Bill of Complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served on said plaintiff's attorney within fifteen days after service on her of a copy of said bill and notice of this order; and that in default thereof, said bill be taken as confessed by the said Doris Bernice Griffin, defendant.

And it is further ordered, that within forty days the said plaintiff cause a notice of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed, published and circulating in said county, and that such publication be continued therein at least once in each week for six weeks in succession, or that he cause a copy of this order to be personally served on said Doris Bernice Griffin, defendant, at least twenty days before the time above prescribed for her appearance.

Parm C. Gilbert,
Circuit Judge.

George Pant having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to Lillian Crandlit or to some other suitable person,

It is ordered, that the 22nd day of November, A. D. 1943, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition;

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Rollie L. Lewis,
4-4t3pd. Judge of Probate.

Order Appointing Time for Hearing of Claims

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

In the matter of the estate of Hannah Roe Gilden, deceased.

At a session of said court, held in the probate office in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 18th day of October, 1943.

Present: Hon. Rollie L. Lewis, Probate Judge.

The above estate having been admitted to probate and Harry A. Craig having been appointed administrator,

It is ordered, that two months from this date be allowed for creditors to present their claims against said estate for examination and adjustment, and that all creditors of said deceased, are required to present their claims to said court, at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, on or before the 23rd day of December, 1943, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which time claims will be heard.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Rollie L. Lewis,
4213 Judge of Probate.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure—(Chancery)

In pursuance and by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, in Chancery, made and entered on the 9th day of August, 1943, in a certain cause therein pending, wherein Archie L. Livingston and Frank Supernaw, as trustees, are plaintiffs, and Belvedere Golf Club, Inc., a Michigan corporation, formerly the Belvedere Golf Realty Company, a Michigan corporation, is defendant.

Notice is hereby given, that I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the East Front door of the Court House (that being the place of holding the Circuit Court for said county), on Monday, the 6th day of December, 1943, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, Central Standard War Time, of said day, the following described property, viz: all those certain pieces or parcels of land situate in the Townships of Marion and Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, described as follows:

First Parcel:

The southeast quarter (SE¼) of the Southwest quarter (SW¼) of Section thirty-four (34), in Township Thirty-four (34), north of Range eight (8) west, excepting a parcel of land described as follows: commencing at the southwest corner of said first parcel; thence north four (4) rods; thence east forty-six (46) rods, thence south four (4) rods; thence west forty-six (46) rods to the place of beginning.

Second parcel:

The north half of the northeast quarter (N½ of NE¼) of section three (3), in township thirty-three (33) north, of range eight (8) west, excepting about two and 5-16 acres along the east side thereof owned and used by Marion township as a gravel pit; and also excepting a strip of land two (2) rods in width off the south side, and east of the County Road, formerly deeded to said Marion township for highway purposes.

Third Parcel:

All that part of the south half of the southeast quarter (S½ of SE¼) of section thirty-four (34) township thirty-four (34) north, range eight (8) west, lying south of the railroad right-of-way of the Standard Portland Cement Company; and also excepting the highway known as the County Road.

In accordance with the terms of said decree, said property will be sold as an entirety and not in separate parcels.

Bids will be received and accepted in accordance with the terms of said decree, and will be publicly announced on the day of the sale prior to receiving bids.

Dated October 12th, 1943.

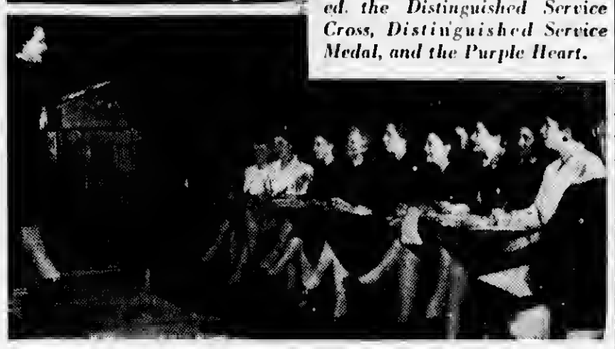
Spending $5,000,000 a Day

Sending $5,000,000 a duy to depeadents of our fighting men is typieal of the tusks whieh make the Offiee of Dependeney Benefits at Newark, N. J., one of the busiest spots in Americe. Its 10,000 hustling employees speed miles of mechanical proeesses and recordings to get Uncle Sam's green checks to families throughout the nation. Applications flow in at the rate of 12,000 u day. Only a year old, this rapidly growing office has had an exhilarating effeet on the Newark post offiee. There, since O. D. B. begaa to funetion, every day is a "Christmas rush." Great mailbags of government checks keep moviag out, while huge volumes of mail come in.

The work of the O. D. B. is not simply a matter of writing out so many checks and stiekiag them in the mails. For there are those who would take money from the men who are fighting for Ameriea by making illegal applieations for dependeacy benefits. Few, if any, get uway with it because all applications are thoroughly investigated and long rows of clerks read every pieee of mail.

CIRCULAR SORTER — Above: A high speed machine used by O. D. B. for quickly sorting completed authorizations.

BRIG. GEN. HAROLD N. Gilbert, left, is director of the O. D. B. His 27 years of army experience have given him first hand knowledge of a soldier's problems. He has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, Distinguished Service Medal, and the Purple Heart.



SCHOOL—New employees take courses to prepare for their duties and to become acquainted with the machinery and operations of the agency. O. D. B. is the largest mail order business ever operated anywhere.

INFORMATION—Special problems are cleared upat the public relations office.

CHATTERER REMEMBERS SOMETHING

CHATTERER THE RED SQUIRREL was disgusted with himself, with all his neighbors, and with the world in general, which is to say that Chotterer wos very much put out obout something. There was no doubt obout it. He couldo't see onything cheerful in the sunshina or anything pleasant in the blue, blue sky. Thot was the trouble with Chotterer. There wos n great deal wrong in his heart.

In the first place, it was filled with onger, and nnger, you know, will take all joy and pleasontness out of everything. And theu Chatterer wns mortified. Ile wns both angry ond mortified because Sammy Jay had proved to have smorter wits than he had. So, as soon as he could do so without being seen, he slipped into his new home in the old house of Drummer the Woodpecker, io an apple tree in the Old Orchard, ond thera he sulked for the rest of the day. You see, Sammy Jay had made him go over to Farmer Brown's corncrib and get him some corn right in brood daylight, and he hnd very narrowly escaped being seen by Farmer Brown's Boy. He had to do it because Sammy hnd said that if he didn't he would tell Shadow the Wensel where Chatterer was living, and Chatterer wos afraid of nothing and nobody else quite so much as of Shadow the Weasel.

"If only I hadn't promised to get him corn whenever he osked me to!" he said over ond over to himself as he sulked in his homc in the apple tree. "If only I hodn't! And yet I couldn't help myself—I just had to. Now, whenever he feels like it, he'll make me do as he did today, and perhaps I won't be so lucky olways. Oh, dear, oh, dear, I've got myself into a dreadful mess, and I've just got to think of some way out of it."

Then suddenly a great idea came to him.

"Stupid, stupid, stupid!" he muttered, meaning himself. "Why didn't I remember it before? You won't see me going over to that cornerib again, Mr. Jay!"

Right away he felt so much better in his mind that he had a good run olong the old stone wall and then turned in for a good night's sleep. The oext day Sammy Jay appeared in the middle of the forenoon and demanded more corn. Chatterer pretended thot he didn't dore go for it, but when Sammy insisted thot he must he suddenly, suddenly started for—where do you think? Why, for that storehouse of his in the hollow rail on the edge of the cornfield. It was a long way to go, but that was better than running the risk of being seen by Farmer Brown's Boy. It took him some time, but at lasi he was back with his cheeks puffed with corn. Sammy Jay pretended to be cross because he bad been kept woiting so long and grumbled all the time he was eoting. He pretended to think that the corn was not as good as that from Farmer Brown's corncrib, and mumbled something about telling Shadow the Weasel if Chatterer didn't get him some corn from the crib the next day.

"You can't!" cried Chatterer in triumph. "You promised not to tell Shadow if I kept my promise and got you corn whenever you asked for it, but I didn't say where I would get it," and he chuckled to think that he had been smarter than Sammy Jay.

Sammy ate every grain and then went off, but as he went Chatterer thought he heard something very like a chuckle. It made him thoughtful and a little uneasy, but he couldn't think of any way Sammy could get the best of him now, so he soon forgot it; and all the rest of the day he thought of how lucky it was that he had remembered that storehouse in the hollow rail.

NOVICE'S BUTTER DOUBLES ITS COST

If you've been dreamlog about outwitting the OPA and your pocketbook by churning up some butter out of a supply of coffee-cream, don't do it.

Two reusons, either of them enough, prova tho fallacy of saving ration points by making butter at home, according to the logic of Prof. P. S. Lucos of the Michignn State Collego dairy department.

One is patriotism. Tho other is the pnckетbook.

Milk contains oot quite 4 per cent fat oo most ratail ionrkots these days, while eveo coffee cream contains 18 or 10 per cent fat. Thnt still is for below tho 33 per cent fot in the creom usually used by commercinl butterroakers, Professor Lucus poiots out. But this coffee crenm rapidly uses up the fluid milk needed for military and civilion food.

Here is the professor's arithmetic on the cost of u pound of butter made in the amntaur's kitcheo:

If coffee cream is purchased at 12 cents u half-piot, more than n dolinr's worth of creum would bo needed to get tho four-fifths of n pound of butterfat nccessory to make a pound of butter.

If the coffee cream is purchased by tho quart at 44 ecots, the cost still exceeds a dollnr u pound. In fnct the residue ofter butterroaking would likely contain more than 1 per cent butterfat—lost if not nsed in cooking or as a table drink.

"It's hetter to driuk th milk and go a little lighter on butter", Professor Lucas suggests, "since it is obviously poor pntriotism and poor economy to play at making butter".

SHOT AT RANDOM

words, and the fewer the better—Mother Nature having apparently planned women to talk and men to listen.

It is reported on good authority that the OPA alone employs some 1,200 lawyers on federal payroll. England has operated an OPA for several years and ten men run the entire set-up.

Young wife: "These eggs are very small."

Grocer: "Straight from the farm this morning, madam."

Young wife: "That's the trouble with these farmers, they're so anxious to get their eggs sold they take them off the nest too soon."

If the plentifulness and scarcity of small game and game birds is a matter of cycles like conservation authorities would have us believe, the cycle on partridge must be near the bottom now. At least that's my conclusion and it substantiates the findings of numerous other sportsmen with whom I've talked this fall. Another cross-country hike last Sunday—probably ten miles through excellent cover—netted three of us four birds. Well, anyway, the season is about over, and a good thing, too, for the "pats" left are needed to build up bigger and better broods.

"Sorry, Madam, but licenses are issued only when your form is filled out properly."

"Why, I like your nerve, sir. We can get married, no matter what I look like."

A Courier reader in Detroit clipped and sent us the following newspaper item which we have, and probably you, too, will get a kick out of:

"There is probably one soldier who is still wondering how he happened to be drafted.

"He is a Poinsett County (Arkansas) man with a wife and 7 children. Knowing he was to appear before his draft board, he asked his wife to write a letter proving he was the support of his family.

"This is the letter he presented, unknowingly:

" 'Dear United States Army: My husband asked me to write a recommend that he supports his family. He cannot read, so don't tell him. Just take him. He ain't no good to me. He ain't done nothing but raise hell and drink lemon essence since I married him eight years ago, and I got to feed seven kids of his. He's good on squirrels and eating. Take him and welcome. I need the grub and his bed for the kids. Don't tell him this, but just take him and send him as far as you can.'

He's now in the army."

Another new and dangerous disease has appeared in the ads, where mare maladies are discovered than in a thousand medical laboratories. This one is called bem-itis, and effects ladies who don't wear Slippery Slips. It is believed to be nearly as deadly as gaposis. If you don't understand the foregoing, never give it a thought, for I don't, either.

Advances in the prices of liquor and beer and the scarcity are going to make some folks who drink like fish, drink what the fish drink.

Being the father of a recently born infant son, I can appreciate along with several million other mothers (I mean fathers) the timely action of Cong. Lansdale Sasscer of Maryland, for averting what might have been a national catastrophe. It seems there has been a growing scarcity of three-point pants (not to mention a scarcity also of the implements to fasten them with) due to textile mills being tied up with manufacturing khaki for uniforms and a hundred and one other things for the army and navy, and last, but not least, a lack of profit to manufacture diapers in view of the price ceiling. Cong. Sasscer, realizing that the cold breezes and frost and chill of winter was fast approaching, asked the OPA that the price ceiling on diapers be fractionally increased to provide an incentive to diaper manufacturers, and therein, dear readers, lies the facts of a great deed. While the mills may be curtailing production, the stork does not do likewise, but the day has been saved. Ah, this is a great country, after all!

AIR CORPS WANTS AVIATION CADETS

Sixteen Months of Training for Qualified Applicants

Men 17 to 26 years old, inclusive, are wanted by the army air corps to train as aviation cadets for pilots, bombardiers and navigators.

All men between these ages, married or single, who have been a citizen of the United States for a period of 10 years and found mentally, morally and physically qualified are eligible for aviation cadets and enlisted reserve, unless occupied in vital defense work or already called by their local selective service board for induction.

Those 17 years old will not enter active service until they have become 18 years of age, and if in school are usually allowed to finish the semester. They are in the enlisted reserve.

After acceptance, men are ordered to a station for six weeks conditioning, then five months of college, receiving mathematics and physical training, followed by 10 hours of flight—eight dual, two hours solo. During one week 20 psychological tests are given to determine aptitude for pilot, bombardier or navigator. Passing this, they are appointed as aviation cadet for seven to nine months. Entire training course covers about sixteen months.

Pay starts at $50 monthly, cadets receive $75; when commissioned as flight leader or second lieutenant, up to $245.

Applications should be sent at once. The applicant will be notified when the traveling examining board will be in Traverse City. Send applications to Lt. C. B. Andersan, CAP, 602 South Union street, Traverse City, Mich.

WAR PRISONERS ARE BENEFITED

national agreement provides certain standards of food, clothing, shelter, and medical care. Under its terms, too, the men of the "barbed wire legion" are permitted to pursue leisure-time activities. Materials for such activities, however, need not be provided by the authorities.

War Prisoners' Aid committees see to it that the captive military men in both allied and axis prison camps have the materials to carry on recreational, educational, and religious activities. This work is done under the provisions of the Geneva Convention. Neutral secretaries visit the camps and talk to authorities and prisoners, learning the needs of the men and providing materials and program suggestions. Activities are carried on under the leadership of talented prisoners.

The scope of the work is wide. In Germany, blinded British prisoners are being taught Braille. In most camps, extensive educational courses have been set up, with books and other materials, and prisoners from the educational field serve as teachers. Musical instruments, athletic equipment, handicraft supplies, reading materials and religious goods are provided.

ENGAGEMENT OF MARY HOWE, SGT. BERNARD MCCAFFERTY IS TOLD

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hawe, of Bedford, Ohio, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary, to Sgt. Bernard McCafferty, son of Mrs. Nellie McCafferty, of Charlevoix.

Miss Howe, who attended Ashtubula high school and Stella Niagara Seminary at Stella Niagara, N. Y., is at present employed in Bedford.

A graduate of Charlevoix high school, Sgt. McCafferty is stationed with the engineers' corps at Camp Pickett, Va. Prior to his entry into the service in March, he was employed on a Great Lakes vessel of the Pickard-Mather line.

The wedding is to take place in the near future.

We will have our usual fine line of personal Christmas cards, good assortment, various prices, all with your name inscribed. Charlevoix Courier.—Adv. 42tf.

GAYLORD ASSOCIATION MEETING NEXT WEEK

Two Directors Will Be Elected at 10th Annual Session

Arrangements are nearly completed for the 10th annual meeting of stockholders of the Gaylord Production Credit association, to be held in four sections.

Meetings will be held as follows: Gaylord, V. F. W. hall at 12 noon, November 8; Petoskey, court house, 8 p. m., November 8; Cheboygan, council rooms, 8 p. m., November 9; Alpena, Eagle hall, 8 p. m., November 10.

At this 10th anniversary meeting, 34 ten-year members will be honored. All stockholders and others interested in credit for farmers are urged to attend. Two directors will be elected to succeed Arnold Ostrander, of Afton, and Charles Shepard, of Boyne City, whose terms expire January 1, 1944.

Entertainment, drawing for prizes, and refreshments are planned at each of the meetings.

BETSEY KAUNITZ IS WED TO D. R. FULLER SATURDAY AFTERNOON

At a pretty ceremony Saturday afternoon, October 30, in Traverse City, Miss Betsey Kaunitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kaunitz, of Charlevoix, was united in marriage to D. R. Fuller, aviation machinists mate second class, U. S. navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fuller, of Traverse City.

Rev. Howard Towne officiated at the 3 o'clock ceremony in the chapel of the First Congregational church. Attending the couple were Miss Virginia Halsal and Russell Jacobsan.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was given at 143 East 9th street, where Mr. and Mrs. Fuller will make their home.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to our friends and neighbors for the sympathy and kindness shown us during our recent bereavement. Ernest Hutzler, Mr. and Mrs. George Hutzler, Miss Leota Hutzler, Dale Hutzler, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stormer, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Furst, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Furst, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harwood.—Adv. 44t1.

K. of P. "Feather Party", Monday, November 22.—Adv. 44t2.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The Bi-Weekly Club, meeting last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Gordon Dennis on Division avenue, celebrated the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Al Smith. She received many lovely gifts from the ten guests who were present.

Honoring Mrs. Edwin McCann, a shower was given Thursday evening by Mrs. Gerald Left at her home on Antrim street. The 14 guests played "airplane", for which prizes went to Mrs. McCann, Mrs. Molly Staith, Mrs. Junior Supernaw, and Miss Ann Cunningham. Gifts were presented from a cleverly decorated table, upon which was a large pink baby boot with a stork hovering above. Late in the evening, refreshments were served at a candle-lit table.

Mrs. Kirwan Mulligan (Marian Cross) was hostess to members of her sewing club on Monday evening.

Card of Thanks

To those who expressed their sympathy in so many beautiful and practical ways during our recent bereavement, we extend our heartfelt thanks. Mrs. Vane Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Smith and family.—44t1pd.

The Moon is Down...

THERE are dark nights in Norway. Nights when Nazi sentries feel uneasy at their posts.

It is not what they hear that disturbs them. It is what they do not hear. The deep silence behind a bush. The stealthy quiet around the corner of a house. The terrible hush in the blackness all around them.

For the Norwegians lost their country without ever surrendering themselves. They wait now in the night to strike back at their oppressors.

If they ever had really given in, there would be no need of the thousands of Nazi troops now in Norway. They could have been sent to the Russian front. Or Tunisia. But they couldn't be spared.

They can't be spared in Holland either. Or Poland or France or Yugoslavia or Belgium. In China, tens of thousands of Jap troops must also remain. And Axis troops will have to remain in countless countries so long as the "conquered" people have the stamina to resist.

You can help support this army already in Europe—by your contribution to the National War Fund, which you make through our community's own war fund.

For this year, the agencies that can do this job have banded together to make the collection and distribution of funds simpler, cheaper and more effective. Their job is threefold. To keep our fighting allies in the fight. To provide friendly help for our men in the armed services. And to relieve distress where it is found here on the home front.

Because all these agencies are now banded together, you are being asked to contribute only once for all of them. Because you are being asked to give only once, you are also being asked to give generously. Add up all you would have given to each of these agencies throughout the year, and then double the total! It is one of the most important contributions you can make to victory!

MOTION PICTURES REPLACE SPEECHES

Films Shown at Public Meetings, Substitute for Speakers

Motion pictures, shipped in small parcels by parcel post or express are now substituting for many speakers who traveled by automobile or train to provide public meeting programs before the war, according to the department of conservation.

Since restrictions began on travel, the department said, the number of requests for use of its film loan service has increased considerably. Many letters asking for films said they were being borrowed because the clubs were unable to obtain speakers who couldn't get train reservations or were limited to "A" gasoline coupons.

STORY OF THE WEEK

The Patient in Room Fourteen

By JOAN HINKLE

(Associated Newspapers—WNU Service.)

"WELL, he's better, Betty. But I'm absolutely all in." Sally Stevenson's voice came shakily over the telephone. "I theught you must have heard—day before yesterday on Pickard hill. Just enough mud to be slippery, and the car skidded and went into the ditch. His face is all cut—but he's bandaged like a mummy. I wasn't hurt at all. But I've been so upset over it that I've just caved in. I'm awfully ashamed of myself. But I thought if you'd just go to the hospital for a couple of hours this afternoon and read to him—I've a story here he's asked for—he'd be all right and I could go to bed till tomorrow. That'll straighten me out. No danger, you know, but he's just all jarred and shaken, and then lots of little cuts on his face. And the doctor says he mustn't talk today—just lie and rest. So you read to him and I'll get rested and be all right tomorrow. He's in Room 14, on the second floor."

That was the substance of Sally Stevenson's telephone conversation with Betty Buckalew. As a result Betty drove first to Sally's house for the book Jim Stevenson wanted to read, and then went to the hospital to play good Samaritan to him so that his distracted wife might rest and calm her jumping nerves.

Betty parked her car in the hospital grounds and went in through the swinging doors of the big main entrance. She was well known at the hospital—her mother was an active member of the board of directors. Betty nodded to the girl on duty in the office. "I've come to see the patient in Room 14," she said. "Go right up?"

"Yes," answered the girl. "He had a private nurse last night and yesterday, but he's all right now. The corridor nurse will take care of you, Miss Buckalew."

A moment later Betty stood before the half-open door of Room 14. No nurse was in sight, so she walked quietly in after knocking. "It's Betty Buckalew," she said to the restless form on the bed. "I've been sent to read to you by Sally. She's resting."

The man turned toward her. Through two slits in the bandages that swathed his head and face Betty saw two eyes peering interestedly at her. "Good of you," he murmured.

"Now don't you talk," went on Betty. "Doctor's orders. You let me do the talking. I've brought a volume of detective stories and I'm going to read to you for an hour or so."

"Awfully kind," murmured the man again.

"Not at all," said Betty. "I'm glad to do it. Now you get as comfortable as possible and let me sit where you won't have to see me and I'll read you to sleep, maybe."

Betty seated herself at the foot of the bed, out of range of his eyes. "Move around," came the patient's muffled voice. "Want to see you."

So Betty moved her big wicker chair within range of his eyes, sat down so that the light struck pleasantly on her book, and began to read. She was conscious that Jim quieted as she read. He must be more comfortable—diverted by her story, she thought. She was conscious, too, that he was not going to sleep. Through the white bandages two eyes, bright and dark, peered constantly at her.

At the end of two hours and three stories, Betty stopped.

"I've got to go now, Jim," she said. "Tomorrow? Why, yes, if Sally can't come. Yes, of course I will." The patient had clutched her hand nervously. "Be quiet, Jim; of course I'll come if you want me. I'll come and read again. But you'll soon be gone—Sally said you were getting on so well."

The muffled voice said something about never wanting to go. "Like it here," it said. And: "Funny," thought Betty, with a quick flush of annoyance. "Here I am holding Jim Stevenson's hand and getting a real thrill from it. Well," she thought further, as she tried to draw her hand away, "so apparently, is he."

But she pulled herself free and a moment or two later, promising again that she would come the next day, she disappeared into the hall. There she ran into the corridor nurse. "I saw you reading to Fourteen," she said. "Awfully good of you. He's been so restless and nervous. He had a special until this morning, but he's really all right, and we're a little short, so we asked him to get along without one. You seemed to work like a charm, Miss Buckalew. You've no idea what it means to have visitors that really help the patients."

All the way home Betty was troubled. How silly of her! She'd known Jim Stevenson for years. She and Sally were close friends. And here they had been, holding hands in real earnest, like two sentimental youngsters. Well, she wouldn't go again tomorrow. She'd make some excuse to Sally.

So it was with misgivings that she answered Sally's summons to the telephone a little later.

"What on earth happened, Betty, dear?" came Sally's voice. "Why didn't you let me know?"

"Let you know? My heavens, Sally, what's the matter?"

"Nothing, nothing at all, accepting that poor Jim has been fretting his head off because he didn't hear from me, and he's so lonely and blue as can be and I'm moping around here with a nervous headache. He's just telephoned, poor darling, to know what's happened to me. Why didn't you go read to him?"

"I did."

"You did?" shrieked Sally. "Oh, Betty, perhaps he's worse—delirious or something."

"Sally," said Betty, rather joyously, "there must be some mistake. What number is his room. Think carefully, now."

"Oh, I don't know. Sixteen or something. But don't you remember? You were there, you say. I've been so distracted, thinking yesterday he might have a fractured skull. I suppose I didn't notice very much."

"Never mind, Sally, dear. I'm going right back this minute to see him, and then in an hour or so I'll come see you and tell you all about him. Don't worry."

So Betty went back to the hospital and found Jim Stevenson tossing restlessly in Room Sixteen. His face was not swathed in bandages—small ones were patched on it. And when he took Betty's hand in greeting no thrill ran from his fingertips into hers.

The corridor nurse met her again as she left the hospital.

"Funny, wasn't it, Miss Buckalew, having two motor accident cases so much alike. Both all right now, fortunately—but both all battered and scratched up around the head, and both afraid of fractured skulls to begin with. That poor Mr. Cartright in Room Fourteen certainly feels better since you came to see him this afternoon. He's sleeping quietly now. Pitiful, crashing up here within thirty miles of New York after motoring all the way from San Francisco. And not a friend or relative in the East. His uncle, out there, who seems to be his only near relative anyway, telephones every night."

"How about his wife?" asked Betty Buckalew.

"Oh, he isn't married." The nurse on duty laughed a little self consciously. "Coming in again in the morning, Miss Buckalew? It did him a lot of good today."

When she looked up for an answer, Betty had disappeared. She had slipped into Room Fourteen to blow a goodnight kiss to the swathed and quiet figure on the bed.

Cheap Process for Tin Substitute Discovered

Oscar Brune Bach began his career in Germany. At the age of 18 he made a wrought-metal Bible cover for Pope Lee XIII. He came to America 26 years ago, set up shop in Manhattan as a metal craftsman and industrial designer.

Last year Oscar Bach announced he had hit upon a process for coloring tough, corrosion-resistant 18-8 (18 per cent chromium, 8 per cent nickel) stainless steel. In the Bachlite process, the steel is first "pickled" (cleaned with acid), then coated in a chemical bath and heated. Depending on the degree of baking, the coated steel turns black, gold, bronze, purple, blue, red or green, the color becoming an integral part of the surface. Oscar Bach will not reveal the chemicals in the coating bath. "The formula," says he, "is so simple I'm almost ashamed of it." The Bachlite process is used in the building industry for exteriors and decorations. A recent example is the flashy Bach-designed decoration of Manhattan's Airlines Terminal building.

As Oscar Bach began working with less expensive iron and steel alloys, he found to his surprise that his coloring process immensely improved corrosion resistance. Recently the "American Cellini's" researches led him to the threshold of national defense. He announced a process for Bachiting cheap black plate iron (3 cents per pound), which, he claims, makes the metal a substitute for tin plate. Tin is important in tin cans because it resists corrosion by food acids. Bachlited iron, said Bach, had a corrosion resistance against "most corrosive agents" higher than that of tin plate (5 cents per pound) or 18-8 stainless steel (34 cents per pound). He estimated his process would be a third cheaper than tinning.

Famous April Fool Joke

There are many famous April fool's jokes perpetuated in history. Perhaps the most famous is that perpetrated by Thomas Hood, the humorist-son of the great poet of the same name, who, at a meeting in the Savage club, the home of so many literary geniuses, proposed, on the night of March 31, that a telegram should be sent to a politician then much in the public eye by reason of his moral crusading: "Fly. All is discovered." The next day there was a missing politician and a vacancy in the house of commons. That is one case where an April fool prank was no joke on the victim.

USED ARMY TRUCKS SOLD TO CIVILIANS

Individual Buyers Submit Bids; Sale Ends January 1

Approximately 750 used army trucks will be offered for re-sale to civilians in Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin by post salvage officers to stimulate economy in truck transportation in view of existing shortages, Colonel S. D. Ringsdurf, commanding officer, district No. 1, Sixth Service Command, has announced.

The vehicles will be sold under bid procedure. Lists of trucks together with serial numbers and descriptions will be advertised by salvage officers at army posts in the area, and individual buyers will submit bids within 15 days after date of issue. The government will accept the highest bid provided it is within the price ceiling set by OPA.

Trucks may be inspected at posts by civilian buyers under an arrangement with salvage officers any time within 15 days after the invitations to bid have been issued. A certificate of sale will be issued to each buyer guaranteeing legal ownership.

Only 1939 models and older for which replacements have been made will be included in the program, which is scheduled for completion by January 1, 1944.

NO RELAXATION IN MILK REGULATIONS

High Standards Vital to Health of Nation in Wartime

No relaxing of regulations which govern the production, processing and handling of milk and food in Michigan is contemplated by the state health department, despite reductions in inspector forces. Declaring that "If such standards are necessary in peacetime, they are even more necessary in wartime," Dr. Allen Moyer, state health commissioner, today reported that:

"We are receiving an increasing number of complaints about lack of cleanliness in food handling establishments. State and local health department inspectors are making every effort to check on complaints received.

"We realize that shortage of help can make it difficult to maintain high standards of cleanliness. But unless all food producers, processors and handlers act to guard the health of the consuming public, we are facing trouble.

"SWOOSE" QUEEN OF FLYING FORTRESSES

Master Sgt. Joe Schwab Is Radio Operator on Famous Plane

From army air forces headquarters in the Panama Canal zone comes the following story of the "Swoose," the Flying Fortress whose story was told in the recent book, "Queens Die Proudly." The "Swoose" is still very much alive, and numbers among her flying crew Master Sgt. Joseph M. Schwab, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Eccleston, of Charlevoix, who is radio operator on the ship.

"Thanks to Hollywood and the wood-pulp magazines, the pilot of an army airplane is a hero, but what about the crew? That doesn't mean the bombardier or the tail-gunner either, for both of them have been properly glamorized in the four-mile-a-minute sky drama of Europe and the Far East. But there is a fellow in coveralls who sweats every mile and minute of those daring missions over enemy-held territory, as he waits their return to the home hangar.

"M/Sgt. John Crawford, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford, Sr., of Chipley, Ga., an experienced mechanic and crew chief of the famous Flying Fortress, "The Swoose," now the personal plane of Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett, commanding general of the Caribbean Defense Command, is typical of the thousands of unacclaimed crew members in the United States army air forces all over the world who labor endlessly to keep our planes fit to fly.

"One of the first Flying Fortresses to join the world conflict, "The Swoose" has tracked the sands of Wake Island, survived the hail of bombs at Clark Field in the Philippines, received her first battle wound over Manila, patrolled the skies of Java under a scorching sun, her guns spitting defiance at the enemy, and spanned the Australian desert. It has become a legend that "The Swoose" is no ordinary ship . . . fate has smiled upon her. Upon the care she has received depended her life, and the lives of the men who flew her. To Sgt. Crawford and his fellow crew members now goes the credit for giving continued life to that legend.

"After months of battle, in which her wounds were many, of her armor and retired from the war. Today, under the care of Crew Chief Crawford and his 'little Army,' she is still the queen of them all. As the private plane of Gen. Brett, who supervises the far-flung defenses of this vital area, she still reaches into the skies on gruelling flights of hundreds of miles, as airworthy as the day she settled on the sands of Wake Island. While European crewmen nurse their planes of battle inflicted wounds, Sgt. Crawford's men are an example of scores of crews in the Caribbean area who face an equally dangerous enemy—the forces of nature. Flying under hazardous weather conditions, skirting the lofty Andes with their treacherous air currents and rugged peaks, a constant invitation to destruction, spanning the vast and unexplored jungles of the Amazon and Central America, their ship must be in perfect mechanical condition, or a sudden death will be its fate.

" 'The Swoose' is an 'old' ship, considering the time when she left the assembly line, but thanks to the untiring work of her ground crew she still purrs as assuredly upon taking to the air as she did in her 'younger' days."

"31 MORE" SLOGAN OF SALVAGE CLUB

Spur Lagging Collection of Fat for Explosive Manufacture

Answering inquiries as to the significance of the "31 More!" stickers which have appeared on automobiles and meat display counters the past two weeks, Harold S. Lees, salvage chairman for Charlevoix county, has announced formation of "31 Clubs" to promote the collection of household fats.

"We plan to form '31 Clubs' throughout the county. Each is to have a membership of 31 women, each of whom is pledged to save 31 tablespoonsful of household fat a month. It takes 31 tablespoonsful to make a pound. The figure '31' thus has become symbolic of participation on the home front in a most important war activity.

"Each of the 31 women in a '31 Club' is pledged to form a '31 Club' of 31 other women, in chain fashion. We expect, within four weeks, to reach every homemaker in this county. The stickers which have been on automobile windshields were designed to arouse curiosity—to awaken interest in our program, which is part of a state-wide drive being sponsored by the state salvage committee of the Michigan O.C.D., of the war production board, and rendering companies operating in Michigan.

To each homemaker signing the pledge sheets, a wall calendar and a booklet on fats is to be presented. The calendar is unique in that, in place of the numerals, caricatures of the Three Axis Dictators appear. As a homemaker saves her tablespoonful of fat she can "X" out the dictator whose face appears for that day. On the back of the calendar is a chart on proper rendering of fats, especially solid fats such as suets and meat trimmings. To each woman signing up a complete new club of 31 members, the county salvage committee will award a service bar, similar to those worn by soldiers, as evidence of her participation on the civilian front.

The "31 Clubs" are being formed to spur lagging collection and "The Swoose" was finally stripped to help eliminate confusion of the kinds of fats wanted and ways of rendering them. Although the household fats salvage program in Michigan has steadily grown since its inception in May, 1943, for the past three months collections have been less than the previous month. Michigan, in September, secured only 46 per cent of its quota of 806,500 pounds.

As reserves of fats become depleted, the importance of salvage of household fats becomes more apparent. Principal use of fats is in glycerine, which goes into manufacture of explosives, into sulfa ointment, tannic acid jellies for war burns, depth charge recoil mechanisms, and camouflage paint. Glycerine has more than 200 direct war-uses.

Women wishing to join a "31 Club" or to aid in forming clubs within their own organizations are urged to contact the REA office, Boyne City.

MUSKRAT TRIES HIS OWN "SHARE-THE-RIDE" PLAN

Sharing the ride is a common occurrence these days, but one motorist thinks it can be carried too far.

When a Kalkaska gas station attendant raised the hood of Fred Spegiel's car, he found a full grown muskrat reclining comfortably beside the motor. The muskrat stayed in his cozy spot while Spegiel drove to the vicinity of Little Rapid river where conservation officer Charles Hicking and fire warden John Galbraith dislodged him. Resenting the disturbance, but not discouraged, the muskrat climbed up on the other side of the motor. When he was dislodged the second time and after Spegiel had driven off, the rat ambled back into the brush.

SEND OVERSEAS CARDS AS FIRST CLASS MAIL

The War Department advises that Christmas greeting cards for soldiers overseas must be sent in sealed envelopes and prepaid at the first-class rate. The War Department further urges that such cards be mailed at once, stating that cards mailed now will, according to the Army Postal Service, reach even the most remote A. P. O.'s by December 25.

When the Empress Eugenie of France went to the opening of the Suez Canal, where she stayed two months, she carried 250 gowns with her. A fashionable lady of that time did not wear the same dress twice.

Men of Mercy...

THESE were great Americans. They are gone...but through you their power is still great. You have some of these portraits in your purse or in your billfold. They hold the power to spread compassion and comfort throughout the world.

There are children to be clothed in Russia...broken spirits to be mended in Greece...prisoners to be cheered and comforted in barbed-wire enclosures.

There are needy neighbors right here at home to be helped—many of them indirect casualties of this war.

There are torpedoed seamen to be warmed and fed at the docks.

There are wounded lying on the plains of China who need medical supplies.

Take some of these bills from your pocket now. Then send as many of them as you can afford on an errand of great mercy...for war relief through the National War Fund.

When you give this month, to our community's war fund, you also give to the National War Fund. You give ONCE for ALL these agencies listed below. Your gift is divided in many ways...in proportion to the need! Some will go to the needy here in your own town. Some will go to relieve distress and sustain the morale of our allies. Some will go to provide the comforts and pleasures of home for our own troops, through the USO.

Look at the names of the agencies below. You have given to many of them before...small gifts perhaps when your heart was touched. Add up what you gave before...then double it. You cannot give too much. The need is so great.

Give ONCE for ALL these

NEW V-MAIL STATION OPENED IN CHICAGO

Will Serve 20 States, Handle 47 Per Cent V-Letters

An estimated 47 per cent of all V-mail processed in the United States is expected to bo handled by a new V-mail clearing station opened in Chicago, November 15, speeding up delivery time between soldiers overseas and relatives at home by approximately 30 hours.

Operation and expansion of the new station will bs gradual, depending on volume and routing, and will eventually be staffed by 427 officers and enlisted men, of whom 90 per cent may be members of the WAC.

The new station will serve approximately 20 states in the middle west and will becoms the largest V-mail station in ths United States, processing both incoming and outgoing V-mail. No change will be necessary in addressing letters as all V-mail posted in or received in the area will bs automatically routed by postal authorities through the station as fast as its operation is expanded.

Ths use of V-mail has been increasing at the rato of 15 per cent per month since it was started more than a year ago. By using that plan, it is possible to send 1,900 letters on one roll of 16 millimeter film 100 feet long.

V-mail is the best system of communication with soldiers overseas because it requires less of the vitally needed space in airplanes than air mail and it also provides a double check in the event that a plane fails to reach its dostination. The films and original letters are retained until it is known that the letters have reached their destination.

CHRISTMAS TREES SCARCE THIS YEAR

Replacing of Lights, Ornaments Will Be Difficult

The Christmas tree will be a luxury this year, scarco and high in price, a recent survey shows.

If tinsel, lamp hulbs nnd other decorations from years past huve been broken or lost, they will be difficult to replace.

Cnnudn, which with Montnnn supplies 65 per cent of the United States' Christmas trees, will ship hardly any this year. The Canadinn government will not relense mnnpower for cutting trees, nnd the wnrtime burden on railroads precludes shipment of non-essential commodities.

In Minnesota, Montana, Wisconsin, Maine and Vermont, the labor shortage will cut production.

Montana, source of Christmas trees for the west and middle west, will reduce its shipments by about 30 per cent. The U. S. Forest Service estimated thnt 1,500,000 Douglas fir trees would be trnnsported from western Montana forests, compared with last year's shipment of 2,138,000.

Mnnufacturors of electrical applinnces reported that no Christmas tree lights huve been produced since 1942, nnd the only ones available this year will be from stock carried over.

CCC CAMP BUILDINGS AUCTIONED BY STATE

Sale of Wolverine, Higgins Lake Structures Nets $8,487

Public auctions in which all the buildings ut CCC Camp Wolverine and Camp Higgins Lake were sold, netted tho stute's general fund $8,487.00, the forestry division of the department of conservation has announced.

At the sale hold at CCC Camp Wolverine, 22 buildings were sold, bringing a total price of $5,007. Tho sale ut CCC Cnmp Higgins Lake brought $3,480 for 15 buildings.

Both sales were well attended and much interest was shown in the bidding. Barracks, warehouses, garages, librnry and recreation buildings, mess halls nnd numerous small struetures will be torn down or moved and building materials salvaged by the new owners.

Proceeds of these sales go intn the genernl fund of the state.

More thnn $7 billion of assets of enemy and enemy-occupied nations are now under freezing control or under control of the Alien Property Custodian.

THANKSGIVING DINNER TABLE OUTLOOK GOOD

Traditional Turkay Replaced by Chickens and Geese

America's Thanksgiving tablea should groan under the weight of holiday food this year despite the shortage of turkeys—a shortage partially brought about by government purchases for the armed forces—two officials of the nation's leading food distributor report.

"This year's quota of turkeys for civilian consumption will bs approximntely half of last year's supply," said Ben Gabriel, head of the Grent Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company's poultry department, "but Americans will find n plentiful supply of chickens and geese available to replace the traditional bird on the holiday menu."

"Patriotic Americans will make potntoes a big part of the Thanksgiving meal," said Harvey Baum, head of produce-buying operations for the snme company, "because of the record crop of this commodity which is clamoring for consumption." In nddition, Baum said, a big variety of vegetables und late fruits will be available, including sweet potatoes, turnips, rutabagas, squash, cabbuge, celery and snap beans.

Although there is n roduced crop of npples and pears, there will be sufficient to meet Thanksgiving requirements, he ndded, und at the same time pointed out thnt n similar situntion exists in the cranberry market. The hnusewife will be able to top off the meul with peanuts, pecans and grapes.

LOCAL HUNTERS BAG FOUR DEER

RECORD NUMBER INVADED BEAVER ISLAND

Repert Eleven Bucks Killed en Island Up to Tuesday; Many Nimrods Cress Stralts

Four local deer hunters reported success on the opening day of the season, with cover adjacent to Charlevoix producing three of the first day's bucks.

Carlton Ikens, hunting in the woads west of the old Newman place near the Loeb school, killed n 150-pound, 6-point buck about 9 o'clock the first morning. He was in the woods less than 15 minutes, spotting the deer almost as soon as he stepped from his car.

Bert Staley, foregoing his usual hunting trip and vacationing at his home in Eveline township, shot a 195-pound, 12-pointer Monday morning less than n quarter of a mile from his residence. George Smith, city employe, bagged his buck north of the John Krchak place north of town. Fourth kill reported on opening day was that of Chrence Meggison, hunting northeast of Trout Lake in the upper peninsula. While other local hunters may have been successful, no reports have been received.

Reports from Beaver Island revealed only 11 backs had been taken up to lnte Tuesday, compared with 30 for the first two days last year. The number of hunters on the island is believed to be approxinmtely 200, about 50 more than last year.

Heavy concentration here of hunters enroute to Benver Island resulted in large sales of licenses by local dealers. Staley Hardwnre reported sale of nearly 300 licenses, while Wood Bros. sold 92. From the number nf license sales it appears that travel restrictions and difficulty of war workers and others obtaining time off from their jabs did not reduce the quantity of nimrods.

A queae of autos seven miles long at Mnekinnw City on Saturday, waiting ferry transportation ucross the straits, also indicnted the determination of the inveterate deer hunters to get to the woods despite gas rationing and the OPA's frowning on pooling of "A" gas coupons.

At n meeting of northern Michigan class C conference coaches and officials in Boyne City last week, the 1943 all-conference football team wns selected and team stnndings decided.

Don Brown, gunrd, was the only Charlevoix player to win a place on the first teum of the honorary list. Selections on the squad were as follows: left end, A. McGeorge, Boyne City; left tackle, R. Muthers, Boyne City; left guard, Don Brown, Charlevoix; center, Ed. Perry, Enst Jordan; right guard, Claude Hitchcock, Enst Jordan; right tackle, John Kawegoma, Hnrbor Springs; right end, C. Allerding, Harbor Springs; quarterbnck, Hermnn Wilcox, Hnrbor Springs; halfbacks, James Mellencamp, Boyne City, and G. Murphy, Enst Jordnn; fullbnck, Robert Davenport, Harbor Springs.

Winning honorable mention were: Don North, tnckle, and Bob Belfy, halfback, Charlevoix; J. Howle, center, Boyne City; Parker Seiler, half, nnd Russell Weaver, end, Enst Jordnn; Pat Kosequnt, qunrterback, Harbor Springs.

Boyne City, victorious in all six of its conference games, was acknowledged the leading team of tho northern conference. Harbor Springs, Enst Jordan and Charlevoix, all won two nnd lost four games ln the conference and were given equnl stnndings. Mancelona played only two conference games, so was not in the running for final ratings.

Mr. Nelson, of Harbor Springs, was elected secretary-treasurer of the conference and will succeed to the presidency next spring.

TB SEAL SALE OPENS MONDAY

37TH ANNUAL CAMPAIGN OF MICHIGAN ASSOCIATION

War Increases Spread of Disease, Particularly Among Workers In Crewded Cities

"Michigun will continue ta fight tuberculosis with everything it has." So said Curtis M. Wylie, of Grand Rapids, for the several past years president of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association with headquarters ln Lnnsing. The occasion was the formal opening of the advunce sale of the 37th annual tuberculosis Christmas seal sale. The general sale begins on Monduy, Navember 22nd.

"Hundreds of people hnve ulrendy sent checks and money to the offices of the association," Mr. Wylie said. "The number af such letters and the size of the gifts nre unprecedented," he said, "and this lends me to believe that Michigan will fight. Tuberculosis is on the inerense in our state. How far it will go, no one cnn foretell, beenuse it is war driven, and the men, women and children of our war indastries, removed from their homes, crowded into poor living qaurters, eating rationed and skimpy food—those nre the people nmong whom tuberculosis finds victims.

"Every ngency in the stnte huving to do with the handling of this disense will be on its toes; we cnn nssure that. And the spirit already shown in the beginning of this year's taberculosis Christmas seal sale nssures me that the ten percent incrense needed will be quickly realized."

Tuberculosis deaths aro increasing amnng young girls aged ten to fifteen years, and among young men aged fifteen to twenty-four years, according to information released hy the National Tuberculosis Association, of which the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and its twenty-six local associations are affillnted.

WAR FUND DRIVE IN THIRD WEEK

CITY MUST RAISE $2,768 BY NOVEMBER 30TH

Relief Organizations for Many Nationalities Are Helped by American Contributiens

Midway in the third week of the National War Fund drive in this city, contributions of $604.50 were reported by city chairman Robert Bridge. Charlevoix has until November 30 to ruise the quota of $2,768 nssigned for this cnmpaign.

Donations may be left at the Charlevoix Coanty State Bank, designated depository for the campaign fands. The house-to-house canvass which members of the Kiwunis Club were to undertake Tuesday evening wns postponed beeuuse of the number of local people out of the city for the deer hunting season.

Many residents of Charlevoix may find the opportunity to help their kinsmen in the war-torn lands of Earope thraagh some of the 17 wur-related relief agencies benefittlng from the Natlonal War Fund, it has been pointed out.

Poland, first to be nttacked, has —of ull the European occapied countries—lost the greatest number of soldiers in bnttle and of civilians murdered by invaders. While direct aid cannot rench the Poles behind Axis lines, outside of Poland there ure twa and one-half million refugees scattered all over the globe, thousands of her young men fighting with Allied nrmies, and others who are prisoners of war. The Polish-American Council, with money from the National War Fund, can aid these war victims in many lands.

Czechoslovakia, nnnexed by Germany after the "peace" of Munich, has remained unconquered in the indomitable spirit of her people, who resist the invaders in whntever way they can devise. The United Czechoslovak Relief Fund has been set up ns a means of furnishing all possible nid to refugees, soldiers and prisoners of war of this little country.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

There's nothing like doin' a job up quick when yan gotta do it, and that's whnt Carlton Ikens did when he picked off that back nesr Loeh school Monday morning. He was ln the woods about 15 minntes, I understand. That back'll take the place of a whole heap of red ration stamps, Carl! George Smlth and Bert Staley were lucky local hunters the opening dny, too, I've been told. George bagged his out west of the John Hyek fnrm north of town, and Bert just sort of stepped out his back door over on the peninsula across from Ironton and done it. These deer close to home come in handy in these days of rationing, especially with tho OPA looking things over kindu close at the Straits to see how far and on what kind of gas coupons you're traveling an.

There was a back hung on the pole at the Heise, Meggison, Sarasin camp north of Trout Lake before the opening day was over. I couldn't find oat exactly who was the lacky guy, but think Clarence Meggison did the trick. Expect to join theso boys Wednesday night for the balance of the week.

I heard a local gal aay she thought it was silly instructing soldiers in tho uso of arms, because she'd never met one who needed intructions.

Al Weber of the Chehoygan Observer suid I'd becomo nutty, batty, or whatever you call it because I commented sort of joyously on tho OPA hoisting the ceiling price on dinpers so that munufncturers could make them prnfitably and thus prevent a critienl shortage of this important commodity. For your information, I've thought Al Weber was nutty, batty, or whatever you call it, for a long time, bat never thought it my privilege to utter such an opinion publicly. But now that he'a cut the restraining courtesy one editor holds for the other, we'll trade compliments. In the first place, Al, in our hamble and timid opinion, maybe people like to have the humoroas side of this grim war and other events

Greetings, Ken,

Have finnlly got settled for four weeks at least. Will be homo for Christmas, we hopo. Rainy weather hero nll tho time. Send my paper to this nddress:

Clarence C. McCalmon, Flc
Plat. 2752, Area A-7
Camp Penry
Williamsburg, Va.

Dear Ken,

This brief letter does not begin to express my sincere appreciation for the Courier.

Yesterday evening, I received a group of nine copies, editions from June 9 and including the August 25 issue. It is the first time I have seen a home town paper in five months, so yoa can well imagine the reading pleasure they gave me. Read them all by flashlight.

In one of the earlier copies you included a paem concerning North Africa's girl friend, "Gertie." It seems that one of the boys again recently heard from her, so I will enclose the message with this letter. It perhaps should be censored to Art Fngan and "Shorty" Sternberg.

Again, I wish to thank you and everyone in Charlevaix for making it possible for all of us to know of the news at home.

As ever,
Lyle Beaudoin.

Hero is the poem "Beaudy" enclosed with his letter:

Just heard from Dirty Gertie:
She hasn't left the shore,
But since she met as doughboys
She thinks she's D. Lamour,
Snid she's very lonesome since
The Fifth Army went nway;
Misses all their Bon-Bons,
The times they were so gay.
Gert's made quite n fortune
Since the beauty contest day,
Reigns supreme as Miss Latrine
In her old-fashioned way.
Now she's taking lessons
Learning how to sing,
Got her inspiration
From a little chap named Bing.
That's all the news she gave me,
So take it with n smile,
Don't expect she'll write again,
I hope . . . not for a while.

"Northern Pursuit"

Errol Flynn, Royal Canadian Mounted Policeman, in the new Warner Bros. film, "Northern Pursuit," plays Sunday and Monday at the Palace Theatre.

Playing opposite Flynn is Julie Bishop, pretty blonde actress whose work in "Action in the North Atlantic," elevated her to stardom. Others in the supporting cast include John Ridgley and Gene Lockhart.

"Alaska Highway," the Paramount picture starring Richard Arlen and Jean Parker, which bows into the Palace Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday, is the direct result of public interest in that greatest of all wartime engineering feats—the construction of a highway linking Alaska and Canada, in record-breaking time. According to all reports, the film matches the accomplishment in high-powered excitement and many breath-taking moments.

Ann Sothern is a showgirl turned suddenly to war worker in a roaring airplane factory in M-G-M's "Swing Shift Maisie," latest in the series coming Saturday and Sunday to the Palace Theatre.

James Craig, who distinguished himself in the picture "Kitty Foyle," plays a daredevil test pilot who is the current object of Maisie's affections.

Business Meeting Friday

A parish business meeting of Christ Episcopal church will be held Friday evening, November 19, at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur A. Cline. It will be necessary to elect a new warden to replace Sylvester Vaughan, and several financial questions are to be settled. All members are urged to attend.

Transferred to Texas

First Lt. William L. Hansen has been transferred to Majors Field, Greenville, Texas, as flying instructor at basic pilot school. He has served as flying instructor at Chanute Field, Ill., and Strother Field, Kansas, before going to north Texas on his present assignment.

Attend Lansing Convention

Ronald Lyons, Franklin Cellner and Miss Marie Blanchard represented the re-organized Junior Farm Bureau at the state convention in Lansing, November 5-6. The convention was the largest of its kind ever held, with 150 officers and 400 members present.

Young People Meet

The Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet at the church at 8 p. m. Sunday, November 21, with members of Barnard Youth Fellowship as guests.

Dear Ken,

Thought I'd drop you a line and thank you for sending me the paper. I received it the 7th for the first time, and sure was glad to get it.

I've got about six more weeks in "boot" camp and then I guess they're going to put me on a sub-chaser. We'll really keep those Japs going.

Walter Henley and I are still together, but I guess it will be just through "boot" camp. They really keep us busy drilling with rifles and also a lot of marching.

Pete McCafferty was just over to see me before he went home. I guess he'll be in Charlevoix about the 14th for a 9-day furlough. I went over to his barracks the other night, and there he was with a deck of cards, shaking all the boys down.

It's getting late, I mean 8:30, and we have to be in bed at 9:00. So I'll sign off for now and thanks again for the paper. Also thank Ralph Hamilton for me, will you?

A friend from Charlevoix,
Brace.

Dear Ken,

I am dropping you a line to let you know my new address, and to thank you and everybody else who makes it possible for me to receive the Courier.

I sure was surprised a short while back when I ran into Claire Martin here. He is the only boy I've seen from Charlevoix, and it sure was good to see him.

Must close now, thanking you again for the Courier.

Yours truly,
Vern

LANSING LETTER

WHO KILLED Cock Robin?

No, it wasn't the farmer. No, it wasn't organized labor. No, it wasn't industry. And of course, Congress and the Washington bureaucrats can't be blamed.

If further inflation comes with an inevitable price squeeze which will hurt middle classes the most, historians will appraise the factors which were responsible. Consider then the current headlines of Michigan newspapers which mirror a new economic setting for another spin of the inflation wheel. Here are the clashing viewpoints:

FARMER. Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau, told bureau delegates at Michigan State College that the cost of food in proportion to the consumer's buying powar was the least in 30 years; that the cost of living had increased only 5 per cent since September, 1942, while wages of labor had gone up 15 per cent. "Why not roll back wages instead of food prices? . . . Albert S. Goss, master, National Grange, in an address before the state grange convention in Grand Rapids, warned that the nation was rushing blindly toward disastrous inflation unless Congress curtailed consumer buyer power through taxation. Goss urged a combined tax and post-war savings plan whereby surplus earnings could be siphoned from the market. In brief, the farm position: No federal subsidy to stabilize food prices; let the consumer pay higher food prices out of higher earnings; halt labor's preferred status for wage increases; impose more taxes on the middle and lower income brackets.

LABOR. The cost of living has increased faster than wages and has exceeded the ceiling established in the Little Steel stabilization formula of September, 1942; the federal bureau of labor statistics' index of living costs is a "phoney" and the National War Labor Board should increase wages accordingly. Corporations are reaping huge war profits, while capitalists conspire to discredit labor in order to foment anti-labor legislation. "Just because a wage earner stayed on his job for years prior to the war without getting much in the way of wages is hardly a sound reason why he should not share in the fruits of profits of his employer today"—Flint labor weekly. In brief, labor's position: We want a share of war profits in form of higher wages; living costs have increased faster than labor earnings.

INDUSTRY. Weekly earnings of Michigan labor have increased 61 per cent since January, 1941; hourly earnings have risen 37 per cent; weekly earnings have mounted twice as fast as have weekly expenses. (General Motors Corp.) . . . We must build an adequate post-war reserve to defray tremendous cost of reconversion to peace-time production. Net profits, after taxes and dividends, have increased 15 per cent since Pearl Harbor. Automobile companies earned 17 per cent more net profit in 1942 than in 1941. "Labor must recognize that national prosperity will depend upon a prosperous free economy. Management must protect the interests of its stockholders, of whom so many are laboring men, widows and philanthropic enterprises."—Eric Johnson, president, U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

O. P. A. Prentiss M. Brown as OPA administrator: "Without a subsidy plan, the price structure cannot be held, and wages will be forced upward . . . Without subsidies butter would sell at 60 cents instead of 50 cents. Add to that the increase in the price of meat, milk and other commodities that would follow the rejection of subsidies, and you encourage, even justify, higher wages . . . The net income of the farmer is 90 per cent higher than it was before Pearl Harbor. The average weekly wage of the American laborer is 33 per cent higher than it was before Pearl Harbor. Corporation profits, after taxes, are 15 per cent higher than those earned in 1941, while prices are but 12 per cent greater than they were on Dec. 7, 1941, when the Senate took up the subject of price control, resulting in the act of Jan. 20, 1942."

NWLB. William H. Davis, chairman of National War Labor Board, in a letter to Vice-President Henry A. Wallace, Nov. 6, declared labor had made the heaviest sacrifice in the anti-inflation fight. This statement was interpreted by Washington observers as an indication that the labor board will recommend a general wage revision. President Roosevelt has named a five-man committee of the labor board to examine living costs. Washington business letters forecast an increase in prices will follow any increase in wages.

CONFUSION. The net result of these clashing viewpoints, which we have sought to summarize for purpose of brevity, is just what you might expect: Confusion! If wages of labor must be increased because living costs have out-distanced them, which is the position of labor, then isn't it logical for earnings of labor to be increased still more when prices rise to a higher level? The farmer believes that the consumer should pay higher prices; the laborer wants his earnings increased because of present prices.

POLITICS. Confusion breeds dissatisfaction, and dissatisfaction on the home front may become a political liability for the national administration, if November ballot trends continue. Here is the reasoning of Republican leaders: The voter is dissatisfied with domestic conditions. Labor will split its political support, AFL leaning to the Republicans and CIO backing the Democrats. The senate resolution pledging 'American participation in an international peace court or league received Republican support. Hence there is no issue on foreign relations. The European war may be over by November, 1944.

Make this month your car inspection month at Studebaker

Take care of your car and it will take care of you

THERE are five simple things you can do to guard your car's mileage. Number one on the list is—frequent inspections. Drive in and have your car examined thoroughly by our capable Studebaker mechanics who have been specially trained in wartime maintenance service.

You'll be given a check list of any needed adjustments or repairs. Whatever work you order will be handled promptly, efficiently and at moderate cost.

No matter what make you drive, take these precautions:

- Have your car inspected frequently.
- Get lubrication on a time basis, not a mileage basis.
- Check your tire pressure at least once a week.
- Keep your brakes correctly adjusted.
- Have your car expertly serviced for wartime driving.

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Howard A. Griffin, Plaintiff, vs. Doris Bernice Griffin, Defendant.

Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery, at the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 27th day of October, A. D. 1943.

In this cause it appearing from affidavit on file, that the defendant, Doris Bernice Griffin, left her last known place of abode and that it cannot be ascertained in what state or country the said defendant, Doris Bernice Griffin, resides.

On motion of Floyd A. Supp, plaintiff's attorney, it is ordered that the said defendant, Doris Bernice Griffin, cause her appearance to be entered herein, within three months from the date of this order and in case of her appearance that she cause her answer to the plaintiff's Bill of Complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served on said plaintiff's attorney within fifteen days after service on her of a copy of said bill and notice of this order; and that in default thereof, said bill be taken as confessed by the said Doris Bernice Griffin, defendant.

And it is further ordered, that within forty days the said plaintiff cause a notice of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed, published and circulating in said county, and that such publication be continued therein at least once in each week for six weeks in succession, or that he cause a copy of this order to be personally served on said Doris Bernice Griffin, defendant, at least twenty days before the time above prescribed for her appearance.

Appointment of Administrator

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 30th day of October, A. D. 1943.

Present: Hon. Rollie L. Lewis, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Goldie I. Pant, deceased.

George Pant having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to Lillian Cramblit or to some other suitable person,

It is ordered, that the 22nd day of November, A. D. 1943, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition;

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Rollie L. Lewis,
44t3pd. Judge of Probate.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure—(Chancery)

In pursuance and by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, in Chancery, made and entered on the 9th day of August, 1943, in a certain cause therein pending, wherein Archie L. Livingston and Frank Supernaw, as trustees, are plaintiffs, and Belvedere Golf Club, Inc., a Michigan corporation, formerly the Belvedere Golf Realty Company, a Michigan corporation, is defendant.

Notice is hereby given, that I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the East Front door of the Court House (that being the place of holding the Circuit Court for said county), on Monday, the 6th day of December, 1943, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, Central Standard War Time, of said day, the following described property, viz: all those certain pieces or parcels of land situate in the Townships of Marion and Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, described as follows:

First Parcel:

The southeast quarter (SE¼) of the Southwest quarter (SW¼) of Section thirty-four (34), in Township Thirty-four (34), north of Range eight (8) west, excepting a parcel of land described as follows: commencing at the southwest corner of said first parcel; thence north four (4) rods; thence east forty-six (46) rods; thence south four (4) rods; thence west forty-six (46) rods to the place of beginning.

Second parcel:

The north half of the northeast quarter (N½ of NE¼) of section three (3), in township thirty-three (33) north, of range eight (8) west, excepting about two and 5-16 acres along the east side thereof owned and used by Marion township as a gravel pit; and also excepting a strip of land two (2) rods in width off the south side, and east of the County Road, formerly deeded to said Marion township for highway purposes.

Third Parcel:

All that part of the south half of the southeast quarter (S½ of SE¼) of section thirty-four (34) township thirty-four (34) north, range eight (8) west, lying south of the railroad right-of-way of the Standard Portland Cement Company; and also excepting the highway known as the County Road.

In accordance with the terms of said decree, said property will be sold as an entirety and not in separate parcels.

Bids will be received and accepted in accordance with the terms of said decree, and will be publicly announced on the day of the sale prior to receiving bids.

Dated October 12th, 1943.

AIR CAPTAIN URGES YOUTHS TO ENLIST

Cadets Receive Long and Arduous Training in Air Corps

Air superiority begins on the ground, and America's growing might in the air is a convincing tribute to the quality of the training received by Aviation Cadets of the U. S. army.

Capt. George F. Samsen, Aviation Cadet Board, Ft. Custer, says: "More and more young Americans are choosing to do their fighting in the air. They know that not only will they have the finest—and safest—planes that can be built, but they'll have the finest training that can be devised to equip them for the big task ahead.

"The training is long, arduous, and infinitely detailed. First of all, the candidates are carefully screened. Only those with the sort of physical and mental equipment that flying requires can even start. Each aviation cadet is subject to periodic tests, again both mental and physical, throughout his period of training. These are to determine both his continuing fitness for the general training program and to assist in making the best choice in the field of specialized training. The record our flyers are making in this war is the best possible proof of the excellence of the training that is being offered.

"Young men get bitten by the flying bug young these days. The air corps enlisted reserve is now open to a young man as soon as he reaches the age of 17. If he passes the necessary tests, if he is not engaged in essential war work or agriculture, he is accepted and will be called up for training some time after his eighteenth birthday. Meanwhile he may continue his education or his civilian employment. This plan has the obvious advantage of permitting him to choose his branch of the service, to say nothing of giving him the satisfaction of feeling all set and ready to go when the time comes.

Further information is available at the Aviation Cadet Board or contact Lieut. C. B. Anderson, Civil Air Patrol, 602 S. Union St., Traverse City.

RESERVE OF BLOOD PLASMA ESTABLISHED

Legislature Allowed $20,000 for Collection, Processing

Boyne City was the eighth community to be visited by the state health department's traveling clinic on its state-wide tour to collect blood for processing into plasma, the department reports.

Blood was taken from 1,244 donors in Lansing, Dowagiac, Holland, Grand Haven, Cadillac and Big Rapids. Number processed at Midland is not known. It was estimated that over 300 Charlevoix county people, including 49 from Charlevoix, gave blood at the clinic in the Dilworth hotel in Boyne City.

Each evening, blood collected that day was sent in refrigerator containers to Lansing for processing into plasma. Formerly this plasma could be obtained at hospitals by those who needed it only by purchasing it. This year, the Michigan state legislature made available $20,000 for purchase of processing equipment and operating expenses of the traveling clinic for a year. Red Cross chapters are cooperating by furnishing quarters in each community where the blood is collected, by registering donors and operating canteen services.

Civilian defense requirements have priority for duration of the war on all stocks of processed plasma. Department laboratories in Lansing, where principal reserves will be held, also will set aside a supply sufficient to meet any conceivable need arising from a non-military catastrophe.

Communities where blood is furnished by donors also will set up blood plasma reserves, usually in hospitals, from which local physicians may obtain free plasma for treatment of patients in their charge. An accounting is kept of blood furnished by participating communities and local reserves will be determined and maintained on such basis.

An unusual storm blew off the lake Saturday, and by Sunday night had reached such velocity that Miss M. Bennett's cottage on Michigan avenue had a 56-foot porch torn off and blown upon the roof, a chimney knocked down and corners of the building twisted; the front part of the roof of Hooker's new garage was completely torn off the building; James Wyers Sr.'s barn was blown down; a small porch was torn off Frank Metcalf's house on Park avenue; a window in Walter Taylor's grocery store was blown out.

Last Sunday morning at 2:30 the store occupied by Allen Campbell, at Norwood, was totally destroyed by fire.

John Withers and Ray Kane left today for Southern Pines, N. C., where they are employed by A. I. Creamer.

Mrs. L. B. Bartlett entertained 40 ladies at a thimble party Friday afternoon.

Charlevoix gave vent to her joy Monday, upon receiving the news that the armistice had been signed and the war is over. Because of false reports circulated Thursday of last week and the consequent premature celebration, everyone waited until official confirmation was received and posted in the post office window. After dinner signs appeared on doors of business places reading: "Who in h—l wants to work today?" People shouted, bells rang, whistles and horns blew, school was dismissed and an impromptu parade of cars decorated with flags and dragging old tin pails, wash boilers and furnace pipes, started down Bridge street. A dummy labeled "Kaiser Bill" was dragged up and down the streets and was later burned.

Lieut. Dean C. Scroggie died October 13 at an A. E. F. hospital in France, of wounds received in action October 9.

Red Cross rooms, now located in rooms over Lovinson's store, will continue in operation as our boys will be in need of support for months yet, and the needy in war-stricken zones will require assistance.

Ople Read, well known lecturer, will appear in the second lecture course number at the opera house November 19.

George Papineau, who has been on a merchant marine supply vessel between France and England for the past six months, is in the city on a 30-day furlough. His marriage Tuesday to Miss Agnes Carey came as a surprise to their friends.

For the first time in 18 years, Charlevoix defeated Boyne City on her home grounds at football, Saturday, Hallett's field goal and Cunningham's touchdown scored the victory. Let's everybody turn out for the game with Cheboygan Saturday. (Incidentally, has Charlevoix beat Boyne since this game?)

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS
By B. C. Mellencamp

County Post-War Planning Receiving Attention

Post-war agricultural plans for Charlevoix county will be discussed at a county-wide land use planning conference to be held in the Dilworth Hotel, Boyne City, on Tuesday, December 7th. At this time representatives of all interested groups in the county will be invited to consider post-war problems as they will relate to agriculture and its allied interests. It is expected that some forty farm leaders will attend.

The time to make plans is now. The evils that accompanied the end of the last World War must not be allowed as we approach the end of World War II. Only by careful planning can proper programs be initiated for the general well being of the entire county.

New Nitrogen Fertilizer Being Made Available Fruit Growers

The best information available indicates there will be a very little ammonium sulphate available for direct application to orchards, vineyards, small fruits and vegetables next spring. Supplies of nitrate of soda will also be very short. To offset this shortage of commonly used nitrogen fertilizers a comparatively new material, ammonium nitrate, will be supplied by the factories which have been furnishing munition plants with nitrogen taken from the air.

Ammonium nitrate is entirely water soluble. It is intermediate between nitrate of soda and ammonium sulphate in its available nitrogen. Chemically it contains from 32 to 34 percent of nitrogen and hence is somewhat more than one and one and a half times as rich as ammonium sulphate in terms of nitrogen and twice as rich as nitrate of soda.

All fruit growers should put in their orders for this material now. If your dealer is to make delivery in time for early spring application to fruit trees he must order now. Even now the time of delivery cannot be guaranteed.

played up once in a while, instead of getting all worked up over everything that happens in the hectic world. And in the second place, Al, you apparently don't realize the present situation in children's clothing, and I don't mean just three-cornered pants, either. If you had to see that a flock of little kids were kept clothed and with dry feet, you'd be concerned about the matter, too.

Sue (aged 8): "Why did you marry father?"

Mother: "So you've begun to wonder, too."

If Beaver Island keeps on increasing in popularity as a deer hunting place, hunters will have to reserve runway stands there another year. I understand over 200 hunters have gone to the island this year, and when Saturday's heavy blow held up the Mary Margaret, there was a grand rush to get all the nimrods across Sunday. Two special trips and a few left over for Monday morning. I've sometimes wondered whether it was the deer or the islanders' Irish hospitality that attracts the crowd.

And personally, I like warmer weather for my deer hunting. Gettin' old, I guess.

When the wife insists on wearing the pants, some other woman usually gets the fur coat.

Johnny: "Brotherly love."

Inasmuch as this edition of the Courier is dedicated to the expression of Christmas greetings to the Charlevoix men and women in the armed forces, I'll add my two-bits worth, too. So here's Merry Christmas to all you boys and gals!

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Meeting last Wednesday night with Miss Mary Louise Gallagher at her home on East Lincoln avenue, members of the Bi-Weekly Club celebrated the birthday of Mrs. Albert Gill. Centerpiece of the refreshment table was a cleverly fashioned bouquet of artificial roses. At the short business meeting, Mrs. George Bergmann was re-elected treasurer.

The Carey-O'Brien circle of the Baptist church met last Wednesday evening with Mrs. Agnes Fairbanks, 103 East Upright avenue.

Mrs. Floyd Ikens entertained members of the Past Noble Grand Club at a bridge party Thursday evening. With three tables in play, first prize was won by Mrs. Robert Mitchell, second prize by Mrs. Elmer Poole. Other guests were Mrs. P. R. Ross, Mrs. Fred Bergmann, Mrs. John Kling, Mrs. May Bugbee, Mrs. Walter Yemmans, Mrs. A. J. Hamilton, Mrs. W. E. Goss, Mrs. Fred Southwood, Mrs. Ralph McRae and Mrs. Carlton Ikens. Refreshments were served late in the evening.

Celebrating their 31st wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lewis entertained Friday evening with a dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cline. Places were set at a candle-lit table for Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Scudder and the honored couple. Following dinner, cards were enjoyed at the Lewis apartment residence on Bridge street.

Mrs. W. E. Goss entertained 10 members of the American Legion Auxiliary at her home Monday evening. At the business meeting, it was decided to prepare baskets of food for four needy families for Thanksgiving. Cards were played, with prizes going to Mrs. Harry Glossenger and Mrs. Frank Coattn. Refreshments were served late in the evening. A pleasant diversion was furnished by a long distance telephone call from Mrs. Elizabeth Cannon, in Detroit, former member. The next meeting will be a Christmas party on December 20 at the home of Mrs. Lewis Brant.

Mrs. Walker Miles entertained Saturday with a party in honor of the 11th birthday of her daughter, Suzanne. The guests played games and were served dinner, which included a beautifully decorated birthday cake.

Peter McCafferty, seaman second class, U. S. navy, home from Great Lakes training station for a few days' leave, was honored Monday evening at a farewell party given at the home of his sister, Mrs. S. B. Carey, at which ten relatives were present.

Lt. John Rongon, New Commander of Area J, Other Officers Will Speak at Rally

A public meeting, designed to better acquaint the people of Charlevoix with functions of the army in this area, will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the court house, in the circuit court room.

Army officers present will be 1st Lt. John A. Rongen, commander of Area J, district 1, 6th service command; Lt. Magdu L. Carlson, in charge of the Wac recruiting station at Traverse City; Capt. Robert E. Lynch, on leave from Strother Field, Winfield, Kansas, to aid in a recruiting drive for Air Wacs; and Capt. Harold Harvey, M. P., chief of the training branch of district 1, sixth service command, and past commander of the Michigan department of the American Legion.

Sponsored by the city of Charlevoix and Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, the meeting is open to every citizen who wishes to learn more about what the army is doing in northern Michigan.

First Lt. Rongen was recently assigned to his post as commander of Area J, which comprises 21 counties of the northern lower peninsula. He is the army's "answer man", forming a link between civilian life and the army. His many jobs range from apprehension and questioning of deserters or AWOL soldiers, to instruction of war plant guards, handling of army airplane crash procedure, and the more personal tasks of quieting a mother's worries about her soldier son and making sure that in an emergency the sick wife of a soldier receives proper and prompt medical care. In addition to this, he must know all the vital spots in cities and factories in his area that have to be guarded in case of emergency. Assisted in these tasks by Sgt. James S. Guy, his immediate superior is Col. S. D. Ringsdorf, commanding officer of district 1.

Lt. Carlson will speak about the Wacs and their work in the army, and the recruiting drive in which Capt. Lynch is assisting.

Every Charlevoix resident is urged to attend the meeting and learn more about the army and its tasks in this region. A special invitation is extended to patriotic and civic organizations.

"PETE" PETERSON ACCIDENT VICTIM

Died in Truck-Train Collision in Lansing, Wednesday Morning

L. P. "Pete" Peterson was killed this morning (Wednesday) in Lansing, according to word received just before this issue went to press.

Employed by a construction company, Mr. Peterson was driving to work in a truck when struck by a train. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Mr. Peterson is survived by his wife, the former Mildred Best, and two sons, Billy and Larry.

JOE MADDOCK, STAR OF FOOTBALL, DIES

Famed U. of M. Tackle Was Born at East Jordan

Joe H. Maddock, 66, former University of Michigan all-American and later football coach at the universities of Utah and Oregon, died November 11 in a Salt Lake City, Utah, hospital, of a lung disease. A grocer at Parker, Idaho, since 1934, Maddock had been in the hospital more than two months.

Born in East Jordan, July 11, 1877, he attended East Jordan schools and went to Albion college for a year before entering the University of Michigan. Here he gained all-American honors under Coach Fielding H. Yost and his "point-a-minute" system. Maddock is still rated one of the greatest tackles ever turned out by the Wolverines.

Maddock was the idol of high school boys in this vicinity in his college days, and since that time his name has become a legend in football.

NAVAL ENSIGN CRASH VICTIM

LEE HILLER WAS BOMBING INSTRUCTOR AT MIAMI

No Details of Accident Received by Parents; Funeral Services Await Final Arrangements

Charlevoix citizens were shocked Saturday afternoon to learn of the death of Ensign Lee Hiller, 22, in an airplane crash at Miami, Fla., where he was an instructor.

No details of the crash were received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hiller.

Lee was born in Charlevoix on October 28, 1921, and graduated from the local high school in 1939. He attended Michigan State College until he entered the U. S. naval reserve in September, 1942. Training at Iowa State University, and later at Washington and Texas air fields, he was commissioned an ensign in October and went to Opalacha air base, Miami, as instructor.

Four weeks ago, Lee was home for a few days' visit with his parents after he served as escort to the body of his roommate, John Scholz, of Toledo, Ohio, killed in a crash at the Miami base.

Although retaining his ensign's rating because of lack of seniority, Lee was instructing other ensigns and a number of English fliers in the technique of torpedo bombing. Whether the accident occurred during such instruction, is not known.

Surviving besides his parents are two brothers, Don, of Milwaukee, Wis., Pfc. James Hiller, of Parkwater, Wash., and a sister, Annabelle, at home.

The body will arrive here Thursday. Date of funeral services has not been decided, awaiting arrival of relatives.

But he was forced to resort to firearms when the Jap drew a knife.

POST-WAR AVIATION TOPIC OF MEETING

Representatives 32 Communities to Meet at Traverse City

Realizing the importance to northwestern Michigan of post-war aviation, and in an effort to be prepared to meet aerial progress more than half way, representatives of 32 communities will meet in Traverse City, Friday night to discuss the problem.

The meeting will be held at the Park Place Hotel at 7:30 and there will be no dinner. A representative of the Michigan Board of Aeronautics will be present to tell what the state has in mind immediately following the war to promote aviation and what the board sees ahead for this portion of Michigan in an aviation way.

One of the most important things to be talked over will be the need for every community to establish and maintain a landing field, in order to get the most out of the state's planning and post-war air service.

A sound film, "The Flying Fortress in the Air," which runs for one half hour, will be an interesting feature of the program.

CARL BEATTIE HOME ON LEAVE

WOUNDED IN SEA BATTLE NOVEMBER 15, 1942

Musicians' Life Not Easy One; Awarded Purple Heart After Year in Naval Hospitals

Anyone who thinks a musician in the navy—or in the army—has a pretty soft job, should ask Carl Benttie, musician first class, United States navy, who was in Charlevoix last week just a year after he was severely wounded in a sea battle off Guadalcanal, November 15, 1942.

Carl and his wife, the former Vivian Fiko of Charlevoix, and their small daughter, Bonnie Jean, spent Wednesday and Thursday with his grandfather, Albert Beattie. They are visiting relatives in Boyne Falls, and have been with other relatives in Detroit, also.

Enlisting in the navy in September, 1935, Carl was on the battleship Tennessee for four years, then had shore duty at Great Lakes for two years. When the United States entered the war, he went to the Ford motor school at Dearborn for four months, then to Philadelphia to be assigned to a just-completed battleship. This ship was the USS South Dakota, largest of "battlewagons," which only a few weeks ago was revealed to have been in action in the Pacific for over a year.

Into the Pacific war went the South Dakota, and on November 1 was engaged in the battle of Santa Cruz. Two weeks later, a task force of six American ships was sent to destroy a Jap convoy intending to reinforce Guadalcanal island. Carl's battle station was the forward lookout, a compartment approximately 12 feet square. Through this space ran the pipes which carried live steam to foghorn and whistle. Someone had the duty of turning off this steam when the ship went into action—and someone forgot.

When a salvo of Jap shells entered the compartment and hit the steam pipes, Carl was knocked unconscious, his jaw and right arm broken, and he was severely burned by the steam. Though hit with 40 shells, the South Dakota was credited with sinking eight Jap warships and an unknown number.

CHARLES BELLINGER INJURED IN MISHAP

Wounded by Companion's Gun in Deer Hunting Accident

Charles Bellinger, hunting in the vicinity of Raco in the upper peninsula, was injured last Wednesday afternoon when the gun carried by his companion, Gerald Dendman, of Detroit, accidentally discharged.

The men were making their way through the woods, Dendman following Bellinger, when a tree twig apparently caught in the hammer of his gun and discharged it as the safety catch failed to function. The bullet entered Bellinger's left leg at the back of the knee, passed through at an upward angle and nicked and cracked the leg bone. The mishap occurred about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and it was 11 o'clock that night before Bellinger entered the hospital at the Soo, after being carried six miles out of the woods from their camp.

Following an operation performed at Charlevoix hospital Tuesday afternoon to remove bone splinters, it was reported Mr. Bellinger would suffer no permanent injury from the wound.

CITY SUPERINTENDENT CALLED INTO SERVICE

Was Commissioned Ensign in Naval Reserve Last August

City Superintendent Clifford McKibbin, Jr., who was commissioned an ensign in the United States naval reserve on August 20, received orders last Thursday to report for active duty at Fort Schuyler, Bronx, N. Y., on November 29.

Graduate of Michigan State College engineering school, he has been city superintendent here since January 1, 1942.

After undergoing a final examination at Detroit last Saturday, Mr. McKibbin and his family left Charlevoix on Tuesday for Lansing, to spend Thanksgiving with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McKibbin, Sr. Mrs. McKibbin and their sons, Clifford III and Alexander, will make their home in Stockbridge with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Hall.
